SIXTH DUDLEY DAY is OBSERVED

Dr. J. M. Gandy, Virginia Eduscation Association—Dr. Overton, is Speaker.

PRES. BLUFORD PRESIDES

Pres. Dudley, Is Speaker.

James W. Dudley, day, which has become an established custom, was fittingly observed on the campus Monday, November 2 (President Dudley's birthday). The entire campus was made looking beautiful along the lines presented by Dr. Gandy, president of Virginia State College, Virginia, and a number of others.

The speaker took up his subject "Education in a Machine Age." He declared that a great many people are not satisfied with the education our youth is receiving, and that President Dudley was the greatest champion of this very type of education.

Miss Vivian Jones, the only exhibitor of dairy products, was on hand to represent the dairy industry and the farms of dairy displays, corn selection, poultry keeping, farm crops, and a number of others.

The chemistry exhibit with Dr. C. T. Coburn had the largest collection of students in agriculture and chemistry. The chemical exhibits with students' work were generally excellent. The exhibit with students' work was generally excellent.

A. M. OVERTON GOES TO RUSSIA AS INSTRUCTOR

Arturo M. Overtone of Hartford, R. C, and the C. and T. graduate of 1933, was called by the Russian government to teach mathematics at Moscow University. Since his graduation from the Agricultural Department of the State College, he has been engaged on variousagogical and theoretical work, and has held various scientific positions. In a convention of Agricultural students held in Washington, D. C, in 1930, Overtone's students were second place in national judging contest.

He was working under a two-year contract, with special work. Graduates from several other leading colleges have responded to the call of the Secretaries, and are now in strange lands as teachers.

PRESIDENT BLUFORD TALKS TO ALUMNI

Returning, Graduates Enjoy Holiday of Homecoming and Inspiration.

Returning, Graduates Enjoy Holiday of Homecoming and Inspiration.

The A. and T. Alumni met in the Agriculture Department prior to the coming home events. The meeting opened with a word of greeting to the President and the opening remarks were given by Vice-President Dudley. President Dudley, president of the American College of Agriculture, Petersburg, Va., made a short address on the importance of education for the future of the country. He said that education should be able to send to the college bright minds to continue the work you have done.

Following this a representative of each class present was given ten minutes to express himself. In their expressions it was brought out that they developed a great desire to return to the college to talk to the students and to show the students that they had felt toward the institution after leaving it. They said that the food gave words of welcome and briefly explained the recent accomplishments of the college. He also outlined his plan for the future. Brief months ago he was made a member of the Board of Agriculture and is now in that position. He is now back to the old school, and this is his second year in the Agricultural Department. In his opening remarks he expressed to them how much they were missing. The meeting opened with a word of greeting to the President and the opening remarks were given by Vice-President Dudley. President Dudley, president of the American College of Agriculture, Petersburg, Va., made a short address on the importance of education for the future of the country.

Mr. T. A. Hillman, president, made brief mention of the relationship which he held on the A. and T. Alumni Council, and expressed themselves as being grateful for the program.

The credit goes to the Culinary Club. A large number of alumni, former students and friends were present and expressed themselves as being grateful for the program.

The subject of Negro education in the South was recently split into the several categories on Negro, education, whether or not the Negro is educated in the home, or is educated in the school. The problem of Negro education has been studied from many different angles, but none have been able to come up with a satisfactory solution.

The Negro educational system has been divided into several categories, each of which has its own problems. The most common problem is that the Negro student is not given the same opportunity as the white student. This is because the government has not provided the necessary funding to support the education of the Negro. Another problem is that the Negro student is often discriminated against in the classroom. This is because the white students are often given more attention than the Negro students.

A. & T. College Girls Have Morning Hike

The girls of A. & T. College assembled for a morning hike at 9 a.m. Monday, September 28, 1931, to go on a five-mile hike.

What a time we had! Everyone was happy and hungry by the time they reached the picnic grounds. It would not be easy to say that the morning breakfast was not enjoyed by all. After breakfast the girls went around the open fire and toasted marshmallows and enjoyed the appetizing experiences from the hike. Perhaps the most exciting thing of the day was the football game. Oh, yes, we had a really and truly football game, and we appreciated the early morning breakfast.

A. & T. Is Rated by N.Y. Board of Regents

A very interesting bulletin has come to our attention recently. It is a pamphlet published by the University of the State of New York containing the list of institutions that have met the requirements for admission to professional schools that have been determined by the state. Among those institutions are the Agricultural College of Social Science, which offers courses in home economics, and the New York State Board of Regents.

Among the Clubs

The college co-eds held their first meeting of the year on Tuesday, September 21, 1931, and discussed plans for the next few weeks. The club meets at 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday in the Agriculture building. All connected with the college and others interested in agriculture are invited.

The Choral Club

The Choral club met on early afternoon last week and is now working on several important numbers which it hopes to render from time to time during the school year.

The Register

We have not received with unusual pleasure the latest issue of "The Register," which has been published by the students of the college.

Words are limited that have the power to express such a dynamic personality as was embodied in the "Register." The student body of the school has been closely following its progress and its development as a major institution.

The vital importance of the "Register" as a medium of communication has been fully realized.

The "Register" is a medium of communication that has been carefully considered and planned for the benefit of the entire student body.
