The thirty-eighth annual session of summer school begins at A. & T. College July 3 at 8 p.m. in the Dudley Auditorium.

President F. D. Bluford welcomed the summer school teachers and extension students.

He expressed his interest in the subject of teaching and the method of teaching and directing rural life education.

This number does not include the 28 through 31st. This annual 4-H Short Course is to be held at A. & T. College.

The report then referred to the work of the former young farmer and secretary in a field, up to this time, and the credit unions; Prof. C. E. Whittington, manager.

The credit unions are supported by: Prof. E. T. Brooks, president of A. & T. College; Dr. E. K. Millen, president of the School of Agriculture; Prof. W. T. Marabito, superintendent of the New Farmers of America; and to see so many of the former students.

The president stated, "Our Agricultural Department is growing bigger and better.

The faculty has been enlarged and is now teaching history and political economy at A. & T. College.

The garden wedding, starring in the "administration of vegetable agriculture," to be held in July, 1935, is to be held at A. & T. College.

Over previous years of this field of English language, approximately 1000 will come from the state of North Carolina and is on the University of California and Kan­

CONTESTANTS FOR "MISS A. & T."

Entertainments Given

While study has been the real goal of these courses, entertainment has been a frequent occurrence of whatever character they may take. The evening program has been a very social affair throughout the day and it has been a large success.

This social given by the college during the first week-end of the summer school session was a large success. It was a tea given by the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity and the social was attended by several hundred students, faculty members, and alumni.

Sixty-Eight Doctors Toke Special Course At Flint-Goodridge

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Sixty-eight Negro doctors began a two-week course at Flint-Goodridge Hospital on July 1, with Dr. John M. Holmes, superintendent, presiding over the opening exercises.

The principal instructors in the course are entomologists and pharmacists from the University of Louisiana and the University of New Orleans. The first class of this course was opened to the Negro physician in line with a plan of the University of New Orleans Schools of Medicine and the University of New Orleans Schools of Medicine and the University of New Orleans Schools of Medicine.

The doctors are attending the summer school of the University of New Orleans and are enrolled for the summer semester. The course is open to the Negro physician and will be given without cost to the out-of-town students.

The doctors are attending the summer school of the University of New Orleans and are enrolled for the summer semester. The course is open to the Negro physician and will be given without cost to the out-of-town students.

It has been reported by some of the summer school teachers that the current trend was toward the use of more modern methods of teaching.

Miss Annable B. Chavis of New Orleans is doing fine work in children's literature.

Miss Maggie L. Jones of Whites- tone, N. C., who is doing exceptional work in social work, was given a large increase to vocational activity. Miss Brown Moses, Miss Maude Brown, Miss Laura N. Brown, Miss Laura Smith, and Miss Esmeralda Williams, Whites- tone, N. C., attended the summer school.

Several Educational Tours are Completed

The college summer school group has completed several important educational tours. Students have visited other points of interest, including Washington, D.C., and the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

In addition to the trips, the college hosted a special event. A variety of courses were offered, including French, German, and Spanish. These courses were open to those planning to continue their studies.

Gant Gibbs, the director, one is pleased to report that the teachers have been working very well and have been working with their hands as well as their minds. This has led to the solution of many problems. The teachers have been learning and sharing in the process.

In the Fine Arts, both the music and art departments have been busy. With the contributions of all the department heads, past and present, the Fine Arts program has been made possible. The Fine Arts program has been made possible because of the support and understanding of the administration.

In the English, English: the English Language and Literature is the subject of discussion. Just Across the Hall, or perhaps just Across the Border, students of English have been registered in these courses and in the French, German, and Spanish courses.

Each course has been designed to provide students with a variety of educational opportunities. Students are being encouraged to participate in these courses and to develop their skills in these areas.

The college summer school group has been received very well by the visiting students and faculty. The college has been pleased to have had the opportunity to welcome these visitors and to share in the educational experiences that have been provided.

A special treat is the visiting lecturer, Miss Ethyl B. Wise, lyric soprano and a pianist. Her program was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. She was accompanied by Mrs. Julia Young of the English faculty.

New York University is Heard

Dr. Andrew S. Sabato, director and teacher of New York University, spoke at the summer school. He was accompanied by Miss Ethyl B. Wise, pianist. Dr. Sabato's lecture was well attended and was greatly appreciated by the students.

In his absence Professor J. A. Matthews, teacher of Chemistry, gave an illustrated art lecture on the subject of Inorganic Chemistry.

President W. R. Johnson, of the State Board of Public Welfare at Raleigh, gave an address to the students.
