Over 300 Freshmen Enrolled

Hail From Twenty-Two of the States

According to officials of A. and T. College, the largest freshman class in the history of the institution has enrolled for the ensuing year. The class runs above three hundred in number, and students come from twenty-two states which are as follows: Alabama, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Mississippi, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, and West Virginia.

It will be noted that the four corners of the United States are represented in the student body. Over seventy-nine counties of North Carolina are represented in the freshman class.

The school enters the academic year with the largest faculty, selection of courses, additional facilities, departments, and student body since the founding of the college. This is by far the most promising year that has been entered upon by the college.

More than eight hundred students are enrolled in various departments of the college. As aforesaid they come from as far west as Washington, northeast as far as Maine, south as far as Florida and southwest as far as California.

Many transfer students come

Prominent Persons Welcome Freshmen

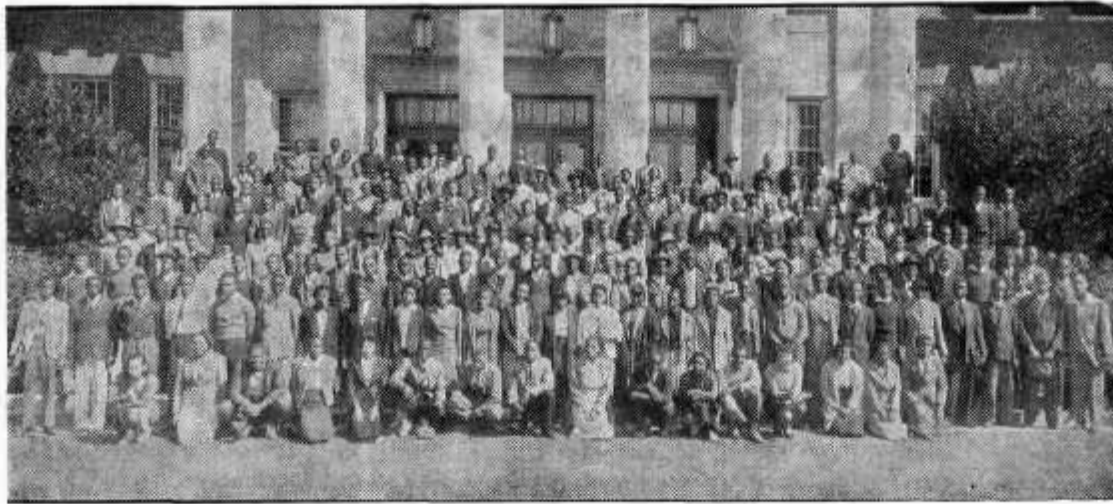

Several outstanding persons of Greensboro including His Honor Mayor Ralph Lewis greeted the student body in a special chapel session, September 25. Mayor Lewis pointed out in his speech, in view of the situation in Europe, the obligation each student should feel in getting the most out of his classroom work this fall. It was further stated by Mayor Lewis that the responsibility of this country is to teach the rest of the world the American way of life so that peace might reign.

The Rev. Mr. Weatherby extended a cordial invitation to all students to worship with profit in the churches of Greensboro. Judge Charles Hines intimated that if civilization is to go forward today, both majority and minority peoples must be wonderfully understanding. Thus he suggested we must have a sense of gratitude for the American way.

Since A. and T. College has been honored with 205 other colleges to train civilian pilots, the speech of Mr. Turbiville from the Greensboro-High Point Airport served to lend much light on the progress of aviation since 1929 in safety, navigation, speed, comfort and design. He easily pointed out that in spite of popular prejudice, the aeroplane is the safest form of transportation ever known.

A. and T. College will begin ground courses in aeronautics immediately, Dean J. M. Marteen announced.

The Record-Breaking 1939 Freshman Class

The Reverend Lucius Miles Tobin Speaks

"The highest type of freedom is obedience to self formulated rules" is what Rev. Lucius Miles Tobin, newly appointed director of religious activities, declared in the annual matriculation sermon at A. and T. College. The distinguished minister who is now stationed at the college was introduced by President Bluford. A special program of sacred music was given by the choral society under the direction of Mr. Warner Lawson, director of music.

Speaking from the subject, "Thank God! A Man Can Grow," Rev. Mr. Tobin took as the scriptural basis of his sermon, 1 Cor. 13:11—"When I was a child, I talked like a child, I thought like a child, I argued like a child; now that I am a man, I am done with childish ways."

The speaker declared that the main thing that a person should be thankful for in these days of peril is his unused capacity to grow. He warned the students that time spent in college is so much time lost unless the growing edge is kept. The audience was also admonished that spiritual growth was lagging far behind technical growth. "What does it

New Atmosphere Pervades Vespers

A new atmosphere has been created in the Vesper services of the college. Much credit is due to the dynamic personality of Reverend Lucius M. Tobin, who has been elected as College Chaplain. He is a man of rich and varied experience and very willing to share this wealth with the student body.

Rev. Mr. Tobin has delivered two very inspiring sermons to date—"Thank God! A Man Can Grow" and "Freedom Through Truth." Both contained words of wisdom, which no student could afford to miss.

That the students are imbued with this spirit is shown by their attendance. One word of warning, though—some persist in coming late. As a reminder, Vespers are held every first and third Sunday at four o'clock. Come!

The splendid singing of the Choral Society is of inspiration to all. We are looking forward to a deeper religious spirit on the campus.

Behind The Pilot

Across the field a massive door of a hangar is open, revealing the form of a huge metal bird. It begins to move, then roll slowly forward down the field coming to a stop in the Administration Building. Men begin to surround the bird, adjusting this and turning that; a truck rolls up giving it fuel and rolling away. Other men are busy storing mail and freight into her sides; while in the administration building the radio is being checked, weather reports are collected, and the route charted. Soon all is ready, a roar comes from the engines, the "all's clear" signal is given and the plane is off flying into the distance.

In Twelve hours she may land across the country; in twenty-four span an ocean; and in five days she may encircle the earth. Thus is the course of flying a far cry from the days when the Wright Brothers made short flight of one hour and fifteen minutes.

The men who control these are the pilots. Men who are mentally

Fifteen Additions To Faculty and Staff

For the school year of 1939-40 many new instructors have been added to the faculty. They have come from all parts of the country and are well-experienced in their chosen fields.

Miss Vivian F. Bell has come from Birmingham, Alabama as Dean of Women. Besides having an M. A. Degree from the University of Iowa, she has taught at the A. H. Parker High School, Birmingham, Alabama and in the summers has taught in State Teacher's College, Alabama and was Assistant Director of Summer School at Miles Memorial College in 1937.

Dean W. T. Gibbs On "The War"

In the second of a series of chapel talks by the faculty, Dean W. T. Gibbs brought out some facts in the background of the present European War. "First as to the sides, they are the Allies, France and England; and the Dictators, Germany and Russia; with Italy a silent partner. As to the causes, there are many. One very important factor is the Peace Treaty of Versailles. This set up many small nations in the Balkan area, made a nation of Poland, gave Poland a corridor across German territory as well as keeping Germany down by not letting her have but a certain amount of naval tonnage and an army just as large. England and France also had the privilege of inspecting Germany to see that she did not exceed her bounds."

"Hitler came into power on a platform of wiping out the Versailles Treaty of 1919. He re-occupied the Saar Valley, organized a solid German Party, the Nazis, and drove out all the non-Germanic peoples. He then started annexing all former German territory and German-speaking peoples. It was easily done until he reached Poland. He went to war with her and brought about her conquest in the three weeks he promised. Hitler has all he wants and is now

President Bluford Welcomes Students

The initial chapel services of the year were conducted Friday, September 22, in the Dudley Memorial Auditorium, by the Reverend L. M. Tobin, director of religious activities. The chapel services will be held throughout the year on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at 10 o'clock.

President Bluford extended a welcome to the former and new students of the institution. He spoke at length on three important principles of life which were: punctuality, honesty and cleanliness. It was the belief that if these three above principles are found perfected in a person, those other qualities which are essential will gradually be bestowed upon him.

President Bluford also said that many avenues are open to students here and they can prepare for almost anything they desire to be, if they will take advantage of the many opportunities offered here at A. and T. College.

Freshman Seminar Held September 18

The first freshmen seminar was held on Monday night, September 18. Talks were given by President F. D. Bluford; dean of men, L. M. Tobin; and dean of women, Vivian F. Bell.

Greetings were extended and welcome brought by: Walter Evans of the YMCA; Miss Elsie Albright, president of the YWCA; Miss Margaret Tynes who is "Miss A. and T. for 1939-40; Miss Alberta Whitsett, President of the Gamma Tau Honorary Society; Glenn Rankin of the Agricultural Association; Leon Bailey, representing the Dramatic Society and the Technical Club; J. Archie Hargraves, for the debating society; Miss Marjorie Johnson, representing the musical organizations; Miss Abigail Little, for the Women's Athletic Association; and William M. Gilmore for the Register and Student Council.

IN SYMPATHY

We deeply sympathize with Miss Ella Clarice Matthews and members of her family in the loss of her father.
THE STUDENT BODY

Professor T. B. Jones Speaks

In the first of a series of chapel exercises given by members of the faculty, Mr. T. B. Jones of the Department of Education raised three important questions Wednesday, September 27th, for the student body to consider: Where are you going? Why are you going? Why are you going by this route of a college?

"You are headed for entrance into adult society," Mr. Jones said in answer to the question, "Where are you going?" "You are going because many apparent privileges which seem to you to be enjoyed by adults are denied you." This route is a bright, beautiful, attractive, well-paved highway leading to the easy side of adult society, youth thinks. It is hard for young people to comprehend the greater responsibilities.

Sunday School Is Conducted

Sunday, September 24, was the opening date of the A. and T. College Sunday School. One hundred and thirty-five students were in attendance and most of this number were freshmen.

The Superintendent, Mr. E. K. Winstead was in charge. Teachers for the various classes were elected and assembled in different classrooms for discussions of the lessons.

The secretary introduced the officers to the old and new students. The teachers for the year are: Glenn Rankin, David Barnhill,

Paragraphics

You never have to wander up and down a street for a certain number in Poznan, Poland. At every intersection the signs tell not only the name of the street, but the numbers in that block.

Andrew Carnegie, when asked which he considered the most important factor in industry, labor, capital or brains, replied, "Which is the most important leg of a three-legged stool?"

"The World," Dwight Morrow once wrote, "is divided into two classes of people, those who do things and those people who get the credit." Try, if you can to belong to the first class. There's far less competition.

Happiness is a delicate balance between what one is and what one has.

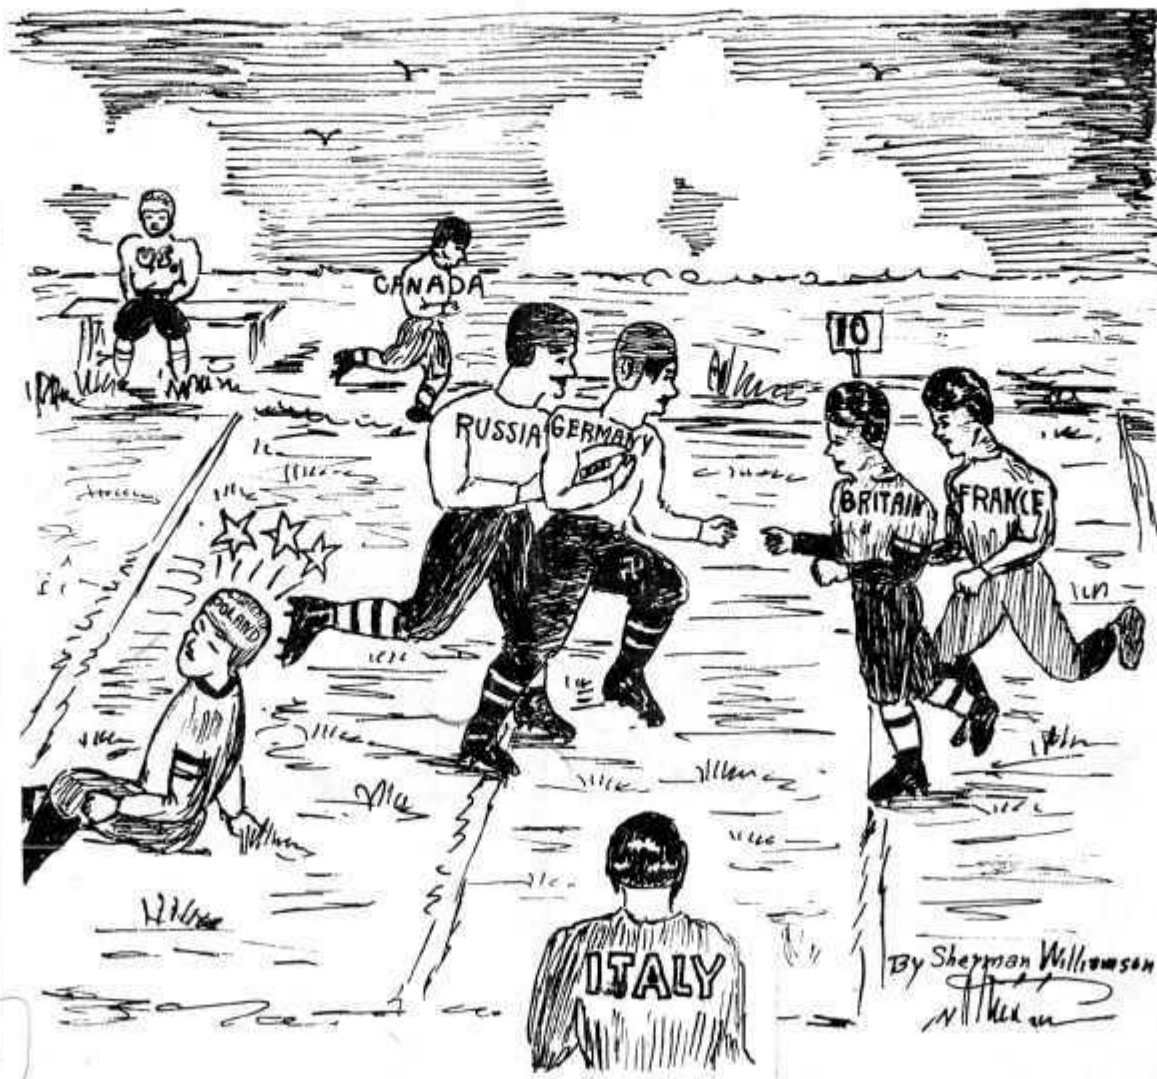

There are many isms to perplex us—nazism, communism, fascism, and so forth—but most of them will cancel each other out. There is only one ism which kills the soul, and that is pessimism.

A man had been discovered dead, and the jury was puzzled as to what caused his death. They were unable to bring a correct verdict, so they stated: "It was an act of God under very suspicious circumstances."

"You have many enemies," said a friend to Clemenceau. "But I also have, as friends, the enemies of my enemies," was the reply.

Mark Twain was so obedient to his wife that he once said in a letter, "I would deprive myself of sugar in my coffee, if she wished it, or would quit wearing socks if she thought them immoral."

George Sadler of Portuguese Cove, Nova Scotia, caught a fifteen-pound cod in the Atlantic Ocean and found a pair of socks in its stomach. Moreover, the socks were neatly folded.

Make The Extra Hours Count

The most of us perform our work or studies within a definite range of hours each day. The extra hours are what we are now most interested in. What about them? Do we waste them all on frivolities; or do we make them count? The extra hours very often mean exactly the difference between success and failure; between greatness and mediocrity. All too often the extra hours determine our destinies. Let us make them count.

We are now beginning a new year in school, some of us for the first year in college. High school closes the season of formal education for most persons, and after all its very few who go to college to take up the serious study of life-work. Not all, but the vast majority of persons just dream about their life-work, their one great ambition.

When we leave school and go to obtain work, we're faced with one problem. We must take whatever offers itself. The job is usually a simple one, quite remote from our high ideals and hopes but greatness will follow if we will do our part.

Had Abraham Lincoln failed to wrench the utmost from his extra hours, what would have been the course of history in the United States today? Greatness would have evaded him. Had Henry Ford or Thomas Edison refused to make their extra hours count for something, had they refused to acquire their "learning" in them, we would be living very much like our forefathers. Service, riches, and greatness followed in the wake of the decisions of these men. We should make a decision, a very grave one. We, as college students should use our extra hours to train ourselves for the great task ahead. We are not going to drift aimlessly thru them and forget about the goal which lies ahead.

Even should our extra hours in study fail to carry us to our coveted goal, one thing is definitely accomplished. We experience increased mental activity. When our minds are occupied, we have little time to waste. Every man and woman who has obtained more than the meager things life has to offer was not afraid to invest his or her extra hours in the pursuit of success.

Time is a pliable substance. It can be shaped into whatever article we want it to produce. Should we choose to give the school and to the world the best that is within us we must fashion time into its fabric. Our extra hours comprise our greatest opportunity. Time is valuable. Realize the opportunity it offers you. Use it. Work hard and with sincere deliberation during the extra hours of this school year. Make them count. You can do it and still find time for recreation. When? When you find joy in working as well as play.

Watch Your Step

The greater part of the courage that is needed in the world is not of a heroic kind. Courage may be displayed in every day life as well as on historic fields of action. The common need is for courage to be honest, courage to resist temptation, courage to speak the truth, courage to be what we really are and not pretend to be what we are not, courage to live honestly within our means and not dishonestly upon the means of others.

Dr. Carl G. Jung the noted psychologist, has said: "Every man must, in so far as he can, condition his thinking to his own needs, and not allow himself to be swamped by what other people think he should do." The tragedy of the whole matter is that no one can, whether you have courage, whether you do your own thinking, or even whether you live or not, but you will care. To those of you just matriculating in college and others who have not been initiated into the college atmosphere, feel it our moral duty to exhort you to be conscious and sincere in determining the field you wish to follow.

Before you came here, you had someone, for purely sentimental reasons, attempt to outline your life's course. You probably silently imbibed their ideas and decided to be what your grandfather was. Most of us of a few more years would say, "I think that although you must be considerate of your friends opinion, you would do far better if you chose a career very compatible with and agreeable to your nature." This, of course, proceeds from the thought that your career should be an end within itself, one which admits elements of happiness and enjoyment along with all the other requirements of life. We might remind you, too, that you may be influenced by college parasites who sit around and proclaim the insurmountable difficulties of this or that course, or the unfriendliness of some professor. You who are sober minded will know how to take such advice, but, unfortunately, the best of us find it difficult to be sober-minded when the crucial test comes.

Our admonition is think seriously when choosing your career for it is with it and by it that you usually live.

Our Dollars Worth

We are proud to have a cafeteria in our school and we appreciate the effort that has been expended to give us the best in food.

Our board has increased but has our food supply? When we get one or two pennies over the correct amount of our meal we have to pay the difference, but when we have these same pennies less the amount nothing is said or done. It simply goes to the wind.

A few days ago the members of our faculty were detained at a certain important meeting and it was 6:10 P. M. when they came to the cafeteria. When they inquired about the food for them they were told that the food left was for "the football boys." Why not let the faculty play football?

There are certain things in the cafeteria which only football boys can get three times a day, such as milk. The question arises in my mind, are we getting our dollar's worth since we are the ones who have to pay? I admit that it takes strong and healthy bodies to play football or any form of athletics but don't disregard the fact that it also takes healthy minds to study and learn.

This expressed opinion may cause considerable criticism but with all due respect to the dieticians and other cafeteria officials it was not meant for such.

IMPRESSIONS

By Our New Faculty Members

Finding that our new and able faculty members were of primary interest to our student body the Register decided to turn the tables and gather the impressions that the new faculty members had gained of the student body as a whole. With this in mind, Lydia Robinson confronted several of the new professors in the various departments of the college and demanded (to their utter astonishment), "What have you found to be the outstanding characteristic of A. and T. Students?" These answers were forthcoming—

"I have been impressed primarily by the existence of a real collegiate spirit among the students of A. and T."

MR. ROBERT MARTIN, Associate Prof. of History

"I find that A. and T. students lean towards the motto 'that work is one of our greatest blessings and everyone should have an honest occupation.'"

MR. ROLLINS BERNARD Assistant Coach P. E. Department

"A. and T. students impress me by their own open hospitality and their willingness to dig for their desired goal."

MR. JAMES PORTER Prof. of Agronomy

"A. and T. students seem to be quite like students everywhere—good, bad and indifferent. As a whole, I say they are all right. The freshmen however, lack the ability to spell."

MR. JERKINS Prof. of English

Freshman Tea

The freshman class was entertained with a tea Sunday evening, October 1. The senior men and women advisors acted as hostesses and hosts. The receiving line was composed of President and Mrs. Bluford, Deans of the different departments, Dean of Women, Dean of Men and a few other members of the faculty and their wives, "Miss A. and T." President of Student Body, and the President of W. S. G. A.

Poultry

A Profitable Business

EDITOR'S NOTE

The article below is an account of some achievements of Mr. H. G. Forney, a graduate of A. and T. and a very good farmer at Bricks, N. C. The Register is always glad to print any article about or by A. and T. alumnus.

Mr. H. G. Forney, a faithful member of the Brick Evening School Class, who held a perfect attendance record in the statewide Better Evening School Attendance contest for the last three years, has found it very profitable to conduct a poultry enterprise.

In April, 1938, he began with 500 Barred Plymouth Rock baby chicks. He saved about 90 pullets from which he selected 50. The others were sold to buy feed for the remainder of the flock. These fifty birds began to lay in November and by December had reached 50 per cent production which they never fell below. Only eight were killed for home use. Other than that there was no mortality during the seven month period. By careful management he realized a profit from selling the broilers.

From November to the last of May the hens laid 430 dozen eggs, from which Mr. Forney received an average price above $0.70 a dozen. Feed cost was $28.10.

This year he has 600 baby chicks; 400 were purchased in March and the others later. After selling a broilers and culling the pullets down to 160, a profit of $7.13 was realized. To fix a price of 60 cents each would run the stock up to $105.53 on the first 400 chicks.

This enterprising farmer is a graduate of A. and T. College and one of the outstanding farmers in this community. He is treasurer of the Brick Poultry Cooperative Association. This fall he will have 200 layers.

Dean Meets With Students

In a recent meeting, the Dean of Men expressed his gratitude to the Freshmen Boys for cooperation with the administration in making adjustments. He told them of the different contributions men can and will make to future society.

In order to create a more family-like atmosphere, sergeants-at-arms were selected for each floor in South Dormitory. 1st floor—Jesse Francis, 2nd floor, Joshua Elliott, 3rd floor, Levi Fonville.

Each of these young men pledged to give his untiring efforts in making South Dormitory the choicest atmosphere of the campus.

Captain Campbell reminded the Freshman class that one of the signs of good manners and culture was the sign of self-respect, respect for authority and respect for others. "No assistance is needed to go down," he said, "but much is needed to go up."

Mr. Gamble spoke briefly about the interruptions to a good study period for the men by the disturbance of men selling pies and gathering clothes to be cleaned. He reminded the men not to play musical instruments in the dormitory.

Problematical situations which hinder a pleasant atmosphere on the campus were pointed out and suggestions were made for removing them.

Register Staff Meets

The editor of our school publication called the initial staff meeting of this year, Friday, Sept. 22. According to a letter from President Bluford to the editor, William M. Gilmore, the staff members will have access to an office in which to work.

Keys are to be awarded in June to those having done meritorious work for two or more years. Duties were assigned to each staff department—production, editorial, circulation, etc.

New features are being added to the Register this year with the coming of the new editor. A permanent column is to be started on how to dress and on etiquette. The improvements on the campus will afford interesting news. We may be able to gain an insight to some of the thoughts of the faculty through the column, "Faculty Opinion." The Improvement and the Critic committees are additions to the staff.

—HELEN HOLT, Staff Secretary

The Y. M. C. A. Holds Initial Meeting

Old members welcomed new members to the Campus Christian organization with warm hearts. A broad expansive program was outlined. The presence of Prof. B. N. Roberts, faculty advisor, added to the occasion. The young men were brought to their feet by these words from Rev. L. M. Tobin, College Minister and Dean of Men "Of any duty I could perform at any college, I shall consider my work with you the greatest and the one I love."

The meeting closed with prayer. —WALTER EVANS, President

Y. W. C. A.

Freshman ladies, we extend a welcome to you to come and join the Young Women's Christian Association. This is a very active organization on our campus and all who would like to become members are urged to watch the bulletin board for announcements concerning meetings. This organization also sponsors the May Day festivities including the selection of the May Queen. A scholarship is given to some young lady from the same high school as the May Queen of that particular year.

Another high light of the Y. W. C. A. is the Mother-Daughter Banquet, given in the spring, and invitations are extended to each of the girl's mothers and a weekend is set aside to entertain the mothers of girls who are "Y" members.

Elsie Mae Albright is president of the Y. W. C. A. for 1939-40. —ANNABELLE MATTHEWS, '40

On Sunday, Sept. 24, we met for the first time of the school year 1939-40. The members are eager to get down to work for each brother wants to impress his "Big Brothers" with his worth as a potential Omega man. Plans were presented for a program to be given in chapel at a near date. The social committee is busy getting ready for an early dance.

Omega Psi Phi

The Mu Psi Chapter of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity is setting a premium on the value and amount of work anticipated for the ensuing year. Though short of six members, lost by graduation, and still shorter of two who failed to return, it can be truthfully said that the effort and endeavors of the organization have not in any manner been crushed. The presentation of chapel programs, recognition of National Negro Achievement Week, Homecoming endeavors, and other school activities are on book for a one hundred per cent showing.

The organization is under capable advisorship with Professor L. A. Wise at the reins and a forceful board of officers. The officers for the commencing of the 1939-40 campaign are:

Basileus—Daniel O. Leatherbury
Vice Basileus—Roy Hill
Keeper of Records and Seals—William Privett
Keeper of Finance—George Miller
Keeper of Peace—Needham Lewis
Reporter—Aubrey Kearney.

So, to dear old A. and T., to all other organizations our support is yours.

Gamma Tau Fraternity

Yes, Yes. The old Gamma Tau is back on the campus. As we matriculate into our endeavorment, let us strive to make this year more harmonious, cooperative, and more enjoyable among ourselves rather than pull against each other.

Gamma Tau is still trying to obtain all of those high achievements which are set up by the institution. We are willing to cooperate and do our best in any activity in which this institution prescribes. Our plans this year are to make a gift to the school after which an annual program will be discussed.

Brother Napoleon Howard of Gamma Chapter was the guest of Alpha Chapter at Howard University in July. Brother Howard was also able to give an oral report to Gamma Chapter in a meeting held last week.

Alpha Phi Alpha

We are happy to welcome the brothers of Beta Epsilon back to dear old A. and T. However, we regret the loss of several brothers through graduation.

Our first meeting of the new school year was held Tuesday night, Sept. 26. In this meeting our delegate to the General Convention which convened at City College of New York Aug. 28-30, Brother Earl Holland, made a very interesting report of his findings.

We are entering wholeheartedly into making this year the biggest year of Beta Epsilon in Alpha Phi Alpha.

The members of Beta Epsilon this year are: E. K. Winstead, president; Robbin Washington, vice president; Earl Holland, secretary; Lester Williamson, treasurer; Walter Solomon, Havard Jones, and Glenn Rankin, whom we are proud to have back with us after being out of school for a year.

Kappa Comment

THE ALPHA NU CHAPTER of the KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY wishes to extend a very cordial welcome to the faculty, the student body, and all Greek Letter organizations of the 1939-40 school year at A. and T. We sincerely trust that you, especially the incoming Freshmen, will enjoy a very prosperous school year.

Despite the absence of two of our brothers, brothers Clarke and Bryant, chapter activities for the year got off to a good start when our initial meeting proved to be a big success. The meeting was held with the presence and full cooperation of many of our graduate brothers in the Greensboro area. New officers were elected as follows: Brother Wardarān L. Ken-

It has been brought to my attention about the attire of some of the men of the campus. Personally, I have nothing against Polo Shirts, in fact I think they are very practical for students, but there is a time and place for everything. Since there are some members of the faculty who object to the students coming to their classes in polo shirts, I think the faculty should get together and agree not to wear polo shirts themselves.

It seems that in the last few years around A. and T. the status of the freshmen, instead of going down or at least remaining the same, seems to have risen. They have almost the same privileges as the upperclassmen. Practically all hazing has been cut out. Oh well, maybe times are changing and one starts with many privileges and is cut down as he progresses in classes. The A. and T. student body has in many places the reputation of being crude, but we haven't been able to find who or what causes this. Be this as it will or may, the students have asked continuously for some method of prayer before meals, but no method has been arranged to date and I have heard of none being arranged. Quite a number of grid stars of former years are either bench warming or not on the squad at all this year. Of course as the saying goes "Age must have its day," so our stars of yesteryear must step aside and give the youngsters their chance.

Orchids to our new coaches Harris and Bernard. They seemed to have formed a crack aggregation. Boys we got by Florida A. and M. and we are really going places this year. I think it is too early in the season to laud any one person, but here's my hearty congratulations to the whole team.

accepting nothing because it is new and clinging to nothing because it is old; and (3), the guard against the deadening effect of living down to the average.

The last was listed by the speaker as a peril common to our democratic governmental relations and also to the average college student.

"The college wants students," Rev. Mr. Tobin concluded, "who can stand freedom without abusing it and who, when they enter, put away childish things."

KAPPA KOMMENT will always bring to you things of interest. Read our column in each edition of the Register.

Hail From 22 States

In addition to the work already offered, the college will train airplane pilots, and a number of students have already begun their study in this new field of endeavor.

Another highlight in the development of the college is the fact that graduate work is being offered for the first time. A number of students are enrolled in the graduate school and applications are coming in daily.

With a rapidly increasing physical plant and adequate provisions otherwise, A. and T. College will lead all other Negro Colleges of North Carolina in enrollment, academic standing and progress for many years to come. "Keep on keeping on," A. and T. College.

Three guards were listed by Rev. Mr. Tobin as necessary if we are to grow and develop divinely. These are: (1) the guard against illusion of the environmental emphasis in which he stressed a new point of view on the part of the individual in reacting to mentioned environment; (2), the guard against the peril of the closed mind, leges and is cut down as he progresses in classes.

Prof. Jones Speaks

(Continued from Page 1) quoted from a noted educator, "is not merely the getting of facts, nor how to use them, but is also the acquisition of new facilities and getting new facts to solve problems of everyday life. Going to college and getting a degree may or may not equip you to solve the problems of everyday life."

Burton, in his book, Introduction to Education, said, "It is not education's task to make the common man contented with his lot, but to prepare him adequately for the lot worthy of his contentment."

"Think ye on those things, if ye find pleasure in them. The world is waiting for you, if you can discover the meaning of education on this level," were his closing words.

"If the war is a quick one, Germany and the dictators are likely to win, as they have the advantage in army, air and submarine. If the war is one of long duration the Allies are likely to win as they have the advantages in the navy and merchant ships which are quite important in a long war."

Such were the comments of Dean Gibbs on the present European situation. It must be remembered that these are the opinions of Dean Gibbs only.
