A. & T. Graduates Making Much Progress in the Field of Agriculture

WIN FIRST PRIZE

Attractive Plaque Given by L. G. Balfour Co. Goes to Farmers Union School.

TAUGHT BY E. C. DEBNAM

Bladen County Training School Wins Second Place—Taught by P. R. Brown, '28.

A. and T. graduates make excellent showing in the State contest of New Farmers.

First place in the best chapter contest of the New North State Farmers formerly known as the Future North State Farmers, a state-wide organization of the Negro vocational agricultural students has been awarded to Farmers Union School of Columbus county. The teacher of agriculture is Prof. E. C. Debnam of the class of '30.

Bladen County Training School, first place winner last year, won second place this year. The teacher is Prof. P. R. Brown of the class of '28. Third place went to the Rich Square Institute in Northampton county. Scores for the three winning chapters were announced as follows: Farmers Union, 575; Bladen County Training School, 566; and Rich Square, 52. Prof. L. C. Meacham, teacher of vocational agriculture at Rich Square Institute was a member of the class of '29. Honorable mention was made of the Pender County Training School, Rocky Point; the Nash County Training School, Nashville; and the Robeson County Training School, Maxton.

First place winners will be awarded an attractive plaque by the L. G. Balfour Company of Attleboro, Mass., while the three highest scoring chapters will be given cash awards by the Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau, Professor Simmons said. The purpose of the contests is to stimulate interest in the various units in the carrying out of the purposes of the State organization.

Among the most outstanding accomplishments of the Farmers Union students were the growing of winter vegetables as a means of decreasing pellagra among the Negro farmers of that

DU PREE, BARITONE, IS PRESENTED BY Y.M.C.A.

New Jersey Concert Artist of Supposed Fame Disappoints by Absence of Reputed Singing Hen.

In an effort to raise money to send a delegate to the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Conference which convenes at King's Mountain, N. C., June 2-9, the Y. M. C. A. presented Reese DuPree, baritone, of New Jersey, in a song recital May 12, 1932. The financial returns, unfortunately, were not of any serious consequence.

Mr. DuPree is supposed to have achieved fame within recent years by blending his voice with that of his hen, "Singing Jane." However, in this debut the hen didn't appear. According to his testimony, the hen is a mysterious "freak of nature." She responds to his call. Quite a remarkable creature!

The audience looked forward to the hen's appearance, to be surprised in the final analysis. Several numbers were attempted by this supposedly remarkable genius, Mr. Reese DuPree.

Alumni Meeting

On May 16 a meeting of the Greensboro Chapter of the A. & T. Clubs was held. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. J. B. Small; vice-president, Dr. W. E. Morrow; secretary, G. B. Love; treasurer, Mr. I. W. Snipes. Special attention of those present was called to the fact that the alumni luncheon would be given Tuesday, commencement day following the regular alumni meeting. All those present were urged to ask the members of the alumni to be present. Special attention was also called to the club eligibility rule whereby all persons who had attended the A. & T. College at least three months during the regular session and two weeks during the summer session were eligible for membership in the A. & T. Club. There was a good delegation present and much enthusiasm shown. Much comment was expressed favoring the entertainment of the graduating class and A. & T. Club during commencement week.

SORORITY OBSERVES EDUCATIONAL WEEK

Alpha Mu Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Presents Educational Program.

COVERS WEEK OF MAY 8th TO 15th

According to the annual custom of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, the Alpha Mu chapter endeavored to carry out a program for the week of May 8-15. During the week, the importance of "Investment in Education" was stressed by various speakers.

On Sunday, an inspiring address by Mrs. M. Scarlett, Supervisor of Primary Grades of this city, was heard. She emphasized an investment in education for service, efficiency, and happiness.

Following the program, the sorors were hostesses to the faculty and students at a tea in the band room.

At the regular chapel hour on Monday the student body was favored with an address further emphasizing the value of education. The speaker was Mrs. Olive Streater, professor of Social Sciences at Bennett College. She is an active member of Tau Omega chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority at Cleveland, Ohio.

The program on Friday, at chapel, carried out the usual plan of undergraduate members of the sorority, that of presenting a book, written by a Negro author, to their respective institutions. After an address by President Bluford, "Gingertown," by Clayde McKaye, was presented to the school by Miss Pearl Parker, which will be placed on the library shelf.

"Tech" Club Broadcasts

The "Tech" Club, composed of men in the Mechanical department of A. and T. College broadcasted over their newly-built broadcasting set Tuesday at 1:00 o'clock in the auditorium. The transmitter and the receiver was working to perfection. This was the first appearance of the engineers before the student body.

REGISTER STAFF ORGANIZATION FOR 1932-33 PERFECTED

New Features Are Added As Many New Students Qualify for Places.

C. L. BRYANT, JR., EDITOR

Under Able Leadership the College Can Look Forward to Continued Success of the Publication.

According to the testimonies of many students and teachers this has been the most colorful year in the history of the College REGISTER. A. and T.'s official student publication. The method used for securing members of the staff was entirely different from any one used heretofore. This digression, which was of a voluntary nature, proved to be very effective; the organization of the paper exemplifies the fact.

All members of the staff have done their part in making this a banner year for the REGISTER.

At the last general meeting of the College REGISTER's staff, thirteen new members appeared to participate in the election of officers for 1932-33. Nora J. Foster, Editor-in-Chief of the REGISTER, presided. She explained in details to the new newspaper aspirants the technic of newswriting.

The following members, after consideration had been given their merits, were elected to fill the various offices on the staff of the College REGISTER. Charles Livingston Deason, Jr., who rendered valuable service as an Associate Editor, was elected Editor-in-Chief of the College REGISTER; Russell Joseph Capott, our very efficient Sport Editor, was appointed Managing Editor; Dorsey Vick, who served as Business Manager on his high school paper, will serve as Business Manager. Because of his estimable service to the REGISTER, Vincent D. White, Dean of the Associate Editors, will retain his office. The other associate editors are all recruits in the newspaper world. They are namely: Lillian Lee, Marian Tatum, Mernell Graves, and W. I. Morris. Hazel Reeves and Hortense Galloway will serve the REGISTER as Social Editors. Edward Houston, because of his valuable service, retains his office as Humor Editor. I. D. Ivey, a sport enthusiast, was elected Sport Editor.

CRUTCHER MAKES TALK TO RESEARCH SOCIETY

Gives the Results of Extensive Experiments Conducted at Iowa State College.

Experiments made while studying at Iowa State showed that a single ration had as much nutritive value as the mixed protein ration, according to Prof. R. H. Crutcher, head of the Department of Dairy Husbandry at A. and T. College before the Research Society of A. and T. yesterday.

The object of using a single ration of soybean rather than a mixed ration, which included linseed meal, cottonseed and cracked soybean is to save money in the production of dairy products. The dairyman could raise his own soybeans, thus saving the expense of the more expensive nutrients, as well as the expense of shipping the same to the farm.

Professor Crutcher holds his master's degree from the Iowa State College in animal husbandry.

Commencement Exercises Are Announced

The Commencement schedule of A. and T. College for the year 1932 is as follows:

Sunday, May 29, 3 p. m., the Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. R. Murphy Williams, D. D., of Greensboro, N. C.

Monday, May 30, at 2:30 p. m., the class day exercises will take place. From 5 to 7 p. m., president's reception honoring the graduating class. At 8:30 p. m. of the same day the music department presents the band and choral club in a joint recital.

Tuesday, May 31, at 10 a. m., meeting of Alumni Association, and at 12:30 p. m. the alumni luncheon, and at 2:30 p. m. the commencement address, which will be delivered by Mr. Carter G. Woodson, Ph. D., of Washington, D. C.

LONG CONCERT TOUR BY COLLEGE BAND

Thirty-Two Cities and Thirty-Five High Schools Visited in State.

TOUR COVERS 3,409 MILES

At the Winston-Salem Y. W. C. A., Monday, May 9th, the college band ended the longest tour made by any organization of the institution in so short a period. The concert tour opened the latter part of March and ended the second week in May. Thirty-two North Carolina cities and thirty-five State high schools were visited by the organization. The group had wonderful success and was well received in all communities in which they traveled.

According to the business manager, N. C. Webster, the band played before its largest audience at Greenville, N. C., Roxboro, Goldsboro, and Wilmington were close seconds to the Greenville house. Concerts have already been booked for 1932-33 in practically all of the cities visited this spring. The band will not only visit towns in the State next session, but will also render concerts in several cities and towns in Virginia and possibly South Carolina. Engagements at Martinsville, Danville and Suffolk have already been booked.

Fortunately, the band will remain intact next year as only four members are now classified as high as the Junior class. The majority of the participants of the organization are Freshmen and Sophomores.

Appearing on the same program with the band next year when it will resume its tours the first week in November, will be a male chorus and quartet consisting of voices in the band. The snappy blue and white new uniforms worn by the members of the band were responsible for some of the favorable comments expressed during the organization's many miles of travel this spring. A very substantial amount was realized from their concerts and credited to the cost of the uniforms.

In addition to the purchase of more instruments for the enlargement of the college band by the opening of the next school year, the institution also plans to have on hand sufficient stringed and reed instruments for the organization of a 50-piece symphony orchestra. The young ladies of the college, as well as the young men, will have the opportunity of learning to play a musical instrument in this organization.

DR. C. WOODSON WILL SPEAK HERE AT COMMENCEMENT

Noted Authority on Negro History Will Deliver Commencement Address.

PROCESSION TO FEATURE

Rev. R. Murphy Williams to Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon on Sunday, May 29.

The 1932 commencement season was formally launched on Thursday evening, May 26, with the annual all-student banquet, held in Murphy Hall. This is one feature of the season in which all students take an active part and an active interest.

The Baccalaureate sermon this year will be preached by the Rev. R. Murphy Williams, one of the leading ministers and social workers of Greensboro.

On Monday at 2:30 p. m. the Seniors are scheduled for their class day activities. This has always been an attractive feature of the season and is expected to offer new ideas this year.

At 5 p. m. on Monday President and Mrs. Bluford will entertain in honor of the graduating classes, and at 8:30 p. m. Monday the Music department will present the Band and Choral Club in a joint recital. This is open to the public and admission is free.

The graduating exercises will get under way promptly at 2:30 p. m. on Tuesday, May 31.

Dr. Carter G. Woodson, Ph.D., of Washington, D. C., will deliver the main address. Dr. Woodson is the founder and director of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, and is America's greatest authority on Negro history.

The Alumni Association will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., and the annual luncheon at noon.

A. & T. TAKES PART IN TRIANGULAR FORENSIC

South Carolina State, Virginia State, and A. and T. Compose Debating Triangle.

VIRGINIA STATE WINS HONORS

For several years the triangular debate between South Carolina State, Virginia State, and A. and T. Colleges has served as a great agency in establishing a feeling of good will among students and faculties of the three institutions.

A. and T. was very fortunate this year in having a former Harvard debater as coach of its debating team. This man was none other than Prof. Robert C. Weaver, head of our department of Economics. He worked very assiduously to bring debating honors to our Alma Mater, but seemingly, or judging from the results, all claims were relinquished and we were victimized.

However, defeats alone will not cause us to be pessimistic. We are ardent believers in the motto, "Climb Though the Rocks Be Rugged."

This year our negative team journeyed to South Carolina State College. The representatives of this team were: Miss Hazel Whitlock, Messrs. Hinton, and Clifton Saunders. The affirmative team debated Virginia State here. Miss Hattie Diffay, Messrs. C. W. Williamson, and E. J. Jones were the representatives. Both teams suffered defeats.

At the close of the triangular debate Virginia State won all the honors.

We

With this issue of the REGISTER this staff completes a year of service for the students of A. and T. College. With one exception the staff was composed of entirely new people. We had much to learn and much to do to keep the paper up to the standards that the preceding staff had put before us, however we have striven to do our best and it is left with our readers to say whether we have succeeded or failed. The task has been one of great enjoyment to all of us. We sincerely hope that our readers have gotten as much from the paper as we have put in it.—May I, as the editor-in-chief, say that my association with the members of the staff has been a pleasant as well as a most profitable one. They have worked diligently to make the paper a success. I wish to mention particularly Messrs. E. J. Jones, C. L. Bryant and V. D. White. They have been of inestimable value and I am glad to know that the latter two will be in the service again next year.

They

The new staff has been elected and is composed of a group of real workers. The REGISTER under the supervision of Mr. C. L. Bryant promises to be one of the best papers of its kind anywhere. The staff has already shown great interest in the work by going ahead helping with this issue of the paper. May they continue to show such an interest. We are glad to leave the REGISTER in the hands of such an embodiment of capability.

You

To you, students of A. and T., we are greatly indebted for your hearty co-operation. Without it we could not have had a REGISTER. Your contributions have helped make the paper. The entire staff wishes to thank you and to encourage you to show the same interest next year.

The Faculty Advisor

Dean Gibbs has worked very earnestly with the staff in trying to make the College REGISTER one of the best of all student publications. His service of incalculable value is appreciated by the staff and the entire student body.

As the last word we wish for the REGISTER and the college in its entirety a very successful year. We hope that the REGISTER will continue to be an organ of merit for the students and by the students as it has been heretofore.

The Need of Economic Co-operation

As time passes we find problems of life increasing. The evils of poverty, unemployment, upper class control of churches, schools and courts, serfdom predominating the lives of workers, governmental disputes, trade entanglements, wars and race problems against which we are fighting, seemingly in vain. These fights will continue with growing intensity, yielding less results as the complexity of society approaches a limit where the organization of economic factors is possible.

The lack of economic co-operation turns banking institutions into mere counting houses for money changers and a place in which people deposit their earnings to see them again in the form of bankruptcy. The failure of banks being due to dishonesty on the part of bankers because of the lack of the proper enforcement of laws. It also turns industry into machinery for coining profits, at the expense of human happiness, for a few who justified themselves by being philanthropists.

Why must the struggle for economic security become one for economic advantage? Why should the business world be so rigid that my gain means the loss of my neighbor's security? The answers to these questions may clearly be summarized in the lack of economic co-operation. The lack of co-operation is not an ideal to be accepted by a true Christian society. We must rid ourselves of strifes between classes, races, organizations and work towards a unified goal. May that ultimate end or goal aid us in securing happiness, contentment and also offer an opportunity for the advancement of all regardless of race, color or creed. By practicing these principles the energy, time and money being spent in war, segregation and other worthless activities can be utilized in a more efficient way, especially in the outlawry of evils such a "depression."

May this thought appear in your prayer:

Each day as you go about your occupation
That in the joy of life we may share
Through the will of God and co-operation.

Kidnappers and the Gang

Few Americans realize that behind every motive, be it good or bad, there is a stimulus. Now to say that every good deed is the result of a favorable stimulus is almost self evident; but the writer in this discourse does not intend to state what is good or bad. The two terms, good and bad are rather of an ambiguous nature. However, I will venture to define those things that promote ill-will and are of a devastating nature to our society as bad. A definition so clear and whose scope is so broad, I am sure, will be accepted by a rational people without minute inspection.

Our government has been too lax in handling some measures; on the other hand it, without a doubt, has been extremely stringent in the passage of others. Bribery and fraud are two methods employed by the unscrupulous to gain prominence and also be accorded honors they have not justly earned. As long as such corrupt practices pervade our civilization the rise of any gruesome acts.

The recent kidnapping in this country have aroused the animosity of many people; they believe it is the work of the underworld. We are living in a precarious age, one in which citizens implore members of the gang to help them. Why should Americans do this in a country where the law is supposed to be the guiding line? The question need not be subjected to any rigid criticism. In this country the law and the gang are so interwoven, it is almost impossible to look to the law and expect justice to be administered. So intricate is the mechanism of these factors that the former has to be reached by relying upon the latter. The kidnapping of Lindbergh's son exemplified the fact more than any recent happening. What must America do to rid herself of such undesirable foes? I firmly believe, the only way we can ever hope to successfully combat these decivilizing foes is through the organization of a more comprehensive system of laws. A more stringent code of laws must be passed that will mete out severe punishment to all kidnappers, if we hope to eradicate such an evil—kidnapping.

Chas. L. Bryant, Jr., '33.

Let Us Be Reminded

In this great dynamic age we as Negroes should turn ourselves considerably more to the different types of businesses attempted by members of our race. We do not consider our businesses very seriously. We do not patronize our business as we should. We do not realize that the success our businesses make is our success and that the failure our businesses make is also our failure.

There are many Negro business concerns on our right and on our left, and all they need is our help. We even criticize them ourselves. We, in trying to excuse ourselves for non-support of our business concerns say that they don't keep what we want and when we want it. Well, that is acknowledged to a certain degree. But how can they have what we want when we do not get what they do have in order that they might enlarge their businesses and be able to keep what we want? This kind of talk is heard more and more each day among our group.

As the writer was standing near a Caucasian smoke shop one day two of our most typical race-members passed slowly by entering the shop. One said to the other that he would buy his cigarettes and other tobaccos at Mr. X's shop—a concern owned and operated by a man of color—if Mr. X would give him more matches with his cigarettes. This is a very good example of the statement or excuse made above. Let us think why Mr. X didn't give more matches with the purchase of a package of cigarettes. He had to make a profit on something. If he had the undivided patronage of our group he could easily give more matches with a package of cigarettes. He could enlarge his business and probably have more different brands than are employed another race member and as his business grows he could hire more.

We can easily see from such a simple, though not unusual happening, of just how much we are blindly and neglectfully robbing ourselves. Let us lift this great hood of unconventionalism and negligence from us and look more at our businesses which are always extending their wanting and welcoming arms for our patronage. Let us establish businesses of our own and be of service to all men. And lastly, let us not forget that the bigger and more independent our businesses become the farther we are pushed on our almost inconceivable journey to economic equality.

W. I. Morris, '33.

The Mastery of Discouragement

At some unexpected time the forces of discouragement have taken hold of many a man and woman who have fallen from a state of flattering prospects to one of miserable despair.

Many college students have looked out at the years to be covered and the work to be accomplished, before they are prepared for life, and have dropped out, making a wreck of a bright prospect.

But this is not only true of student life. It is true of all life. The dreaded octopus of man is discouragement.

Repeated failure may be termed as an obvious cause, and low vitality as a common cause. When one fails and continues to fail interest is decreased and discouragement follows. A person who is physically weak has little interest in the beginning and is, therefore, easily discouraged.

On the other hand, it is very often purely imaginary, often due to environment, and sometimes necessity. Very often it takes the hardships of life to bring out the best that's in us.

In spite of the many causes, unless we are able to find a remedy we have gained nothing. Just what is needed? A cool head, a forced optimism. I say "forced," because under such circumstances it is forced. But it will eventually adjust itself if given a chance. A resigned spirit and a determination to fight it out.

Today we are faced with many discouragements. Shall we surrender because of dark days that have come, or are we willing to fight it out?

This Campus of Ours

By Russett

Well folks it won't be long now. And I notice the boys have taken on their summer atmosphere already. It is nothing strange to see two or three promising young freshmen shooting marbles on the campus or a very dignified sophomore looking for a fight. (The juniors don't fight you know, they just go around making the sophomores fight for them while they carry on the argument.)

What? Oh! You want to know what the seniors are doing... Well they are at it, I don't know what the instructors will call it when they have finished. But anyway taking them at their word they are pretty busy.

By the way I almost forgot to tell you that we are about to elect our president of the student body, well I don't guess it will be much need for me to tell you about it because by the time you read about it that will be over and the man or woman, will be in office. You know this election business is getting to be a pretty big thing on our campus. I understand next year we are going to have four different parties. What? Oh! You want to know what party I am going to join, well I tell you I guess I will go Democratic, because if I don't the Democratic party will win.

I see the Wets are getting along pretty tough around Washington, now to tell you the truth they are not having such an easy time around here either. The Drys have a platform that you just cant get around: Bigger and Better Cheese. Now those Wet fellows told the boys that they couldn't promise them any better cheese but perhaps they would not have to miss too many meals. Personally I think the Drys are all Wet and the Wets are even Wetter.

Responsibilities

As we grow older our responsibilities become greater. The responsibilities of yesterday are not as great as those of today, because civilization was not as advanced then as it is now.

The present civilization has been developed by great men and women.

Yesterday we had no radios, airplanes, submarines, or trains.

Now great things are being done, things that, at one time, seemed almost impossible. Looking into civilization, we find that it is a greater task for us to develop than it was for the men who have passed on. However, we are now realizing our responsibility. Are we able to carry on the task? Yes we can do it by grasping every opportunity that presents itself.

REGISTER STAFF ORGANIZATION FOR 1932-33 IS PERFECTED

Preston Haygood, an art student of our Department of Fine Arts, was elected Art Editor. The reportorial staff will still receive the services of Olen A. Dupree, B. Banks, Valerie Brooks, Hattie G. Wright, Maude Price, and A. G. Walker have been elected as members of the Reportorial Staff. Hazel Whitlock, a member of the reportorial staff, was elected typist for the REGISTER. Martha Virginia White, who rendered service on the reportorial staff, was elected Book Reviewer.

The new staff plans to make the College REGISTER a better, and even a bigger paper next year.

Beginning this year, the college is inaugurating a system, similar to the one used in the Athletic department, of awarding monograms to the members of the band who earn them. Thirty monograms were awarded to the band members at the students' annual banquet held in Murphy Hall, Thursday evening, May 27th.

OBSERVE VOCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY WEEK

Program Sponsored by the National Urban League Is Presented Here April 18-24.

PROF. C. L. COOPER IS DIRECTOR

Vocational Opportunity Week, sponsored annually by the National Urban League, was observed during the week of April 18-24, under the direction of Prof. C. L. Cooper.

On Monday at the noon chapel hour, Professor Cooper himself presented the subject, "The Basis for a Vocational Choice." He has made a special study of the vocational choices of students in North Carolina and brought out a great deal of worth while information.

On Friday at the same hour, Prof. F. Marcellus Staley, dean of Bennett College for Women, delivered an address on "Trends in Negro Education in the Colleges and Universities."

On Sunday, April 24, at 3 o'clock the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, in co-operation with the Urban League program, presented President F. D. Bluford, who delivered an address on "The Job After High School."

Special music was arranged by the Department of Music for all of the exercises.

GREEK ORGANIZATIONS SPONSOR PAN-HELLENIC

Plans have been formulated for one of the most opportune and incomparable affairs in the history of A. and T. College. This affair is a dance to be sponsored by the five Greek-Letter organizations on the campus, namely: the Alpha Kappa Alpha and Delta Sigma Theta Sororities and the Alpha Phi Alpha, Phi Beta Sigma, and Omega Psi Phi Fraternities.

A committee, consisting of well selected representatives from each organization, met on the first of May to discuss an All-Greek-Letter entertainment. All representatives commented favorably on it and then carried the idea to their respective groups for consideration. As was contemplated, all representatives returned to the committee meeting with smiling faces, eager to tell how willing their organizations were to participate. Several such interesting meetings were held from time to time until all plans were completed for this most unusual occasion.

It was decided that the dance would be given in Murphy Hall, Friday, May 27, which is the last Friday in this scholastic year.

This will be the first dance ever given by all of the Greek-Letter organizations jointly.

PRESENT AGRICULTURAL DEMONSTRATION HERE

The stage in the new Dudley Memorial building was used recently to feature a demonstration on the production and preparation of the egg. The program was in honor of National Egg Week and sponsored by the Department of Agriculture.

J. J. Lanier, a student in the Agriculture department used actual specimens of types of hens fitted and unfitted for egg laying. He pointed out how the average person might be able to pick a layer.

The other feature of the demonstration was concerned with how to prepare the egg so that it would be more palatable. The women students, Marie Mitchell and Hazel L. Reeves of the Home Economics department demonstrated the preparation of the egg in many ways as frying and how to make an omelet. The value of the egg as a builder of the body was further illustrated by several rats exhibited by the students who had been fed the egg with and without the yolk.

Has Prof. B. Morris moved his office over on the campus?

No. He is doing a little research work in English.

Oh, I see!

SERVICE

During the struggling days of our dearly loved forefathers the general conception of service was work and pure hard work. The persons who worked were employed by someone else and, therefore, were servants and from this idea we got the word, service, meaning the act of helping another. Helping someone else is one of the greatest satisfactions we can receive. Helping someone else is one of the greatest contributions we can make to our fellowman. And satisfaction is one of the greatest accomplishments made in one's life. The individual whom one helps is not at all the only person who is benefited. Being helped creates in one a great desire to pass the service on to others. Service is even given unconsciously, sometimes, when a person is deeply rooted with intention of giving aid.

But before giving a considerable amount of service one must prepare himself for the task—and the preparation which is most vital in becoming fit is Education. We must not take Education as a short cut for accomplishing wealth or as a means for having an easy life, but let us use it more to serve ourselves and others. There are many folk around us who need help. We don't have to go across the mighty bodies of water, or across our state line, or even out of our city to find persons who would appreciate our service greatly. So let us enjoy that great satisfaction which is gotten from serving others.

In conclusion, may I emphatically state that instead of receiving an education to gain wealth and prestige, let us render service, and service will come back to us.

POET'S CORNER

TO MY CLASSMATES

The ninth month has come at last, Since first we attended a college class, O, would that this is not the last! Dear Classmates!

Our spirits have a fainter glow, Since daily nearer the end we go; Our happiness is what caused it so, Dear Classmates!

Our books once a joy to show, And which were restless heretofore, Will be dusty, disused and shown no more, Dear Classmates!

For if you tried to study yet, Your studies you could never get Because of faces you can't forget! Dear Classmates!

Now all of us have played our parts, And had subjects of all sorts, And won our way in others hearts, Dear Classmates!

With others in our heart, And A. and T. holding her big part, It is hard for us to depart, Dear Classmates!

But, Ah! by constant heed I know That we will back to A. and T. go, And have our joys as once before, Dear Classmates!

DELTA ATTEND REGIONAL CONFERENCE

On the 22nd, 23rd, and 24th of April four members of Alpha Mu chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority attended the regional conference which was held in Philadelphia. Those who attended were Oveta Brown, Hattie Dif-fay, Zena Bluford and Martha White. While there they were the guests of Xi Sigma and Gamma chapters. After the meetings, which were held in the Christian Association building of the University of Pennsylvania, they were delightfully entertained by their sorors. The young women report a very pleasant stay. They were under the ihap-erouage of Mrs. Bluford.

Billy Burnett and Bright are in partnership. Much success! Dudley street is yours.

SPORTS

FAREWELL! FAREWELL!

With the coming of June, 1932, we find that we must bid farewell to quite a few of our athletes. We are very happy to see them venture out into the world as men of destiny, but sorry because of the assets they have been to the various teams.

Farewell, old Dillard, old pal. We will miss your perseverance on the football and baseball field. We will miss the continuous line plunges that you made for dear old A. and T. We will miss the precision that you used in playing third base on the baseball team. Dillard, we know if you tackle the problems of life as you have tackled for dear old A. and T. on the football field you will surely be a success in life. We surely do appreciate the three years which you have played for the Alma Mater.

Martin, we cannot forget the support you gave the football and basketball teams. We cannot forget your encouraging voice in the time of distress. Martin, continue to fight the problems of life as you have fought for the dear old Alma Mater and you will surely find success.

Pollard and Jack, old pals, you gave us your best on the baseball field. We will forever see you two on the field when we are playing some hard adversary. Keep the old fight up, boys.

Last, but not least, comes good old Lefty Taylor, superior first baseman and pitcher. Lefty, you are a true example of the old bulldog spirit; you have fought many a brave battle; you have won many a battle. Lefty, old pal, we bid you farewell with much sorrow in our hearts.

We know you boys will continue to fight for your dear old Alma Mater wherever you are. Your names will forever be heard on the campus of A. and T. Farewell, Dillard, Martin, Pollard, Jack, and Lefty.

Good, but not forgotten.

SEVENTY-NINE AWARDS ISSUED STUDENTS FOR EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

At the students' annual banquet held in Murphy Hall Thursday, May 26th, monograms were awarded to 79 students for their participation in the various sports and the band. A. H. Morrow was the only three-letter man of the group. Morrow is a Sophomore and hails from Winston-Salem. DeBerry, who graduated in June, 1931, was the only man to accomplish such consideration last year.

Those receiving awards were as follows: Football—C. R. Dillard, A. H. Morrow, A. L. Stanback, J. Dillard, T. W. Martin, J. C. Browning, F. A. Preece, W. H. Eberhardt, V. White, J. P. Lee, J. D. Manning, W. F. Robinson, C. Lawrence, V. A. Burgess, C. L. Sawyer, T. W. Washington, G. H. Willis, Jesse Rogers.

Basketball—A. H. Morrow, J. E. Stewart, J. H. Lawson, T. W. Martin, T. W. Washington, V. A. Burgess, Charles McKay, Samuel Kennedy.

Baseball—Samuel Kennedy, Stanford, Ward, A. W. Taylor, A. W. Fisher, J. W. Moore, C. R. Dillard, C. G. Scott, A. H. Morrow, W. D. Canada, Charles McKay.

Basketball—Girls—Misses M. Graves, L. Foust, O. Brown, L. Anderson, P. Wallace, U. Wortham, Margaret Hazel, M. C. Tatum, D. Galloway, H. Galloway, O. Arledge.

Tennis proved to be an enjoyable pastime recently when Hampton played A. and T. Anyway, the committee thought so. They have not found out as yet which one won the love games.

THE NEED FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

The need for a vocational education in the state has perhaps been most thoroughly set in the report of the commission on National Aid to the Vocational Education whose recommendation led to the adoption of the Vocational Education Act.

There is a crying economic need for vocational education. The two great assets of a nation which enter into the production of wealth whether agricultural or industrial, are natural resources and human labor. The conservative and full utilization of both of these depends upon vocational education training. This vocational training is required, first, to conserve and develop our natural resources; second, to prevent waste of human labor; third, to provide a supplement to apprenticeship; fourth, to increase wage earning; fifth, to meet the increasing demand for trained workmen; sixth to effect the increased cost of living.

The social and educational need for vocational training is equally urgent. First, by recognizing different tastes and abilities and by giving equal opportunity for all to prepare for their life work; second, by extending through part time and evening classes or instructions to those who must go to work in the shops or on the farms.

Vocational education is also needed for its indirect but positive effect, aims and methods of developing a better teaching process through which children who do not respond to book instructions alone may reach an education through learning by doing.

By introducing into our education system the aim of utility to take its place in dignity by the side of culture and to correct education with life by making it purposeful and useful. Higher standard of living is a direct result of better education.

The Federal government does not prepare to undertake the organization and immediate director of vocational training in the states, but does agree to make from year to year financial contribution to its support.

Since 1918 to the year of 1931 there have been established 16,625 vocational schools, 34,872 teachers, 1,304,872 students registered in these various schools. These schools have been very profitable and uplifting for the advancement of the human race. And I hope that in the near future our dear old A. and T. will turn out more graduates of industrial arts.

BOOK REVIEWS

BLACK NO MORE—SCHUYLER M. V. WHITE, '34

To my mind this is not one of the best novels written by members of our race. The theme while somewhat interesting is also insinuating on the Negroes in general.

It is the story of a young Negro doctor who finds a new discovery in Germany which turns colored people light overnight. He came back to America and began his practice. The theme was mystical and incredible. There is no particular character who stands out. There is no vivid description. There is not much action and very ordinary language. The grammatical construction is what it should be.

In this book Schuyler turns naturalist thereby making his book distasteful.

SECRETARIAL CLUB

The Secretarial Club of A. and T. College, under the supervision of Mr. L. A. Wise, visited the Remington-Rand Company of Greensboro Thursday morning to witness a demonstration of many different kinds of office machinery and equipment which included bookkeeping machines, noiseless typewriters, filing equipment, etc. Every possible courtesy was shown by the officials of the local company in answering every detail about their equipment.

Balsley is very attentive and studious. You know, exams begin next week and Martha White has some conditional exams to give. Much luck, Balsley.

Half Pint Woffs

By E. S. HOUSTON

A certain young lady proposed to Eugene Monroe; her proposal made him sick. He has been sick for several days.

If love were religion, Martha and Balsley would have two seats in heaven.

Spike Brown received a telegram which reads thus: "You are the same as ever."

If Chester Jenkins doesn't do better, his actions will cause his Greensboro girl to commit suicide.

William McLeod is teaching Mabel Hazel "poultry."

C. G. May has written a book entitled "Love Affairs," to his girl friend at Hampton.

Fred Price's presence was wanted at the Sophomore dance, but he was missed by many.

When Pollard stops tackling "Half Pint," will he be able to walk?

S. L. Dudley arrived in time to witness the departure of John Anderson.

Who will be "Morphite" (Moffitt) next year? Cox will be Monroe, I guess.

Lon Chaney has resumed his position with Ethel Leathers, because of the bankruptcy on Regan street.

R. J. Capott is running for "Mr. Shaw University," says Josephine Barrier. Will he win?

A. Elliott is in the library when D. J. Manning is out. What is Recie Gerst going to do?

Jack Moore is the "Prodigal Son" returning home to Vivian Walker.

Will Mernell Graves succeed in securing her 1932 boy friend?

Nanny Lee Marsh: Why is Haygood shame-faced, Speedy?

Speedy (answering seriously): Because love is like a dollar—easy to spend.

"Deep" Henderson has purchased a "bus." It will be used for the transportation of his orchestra during the summer.

The Short Men's Convention will convene the first week in June. The delegates are: Pollard, Saunders, Houston, Davis, Kemp, Currie, and Elliott.

Sam Hawkins is still "woffing" about his succeeding "Half Pint" during the absence of "Half Pint" Easter holidays.

Will D. J. Vick be another Canada? is a question for the committee to decide.

Is This True or Not?

That a certain professor went home the other day and asked his son this question: "How do we learn?" And the 10-day-old son replied: "Father, we learn to do by doing."

A. & T. COLLEGE SERENADERS

Among the various student activities at A. and T. is one organization that has made considerable progress; the College Orchestra, reorganized during the month of April. It is composed of two orchestras, namely: Southern Aces of Greensboro, and the A. and T. Collegiate, under the direction of Mr. Melvin Walls with Mr. N. C. Webster as faculty advisor.

The organization, composed of twelve well-trained players are determined to make the orchestra one of the best in the South. They have been successful in their presentations in many of the Eastern Carolina cities.

For further information concerning this organization address A. and T. College, Greensboro, N. C.

M. L. Walls, Manager, Mr. N. C. Webster, Advisor, A. G. Walker, Banking Agent.

Among the Greeks

THE LAMPDOS CLUB

Fellow Students and Brothers:
Lifting from our shoulders the heavy burden of economic depression we of the Lampodos greet you with a light heart and wish for you a prosperous year.

We wish to announce the newly-elected officers. They are: J. S. Rogers, president; W. A. McLeod, vice-president; J. D. Ivey, secretary; F. Leadbetter, treasurer; and A. Richardson, reporter.

Congratulations to those who have been initiated into the realm of the Greeks. They are W. Burnett, J. Jenkins, R. J. Telfair, B. Banks, and D. Forney.

A. RICHARDSON, Reporter.

THE CRESCENT CLUB

The Crescent Club, junior organization of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, gave a smoker in honor of its Big Brothers on May 2, at 159 North Dudley street. At this meeting many interesting talks were made by members of both the Phi Beta Sigma and Crescent Club.

This year has been a good year for the Crescent Club and we are looking forward to make next year a still better one.

Before signing off we wish all a successful summer and hope to meet you next fall. O. A. DUPREE, Reporter.

THE IVY LEAF CLUB

To all Greek letter organizations, to all pledge clubs, to all students and alumni, to the faculty and administration, GREETINGS:

This year marks the accomplishment of new goals and more difficult tasks than have ever been set. The scrutiny of public opinion, the search-light of the campus is being directed toward all organizations that profess to be cultural and educational. By our deeds our standing not only as an organization but as individual members of that organization shall be known and approved or justly condemned.

The eyes of the campus are riveted upon us. Word has gone out that Alpha Phi has a newly organized pledge club. We, who are pioneers in this new and changing field must feel that the greatest development of our club lies here. There is a high calling for sorority women in this, our south land, for nowhere are problems more primitive or pressing, nowhere is there a greater need for sane, and clear thinking, so we, as pledges in order to live up to the standard set for us, are practicing now, for we are perfected by practice only.

THE PYRAMID CLUB

Hello Everybody:
The Pyramid club is happy to report that four of its members crossed over into Greekdom on May 14. We congratulate them for attaining that which we all are striving to attain. The four are: Hortense Galloway, Minnie Johnson, Pearl Wallace, and Loretta Faust.

Since then the club has been reorganized. The officers are as follows: Evelyn Moton, president; Ethel Leathers, secretary; Irene Burrell, treasurer; and Bessie Ledbetter, reporter.

The Pyramid club wishes everyone much success in his exams and a pleasant vacation.

Goodbye until next fall,
BESSIE LEDBETTER, Reporter.

PHI BETA SIGMA

Once again does the Eta Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity greet you with good wishes by means of this efficient news carrier. We hope that this, the month of May with its abundance of aromatic plants, has brought you new vigor and determination to push our Alma Mater on to its illustrious acme.

Eta Chapter is now working to submit its annual scholarship before the close of school. This scholarship is given to a school which has no graduates here or to one which has a very few. It is hoped that by giving the scholarship in this way a desire to come to A. and T. will be raised among the students of the school which receives it.

In our meeting Tuesday evening, May 17, 1932, the officers for the school year 1932-1933 were elected as follows: President, G. H. Willis; vice-president, W. I. Morris; secretary, T. L. Darden; assistant secretary, E. E. Balsley; treasurer, W. R. Brown; and advisor to the Crescent Club, J. B. Hamilton. R. H. Davis was recently initiated into the secrets of our fraternity. Our plans soon will be formulated for next year and we hope to make it a year filled with more and better ideals.

We realize that this is the last issue of the College Register and before we sign off for the year we want to wish all a very successful summer vacation and remember.

Through June and July and August. And a part of September, too. Watch your step for fear you slip 'Cause that's something you don't want to do.

Watch your step with eyes of an Eagle And no slip can there be; Or if by dissuasion you are tempted, Just remember you're from A. and T. W. I. MORRIS, Chapter Editor.

DELTA SIGMA THETA

On Monday night, May 16, the Alpha Mu chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority welcomed its new members, Loretta Faust, Pearl Wallace, Minnie Johnson, and Hortense Galloway into its ranks. At this time officers for the coming year were elected. They are as follows: Martha White, president; Hortense Galloway, vice-president; Zena Bluford, recording secretary; H. Pearl Wallace, corresponding secretary; Drucella Galloway, treasurer; Hazel Whitlock, journalist; and Loretta Faust, dean of the Pyramid Club.

The sorority wishes for its friends and schoolmates a very pleasant vacation and hopes to greet them again next fall.

OVETA BROWN, Journalist.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA SORORITY

The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority has for its aims and ideals, the cultivation and encouragement of high scholastic and ethical standards among college women; the establishment of unity and friendship among efficient college students and alumnae, keeping alive their interest in college and progressive movements emanating therefrom; for the purpose of improving the social status of our race, raising moral standards and increasing educational efficiency.

The Alpha Phi Chapter of this sorority is very young but active and is looking forward to 1932-33 as a banner year. The following officers have been elected: President, Mervell Graves; vice-president, Marian Tatum; secretary, Josephine Barrier; assistant secretary, Constance Hill; treasurer, Hattie Wright.

All roses must have their thorns and we will be the loss of two active members, Ruth Hull and Carrie Hill, who will graduate in June.

The parting will be hard.

MERVELL GRAVES.

MU PSI CHAPTER

The Mu Psi Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity again says hello.

We wish to impart the news that the close of the school year at A. and T. College is just around the corner ahead of prosperity.

This school year has been a very pleasant one, in spite of the fact that we lost much of our money when the bank closed. (Ripley). Of course this goes to show that money isn't the only thing that contributes to happiness, but the spirit of co-operation with due consideration given to finance plays a very important role in the life of any group, and this seems to have existed throughout the swiftly passing year. In view of this fact we wish to express to the administration and the various organi-

BLUFORD ADDRESSES A. K. A. SORORITY

Delivers Forceful Message to Student Audience on "The Job After High School."

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dudley Memorial building, President F. D. Bluford of A. and T. College delivered an address on "The Job After High School," as the principal feature of a program sponsored by the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. The purpose of the exercises was to touch as many as possible of the high school and college students of Greensboro and vicinity.

The speaker was introduced by Miss M. Graves, president of the Alpha Phi chapter of the sorority, and Miss V. Walker delivered the invocation. Music was rendered by the College quartet and Miss C. V. Hill sang "Spirit Flower," by Campbell-Tipton.

President Bluford stated that it would not be possible for every boy and girl to go to college, nor was it absolutely necessary in order to make a living. However, he said: "If you do go to college, everything being equal, you will have many more opportunities to succeed in life. . . . The more education one has the better he can do his job, regardless of what it is. Further, he stated that 85 per cent of the people listed in Who's Who in America attended college and that only 39 persons listed in the book last year were self-educated, showing a direct relationship between educational training and accomplishments.

Further quoting President Bluford: "There is nothing quite so important to a man's happiness or success in life as a right choice of his occupation. It means his economic success or failure, it determines his scale of living and it brings him happiness or misery according as it is or is not suited to his ability, interests or talents. On the other hand, there is nothing so destructive of health, character and spirit as to be constantly doing something that is distasteful and uninteresting."

President Bluford stated that trained men and women were needed in all of the professions and fields of skilled labor. Especially did he mention the shortage of trained persons in the technical and agricultural fields. Even in the teaching profession there are not enough persons who are prepared to head departments in our colleges and universities.

county, the part they played in the district fair and the district camp. One of their members made the highest yield in the state-wide three-to-one corn contest. The chapter conducted several public programs as a means of affording entertainment for the rural people, held a father and son banquet, regular baseball games and conducted a fair. They planted fruit trees, pruned old ones, beautified schools and churches and in other ways made the community a more attractive place.

zations for their hearty co-operation and the privilege to co-operate with them which has made mutual happiness possible.

On Friday, the 13th, which is predicted to be an unlucky day was quite the other way. We opened the doors of our home, 917 Lindsay street and welcomed a few of the campus Co-eds, who joined with us to choose the glowing hours with flying feet, which made this a very lovely 13th.

Just before dawn of day on the 16th we opened the doors of Omega and led into her folds five promising young lambs who were bleating in the meadow of darkness.

My rambling being over we extend to you good wishes for a successful and joyous vacation.

TROY L. WILLIAMSON, Chapter Editor.

Are "Speedy" and Ballum on friendly terms?

Ballum: No, I will not do that.

SOCIAL WORLD

H. J. REEVES H. GALLOWAY

MISS HULL ILL

We regret very much the fact that Miss Ruth Hull continues to be ill.

Miss Hull is a member of the Senior class, the Y. W. C. A. and the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. Her presence on the campus is missed by everyone and we hope to see her out again soon. At this writing she is at the L. Richardson hospital of this city. She is showing signs of improvement.

DELTA SIGMA GIVE AFTERNOON TEA

One of the most interesting social affairs of this month was the tea given by the Delta Sigma Theta sorority Sunday, May 8, in the Band Room of Dudley building from 4 until 6. This tea was given directly after the program in chapel on "Investing in Education" Sunday which began the observance of Annual Delta May Week.

Those attending were members of the faculty, members of A. K. A. sorority, Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Alpha Phi Alpha and Phi Beta Sigma fraternities.

A course of punch, cakes, peanuts and mints was served by members of the Pyramid club of the Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

OMEGAS ENTERTAIN

The fact that Friday came on the 13th of this month held no significance for the Omega Psi Phi fraternity except as a good omen. Those who attended the party Friday evening at their home on Lindsay street enjoyed themselves very much in spite of the unlucky day.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the Omegas were Misses E. Smith, M. Hatch, B. Ledbetter, L. Anderson, R. Kerst, Irene Burrell, Alma Rogers, M. Kelly, and E. Martin. The Omegas present were: D. J. Vick, A. C. Walker, R. E. Jones, B. H. Thornton, V. D. White, Troy Williamson, R. J. Capott, E. S. Houston, and P. Haygood.

Music was furnished by Mr. C. E. Smith.

Y. W. C. A. HONORS "MISS A. & T."

The Y. W. C. A. gave an informal tea Tuesday afternoon, May 2, from 4:30 until 6 o'clock in honor of Miss Josephine Barrier, who has been elected "Miss A. and T." Miss Barrier was crowned by Miss Carrie Hill, who is president of the Y. W. C. A. Short talks were made by President Bluford, Miss Bernice Edwards, first president of the Y. W. C. A. at A. and T. College, and Miss H. E. Duffay, who was formerly "Miss A. and T." Music was played by Miss M. J. Kelly. Miss Evelyn Morton sang "At Dawning."

Miss Hill, assisted by Misses Andrews, Marsh, Smith, and Ledbetter served sandwiches and punch.

Miss Barrier, or "Miss A. and T." is a Junior, a member of A. K. A. sorority and an active member of the Y.W.C.A.

MAKES SOCIAL DEBUT

The first form of social entertainment given by the newly-organized Ivy Leaf Club of the Alpha Phi chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, was the honoring of their sorors on a hike and weenie roast, Saturday, April 23rd. The group left the campus at an early hour and hiked out beyond A. and T.'s new farm. The hike was lengthy but quite enjoyable and the weenie roast served as a very fitting breakfast after the morning's exercise. After breakfast the party engaged in bridge, whist, dancing, and the gathering of wild flowers.

Those invited were the honor guests "The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority" and their company; Delta Sigma Theta sorority and their company and the Pyramid Club and their company. The affair was quite a success and very much enjoyed by all present. Comprising the club are the Misses Lillian Andrews, Emma Smith, Alma M. Rogers, Valarie Brooks and Hazel L. Reeves.

HAZEL REEVES, Club Editor.

RESEARCH COMMITTEE'S REPORT "Coach Keiser and Red Jones"

George McMurray's departure left less competition for Bennie Jenkins, V. D. White and Carmack in the All A. and T. Sleepers' Association.

Vivian Walker seems to like Burgess' basketball playing better than Jack Moore's bridge playing.

The committee would appreciate a full report on "Dizzy" Pollard's activities on Alamance road and Dudley street.

Frank Woods is now carrier of the key to 301 Beech street.

Professor Henry is the only person on the campus who knows "47's" technique of striking the table with cards in a bridge game.

"Flo-Back" spends one-half his leisure collecting fruit to bribe someone for a hand to use, the other half in a bridge game.

Emma Smith is very lonesome since "Ole Maud" called Allen back to the farm.

We think that "Deep" Henderson would get better results out of Curry in the band if he took Miss Green along; that is, as long as J. H. Bright remains in school.

Telfair requested that the band play in Asheboro every night since he met the Belle of that village.

An example of promptness: Henry Bass received transportation fee Thursday noon, his train was scheduled to leave for Suffolk, Va., at 11:50 p. m. At 5:45 Bass was dressed and was parked in the waiting room of the station at 9:00. Good going, Bass; do you make your classes that early?

C. C. Smith's northern complex will soon wear out if school doesn't hurry and close.

Rowell is now on honorary member of the "Las Amigas" Club in the city, and Washington has his application for membership of "The Club of Twelve."

The "Lily Whites" hold their daily meetings in a brown Chevrolet coach. This is practice to prevent sunburn.

"Chuck" Davis goes to the registrar's office daily to see if his credits in dramatics have arrived from W. Va. We wonder if that is the reason.

Wonder why the committee hasn't found out about a Mr. X who makes his appearance on the campus every Monday to see a certain lady?

LIBRARY CORNER

Miss Sylvia Thompson, English author, who spoke here recently, sent two of her latest books, "Hounds of Spring" and "Summers Night," as gifts to the library.

Five or six new Negro books have been purchased with "fine" money. Among them are "Brown America," "Bright Skin," and "Black No More." Come up and read one of the new books.

Circulation is increasing steadily, showing that the students are reading, studying, and appreciating all available library facilities. Come up and bring your questions; ask for books, fiction and non-fiction, and continue to read.

Library Humor

Books asked for in the Library: "Bradstreet," by Fanny Hurst (meaning "Back Streets.") "Dracula," by Ceeameron (by Stocker). "Macbeth," by Longfellow, (by Shakespeare). "Burtising Stream," by Canfield, (meaning "Deepening Stream.") "Leaves of Grass," by Paul Whitman, (by Walt Whitman.)

The other day one of our students asked the library attendant for a volume to read. "Volume of What?" asked the attendant. "I don't know," said the student, "the teacher just told the class to read a volume."

—Hazel Whitlock.
