EDITOR-IN-CHIEF FOR 1933-34 TERM HAS BEEN ELECTED

No Inexperienced Students to Hold Offices on Next Year's Staff.

OTHER OFFICERS CHOSEN

Miss Lillian Lee, of Charlotte, Succeeds
Charles L. Bryant as Editor-in-Chief on Register Staff.

At the last meeting of the College Register staff, Lillian Lee, a graduate of the Second Ward High School, of Charlotte, member of the present junior class, honor roll student, and a candidate for membership to the Gamma Tau Honorary Society—was unanimously elected editor-in-chief for the next scholastic year. Miss Lee has served diligently this year as an associate editor, and her work is indicative that she is quite capable of fulfilling the office to which she has been elected. She succeeds Charles L. Bryant, who has, by his conscientious work and dependence, set up a high criteria by which Miss Lee might work.

Other officers were elected also. Dorsey J. Vick and Hattie G. Wright were elected managing editor and business manager, respectively. For associate editors next year we shall have Hortense Galloway and Preston Haygood, from the art department, will succeed himself as art editor. Edward Houston was elected sports and humor editor, and it was unanimously agreed that Martha V. White keep her office as book reviewer.

Fortunately, everyone of these newly-elected staff member has served on the Register staff before in some capacity. And with this in mind, we know that the Register for next year will be a much bigger and better paper.

CLEAN-UP WEEK IS OBSERVED ON CAMPUS

Students and Teachers Join Heartily
In Work of Cleaning Up Buildings.

Shortly after it had been announced by Dean Washington that the week of April 24 would be set aside as general clean-up week, students began getting soap and water pails to erase the winter's dirt from all college buildings.

Much interest was manifested by all students who had the love of the institution at heart.

Thursday morning of the week was devoted primarily to dormitory cleaning by the day and boarding students. In the afternoon a preliminary inspection was made of the young men's dorm by a committee appointed by Dean Mayfield, who had offered one dollar to the occupants of the best room.

On Friday morning sparkling windows could be seen from afar. This day, at least the morning part, culminated the clean-up week. The students did general cleaning. In the afternoon the college observed open house. Students from Bennett College and our girls visited the young men's dormitory, paying comments to the occupants for the way in which their rooms appeared. The inspection lasted from 12 M. to 4:30 P. M. After the dormitory girls had visited the boys' dorm the boys, in turn, paid visits to the very beautiful rooms of the girls.

Dempster O'Neal won the dollar for having the best room.

P. B. YOUNG IS TO SPEAK AT OUR COMMENCEMENT

The announcement of commencement speakers at A. and T. College has been made by President F. D. Bluford. On Sunday, May 28, at 3 p. m., Rev. Charles F. Myers, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Veering slightly from the custom of having leading educators deliver the Commencement Address, President Bluford has selected a man who has done exceptionally well in the newspaper field. Mr. P. B. Young editor of the Norfolk Journal and Guide, will deliver the Commencement Address on Tuesday, May 30, at 2:30 p. m. It is expected that quite a few of A. and T.'s alumni will be present, since it is at this time that the Annual Alumni meeting is held.

NATIONAL HEALTH WEEK IS OBSERVED

Prominent Physicians of the City Are Speakers
on Program.

"WE NEED TO KEEP FIT"

Every spring a week is set aside for the observance of Negro National Health Week. Beginning April 3, the faculty and students were favored with lectures made by prominent doctors of the city.

The program as outlined by the college physician, Dr. S. P. Sebastian, was as follows: Monday, April 3, Dr. R. B. Davis, Home Health; Tuesday, April 4, Dr. C. C. Hudson, Community Sanitation; Wednesday, April 5, Dr. S. F. Ravenel, School Health Day; Thursday, April 6, W. T. Tankersley, Periodic Health Examination; Friday, April 7, Dr. Clyde M. Gimore, Heart Disease.

With the names of the many diseases common in our race, each speaker enumerated some causes and cures. Students were warned against all diseases, especially those that would go into effect in later life.

A few of the lectures were accompanied with several charts or slides which were used to show the percentage of deaths in all races as results of certain diseases.

Each year Dr. S. P. Sebastian sponsors a similar program. "To keep fit is the first essential in keeping the mind alert and operative."

DR. GEO. W. CARVER IS LAST VESPER SPEAKER

Noted Scientist Is Winner of the Much Coveted Spingarn Medal.

Dr. George Washington Carver, much publicized and world-renowned scientist of Tuskegee Institute, will be the principal speaker at our final vesper services on Sunday, May 14, 1933.

Some years ago Dr. Carver gained distinction as a scientific genius when he extracted through some ingenious method over 100 articles from the sweet potato and pecan in addition to products from the peanut.

A rare treat is in store for all those who avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this distinguished man of letters.

For his contribution to science, Dr. Carver was made a Fellow of the Royal Society of Great Britain and in 1922 was presented with the Spingarn Medal for the most distinguished service by an American Negro of that year.

A. & T. DEBATERS ARE DEFEATED IN TRIANGULAR MEET

Virginia State, South Carolina
State, and A. & T. Meet in Contests.

AUDIENCES ARE LARGE

Much Credit Due to Wilson and Williamson for Their Excellent Work.

The results of the Triangular Debate between Virginia State, South Carolina State and A. and T. Colleges were in no wise exactly pleasing, but our speakers gallantly fought the losing battle.

On April 21 at 8 p. m. o'clock our affirmative team, composed of W. H. Monroe, Homer Griffin and John Withers, alternate, debated South Carolina's negative team here in Dudley auditorium before an appreciably large audience. The question was: Resolved, That the United States Should Agree to the Cancellation of the Inter-Allied War Debts. South Carolina State's team won by a unanimous vote.

Our negative team which journeyed to Virginia State College was lauded by the Virginia State team for excellent delivery. Martin Luther Wilson, Curran Walter Williamson, and Alternate F. Caldwell composed our team. Both teams, according to Professor McGuinnon, the judge, proved themselves masters of the subject. Much credit is due to Wilson and Williamson for the very excellent manner in which they handled the subject, although defeat for them was announced in the end.

WELFARE WORKERS FOUND IN A. & T. STUDENT BODY

Seniors of Agricultural Department Are Given Profitable Jobs as Supervisors.

EVENING CLASS IS ORGANIZED

That A. and T. College is pushing forward in the preparation of its students for helping others is shown largely in the fact that the students are doing a great part of the welfare work carried on in the city. When the demand for skilled persons to supervise the garden projects of the city, went out it was directed largely to students of the Agricultural Department and at present there are four Senior Aggies drawing a handsome dividend as a result of each week's work. These men have under their supervision of from 40 to 64 garden projects and profitable results are being achieved. Miss Mernel Graves has been instrumental in assisting in securing and making clothing and teaching in the line of Home Economics. An evening class has been organized whereby members of the Senior class direct their efforts to teach grown-ups along the line of careful home and family management.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLASS GIVES PROGRAM

The Girls' Physical Education Class, of which Louise E. Alexander is instructor, appeared in chapel in a presentation of calisthenics, stunts, tap and gymnastic dancing. This was its first performance and howls of merriment greeted the girls as they came out in their attractive blue gym suits.

The building of pyramids was done extremely well by the group.

SENIORS OF STERLING HIGH VISIT A. AND T.

April 18, the Seniors of the Sterling high school of Greenville, S. C., were visitors on the campus. Being on an educational tour to all Negro Colleges in the Carolinas, and Virginia, they found it necessary to stop at A. and T.

Following a supper given in honor of them by President Bluford, a social was given in the Band Room.

On the following morning, the Seniors were carried on a "sight-seeing" tour which was directed by the President.

Having visited the College farms, Guilford Battleground, and other places of interest in Greensboro, the Sterling Seniors made their departure.

INTER-HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE HELD HERE

Finals Held in Dudley Memorial—Dudley High Furnishes the Music.

GASTONIA HIGH WINS CUP

Having completed the semi-final debates held under the auspices of the State Debating League, the two winning teams met for the final in Dudley Memorial auditorium Friday, April 7.

The question for the debate was, "Resolved, That North Carolina Should Adopt the Sales Tax As a Feature of Its State System of Revenue."

The teams were from Highland High School, of Gastonia, and the Price High School, of Salisbury. Representatives from these schools were as follows: Gastonia, Helene Bigger and Robert Chaig; Salisbury, Estelle Trent and John Lash.

The speakers on each team fought hard, presenting some very strong points. Gastonia, however, came out as winners.

With a few remarks, President Bluford presented the Dudley cup to the winners in the contest.

The Choral Club of the Dudley High School in the city rendered several selections with Miss Logan as director.

The Senior Class, in keeping with the much revered traditions of this institution, paused in the midst of thesis writing and other academic activities to formulate a program for a very propitious occasion—Class Day. They look forward joyously to the day when this part of their formal training is over.

COLLEGE BAND AND QUARTET RECEIVE PUBLIC APPROVAL

Will Complete 5,300 Mile Concert Tour on Monday,
May 29th.

FOUR SENIORS LEAVING

This Season Closes the Second Successful Concert Tour of the Band.

Beginning in January and ending in April on the 28th, the much talked of A. and T. band and quartet traveled over 5,300 miles rendering concerts in some of the most important towns in the state. The final out-of-town concert was rendered in the Williston Industrial high school, Wilmington, N. C., Friday April 28th, before a large and appreciative audience. The members of the band spent the following Saturday visiting important historical sites on the shores of the mighty Atlantic Ocean, returning to Greensboro late Saturday night. While on this last tour the band played before one of the most appreciative audiences in the history of the organization at the Atlantic and Christian College (White) at Wilson, N. C.

This season closes the second concert tour of the band, and according to Manager, N. C. Webster, the programs rendered were a much greater success than those of last season. The following North Carolina towns were visited during the 1933 season: Laurinburg, Palestine, Washington, Wilkesboro, Wilkeson, Wilmington, Wilson, Windsor, Wise, Siler City, Albemarle, Durham, Goldsboro, Kings Mountain, and Elizabeth City. The largest crowd of the season was at the high school in Wil-

MISS CATHERINE MOTON GIVES PIANO RECITAL

Program Was Well Balanced With the Sort of Music That Holds One Truly Captivated.

On Easter Sunday afternoon, Miss Catherine Moton, daughter of Dr. R. R. Moton, of Tuskegee Institute, gave a piano forte recital at Saint Matthew's church under the joint auspices of Bennett College for Women, Palmer Memorial Institute, and A. and T. College to afford encouragement to the students of music in the three above-named schools.

The program was well balanced with that sort of music which gives vent to much technique and enjoyable physical and mental feeling. Among the numbers played were the following:

"Prelude in E minor" (Bach-Silotti);
"Fantasia, Op. 15 (Der Wanderer)"
(Schubert), allegro con fuoco ma non troppo, adagio, presto, allegro; "Melodies in F major (Cluck-Sgambati);
"Toccato, Op. 7" (Schumann); "Nocturne, Op. 72, No. 1" (Chopin); "Jeux de-Eau" (Ravel); "L'Isle Joyeuse" (Debussy).

The Debussy selection was not only well rendered but, apparently, well interpreted by the audience, which also gave loud applause to the rendering of the Schubert portion of the program.

Miss Moton appeared under the management of Mrs. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, president of Palmer Memorial Institute. She played all of her selections from memory. Selections by the A. and T. College quartet and the Palmer Memorial girls' trio interspersed the superb recital.

PARAGRAPHS

Some teachers are entirely too illiberal in their views relative to subject matter incorporated in text-books by bigoted authors. They accept very often facts without attempting to evaluate them.

Depressions cause a great majority of people to become reluctantly parasitic.

Education will cure racial and inter-racial ills which are deterrent factors to a civilization.

Our heritage is too great for us to become victimized by transitory forces.

Seniors are wont to believe that they stand with a closed book—while the opposite is true. They are about ready now to open another volume and begin just another phase of the story they think has been completed. What will this new volume contain?

Success Comes Through Service

Every year there are ushered out of our many institutions of learning thousands who must face some very vexing problems. This year is no exception to the previous ones. Those who are willing to share their pittance with a destitute brother will come out victorious in the end. Despite the depression, we who are going out this year have a wonderful opportunity to prove our merit. Seniors need not be afraid to tackle the problems that are causing the world at the moment much concern.

The field of service is fertile. We need more producers and less consumers. Some will leave the citadels of knowledge with production in mind, while others will make themselves contented with merely consuming what others have produced. The latter individuals constitute a liability to our group. We need more leaders who are willing to sacrifice their all in order that our race might stand on the mound with the more progressive races.

Seniors can be of some service in the midst of this devastating depression if they have the welfare of the people at heart. To prove that they love their fellowmen can only be exemplified by living lives of service.

Acknowledgement

It is with a deep-seated feeling of gratitude, for the co-operation given me in this endeavor, that I extend to all wishes for a prosperous summer vacation. I regret that my day as the ship's pilot is drawing to a close, but have reasons to believe the old ship (The Register) will be guided by one who has acquired some skill in this fascinating enterprise.

Our awards to those who have achieved success through a vigorous labor should always be given willingly without noticeable hesitancy. Praises strengthen the ambitions. Having the above things in mind, I wish to extend my felicitations to Lillian Lee, who has been elected editor-in-chief of The Register. Miss Lee was one of the staff's most valiant workers and her elevation to the much-coveted position of editor-in-chief means nothing but success for The Register next year. With the whole-hearted support of the student body, A. and T. can look forward with pride for a school paper second to none under the new regime.

Making a Decision

We have often heard our parents and their friends speak of college life. "There are many temptations," they say, "in the modern college." And so there are. Wherever there is life there is the testing of life. To be alive is to feel, to choose, and a good life is a good fight.

When the student must face these temptations, he must make some decision. How then does he make up his mind? What are the elements which determine a wise decision?

The first step is to secure information, to become sure of facts. To choose blindly is probably to choose wrong. No amount of good intention will take the place of plain knowledge of the facts involved. The first need is to know something about the opportunities, the ideals, the atmosphere involved. Decision without facts is delusion.

Taking counsel might be classed as the next step in a wise decision. All around us, we find men and women who have lived longer and deeper than we. Many have experienced failure and success. Talking with these persons has always proven to be a success in giving one more light in solving his problem. No one adviser is sufficient; each new one may cast a new ray of light. There is wisdom in the many counselors, provided that we surrender to none, but keep the decision wholly within ourselves.

A third element in wise decision is unselfishness. If one is secretly or unconsciously biased, his judgment is untrustworthy. The final decision must be a matter of reason rather than emotion.

After one has obtained knowledge of the facts, the counsel of friends and an open mind, then comes the final, solitary decision. In all decision there is no foreign process. Having once made up the mind, there should be no retreat. One must rest to his choice, whatever results it may bring. It is better to stand by a bad decision than to oscillate between bad and good.

We cannot wait to acquire all possible wisdom. We cannot stand shivering on the brink of action because we may regret it. The only incurable regret will come from failure to act at all.

LILLIAN LEE, '34.

Kettle Calls Pot Black

After the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, Negroes were supposed to have been free, with equal rights, regardless of their dark complexion. But in the territory which lies south of the indelible Mason-Dixon Line it is to be doubted whether these privileges—even though they are recorded in the said-to-be sacred and infallible Constitution of these United States—are now enjoyed by our good brothers, only to an infinitesimal degree. For one to focus his attention for a moment or so upon the internationally known Scottsboro case he wonders whether the most remote South really conceives what the Constitution purports in regard to the Negro. This widely-known case has shown to the people of the United States that the sovereign state, Alabama, is dogmatically ignoring the rights of Negroes, therefore ignoring the Constitution in which our freedom and equality are stipulated.

When one thinks of this sort of injustice he wonders how the thinking people of this country can, with sincerity, criticize and denounce the Hitlerites for their treatment of the Jews, while at their very doorsteps the identical unrighteousness is practiced day after day. Giving this careful consideration, it is just as inconceivable for the United States to condemn Hitler and his followers for their malicious treatment of the Jews as it is for the pot to call the kettle black.

W. I. MORRIS, '33.

Give Honor to Whom Honor Is Due

So often we hear these words, and yet so seldom do we find them put to use. When one has done well, it is my belief that he should be commended. Envy and prejudice should not be allowed to prevent that which is right.

It is in honor of our present editor, Charles L. Bryant, Jr., that this particular piece is written. Since he is about to leave us to go out into the world, I believe that a word of commendation will aid him in his future undertakings.

Bryant has been for four years an active member of the student body. One who has taken an interest in all student activities and has been instrumental in their development. He is at present a member of the Student Council, president of the Y. M. C. A., a member of the Gamma Tau Honorary Society, and editor-in-chief of the student periodical.

As editor-in-chief of the Register, he has been successful in obtaining the co-operation of the staff; he has proven to be a responsible person, one who believes that business should come before pleasure.

The editor received little co-operation from the student body at large. Many criticized the paper, and yet he has completed the year with many improvements in the material and arrangement of the material for the paper.

We should have reverence and admiration for the man who, amid obstacles and defeats and cynicism and disillusionment, manages somehow to come out on the top.

Bryant finishes May 31st and is planning to take up journalism as a life's work. We wish for him much success. A Co-WORKER.

WHAT MUSIC MEANS TO ME

There are three general classes of musicians: those who create and compose music, and those who listen. The first class is always the smaller, the second larger, and the third class the largest.

I belong mostly to the third class, the listener, and as such music means to me something real and definite; and yet I find myself unable to clearly define or express all that music means to me.

There are four elements that enter into the development of music: namely, rhythm, melody, harmony, and timbre or quality.

I listen to the rendition of good composition with inner vocal, instrumental, and am swayed by its rhythm, or captivated by its smooth melody, thrilled by its enchanting harmony and quality, and the ensemble of these combined elements blend into one grand and sonorous whole.

Who can describe or despite its effects upon the emotions? Sometimes we are moved to tears, again carried into the state of ecstasy, and again lulled and soothed into a repose and calm. All of this is experienced through the sense of hearing.

We cannot behold a beautiful landscape nor meditate upon a masterpiece of art without feeling a sense of awe, reverence or inspiration, and we thus become enthused, inspired in every fibre of our beings. Thus it is upon hearing good music.

Good music is necessary to our well-being as our daily food. This is now generally accepted, that music is no longer looked upon as a luxury for the elite or the gifted few, but a very real necessity for every one regardless of their station in life.

While I have stated that I am unable to adequately tell all that music means to me, I have tried to show, for me, it is a thing of beauty, a very real necessity, a refining and cultural influence, and a joy forever.

I will conclude with these lines from John Keats:

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever:
Its loveliness increases;
It will never pass into nothingness;
But will keep a bower quiet for us,
And a sleep full of sweet dreams and health and quiet breathing."
Dorothy Manley, '34.

A. AND T. ENTERTAINS HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS

The Inter-State High School Debaters were guests at a very enjoyable informal social given in their honor, April 20, in the Agricultural auditorium. The debaters had a chance to meet their fellow debaters and real college people in the bargain. They left the campus with the feeling that college activities were well worth looking into.

POET'S CORNER

TO DIE

By Minnie D. Brown, '36
It might not be so hard to die
If it were not for memories
Of springs gone by, and thoughts
Of springs to come.

If I might take one
Soft butterfly,
Or just one whiff
Of dormant Marches come to life again,
Then,
It might not be so hard
to die.

BEAUTY AND BEAUTY ALONE

By Carrie E. Johnson, '34
When the wild tumult of the heart is done,
And all our trivial words are less than dust,
Each shining victory that our swords have won
Forgotten, and the last sword turned to rust;
When all passion that is ours to spend,
All the bright laughter of our lips,
defying
Time and his regiments, come to their end,
And lost beneath the ivy our bones are lying;
Then only shall we know no conqueror
Shall capture beauty. Past our little day
A thousand thousand years her hands shall be Carving the sea's swift patterns, kind-ling a star,
Shaping a flower to bleed its petals
away;
Beauty and beauty alone knows victory.

THE NEW DEAL

By F. A. Rance

Hoover has gone,
And now comes the dawn
With a new day
It's the Democrats,
Who do not favor the aristocrats.
If you are in on the shuffle
The new deal will not prove a scuffle,
For it gives the working man
A chance to make a stand
With the help of a helping hand.
The dealer will make US safe,
As safe as explosives
In the wide open space,
For he will seize the exploiters
Before they ruin our case.

NECESSITY OF FARM BUDGETING STRESSED

Eighteen farmers in Bass Chapel community are taking a step forward in that they are seeing the necessity of farm budgeting. This was greatly exemplified in an evening class discussion conducted in that community Thursday evening March 2, at 8 o'clock. Many of the farmers had not heretofore seen the value of planning a year's program of work on the farm, consequently after the thorough explanation by Otis Buffaloe, senior student at A. and T. College, and W. B. Harrison, County Agent, many were convinced that farm budgeting and planning paid. This is by no means the end of the discussion. It is extended that the work in budgeting and farm planning be extended into that of accurately kept farm records.

AMONG THE GREEKS

REGIONAL CONFERENCE OF THE ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA SORORITY

The third annual South Atlantic Regional Conference of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was held in Durham, N. C., April 10-12 under the guidance of Dr. Zenobia Gilpin, M. D., of Richmond, Va., regional director. Delegates and visitors were present from the following chapter locations: Virginia State College, Norfolk, Richmond, Brick Junior College, Raleigh, Charlotte, West Virginia State College, Danville, Salisbury, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and other points along the southeastern Atlantic coast line. The conference was the guest of Alpha Zeta, Omega and Alpha Phi Chapters of Durham. The conference dealt with education and social and other problems with which womanhood today is confronted. Soror Mernell Graves, was a delegate from Alpha Phi Chapter of this campus, and reports a very successful conference and brings us many new ideas from our sister chapters.

DELTA OBSERVES MAY WEEK

May Week was celebrated by the Alpha Mu chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority with four programs. On Sunday, May 7, at 6:30 o'clock, p. m., in the Band Room, a short program was given, after which refreshments were served and a few minutes were spent socializing.

A Pageant of Negro Women was given Monday during the chapel hour and the sorority was assisted in this by the A. K. A. sorority, Ivy Leaf and Pyramid Clubs. The pageant was quite effective, as a choir hummed softly throughout while prominent Negro women, both historical and modern, were presented. On Wednesday of May Week, the Deltas gave a fashion show called "The College Girl," and it was enjoyed very much by those who attended.

The programs concluded Friday, May 12, with an educational program in chapel, at which time Soror Streater made an interesting and inspiring speech. Several musical selections completed the program. Everything seemed to indicate that May Week was very successful and Alpha Mu thanks everyone who helped make this possible.

ALPHA FRAT CELEBRATES ANNUAL GO TO HIGH SCHOOL— GO TO COLLEGE WEEK

Presenting a series of interesting programs in the schools and colleges of Greensboro, the Beta Epsilon chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity observed its annual Go to High School-Go to College Week, April 30-May 6. The opening program on Sunday, April 30, in the college chapel was addressed by the Reverend Mr. J. W. Tynes, of the Provident Baptist Church of this city. The subject of his address was, "The Value of Higher Education." These exercises were presided over by T. W. Washington, president of the local chapter.

Other programs during the week included a program at the Dudley High School at which Dr. Rivera and Coach Breaux spoke, with musical numbers supplied by the Bennett College quartet. On Wednesday morning Professor Knox addressed the assembled students of Bennett on which program the A. and T. quartet sang. On Thursday night, May 4, the finals of a competitive essay contest on the subject, "Why I Need An Education," were held in the A. and T. auditorium. Cash prizes were awarded the winners. Professor Streater, of Bennett, addressed the Friday chapel assembly of A. and T. students in the concluding program of the observance.

C. I. Sawyer, of the school, should be mentioned for his address to the assembled students of the college on Wednesday, May 3. Other undergraduate members of the local chapter visited elementary schools throughout the county in their educational campaign.

In addition to this educational campaign, the national Alpha fraternity, instigated by the Beta chapter of Howard University, is waging a campaign to raise money for the defense of the nine Scottsboro youths now on trial in Alabama. The graduate chapter, Kappa Lambda and Beta Epsilon, of Greensboro, will carry out their part of this campaign in the very near future. C. B. SHELTON, Beta Epsilon Chapter.

DELTA ATTEND CONFERENCE

The Delta Sigma Theta regional conference held in Norfolk, Virginia, April 21 to 23, was quite a success according to reports from Sorors Hortense Galloway, Loretta Foust, and Hazel Whitlock, who represented Alpha Mu chapter. The sorors, chaperoned by Soror F. L. Byrd and Mrs. F. D. Binford, left for Norfolk shortly after mid-day on Friday, April 21, driven by Brevard Short.

The fraternal organizations of Norfolk welcomed all the delegates and opened the conference with a formal dance Friday from 12 a. m. to 4 a. m., at De Priest ballroom. Real Virginia Jazz was furnished by Ben Jones' Hamptonians and emblems of all the fraternities and sororities were hung around the walls of the room. Over the orchestra pit a huge and brilliantly-lighted Delta insignia was placed, which blinked at intervals.

Saturday was spent going to meetings, and at 1 o'clock a Delta luncheon was served. The long, U-shaped table was decorated with a chain of red tulips down the center and favors of Italian tooled leather coin purses were given all present. A group picture was taken immediately after the luncheon and business was resumed. Saturday night the delegates were entertained at a closed Delta formal in Tent Hall, and this time the music was furnished by Ben Jones, Sr.'s orchestra.

Sunday was the last day and so the morning was spent visiting friends and sorors. The party returned to A. and T. Sunday night at 11:30 and although they were tired, had a most enjoyable evening and were full of new ideas and love for Delta Sigma Theta.

"SPHINX CLUB ITEM"

The Sphinx Club of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity of A. and T. College is about to wind up the school year of 1933.

Under the supervision of the president, Weldon D. Canada, and by the hearty co-operation of group on the whole with the president, the club is able to look back over the long trail of the nine months' climb with the deepest degree of admiration and appreciation.

Indeed, the club feels that it is quite justified in maintaining the feeling mentioned above, for, thanks to the scholastic records made by Brothers Hines and Simmons, we are able to say that the Sphinx Club has set a standard for the A. and T. College yet to be overcome by any student in the college. Sphinx men as a whole have made creditable showings in scholastics, sports and other extra curricula activities for this year to the extent that the compensation merits the worth of any extra effort put forth on the part of the various individuals.

One of the most noteworthy endeavors which the club has sponsored this year was the work carried on by the committee on better relationships between school and community.

Seeking some channel for self-development through a medium of exchange, the committee was able to arrange and conduct programs with several of the churches in the city. The club is very grateful for these opportunities, for it realizes the importance of sustaining and creating a feeling of deep sincerity between A. and T. College and the citizens of Greensboro.

Those who missed the program given at St. Matthews evening service Sunday, April 30, we shall refer to Rev. Mr. Weatherby, who, assisted by Miss Joyce Caldwell who graciously received and introduced the club. After brief introductory remarks by the president the audience listened to sweet strains from the saxophone of Brother Hines, whose rendition was "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Brother Woods successful and convincingly introduced the subject for discussion, "Is the Committee on Inter-racial Affairs in the Southern States Functioning Satisfactorily," carrying it through in open forum.

In conclusion, the two spirituals rendered by the A. and T. College quartet were the only things needed to bring the audience back to a feeling of home geniality after the many and varied opinions discussed during the open forum.

To A. and T. College and all well-wishers of the Sphinx Club we extend our well wishes for a very enjoyable and prosperous summer and a willingness to join you in the fall, that we may become still better acquainted.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHAS OBSERVE VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE PROGRAM

The Alpha Phi chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority observed vocational guidance week. The program was carried on in various high schools of this part of the state. An effort was made to encourage high school students especially juniors and seniors to be seriously thinking of going to college and to improve the status of Negro workers in the various occupational fields. The speakers outlined to the students the best method of improving the status of the Negro who is to make a wise selection of the business, profession, trade or occupation to which his life is devoted. And in connection the speaker pointed out the fact that in order to make the improvement one must consider his health, mental and physical weakness, likes and dislikes. He must also consider his aptitude for the work and the present and future demands of the occupation.

Sorors Grayes and Walker were speakers for the sorority.

Monday Soror Graves was in William Penn high school, High Point. Tuesday Soror Walker spoke at Dudley high school, Greensboro. Wednesday, Soror Walker was at Reidsville high school and Soror Graves at Leaksville. Friday, Graves was at Alamance County Training school, Burlington.

The program was carried on jointly with the Kappa fraternity which observed the Guide Right movement.

I may add that the sorority and fraternity wish to thank the many friends who assisted in making the program a success.

MERNELL GRAVES.

THE CRESCENT CLUB

It is our delight to focus before the public a few items relative to our year's program. The Crescent Club, junior organization of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, has not been dormant, but has lived up to the connotative element of the name that the club bears, forever illuminative.

The Crescent Club of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity began its year of activities by giving its annual prom, to which many persons of distinction attended. Since then several socials have been given.

We are not only interested in the social activities of the institution which is an important element in any line of endeavor, but we have indicated our interest in other activities as well. In the College band, we boast five members, Brothers Dupree, Withers, Curry, Tyler and Jones. In the College orchestra, we again boast of three members, Brothers Dupree, Curry and Withers. With reference to athletics, Brother Hargraves has painted his name as an immortal star on the gridiron. Brother Smith is making for himself a very good reputation as a baseball player. In the school quartette, we are proud of Brother W. T. Grimes, a member of the band whom we failed to mention above. One has said that when Brother Grimes sings, words flow from his lips like a gentle stream and sounds like the vibration of the notes on a pipe organ.

We are not only interested in the extra-curricular activities, but we are likewise endeavoring to rank scholastically, which, after all is a major element or it should be in any student's life.

At this point, I wish, in the behalf of the Crescent Club, of A. and T. College, to wish those of you who are venturing to battle the problems of life, the greatest of success in all of your endeavors, and to the others, a pleasant vacation and a happy return to "A. & T." in September.

This, I wish that you remember—A Crescent is characterized as one who is endowed with that trait handed from the Fraternity as being a "Regular Fellow."

KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY AIDS IN GUIDING THE FOOT- STEPS OF HIGH SCHOOL YOUTHS

During the week of May 24-28, Alpha Nu chapter took part in the National Guide Right movement of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. The program had as its aim the aiding of the high school students in selecting that particular vocation for which he is best adapted.

Keeping in step with the times, the chapter took cognizance of the fact that during this period of depression a premium is set on well-trained men. Statistics were set forth showing that those men who are holding on to their jobs were those with training.

This slogan of "Prepared Training" was carried out to the principal high schools within a radius of 50 miles. Programs were presented every day of the week, and in some cases twice a day.

Personal contact meetings were held after each noon assembly at which time each senior's particular case received individual guidance.

DELTA BIDS FAREWELL

As the school year nears its close and friends must part, we Deltas say "farewell" rather sadly. We have enjoyed every minute of the year—the comradeship of our fellow classmates, the wonderful help of our teachers, the splendid co-operation and friendliness of all the other fraternal organizations, the socials, the studies, the sports, the debates, the plays, and even the chapel hours.

But vacation time is a happy time and so we wish all of you very, very happy ones. We hope that when we all come back next September we can make next year even more successful and pleasant than this year has been. Before saying "goodbye" to you all, we must say "Hello, Kappa;" we want to extend to you a hearty welcome and wish you success. To A. K. A., Omega, Alpha, Sigma, teachers, friends, pledges, and the new Kappa, "Good-bye," and a pleasant vacation.

THE DELTAS.

OMEGA PSI PHI FRATERNITY

Greetings, Fellow Students:

As our collegiate year gradually approaches the point wherein it becomes a phase of the dead, and oftentimes forgotten past, the members of Mu Psi chapter, Omega Psi Phi fraternity avail themselves of the opportunity to once again extend a word of greeting to fellow students and faculty. As a group we feel that the year has dealt us a reasonably fair share of success, and for the incoming year, after days of summer pleasantries and profit, we feel certain of equal good fortune. For you, we hope that you entertain similar optimistic expectations. This year has presented to you the College with all its possibilities spread at hand. If you have failed where you should have triumphed, and the reason for such failure apparently evades you in your quest, oftentimes a lively venture into self-analysis is in order, and the culprit stands revealed as the fellow within.

It has been your daily problem to create a mental and moral balance, to accept the good and reject the bad, and to fashion yourselves into well-rounded men and women of culture and character. For some of you a new milestone is reached and climaxes a four-year period of such training; for others the time still stretches over a period of from one to three years; for all one thing is inevitable—the results obtained depend largely upon you.

This, fellow students, is a concise treatment of the philosophy upon which the cardinal principles of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity are based. We pass on to you the idea involved, with the hope that some good may be derived therefrom. And by way of closing this "swan song" shall we say Au Revoir?

BURNWELL B. BANKS, Chapter Editor.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

The freshman class is still on the map and is working hard day and night to keep on the top. The freshmen were classed as "dogs" and called green, but it seems as if we are leading dear old A. and T. College. I am sure we don't mind that because we want to help hold the banner of intellect at A. and T. as high as possible.

It is true the freshmen have not been much in the social world since the first quarter because they have been very busy. However, they are quite active in athletics. There is Corbett, Harmon and I. Mitchell out for baseball, then too, there are a few quite active in the band. They have made a number of trips.

The future "wise old Sophs," are anxious to get back next year and greet the dear little verdant "troop." There are a number of lovely surprises for them, so come one, come all! the Sophs will greet you Freshman week in September.

Hampton, N. C. Along with plenty of hard work, all members of the band report having it very pleasant while touring.

At the annual students' Banquet in Murphy Hall May 25th, members of the band will receive the following wards: Monograms, Carl Hines, A. B. Edmiston, Herman Goodwin, David Currie, C. D. Wooten, T. L.
