Miss C. Alexander Wins Popularity Contest

Five Young Ladies Enter Spirited Campaign For Coveted Honor

The annual popularity contest to determine "Miss A. and T. of the 1937 Summer School" which got under way shortly after the beginning of the session closed on July 12 when Catherine A. Alexander of Conover came out in first place, and Miss Beulah Scott of Portsmouth, Va., took second place.

This year there were five contestants who resembled their campaign and they furnished a spirited but friendly contest.

The contest consisted of a fine cross section of the summer school students, and they may be introduced as follows:

Miss Catherine Alexander who hails from Conover, N. C., and is a student of the college, and is returning to the state after serving for five years as Professor of Agriculture in the Mississippi A. and M. College for Negroes at Alcorn, where she made a brilliant record as a teacher.

During his student days at A. and T. he took a leading part in many of the student activities, and became president of the V. C. G. and A. student body. He is regarded as one of the most outstanding graduates of the college and it is hoped that the agricultural department will have a new era of progress under his direction.

Other alumni who are actively engaged in the teaching profession are:

Miss Kathryn T. Bigelow, '36, Secretary to the President, Miss Lettie Yarbrough, '36, Assistant to the Busirri, Mr. W. L. Mitchell, Technical department.

Mr. Marvin E. Allright, '26, Assistant on the College Farm.

Campus Improvements

Many improvements are rapidly being made to beautify the campus here at the college and much money is being spent to install new equipment which will make working and living conditions better.

Cement walks and good driveways are under construction. Three thousand dollars worth of equipment has been installed in the college library and the amount of equipment has been purchased for the dairy.

Living conditions will be far better than heretofore as this is only the beginning of a series of improvements designed for this purpose.

College Profes. In Joint Concert

Appearing in the third Lyceum concert of the season, Prof. Walter Lawson and Prof. Bernard Lee Mason, both of the regular college faculty, presented a large audience on Friday morning, June 26, with their joint piano-violin recital.

The first group consisted of two numbers for the violin, "Romanza" and "Palomina" by Waxmavik; Prolonged applause brought an encore, which was a modern arrangement by Samuel Gardner of "Old Folks at Home."

The second group, which was for piano, like the first, consisted of two numbers, "Lento" by Scott and "Polonaise" by Mewealm; Spontaneous burst of applause from the audience resulted in an encore, the rhapsodic and delightful "Waltz in C Sharpe Minor" by Chopin.

The well-balanced recital was concluded with Cesar Franck's difficult "Sonata for Violin and Piano" with both instruments sharing equally the solo parts. The inspiring tunes of this true masterpiece was brought out with

The 20th Annual Session of the Summer School brings to A. and T. approximately 676 students for the first six weeks.

The session began on June 10, and will end on July 29. The second session will begin July 21 and will end Aug. 28.

Pleasant states and the District of Columbia are represented in the enrollment. Sixty-two of the country's leading educational institutions are also represented.

The figures show that, in the representation by states, North Carolina leads with 302; Virginia is second with 25, and South Carolina is third by 11.

Further analysis shows that of the institutions represented, four North Carolina colleges head in the representation, A. and T. leading the list with 68; Bennett College is next with 28; Teachers College (Winston-Salem) listed 27.

Since graduation she has served as personal secretary to Bishop Fisher of Durham.

Many New Courses Offered

Practical Courses Are Interesting To Summer School Students

This year the College is offering a number of new courses which are meeting the needs of the teachers in their respective fields, and have been especially popular during the first six weeks.

Mr. A. R. Brooks, Head of the English Department, is offering a course in Informal Discussion in which fifty students are registered.

This course is designed to give the students technique and training in the art of discussing and answering informally public questions. It also seeks to develop their abilities in oral expression in adult situations, and courses in Adult Education, and

Don't Fence Yourself

Some people can't see any farther than the top of their turned-up noses. That thought has been bouncing around in my mind until I fell an idea of what I have here is. That same girl with the turned-up nose has a set of ideas fixed and surrounded by her own skin fences. She only knows what everybody else in her crowd knows; the way you were brought up, if she happens to know that anything or anyone else exists. She's driven to defend what she understands; she talks and argue and your best ideas. She wears it on the skin. She has no understanding. Everything in her world is quite perfect, but things beyond her fence are really beyond that.

Perhaps you know a girl like that or perhaps you have a slight case of geographic nearsightedness yourself. I wouldn't blame you.

Come on—let's tear down fences. Let's decide to look over the fence and get a real view of the surrounding territory.

What everybody else doesn't see is what makes me see. I've seen a girl laugh at the thought of herself—because she has a life of her own. Why there are a whole nation of people who eat that way, and this million Englishmen can't be wrong.

What other people think is usually based on what they know, and they may know a lot more than you do. So don't laugh and poke the thing out of them. They're quite sure in their own opinion, and you may just be the stupid one.

The more you get around, the more people you meet and the more information you get, the more you realize your own point of view is wrong. Some grown-up people in school growing at a very tender stage of their short-lived ideas show it. They resist any kind of information that they know that they have, and there is all there is to know.

Why not give your natural growth a boost and really do a job of growing? Don't be cramped by others. Aim at others will be much more interesting and much better company. One else thinks they have, and the best will come back to you.

1937 Summer School

It has been several years since the Register undertook a summer issue and each year we find true students and many advantages for this undertaking.

This year with the largest summer enrollment in the history of the institution, and with enrollment from the entire eastern United States with sixty institutions of higher learning, it is expected to be a larger and more successful year than any other.

The Register will go out of its way to prepare for the summer school. It is certain that all of the Register will have its attention focused on the students' welfare and interest.

The Register staff has been busy preparing its summer issue and will be ready to distribute it to all students and alumni.

The Library received a shipment of new books. Most of them were works on modern literature, but there were a few for general reading. Among these books are several which would make enjoyable reading—if you can take time out from the assigned reading. Perhaps you may find just the title for which you have been looking, something you were unable to take time to read during your busy school year. See these titles. Perhaps you might want to read two or three.

A new course of different nature being offered this year is the “Children's Library” course, taught by Miss Elmore, and it seems to be a great success. The students have been given the opportunity to study the children's literature and to learn how to select books for children. The course is being given in cooperation with the Davidson Public Library, and the students are required to attend lectures and to visit the library. The course is being given in the evenings, and it is open to all students, regardless of major. Conqueror of Louis Still Rated As "World's Greatest Heavyweight," Victory Over Olin Proves Lewis' Ability

NEW YORK — Max Schmeling, defender of the world's greatest heavyweight, according to St. Peter, editor of a local boxing magazine.

Out of his respect for the German powerhouse, Fletcher awarded Schmeling the Ring's Most Honorable Award on his departure for France following the blowup of the proposed Schmeling-Chapin championship fight.

The medal was awarded on the basis of Schmeling's performance since winning the crown. The best fighter of the year and the man whose Knockout of Louis stood out as the greatest fast of the year.

For Lewis victory over Olin, the man from whose hands he knocked out the light-heavy title, the victory was presented a beautiful one-panel championship belt.

John Henry proved his class in the titular match, and also whipped Harry Olin in eight rounds of a six-minute match and also whipped Patricio Politi in three heats. Perroni is one of the few men to go the limit with the Brown Bomber, while he knocked out Franky Strong in eight rounds.

The following recommendations were listed by the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association of A. and T. College over the signatures of T. A. Hamme, president; R. E. Jones, secretary; and J. W. Jeffries, treasurer; published in the Raleigh News and Observer on July 4, 1937, and filed with the Governor:

1. With all due respect to the late Dr. S. P. Sebastian, and with sincere appreciation of the labor and abilities of A. and T. College, the students who have provided the necessary services of a company for the admission of the administration last December of a number of students suffering with venereal diseases as being a very serious matter.

2. We petition that several courses formerly offered in the Engineering Department be abandoned or curtailed, because of the growing need of Negroes in this line of work.

3. We petition that the college farm be operated by a foreman who is a graduate of A. and T. College, who has a practical background in agriculture.

4. We petition that the trustees call a special meeting and recommend the immediate hire of the deans and other instructors, who were dismissed without any written notice by the members of the board of trustees.

5. We petition that the student body submit its recommendations for the improvement of the college and other institutions.

6. This particular recommendation, not only because we have been informed by the Executive Committee, but the course in Auto Mechanics has been dropped during the Administration, elected it. An instructor in Brick Work is not an Auditorium Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has passed over the signatures of 15 members of the Alumni Association of A. and T. College for more than 24 years. He is a native of the county and has grown from less 100 to more than 1,800. It also needed the course in Mechanical Engineering to answer, to our belief, many of the complaints submitted, and we herewith insist that the Governor at this time. 7. In view of the great confidence that we have in the present Board of Trustees in directing the affairs of the Institution, we feel it is necessary to insist that the Governor at this time.
