Forty-Fifth Collegiate Year Begins

CLASS OF '39 LARGEST IN HISTORY

Fourteen States and the D. C. Represented In Group

NORTH CAR. LEADS

Virginia Sends Eight Representatives; East Gains Also

The 45th annual opening of A. and T. College serves to substantiate the belief held by many of the leading executives of today, namely, that Old Man Depression is well on his way to oblivion and destruction. The Freshman enrollment this year exceeds that of last year by approximately 40, and that of 1933 by approximately 100. These consistent increases in enrollment are very encouraging from the standpoint of numbers but very discouraging from the standpoint of accommodation. The dormitories are all crowded and I daresay that there would hardly be room for two more people. At this writing (and the Registration had not been fully completed) there are more students at A. and T. than there were last year, taking into consideration all three quarters. In another year's time, it may be impossible to accommodate all the students that Register here, and this, of course, means that something will have to be done about providing additional accommodations. With the strongest faculty in the history of the College and the ever increasing enrollment, A. and T. is looking forward to greater achievements.

In this class fourteen states are represented by students from the leading high schools of these particular states. North Carolina leads with 64 high schools being represented by 181 students. Virginia is second with 6 high schools being represented by 8 students. Dudley high of Greensboro has the largest representation—14. The representation by states is as follows:

North Carolina: Anson Co. Training School, 2; B. T. Washington High, 5; Burgaw High, 1; Berry O. Kelly High, 1; Bertie Co. Tr. (Continued on Page Three)

DRAMATICS GET EARLY BEGINNING

105 Report For First Try Out

72 SELECTED FOR CLUB

J. P. BOND, Director
Giving new proofs, that the old adage: "The early bird catches the worm," Professor J. Percy Bond, director of dramatics made his first call for try-outs, Tuesday, September 24, the next day after the opening, and one hundred and five aspirants responded. Never before has the call been made so early, and never before have so many answered it. Of this number seventy-two were able to satisfy Mr. Bond, who is director of dramatics this year, that they possessed sufficient talent to warrant associate membership in the Richard B. Harrison Dramatic Society.

The society has already held several meetings for the purpose of selecting plays and laying plans for the year's program. Miss Hattie Diffay of the English department is assistant director. The society will have about three appearances in plays during the Fall quarter.

The plans call for encouragement along all lines of play production, including staging, lighting, costuming, make-up and composition. Mr. Bond is not so much interested in producing a few college "stars" as he is in developing a finer appreciation of dramatics, and a deeper understanding of the theatre and its possibilities for wholesome entertainment, as well as its opportunities for careers.

With the Richard B. Harrison tradition deeply implanted here, where, as he frequently said, the great actor did his best teaching of dramatics, and with enthusiasm running strong, it looks as if this will prove to be a banner year for this department.

Miss Crawford Speaks In Chapel

On September 27th, at regular Chapel hour the faculty and student body were favored with a brief address made by Miss Carolyn Crawford, instructor of department of Home Economics. Miss Crawford spoke briefly on the subject, "Making Ourselves Socially Acceptable."

She stressed the importance of acquiring traits of refinement which would immediately indicate that we are educated. "Manners," she stated are the polished surface of our human activities. They can be acquired in two ways—(1) Observation and (2) Books. A list of books on Manners is placed on the bulletin board in our College Library and each student is urged to read some of them.

PRESIDENT BLUFORD SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

In the first Chapel exercise, President Bluford delivered a most interesting and impressive address to approximately 500 students of the College.

The President laid much emphasis upon scholarship, hard work, and extra curricular activities. He stated that all students, freshmen included, should strive hard to make good grades in their studies, in order to rank high in scholarship. He further emphasized that all students should take part in one or more extra-curricular activity. With the large number of extra-curricular activities on the campus, there is no excuse why every student can't find one in which he can easily participate.

FROSH VOW TO BOWL SOPHS

Plan To Get Revenge By Humiliating Annoyers In Annual Forensic Struggle

Sophs Slow To Start

It is reliably reported that the freshman class has already had a meeting and decided on a program of public humiliation which they will inflict upon the sophomores for the annoyance and inconvenience which the latter caused them during the orientation period by cutting their hair and being disrespectful otherwise. They plan that the first number on the program will be a crushing defeat of their traditional annoyers in the annual freshman-sophomore debate scheduled to be staged about the middle of November. They have numbers in their favor, and among these is a large number of experienced high school debaters. The class is already organized under capable officers and is functioning smoothly.

The sophomores on the other hand have either made no plans, or have not announced them. With last year's unanimous defeat which they as freshman administered to the Sophomores, fresh in their minds, and with three of their number making the College Varsity debating team last year, they don't seem to be disposed to take the freshmen threats seriously.

But it is precisely this overconfidence on the part of the sophomore class that has caused it to meet defeat so frequently in the past. In checking up the record, it was found that during the past nine years, the freshmen have carried (Continued on Page Three)

A. & T. ADDS 6 NEW TEACHERS TO ITS STAFF

Additions Made Necessary Because of Larger Student Body.

5 Ph. D.'s Included

The College faculty, with an addition of six new members and the return of two former teachers who have done further study in some of the leading institutions of the country, is said to be the strongest and the most efficient in the history of the institution. Five teachers are added to replace those who are away for further study and those who have resigned to take other positions.

The former members of the faculty who have returned are as follows:

Mr. M. F. Spaulding, Dean of Agricultural Department, B. S., A. and T. College, 1925; M. S., Cornell University, 1927; Ph. D., Massachusetts Agricultural College, 1935.

Mr. Charles L. Cooper, Professor of Industrial Education, B. S., Hampton Institute, 1924; M. S., Cornell University, 1926; Ph. D., Cornell University, 1935.

The other members of the faculty are as follows:

Mr. J. Percy Bond, Professor of English and Director of Dramatics, A. B., Howard University, 1930; studied dramatics at the universities Iowa and Cornell; advanced study in English at Columbia University, 1931; M. F. A., Cornell University, 1934. He taught at Lincoln University, 1932-33, and at Rust College, 1933-34. He was formerly an actor in the theatre and has directed an experimental theater in New York. He was, also, an educational advisor of a Civilian Conservation Corps Camp in Louisiana.

Mr. George W. Roddy, Instructor in Automobile Mechanics and Machine Shop Practice; B. M. E., University of Iowa, 1932; taught two years at the State College of Arkansas.

Miss Hattie E. Diffay, instructor in English and French; B. S., A. and T. College, 1932; graduate study at the University of Michigan, 1934.

Dr. C. W. Waller, Professor of Biology and Poultry Husbandry, and College Veterinarian; B. S., Prairie View State College, 1931; D. V. M., Iowa State College, 1935.

Mr. Francis E. Griffin, instructor in Architecture; B. S. in Architectural Engineering, University of Michigan, 1935.

Mr. S. A. Barksdale, Assistant Coach and Assistant Dean of Men, and organizer of intramural activities. (Continued on Page Three)

G. W. COGGINS SAYS COLLEGE FULFILLS PURPOSE

It was stated by George W. Coggins, state supervisor of industrial education, department of public instruction, Raleigh, in an address at the first formal chapel exercise, that A. and T. College is more nearly fulfilling the purposes of a land grant college than any other college of the south.

The noted and outstanding educator of North Carolina stated in his impressive address that those in the field of industrial arts are going to hit the crest of the wave of opportunity because they are being prepared to do something. There were many instances cited where unprepared teachers were replaced by those who were prepared. He emphasized the fact that this is not only true of the teaching profession, but it is also true in all walks of life.

Mr. Coggins stressed the fact that the demand for young men as teachers of industrial arts in the high schools of North Carolina is far greater than the supply. He urged that more students engage in the study of industrial arts. A. and T. College is the only Negro institution of the state that offers such training.

PLACEMENT TESTS PROVE SUCCESSFUL

The placement tests given on a far more extensive scale this year, than heretofore, for the purpose of determining specific classification for freshmen, occupied an important part of the orientation program during freshman week, September 18 to 22, and are said to have yielded gratifying results.

Tests for classification in English and mathematics were given to every regular freshman, and as a result of these each was assigned to that section in these classes which corresponded to his or her particular needs and abilities. This will make it possible (Continued on Page Three)

SUNDAY SCHOOL PLANS FOR A VICTORIOUS YR.

Under the leadership of Alexander W. Jones, superintendent and Dean Viola L. F. Chaplain, religious advisor, the A. and T. College Sunday School begins the new school year with the prospects of a banner year. There were approximately two hundred students present at the first meeting, at which time many words of welcome were extended to the freshmen and new students of the college.

The superintendent made an appeal to the members of the Sunday School for a whole-hearted support and cooperation in trying to uplift and maintain a better standard of living around the college campus.

The officers for the school are: Alexander W. Jones, Superintendent; Winston S. Leonard, assistant superintendent; Beatrice Jones, secretary; Letty Yarborough, assistant secretary; Lawrence Goffrey, treasurer; Thelma Cunningham, chairman of program committee; and Ethyl Jackson, chairman, social committee.

The teachers are: William Gordon, Ethyl Jackson, John A. Spaulding, James Poole, Walter D. Calvan and Euphrey Bigelow.

For the benefit of the Sunday School, Dean Viola L. F. Chaplain is conducting a teachers training course. Students completing this course will be awarded a Sunday School teacher's certificate on commencement day.

MUSIC ACTIVITIES ACCELERATED

New Emphasis Comes With The Addition To The Staff

The music department has begun its extensive program with an accelerated rhythm because of the increased number of students participating in these activities, a large number of musicians of note on the college staff, and because of a better organized program.

Miss Wise, the director of the department, will conduct the classes in music as usual, and in addition, with the assistance of Mrs. Sessoms, a new member of the department will train the women singing groups. Mr. Bernard L. Mason, who directed the men's singing groups last year will be assisted this year by Mr. H. Williams, the floraculturist who has also had wide experience in training men to sing.

Mr. Ahern and Mr. Mason will again have charge of bands and orchestras as heretofore. All of these organizations have selected their members and initiated their program.

DUDLEY DAY PROGRAM IS PLANNED

Main Address To Be Delivered by C. C. Spaulding

Special Music Arranged

The Program Will Be Broadcast Over Station WBIG

Friday, November 1, the annual Dudley Day program will be observed in the College gymnasium. The main address will be delivered by C. C. Spaulding, president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, Durham, North Carolina. President Bluford will preside, and the music department will render special music for the occasion.

For the benefit of those who cannot find it convenient to attend the exercise, the whole program will be broadcast over station WBIG.

This is an annual event for the college which is held in memory of the former president, James B. Dudley. Each year great efforts are made to secure speakers who were well acquainted with the deceased president. This year the college is fortunate in having a personal friend of the former president as speaker.

Several of the alumni members and former students who attended this institution under the administration of President Dudley are expected to be present as usual.

BULLDOGS GO DOWN IN DEFEAT BEFORE MORGAN BEARS TO THE TUNE OF NINETEEN TO SEVEN

Bears Were Successful In Scoring In The First Quarter. Aggies Rallied But Could Not Overcome Lead.

BULLDOGS NEED MORE CONDITIONING

Defeat Arouses Fighting Spirit As Team Returns For Smith On 12th. Coach Breaux Offers No Excuse.

On Friday night, October 4th, the Aggie Bull Dogs met the Morgan Bears in Baltimore before a large crowd and went down in defeat. This was the fourth straight defeat for the Aggies administered by the Bears, but this was also the first time the Bears have been scored on in just so long a time.

The Aggie coaches reported that they wanted no excuses made, because they did not believe the team did its best. Many of the men appeared physically unfit, and looked as if they had not observed training regulations as carefully as they should.

But this defeat has served as the stimulus that was necessary to get an otherwise good team to make up its mind that each man will have to play the game from beginning to end.

Clad in their orange and blue gladiator helmets, blue pants and orange jerseys, the Bears scored early in the first quarter after a series of off-tackle thrusts and end runs by Simpson and Troupe, which placed the ball on the A. and T. 1 yard line. Crawford scored on a sweeping end run. Crawford failed in the attempt to convert.

The second Morgan touchdown came when Simpson raced 32 yards through tackle—from the A. and T. 34 yard line to the 2 yard line—to place Morgan in scoring position. Troupe plunged through the center to score. The attempted place-kick for the extra point failed.

The Bears scored again in the fourth quarter when Troupe intercepted Norman's pass and was tackled on A. and T.'s 22 yard line. On the next two plays Simpson again placed the ball in scoring position on the A. and T. 2 yard line. Troupe scored on a plunge through center. The extra point was scored on a plunge through center by Troupe.

The Aggies score came midway the fourth quarter when after a series of passes, Norman, Aggies' quarterback, passed 15 yards to Neely who scored from the Bears' 3 yard line. The extra point was made by Norman through the placement method.

Although the Bears' passing defense was weak, the Bear line played the greatest defensive game since the days of '33. The tackling of Drake, Hawkins, So-well, Mosby, Mack and Burkett, stopped many A. and T. plays in their infancy.

There were two injuries suffered by the Morgan team during the game—"Bill" Lampkins and Hubert Crawford. However, these men were replaced by capable substitutes. Gordon and Davis substituting for these men proved to be two of the flashiest and fastest backs that have carried the ball for Morgan since the days of "Bob" Williams and "Pinky" Clarke.

The boys from the Tarheel State who played probably one of the greatest games of their career were Neely, Norman, McClain, Graham, Thomas and Shute. These men played an extraordinary game both offensively and defensively and were a constant threat to the Bears' chances throughout the entire game.

SPORT SLANTS

With the ushering in of the 1935 football season, we find the Aggie mentors, Breaux, head coach and Barksdale, assistant and line coach, rapidly rounding the 1935 gridiron machine into shape. Only four letter men were lost through graduation. They were co-captains Kennedy (center) and Dillard (halfback), Ward (tackle), and Burgess (end). Coach Breaux, however has on hand several prospects that look good and who ought to come through. Some of them are reserves from last year's squad. The only real setback that seems to be apparent is the lack of a dependable center to fill the vacancy left by Kennedy. McDougle, a reserve of last year's squad and Gee of Henderson fame, a newcomer, are being worked in for this position. Both these men are inexperienced from the angle of college football and their mettle is yet to be proved. The other positions are pretty well taken care of and are not a source of great worry. The letter men returning: Ends: C. McCoy, J. Neely, Ike Burden, and W. Thomas, who is expected to do a great deal of the punting this year; tackles: W. Marable, H. Lash and T. Conway; guards: M. Shute, J. Hursey (All C.I.A.A.) and R. Humphrey; Quarterbacks: R. Bell and M. Norman, the all C.I.A.A. quarterback of last year and also an excellent punter; halfbacks: W. McClain, C. Copening and J. Maye; fullback: W. Graham.

The reserves of last year's squad are R. Merritt, R. Wooten, J. Lange, C. Keyes and A. Pittman, guards; C. Revis, fullback; W. Fontaine, C. Washington, J. Cope and W. Dowdy, halfbacks. These men are expected to see much service this year especially Keyes, Wooten, Fontaine and Washington. The newcomers to the squad are: H. Scarlett, G. Burruss, J. Reese, J. McCoy, J. Graham, J. Riddick, G. Sadder, H. Kennedy, A. Lynch, G. Mitchell, L. Davenport, W. Hawley, H. Jones, C. Johnson, J. Banner, W. Edmonds, C. Pope, W. Calvin, J. Bryant, J. Mitchell, D. Suggs, M. Glen, H. Batt and H. Totem.

A few of these men have shown up well in the scrimmages held thus far. Among these are: Lynch, halfback, who hails from Union High in Vaux Hall, N.J., the high school of "Tank" Conrad; Riddick, end of Henderson fame, who also hails from New Jersey; J. Graham, brother to the battering fullback Woody Graham and Pope, guard, who got a late start in practice but who is expected to come through later. Pope hails from Rocky Mount.

The student manager is "Zip" McCoy. The trainers are "Bope" Edminston and M. M. Allen.

The Morgan game will without doubt point out the weaknesses of the team and may also decide whether or not A. and T. has a championship team. It is the personal ambition of every coach to produce a championship team. Coach Breaux may be on the eve of realizing his ambition. Whether he is or not we are with him and we are for him and the AGGIES.

GRIFFIN SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

In a recent chapel exercise, C. C. Griffin, a graduate of '35 delivered a short, but interesting speech to a large number of students and teachers of the college.

Mr. Griffin received several rounds of applause after having told the audience how he had worked during his summer's vacation in order to give publicity to dear old A. and T. He appealed to every student of the college to be as loyal and true to his school as possible. He stated that several students had been influenced by him to attend this institution this year.

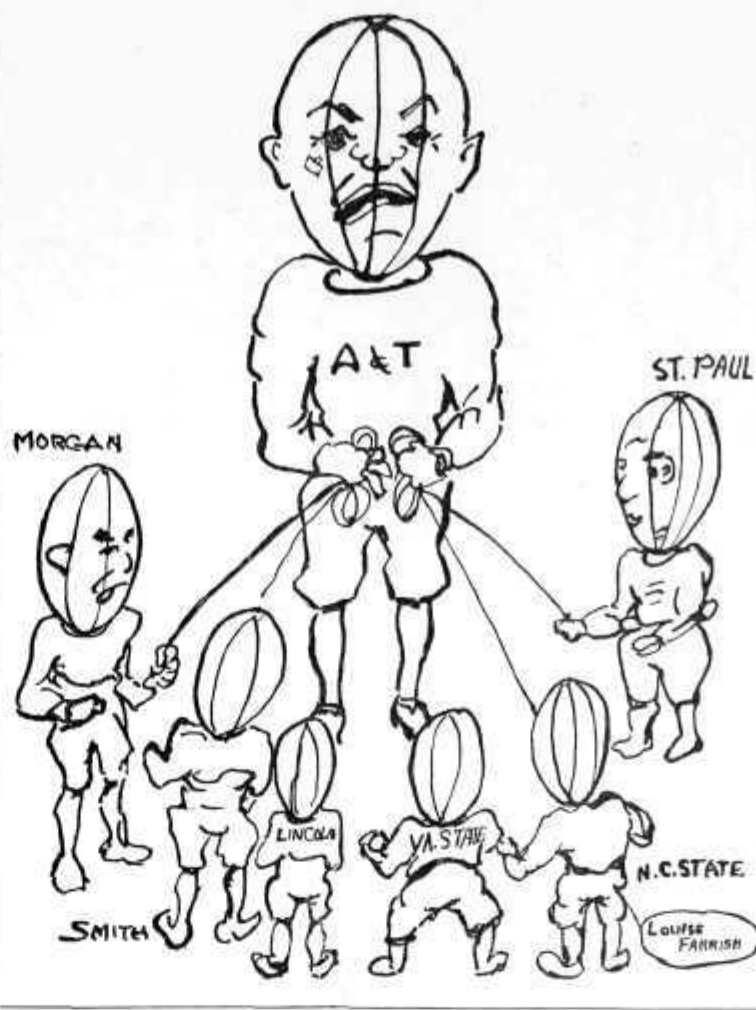

Mr. Griffin is now employed as teacher of mathematics and director of athletics in the Washington High School of Reidsville.

bater carried his class to victory over the freshmen after having defeated the Sophomores the year before. The five year period from 1930 through 1934, has been one of unbroken successes for the wearers of the green caps. The present group has already caught the spirit and it looks now as if they will be able to make good their threat. This will be determined largely on how soon the sophomores realize that they are faced with a real problem.

Placement Tests

sible for those who have already mastered certain minimum essentials in these basic subjects to go forward freely with new material, while those who have not yet mastered them will be given special coaching, designed especially to overcome the weaknesses revealed. Tests were also given in the elements of music to ascertain the potential music talents in the class, and to determine the amount of previous training already achieved. The returns from these tests are expected to furnish the directors of such musical groups as the band, symphony orchestra, chorus, and quartets, with definite information as to the present attainments, abilities and interests of students applying for membership as well as those who are already members.

Students and teachers seem to be unanimous on the point that these have actually revealed the situation as it is, and have made it possible for all to benefit more effectively than they possibly could have done by the old method of indiscriminately mixing all in the same sections or divisions.

COLLEGE G-MEN

Four students from the Agricultural Department of this college were employed by the United States Government as workers in the Civilian Conservation Corps during their summer vacation. They were enlisted as special enrollees and designated as Technical Students (T. S.). Their work was of an agricultural nature which embraces soil erosion, nursery, and reforestation, which afforded valuable experience in vocational agricultural work.

It might be of interest to note that there were approximately 1,400 college students engaged in this type of work of which only four were Negroes. A. and T. College was the only Negro College represented.

The "Big Four" who were so fortunate in having the opportunity of representing this college were:

The College G-men are encouraging others to apply for this kind of work next year.

Horticulture Club

The students of the horticultural classes made an early start for a successful year by organizing themselves into a club. This club is under the auspices of Mr. Williams, Professor of Horticulture and Botany.

The newly elected officers are as follows: President, J. A. Spaulding; Vice President, W. J. Fisher; Secretary, Chester Bright; Assistant Secretary, Alvin C. McLendon; Treasurer, B. McNeil.

The club hopes to give full support to the preserving of the lawns and flowers of the campus and we are asking the support of the whole student body in this effort.

SPECIAL DIVISIONS

Mr. H. Clinton Taylor expresses himself as being highly gratified with the large increase in enrollment in the Fine Arts.

The division of Home Economics has had several improvements recently and is now in a position to do its best work. Miss Crawford will have charge of it this year as heretofore.

This year Mr. Wise is going to have more time to devote to the special interests and needs of the business department.

The Tailoring Division continues to enjoy the popularity it has developed during the last three or four years. This is due largely to the fact that Mr. Poole, the instructor has been able to get a high order of work out of the students, and also to the fact that these finishing the course have been able to find ready employment at their trade.

The division of Auto Mechanics goes under a new instructor this year. Mr. Geo. B. Love, who has had charge of this division for about twenty years resigned recently to accept a similar position at Tuskegee Institute. He has been succeeded by Mr. G. Rhoddy, who has had excellent training and experience in this field.

The division of Poultry begins the new year under new supervision. Mr. C. L. Spellman, who has successfully headed the division for four years, has recently resigned to take up a position as extension worker in Wilson county. Dr. C. W. Waller, who is the college veterinarian, is now heading the division.

The Shoe Making and Leather Work Division looks forth to a successful year under the direction of Mr. Clyde DeHuguley, who has held the position for nearly twenty-one years.

The Livestock Division, under the supervision of Mr. C. R. A. Cunningham, has begun the year with several improvements. Mr. Cunningham has held this position with great success for two years.
