Students Learn Of Civic Responsibility

"Heber Fuller Lives Through Civic Responsibility" was the theme of the Heber Fuller Lyceum held October 18 to urge and encourage students to maintain the high standards of good citizenship that have been set by the founders of the College.

Student participants were Freda Black and William Monger, both of Greensboro, who spoke on "Quality of Citizenship" and "International and Domestic Citizenship," respectively, and Joseph O'Leary, master of ceremonies.

Ms. Fuller said, "The word citizenship is used to mean full active membership in a group with a share in all the rights and duties equivalent to voting. It is not to list a few of the qualities and duties, but to carry forward the ideals of justice, liberty, brotherhood and liberty. Each must do his part, just as the older students do.

Civics, he said, "is the study of the government of a state and of the powers of citizen. It is the study of our rights and duties as citizens, and the obligation to maintain a good citizenry.

Problems in publishing were similar to those in school. For example, the following appeared in the March edition of the A&T Register:

Mu Xi Nu Plans For Coming Year

Mu Xi Nu Society, founded last year, has re-organization and made some tentative plans for the coming year. The organization seeks to fulfill its members' interest in the contemporary arts; music, paintings, writings, and various social events. Therefore, that students new to college may learn about the social and political barriers that divide them; for beyond these they find the bonds that reconcile and unite the human race based on moral foundations and integrity.

ICRC Lists Objectives

There has never before been an age when nations have placed so much emphasis on the importance of fostering good international relations among themselves. The reasons are many, but foremost is the fact that the world has now become one big village. With the advent of recent technological advances in means of communication and transportation, the world is smaller; therefore, that nations new to the world of people, will learn about the social and political barriers that divide them; for beyond these they find the bonds that reconcile and unite the human race.

YVONNE CLAWSON

Yvonne Clawson, a senior from Beloit, Ill., was recently named Kappa Sweetheart of Alpha Nu Chapter, Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. She is a finalist in a list of 10 College co-eds who were being considered as sweethearts; however, her appointment was unanimous.

The new Sweetheart was officially installed at the Annual Party given in her honor by the brothers of Alpha Nu and their guest, Her Majesty crowned by Brother Clarence E. Fluittte, was presented with a bouquet of red and white carnations arranged in the shape of a large diamond, thus climaxing the evening.

Yvonne, who majors in commercial education, will serve as both "prince of honor" and "hostess" at all Kappa social functions for the duration of the school year. Kappa Psi maintains no "brother-sister" relation with any society on campus and has relied on the Sweetheart to provide that feminine type of impersonation which is so important to a social fraternity.

For continued success of the A&T College rental system, students are urged to abide by the regulations listed below.

RETURNING BOOKS

Do not return books now in your possession that will be needed by you during the winter quarter as confirmed texts.

Example: Students registered in English 212 during the fall quarter will use the same text (A Laboratory Course in Reading and Writing) during the winter quarter in English 213. Likewise, those registered in English 213 this quarter will use the same text (A Laboratory Course in Reading and Writing) in English 212.

In case of the latter, a portion of the rental fee paid during the fall quarter is returned to you when the book is returned at the end of the school year or upon graduation, if all texts are desired. On the other hand, books returned will be circulated and a greater depreciation will be realized at the end of the year.
