A&T COLLEGE, GREENSBORO, N. C.

MARCH 23, 1957

NO. 8

Register Merits
2nd At Columbia

At the 33rd annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association (CSPA) held in New York, March 14-16, the REGISTER received a second-place rating for a board composed of press students.

The REGISTER was judged in the senior college division, made up of schools with enrollments of 2,000 to 3,000 students. This was the same rating received last year.

Since it was founded in 1923, the CSPA has grown from 139 newspapers entered and 588 delegates in that first year, to more than 1,697 entrants and 4,600 delegates in 1956. More than 25,000 newspapers and magazines have now attended these sessions through 1956.

A regular failure of the convention is to train around the dirty for delegates. Places visited include the Empire State Building, Madison Square Garden, Rockefeller Center, and a tour of the New York Times Building.

Members of the A&T delegations were Milton Martin and David Price. They were told by Mrs. Edith Astbury, New York Times reporter, that objectivity is paramount in news reporting, the newspaper is related to the democratic processes of the institution where we develop inquirers in their assignments, the speaker continued. "If we seek to refine our thinking, to develop independent thinking, we have to make comparisons and contrasts ... to arrive at which that logically appears to be the truth to us, in the light of our listening, research and contemplation," he added.

The challenge or duty of today's college and of today's students, according to the speaker, is to "develop the inquiring disposition in the learner who is grounded in broad concepts and who becomes increasingly capable of translating his findings into a practical use in his own life and for human welfare."

With Highest Honor

Students cited were James E. Ashe, Alexander Gardner, Pearl Cunningham, Raymond Crump, Vergue L. Davis, Ernest L. Sands, William H. Lynch, Margaret McLaughlin, James R. Barnett, Samuel Hill, Maggee O. Moore, Pauline Pierce, Mrs. N. I. Atkinson, James E. Ashe (right), receives congratulations from Dr. Holbert Jarrett (left), principal speaker at the Heroes' Day program, and J. M. McRae, dean of faculty, and Bette Headen, a senior electrical engineering student at Bennett College, who was named the Academic Excellence Award for the year.

More than 90 students were cited last Tuesday for scholastic achievement as the college celebrated its Poets' Annual Honor's Day.

In special ceremonies in Market Auditorium, President W. T. Gibbs, assisted by Dean L. C. Dohey, presented each of the honorees with a certificate, John Zeigler, national president of Sigma Xi Sigma and member of Kappa Mu, served as sponsor.

Speaking for the occasion, Dr. Holbert Jarrett, professor of English at Bennett College, who was asked to give "academic excellence."

"Our attaining academic excellence is dependent upon the extent to which we develop inquiry and independent thinking," said the speaker.

Dr. Jarrett pointed out that there is virtually no limitation to inquiry when made within the educational processes of the institution in which one is enrolled. "We should inquire into the what, where, when, and how of any information which lies at hand.

Exploring the failure of students to avail themselves of the servives of reading clinics and other aids, Dr. Jarrett indicated that one must know and use words appropriately in order to refine thinking and to develop independent thought. "Academic excellence is a goal which all college students should strive to attain."
Several weeks ago, the problem surrounding the sorry and undesirable condition of the "College Inn" was presented to the students via the REGISTER. The problem had been building up to such a point that several comments and few people took a closer look at what we, as students, are trying to do about the situation.

The problem started when the "College Inn" was presented as a possible competition in securing the students' money. The inadequacy of service and facilities of the Inn will continue to prolong the "problem" of the college's social atmosphere. It is recognized ever since that it has been impossible to solve the problem by ignoring its existence.

Years ago, the term "College Inn" was used to describe a place where students could go to socialize and that the students would never have to worry about the way they were being treated. It was even possible to have a good time and not have to worry about being criticized. This was because the Inn was a place where students could go to socialize and have a good time without being criticized.

In the past, the Inn had been considered to be the place where students could go to socialize and have a good time. However, today, the Inn has become more of a place where students go to have a good time without being criticized. This is because the Inn is no longer considered to be the place where students can go to socialize and have a good time.

The Inn is only a business, and unless one can contest the fact that it is only a business, one can only say that the problems that one is having with the Inn are due to the fact that it is only a business. However, the Inn is not only a business, it is also a place where students can go to socialize and have a good time.

The problem that students have with the Inn is due to the fact that it is only a business. This is because the Inn is not only a business, it is also a place where students can go to socialize and have a good time. The solution to this problem is to stop considering the Inn as only a business, and to start considering it as a place where students can go to socialize and have a good time.

In conclusion, the Inn is not only a business, it is also a place where students can go to socialize and have a good time. The problem that students have with the Inn is due to the fact that it is only a business. The solution to this problem is to stop considering the Inn as only a business, and to start considering it as a place where students can go to socialize and have a good time.
Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.

The Register
March 23, 1957

Debaters Participate in Brooklyn Tourney

The debate team carried the A&T banner on an extensive tour of Brooklyn University, where the National Debate Tournament had been held March 8 and 9, and brought back on its itinerary a number of pleasant experiences that some classmates had missed.

Miss Zoe Parks, faculty adviser, and four members of the Kappa Alpha Order, who had succeeded in the fall to the post of treasurer of the Nigerian chapter of the Student Nationalist Organization for Catholic students, are the presidents of the universities.

Last year in a similar tournament, the A&T debaters also won four prizes, but this year the school was selected 16th among participating colleges.
Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen and members of the Joint Committee on Appropriations, I wish to thank you for affording us an opportunity to appear before you in behalf of the Agricultural and Technical College and to present to you the needs of the college as we who are on the campus see them.

I would like to say that our complete presentation was directed to the Board of Higher Education and to the Advisory Budget Commission. These groups reviewed our requests and have made their recommendations to you. We have no desire to challenge them. Some of your very essential items were not recommended and we were somewhat disappointed, but inasmuch as there are as many specifics and limitations to be considered we have decided to be satisfied. It is in the nature of things that there are many acts and limitations to be considered we have decided to be satisfied. It is in the nature of things that these weaknesses must be faced.

Our 2,600 students are being taught by 116 teachers, an average of one instructor to every 18.3 students. This is among the highest student-teacher ratios among the colleges of the State, but considering the fact that our major emphasis is in the field of Agriculture and Engineering, which require comparatively smaller classes and more laboratories, our School of Nursing was also included in this category.

Not only do our teachers have heavy teaching schedules but their salaries have remained low. There are 62 or 36% of the 160 teachers whose salaries range from $3,176 to $4,700; 41 or 26% are in the range of $2,700 to $3,700; 17 or 11% are in the range of $1,700 to $2,700; and the remaining 6% range from $4,000 to $6,900. We feel that these weaknesses are for the most part caused by the fact that our major emphasis is in the field of Agriculture and Engineering, which require comparatively smaller classes and more laboratories. Our School of Nursing was also included in this category.

We would like to urge the adoption of the salary scale recommended by the Board of Higher Education, but if this is impossible, we would like to suggest that a sum of $6,000 per year, for salary adjustments, be added to the salaries already recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission.

The LIBRARY

During the year 1956, the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools visited A&T College for the purpose of accreditation. The following letter was received from the Executive Secretary of the Association:

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGES AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS

Shelby Peachtree Street, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia

December 14, 1956

President Warmoth T. Gibbs
A&T College of North Carolina
Greensboro, North Carolina

Upon examination of your report for 1956, the screening committee found A&T College of North Carolina probably meeting the standards of the Association; however, the committee has not recommended that you meet standards 2, 3, 9, 15, and 17 and are being held on a marginal basis, and that you should give special attention to these standards during the coming year.

President Warmoth T. Gibbs.

PROFESSIONAL CLINIC

The profession on the campus of A&T College of North Carolina has an enrollment of 2,600 students. The professional clinic is operated by the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. The clinic is staffed by five full-time professional personnel and a number of student nurses.

The clinic provides a wide variety of health services to students, faculty, staff, and their families. Services include physical examinations, health education, illness management, and mental health counseling. The clinic also serves as a teaching facility for nursing students, providing them with practical experience in patient care.

In addition to these services, the clinic offers a variety of preventive health programs, including immunizations, health screenings, and health education workshops. The clinic is committed to promoting the health and well-being of the entire A&T College of North Carolina community.
The Register
March 25, 1957
Pat

Again...

Bookstore System Clarified

"There is no double change in our presentation of an added feature with means for each student to request accreditation. Better scholars are predicted from this system," Mr. Garfield stated that at the time the book range operation was first opened, students were now predicting that the system was more efficient and that the number of books ordered was now going to be cut down. He was in most of all of this can be attributed to the intentness of the students to study the situation, decided that the system would be used in the formation of VA regulation. This regulation states that "Purchases are to be limited to those customary in the form of scholarships." In addition, book prices are now also affected by this system. Mr. Garfield is hopeful that after this system is fully understood, the college will further profit by lower rental costs.

Consulting, Mr. Garfield, himself rates as "the best book wholesale buyer that I have ever had." Mr. Garfield is optimistic that before the end of the year the book system in operation at A&T will be "in the best interest of the students." Mr. Garfield believes that even though the system admittedly is not a perfect one.

Murphy Hall Paintings Explained
BY HERMAN TAYLOR '40
For students interested in the history of the paintings which are located in the wall to the front entrance of the college, the only possible paintings, large on campus, were painted by Garvey White, a graduate of the class of 1939. He was from Louisville, Kentucky and had studied Ceramics prior to enrolling at A&T.
One of the pictures portrays two men in a field, one plowing and the other watching. The other is of a woman sitting in a chair, which is partially seen. Although Mr. White did not give the paintings a title, they are intended to represent the two main divisions of the college, the Fine and Fine High School. Of course, a perfect one."

Charm & Culture Club Organized

Synphony Concerts Scheduled

Following a March 26 concert at Carver High School, the 95 piece Symphony Band will appear at Oak Grove School in Illinois.

Special Featured Selections
Special featured Selections will be as follows: H. Gaunery Overby, alto sax; the Spanish March Band; and "Cemars" a grand organ composition for band by T. E. Short. Other selections include words by Chas. D. Lowery in "The Anniversary," Richard Wagner, Philip Lang, Scharffen, Bass, and Henry Filson.

Achievement -"The Lumphods Club of Mr. Pal Pai Friedly presented the Euphylet trophy of achievement to President Gibb, shown from left to right are Walter More, Paul Sharp, president, presenting the trophy, John Cavan, Mr. Pal Pai Friedly, and Coolege McCoy, Dean of Podogics.
North Carolina opened and closed out the 1956-57 NCAA season with thirty-two straight victories. These teams topped the pack for 1956-57.

The lone standout was Magician Joe Howell, one of the CIAA mainstays and dominating graduate work at Columbia University. His bad leg led a belated rally that cut the spread to seven points, 62-55, with about five minutes remaining before Winston increased it to 21 points, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over.

In the Winston-Salem game, the Aggies fell behind by a 10-4 margin in the opening minutes when the Aggies decided they wanted to win and put pressure on the Aztecs. From far back, sparked by Paul Grier, Al Attles, and Billy Smith, who combined brilliant ball-handling with shooting accuracy to bag the Aggies the first time in seven years to hurl the ball into the basket.

The lone standout was Magician Joe Howell, one of the CIAA mainstays and dominating graduate work at Columbia University. His bad leg led a belated rally that cut the spread to seven points, 62-55, with about five minutes remaining before Winston increased it to 21 points, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over.

In the Winston-Salem game, the Aggies fell behind by a 10-4 margin in the opening minutes when the Aggies decided they wanted to win and put pressure on the Aztecs. From far back, sparked by Paul Grier, Al Attles, and Billy Smith, who combined brilliant ball-handling with shooting accuracy to bag the Aggies the first time in seven years to hurl the ball into the basket.

The lone standout was Magician Joe Howell, one of the CIAA mainstays and dominating graduate work at Columbia University. His bad leg led a belated rally that cut the spread to seven points, 62-55, with about five minutes remaining before Winston increased it to 21 points, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over.

In the Winston-Salem game, the Aggies fell behind by a 10-4 margin in the opening minutes when the Aggies decided they wanted to win and put pressure on the Aztecs. From far back, sparked by Paul Grier, Al Attles, and Billy Smith, who combined brilliant ball-handling with shooting accuracy to bag the Aggies the first time in seven years to hurl the ball into the basket.

The lone standout was Magician Joe Howell, one of the CIAA mainstays and dominating graduate work at Columbia University. His bad leg led a belated rally that cut the spread to seven points, 62-55, with about five minutes remaining before Winston increased it to 21 points, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over.

In the Winston-Salem game, the Aggies fell behind by a 10-4 margin in the opening minutes when the Aggies decided they wanted to win and put pressure on the Aztecs. From far back, sparked by Paul Grier, Al Attles, and Billy Smith, who combined brilliant ball-handling with shooting accuracy to bag the Aggies the first time in seven years to hurl the ball into the basket.

The lone standout was Magician Joe Howell, one of the CIAA mainstays and dominating graduate work at Columbia University. His bad leg led a belated rally that cut the spread to seven points, 62-55, with about five minutes remaining before Winston increased it to 21 points, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over.

In the Winston-Salem game, the Aggies fell behind by a 10-4 margin in the opening minutes when the Aggies decided they wanted to win and put pressure on the Aztecs. From far back, sparked by Paul Grier, Al Attles, and Billy Smith, who combined brilliant ball-handling with shooting accuracy to bag the Aggies the first time in seven years to hurl the ball into the basket.

The lone standout was Magician Joe Howell, one of the CIAA mainstays and dominating graduate work at Columbia University. His bad leg led a belated rally that cut the spread to seven points, 62-55, with about five minutes remaining before Winston increased it to 21 points, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over.