YOUNG WOMEN HOLD APPRECIATION HOUR

Isabelle Groves presided at the Appreciation Hour held Sunday, January 27, at 3 o'clock by the young women of North dormitory.

Proceeding the discussion, which was led by Miss Groves, a short program was presented. Appearing on the program were the following selections: Reading, "If For Girls," Alethea Thompson; instrumental solo, "Trouble in Mind," Thelma Cunningham; reading, "Leaves," Dela Corbett; vocal solo, "That's All," Elveta Melton; original reading, Minnie Brown.

Other qualities emphasized by Mr. Griffin as necessary to attract the opposite sex were personal appearance, intelligence, good character, and charm.

These programs are held every Sunday at 3 o'clock whenever there is no other activity provided by the college administration.

SCHOLARS LEAD IN EXTRA CLASS WORK

A. & T. Register Finds Student Leaders Have High Scholarship Records.

That the students of A. & T. command a high record of scholarship of the men and women who seek leadership in the extra-curricular activities of the college is brought out clearly by a member of the Register staff in a recent study of the student organizations on campus.

STUDY 27 ORGANIZATIONS

Of the 27 leading extra-curricular organizations on the campus, nine of the presidents come from the small number of students whose names appear on the honor roll for the fall quarter and ten others have made the honor roll in previous years.

The reporter finds that these organizations and activities develop a certain initiative, resourcefulness, and confidence that can hardly be achieved from study alone.

Sport Slants "LITTLE CAESAR"

With the opening of second quarter, and entering in of the basketball season, Coach Breaux found on his hands enough material for four teams, excluding the veterans, all of whom returned to school except "Chicken" Stewart, stellar guard of last year's Aggie quint.

What to do! Well, that was the question. It was plainly a case of the "survival of the fittest." After two of three eliminations, Coach Breaux selected those who, in his estimation, had proved their worth (though, in some cases, I question his choice), so that now he has a squad of a little more than two teams. It is quite impossible to keep all the fellows out mainly because of the lack of time and the lack of gym. These are points, of course, other than the individual's ability to show up as a basketball player. Therefore, until such time as the gym will be completed, Coach Breaux will have to continue his policy of elimination. We know that it isn't his fault that the gym isn't completed and we feel that he wants to give every individual a chance to show his metal.

The Aggies seem to be going strong this year with (so far) six wins and two defeats in C.I.A.A. in seven starts. It seems that Coach Breaux was justified in choosing the group he did choose. I can say with all ease that I believe the Aggie five is the strongest quint in the state and one of the strongest in the C. I. A. A. However, its true strength has yet to be tested and even with that it should be a strong contender for the C. I. A. A. championship. This we will have to leave to time.

The veterans who are back are Burgess, McClain, Conway, forwards; McCoy, center; Marable, Kennedy, Graham, guards, all of whom are stars.

The newcomers are led by Neely, who through his excellent showing has filled the place of Stewart on the first line-up at the guard post. The other new additions are R. Wooten, guard;

N. C. THREE-IN-ONE CORN CONTEST

David Wells, vocational agriculture student at Palmer Memorial Institute at Sedalia, Guilford County, took statewide honors at the annual three-to-one corn contest held at St. Augustine College here today. The record of 101 bushels of corn per acre stood against all comers from both student and adult farmers.

This group was sponsored by the Negro vocational agriculture teachers of the state. The annual contest is designed to stimulate interest in the production of more corn more economically. The contest this year was attended by around 135 student and adult farmers and agriculture teachers from all sections of the state. In addition to the competitive events on the program the group participated in a banquet at the college hall at 2:30 p. m., with C. E. Dean, of A. & T. College, Greensboro, acting as toastmaster. Booker T. Mills, of Pitt County, ranked second in the student corn production group, with 98.3 bushels per acre. James Reid, of Winfall, was third. Alfred Bullock, of Vance County, was first in the adult farmer group with a production of 98.3. S. B. Simmons, state supervisor of Negro vocational agriculture, stated the students averaged about the farmer average.

"The job is the most important fact in the life of a man or woman," says Mr. William Green, president of American Federation of Labor. Work is as necessary to mental and spiritual development as it is to supply income for meeting the needs of life. To be able to do one's work with skill and satisfaction makes work interesting and stimulating.

NOTED CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT
The campus east of Dudley rapidly being transformed into a place of beauty. Under the supervision of Mr. Curtis, instructor in horticulture, many of the old and poorly maintained trees have been cut down and replaced. A network of new walkways has been laid out. When the walkways are finally completed, North and South territories will front a park-like campus of beauty.

COURSES FOR SPRING QUARTER
The Agricultural Department suggests that all students consider the following courses in the selection of electives for the spring quarter:
1. Hort. 111, four hours.
2. Zool. 131, three hours.
3. Dairy 132, five hours.
4. Bot. 121, three hours.

WE REVIEW OUR WORK
About the middle of October, Mrs. P. H. P. and I were assigned to do practice teaching at Poplar Grove School, seven miles north of Greensboro on the Reidsville road. We realized that we were responsible for the agricultural program for the community, so we laid our plans accordingly.

On October 9, we had a meeting with the community to discuss the plan for setting up this program in the homes of mothers. The plan was to visit many homes each week. At first, home to home, it was interesting to note the habits and attitudes of the people. Some would lock their doors and peep out from behind the shades until we were almost at their doors, but soon we were able to show no interest in their affairs. We found that we were trying to help them, but they would almost immediately turn unfavorably to our programs. Just before Thanksgiving, with co-operation of the teachers of the school, we inspired the students of the school to bring gifts to the school for the poor of the community. Through our efforts, the school gave gifts to the poor to the value of $8. In the school we have organized a chapter of the Y. W. C. A. This chapter is doing work for the school and the community. The chapter has been successful in securing chicken like. At the tables and which is made to work through cultural work.

W. Thomas, center; Thorpe and Bell, forwards. Watch Wooten!

Pro basketball seems to be gaining ground around A. & T. I think it would be a wise idea to watch this movement.

Opening the season with victory, the Bulldog growled as he downed the Miner Teachers' five to the tune of 25-16. Burgess opened the scoring with a field goal. The Miner team approached with what I think a good attack, but the Aggies had a better one. At the end of the first half the score was 16-13 in favor of A. & T. Returning with brilliant strategy, the Aggies routed the visitors. McClain took top honors in the scoring for the Aggies. To McNeil goes Miners' scoring honors.

Jan. 17.—The Trojans of Virginia State met their opponents in a thrilling game in the large crowd of A. & T. rogers. Sinking baskets from any position wasn't the thing to try on the Aggie court, was the lesson given on this particular evening. The first half ended 14-12 in favor of the Trojans. Second half, Aggie basketekers took the lead from their friendly visitors with their surprise attack. Burgess and McClain tied for scoring honors when each made three baskets. The Aggies took the lead and held it.

to do my work better than anyone else could do it. I'm not rich, or noble, or an artist, or a writer, or an actor, and there isn't a war—but there is a way to be done well.

Get acquainted with books through stories of real people and you'll find romance and adventure; you'll learn to love history and remember it. Mary Austin or Jane Addams will do more to introduce you to social science than all the textbooks in the world. Louisa Alcott will help you to understand why the first story you wrote for the school paper wasn't accepted.

The fact is that we need to get acquainted. Do you know "Anthony Adverse"? "Suzanne of Belgium"? The only possible way of enjoying a prosperous, adventurous life as my "silent friends" you must read about them. Above all, take advantage of the great opportunity you have to read, at least know something about your reading room. Don't speak ridiculously, as did one of our prosperous young men a few days ago, "Librarian, will you please pass me the book I had yesterday?"

Y.W.C.A. AN ACTIVE GROUP

Euphrey Bigelow, President
The Young Women's Christian Association of A. & T. College has a large active membership. This organization has as its president Euphrey Bigelow, with Dean Viola Chaplain as advisor. Every young woman connected with the institution is a member of the Y. W. C. A.

Every Tuesday at 6 p. m. the Y. W. C. A., together with the Y. M. C. A., conducts a discussion class. A large number of students attend these voluntary meetings and enter eagerly into the discussions. The general subject is "Facing Student Problems," an outlined study by Bruce Curry. Some of the topics previously discussed are: 1. Do we need standards on our campus? 2. Men and women's relationship. 3. Does college strengthen or weaken religious faith? These interesting topics have been argued both pro and con, and much benefit has been derived from these frank discussions.

During the past quarter the president, with one or two committee-women, attended several interracial meetings held at the Y. W. C. A. on Davis Street and at the North Carolina College for Women. The young women who have attended these meetings with Euphrey Bigelow are Alda Newsome, Sametta Sellars, Minnie Brown, Ethel Jackson and Dean Viola Chaplain. Plans are being made for the observance of a week of prayer probably the latter part of February. The Y. W. C. A. will present at one of these programs an eminent speaker.

"WAGON WHEEL, CARRY ME HOME"

W. C. Davenport was enjoying the Christmas holidays in Marietta, Ohio, until the news reached him that a certain Bennett College so-called had returned from her Christmas vacation to this city. He made a non-stop flight, thus breaking the Ohio-Greensboro record, by driving here in 9 hours and 40 minutes. If that "straight eight" Oldsmobile could have talked when it reached Greensboro, it would have said, "How can you be so mean to me!"

You can't get on by merely getting by.

Some people have a different way of getting on.
