Dorm Counselor Dies During Holidays

Cleo M. McCoy, director of residence counseling in Curtis Hall, died Christmas Eve, Dec. 25, 1959 at her home in Asheville. Mrs. King was a member of the college's discipline committee, the Monday School, and was a participant in many other activities.

Mrs. King was described as an academic counselor, Mrs. King was a participant in many other activities.

Funeral services for Mrs. King were held at Zion Baptist Church in Asheville, Jan. 1, at 2 P.M. She was survived by her husband, Rev. Joe King, and three brothers - Clyde S. and Elzie Williams.

Representatives of the college administration and faculty present were Reverend Cleo M. McCoy, director of religious activities; Miss Geneva J. Holmes, Mr. William H. Gamble, dean of men; Mrs. Ruby E. Bond, Mrs. Anna B. Brawner, Mrs. Anne R. Simpson - all dormitory counselors; and Mr. Allison Gooden, college postmaster.

New Building To Replace North Dorm

NORTH DORMITORY is adjacent to Dudley Building (the science building) and its back is to Hudson Avenue. The new building will lie just north of the Hudson Avenue site.

There were some talk about placing the new addition to Dudley Hall, the auditorium.

North Dorm is one of the oldest buildings on the college campus, part of the original building which has been allocated by the state for construction.

North Dorm is to be replaced by a new building. The site of the new building will lie just north of the current building and will be within a few steps of Harrison Hall, the auditorium.

No DATE SET

No date was set for razing North Dormitory, which is expected to cost approximately $100,000. The site of the new building will be developed as part of the installation of the new Worship Center at the college.

There were 37 other students on the “A” honor roll with grades point average ranging from 3.94 to 3.50 while 160 students made the “B” honor roll.

Students Begin Internships

Next Week

According to Mr. B. Joseph Shaw, approximately fifty students do practice teaching this quarter. Student interns from the School of Agriculture and Home Economics and the School of Business will begin work on January 18 in various Seminary Schools throughout North Carolina.

Mr. Shaw pointed out that more students will participate in student practice teaching during the winter quarter than at any time in the past four years.

The purpose of student teaching is to provide students with an opportunity to work under the guidance of qualified instructors.

Fall Honor Roll Lists Four With Perfect Grades

54 Students Register In “A” Column On Long List Of 224

As a result of A&T’s victorious campaign for outstanding and capable instruction, the Department of Education and General Studies has a new addition to its faculty, in the person of Mr. Bernard Coleman.

Mr. Coleman, son of a tailor, was born May 25, 1913 in Washington, D. C. He is a graduate of West Virginia State College, School of Education and the University of Chicago, N. C.

1959 Mr. Coleman has been a student of history. In 1956 he returned to the United States from an extensive stay in Africa where he spent three years as principal of an African Vocational school.

While there Mr. Coleman began research on the social mores and history of the Mandingo Tribe of Central Liberia, before Mr. Coleman’s investigation, very little had been done on this social heritage of the Mandingos.

As a result of his interest in the people of the Mandingo tribe, Mr. Coleman was elected an honorary member of the group and is one of the few indigenous people of having had the pleasure of observing Mandingo festivals and ceremonies.

Addie Corbett is a travel agent and authority on the Mandingo Tribe. Mr. Coleman is a collector of art. He is a collector of both African Negro and African art. His collection is composed of some 100 objects valued at $15,000.

As Instructor

Mr. Shaw has been a student of art. His collection is composed of some 100 objects valued at $15,000.

Mr. Shaw is in the process of completing a research project in teaching methods among other things.

They are Ellis F. Corbett, left, A&T College public relations director and recently appointed chairman of the Advisory Committee on Publicity and Promotion, and Dr. Charles Ray, director of the News Bureau at North Carolina College and director of publicity for the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

COLEMAN JOINS FACULTY HERE

As Instructor

The Technical Institute listed 13 students as “A” honor roll and 24 students on the “B” honor roll.

While this list is the smallest for any fall quarter since 1954, when the total was 246, the percentage of students in the top echelon of the honor roll is considerably higher than at any time during this period.

The Republican Party, under the watchful eye and masterful leadership of President Eisenhower, recently staged a grandiose and lavish campaign in an attempt to win the presidency for President Nixon. This campaign was a shining example of the combined efforts of both the Republicans and the President himself.

ACT I

First, in this spectacular stage of events, came Governor Nelson Rockefeller's surprise Christmas gift to Nixon in the form of a funeral wreath thrown from the race for the GOP Presidential Nomination.

ACT II

Next, in a subsequent article, Drew Pearson asserted that this decision of Rockefeller's was influenced by the President. It seems that Eisenhower was opposed to Rockefeller's nomination because he (Rocky) was not sympathetic with the President's effort to maintain a balanced budget, among other things. Lobbyist's announcement certainly came as a big surprise in view of the fact that he had done quite a bit of transcontinental campaigning.

All of this is true in light of the fact that Nixon claims indifference as to who will be his running mate.

Be it known that when Rockefeller made the announcement of his decision to withdraw that the Republican Convention would be Fruitless; but with this series of events, it can be seen that this election year will have a great number of sparks in all quarters.

So if it remains with the voter to sit and wait for future situations of this sort to arise, and to look closely and deeply into these situations so that he can make wise judgments accordingly.

These are the times when each and every Red Blooded American is on trial physically, mentally, and emotionally.

Title is, in truth, a momentous year.

Synopsis

Now, Nixon has free reign with no opposition on the part of Governor Rockefeller. He is in a position to scrutinize carefully the tactics of the Democrats and make necessary counter-measures, especially in trying to win the Catholic vote.

It is generally believed that in the event Kennedy is chosen as the number one or two man at the Democratic National Convention, Nixon will select Governor Pat Brown of California, a Republican Catholic, as his running mate. On the other hand, if Kennedy gets the ax, Nixon is expected to draw Henry Cabot Lodge at his number two man.

Nevertheless, Nixon's campaign is on Fifth Avenue.

ACT III

Then came Act III. Nixon, the hero, single-handedly and very diplomatically settled the Steel Strike which had been going on for six months. This was partially due to a general strikes in the south having changed quite a bit during his presidency. This was particularly due to increased strikes in the south having changed quite a bit during his presidency.

Just what does all this fanfare mean? Could it be that the Republican Party is engaging in high-level sight-of-hand? Could be, but most trickery of this sort is at least a bit more subtle.

Tough To Answer

(The Milwaukee Journal)

A student has asked a question for which we find no ready answer: Is it just "entertainment" for Assistant Professor Charles Van Doren to fool the public, through accepted techniques coercion about what he knows, why it is done, and if it is "cheating" for one of his students to do the same thing on an examination?

The Clouds And I

FRANK E. BLASKINGAME

I watched the clouds go casting by Lake Madison in a deep blue sea; and they capturing each other, they're so imperious to me.

For they're so full of tears and smiles With such a happy face within them. They're so imperious to me.

And with the dewing of each day - I woke with tremblid' mouth - 'Till the two hands of light and shadow. And others left behind.

But each little cloud can stand alone So he goes he knows me. The dead of darkness that was unknown Are never his concern.

And, like every cloud I long to be free To answer my will as I shall, I know. But nature gave this life to me And I must live its worth.

Committee Launches New Series

By WILHELMINA E. HARRISON

The English Emphasis Committee, under the chairmanship of Dr. Dar- win Turner, is launching a wide range program for the remainder of this school year. The program committee, headed by Mrs. Carrye H. Kelly has compiled a tentative schedule of activities which will include a writing contest. This particular section was under the direction of Miss Carole Johnson and Mr. W. T. Jones, Jr. The contest listed from December 7 to January 11. Members of the student body turned in entries in the form of poems, short stories and essays. The standard theme were as follows: The New Man, The New World, and The New Negro.

The two top winners in each area will have the opportunity of discussing their work with Mr. Mer- rill Brown, on the afternoon of January 18, in the Seminar Room of the Hodges Hall. Mr. Brown, nationally known poet and author, will be guest speaker in the regular Chapel assembly on the following Tuesday. A conference hour with the guest speaker will also be arranged for Tuesday afternoon by Miss Jean Bright, Assistant Professor of English.

The first of the programs set for February will consist of a book discussion under the direction of Dr. Margaret Jackson. The date set is February 2nd in the 10:00 a.m. regular Tuesday morning assembly. This is the first in a series of activities to appear in the program planned by the English Emphasis Committee.

A STUBBLEFIELD STORY ON WINSTON CIGARETTES

All filter cigarettes are divided into two parts, and...

"Weni, widi, Winston!" Thus did Caesar (a notoriously poor speller) hail the discovery of Filter-Blend—light, mild tobaccos specially selected and specially processed for filter smoking.

He knew that a pure white filter alone is not enough. To be a complete filter cigarette, it must have Filter-Blend up front. And only Winston's got it.

That's why Caesar would never accept another brand even when it was offered gratis. In fact, history tells us he'd glow at the extended pack and scowl. "Blt, brute!"

In a stirring peroration to his legions, Caesar put it this way: "For the Numeral 1 filter cigarette—for the best-tasting filter cigarette—for the nicest filter cigarette of all—smoke Winston!"

"Winston tastes good like a cigarette should!"

P.S. to bachelor. If you’re lucky enough to find a gal who'll keep you in Winstons, Caesar!

New Methods Of Study Introduced On Campus

By TOMMY GADDIE

For the second quarter, Mr. Alphonsio Gore is experimenting with a new program in his Psychology 250 class which he calls, "Individualized Instruction Through Team Work."

This program was begun last quarter with the Psychology 250 Class. Mr. Gore pointed out that "this program is an extension of the Winneka Plan used primarily in the elementary school which allows the student to move as fast as he is capable of moving."

Mr. Gore said that he is searching for better ways of instruction and this method is in new experimenting which will allow the student to do his best work because he feels that students work better with one another than they do in the regular lecture type class.

Course taught by this method are broken down into jobs. "Since a certain number of jobs must be finished in order to get a certain grade," Mr. Gore said, "it eliminates lack of responsibility of a person and personality entering into the determination of his final grade and lets the individual know just where he stands in the class."

The grading system is broken down as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Jobs</th>
<th>Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>22-23</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19-21</td>
<td>B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16-18</td>
<td>C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Below 15</td>
<td>D</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Mr. Gore stated that last quarter there were more A’s in the class than before but that there were also more F’s in the class than before.

Civil Rights Commission To Meet In California

The Commission on Civil Rights announced that it will hold general hearings in Los Angeles and San Francisco in January to examine the interrelationships between problems of discrimination in voting, housing, and education.

The three days of hearings in the two cities will begin on January 25 and continue through January 27.

The Commission said it would attempt to determine, among other things, what extent any deprivations in voting, or voter apathy, might affect the quality of public education; whether or not voter apathy is a result of discrimination in education; whether slum living causes voter apathy or whether it implies block voting, and how segregated housing patterns might be affecting the quality of education received by minority groups.

FIRST MEETING CANCELED

The decision to hold the California hearings was made because the Commission said, hearings had been held in all other sections except the West, which has its unique racial problems. Hearings on discrimination in housing have been held in New York, Chicago and Atlanta. A hearing on deprivations of the right to vote was held in Montgomery, Ala., and the Commission conducted conferences in Nashville.

A hearing on deprivations of the right to vote was held in Montgomery, Ala., and the Commission conducted a conference in Nashville.

CIRCUMSTANCES STUDIED

In its report to the President and Congress in September, the Commission said of the interrelationships between the three fields it is studying:

"...If the right to vote is secured, but there is not equal opportunity in education and housing, the value of the right will be discounted by quality and ignorance. If compulsory discrimination is ended in public education but children continue to be brought up in staves and restricted areas of racial concentration, the conditions for good education and good citizenship will still not obtain."

In Atlanta, for instance, the Commission found that extension of the right to vote to Negroes has led to improved relations in other areas, including housing.

The Commission said it expected the California hearings would provide much information in areas in which it has not previously had the opportunity to examine closely. It pointed to the existence in California of the Mexican-American and Oriental minorities and the continued large migration of Negroes to the State.

FIRST MEETING CANCELED

Plans that were made last spring by the Commission to hold hearings in Los Angeles were canceled when the Commission decided to turn its attention instead to the large number of voter registration complaints which it was receiving from Louisiana. A voting hearing in Louisiana was held up by a court order, as was one from which it was being taken by the Justice Department to the United States Supreme Court.

Unlike the voting hearing which was held in Alabama and the one planned in Louisiana, the general hearings in California will not involve subsequent witnesses or ballots taken under oath. Witnesses will be invited to testify, as they were in the hearings held in New York, Chicago, and Atlanta and the conferences in Nashville.

The Commission plans that the hearings be open to the public. Members of the Commission's California State Advisory Committee will be invited to attend as observers.

Get Experience Before Going On Your Own

Planning on starting a business after you finish college? Then one of the best things you can do is to get experience first working for someone else. You won't risk losing your savings while learning the trade.

This is one bit of advice in a revision of the 20-page pamphlet "So You're Going Into Business," published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The pamphlet points out that nine out of ten retail firms that fail, fail not because the people who start them don't have experience and money, but because they don't have enough experience and competence. Another good idea, the pamphlet points out, is to try to make your business different from others, especially others of the same type and size. Also for a particular type of customer.

For a copy of the pamphlet write: Domestic Distribution Department, Chamber of Commerce of the United States 1615 H Street, N.W., Washington 6, D. C.

Professor Clark To Report On Book

Professor T. A. Clark has been selected by the American Association of Geographers to make an announcement of a recent publication on conservation.

The announcement of the text which professor Clark will write in to appear in the next issue of the Professional Geographer, a monthly magazine of the American Association of Geographers.

It is hoped that Prof. Clark's review of the textbook will interest teachers of conservation to the extent that they will take advantage to have the book incorporated in the basic curriculum of their respective schools.

DUAL FILTER DOES IT!

Filters as no single filter can... for mild, full flavor!

Here's how the Dual Filter does it:

1. It combines a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL...definitely proved to make the smoke of a cigarette mild and smooth...

2. With an efficient pure white outer filter. Together they bring you the best of the best tobaccos—the mildness and taste that pay off in pleasure!

ROTC Receives Superior Rating In Inspection

By JAMES A. HEFNER

It was announced Monday that the Army ROTC Corps of Cadets received a superior rating on a recent Command Maintenance Inspection.

This is generally regarded as a very rigid inspection, as very few ROTC units receive this top honor rating. Thus, the unit here is considered itself a sure paradox of military excellence in this area, at least.

One should not interpret the polks as to who is the "best" this or the next year. It may say very little to another. The winners of these polls are the artists in because of laurels gained in the years before. But, all in all, the polls are really aggressive group that has plenty of drive.

The "Enigma of Miles Davis" in the Jan. 1st issue of Down Beat is stark and static as a cavern in the twilight. !. ! The jazz personality of the year was none other than the man, M. D., as it is unalterably difficult to belief that adequate, if not as great, the operation of the navigation and instrument trained.

Choir Presents Christmas Concert

Group Features Carol Fantasy
By Rockwood

The A&T College Choir featured the appearance of the Carol Fantasy Rockwood in its annual Christmas concert on Sunday evening, December 20.

The five-piece group, directed by Mr. Howard T. Pearsall, chairman of the Music Department, sang "The Carol Fantasy" as its final number in the concert. Other numbers on the program were "Deck the Halls," "Oh, Holy Night," and "Away in a Manger." "O Christmas Tree," "Silent Night," and "Tannenbaum.

The College Choir also received for its rendition of a group of Christmas songs by the Negro composer which included: "The Christmas Story," "Song of Bethlehem," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," arranged by John Work, and "Oh! Ye Little Children," by Willis Jones. Rounding out the program were carols of foreign derivation, "The Holly and the Ivy," "Le Cirque de Noel," "Away in a Manger," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night."}

Cadet Battle Group Reorganizes

Every year at this time the ROTC Battle Group is reorganized to give cadet cadets a chance to prove their leadership ability. Along with the new year comes the necessity to provide for the new cadets the best possible organization. Cadet Major Leonard Smith was promoted to Cadet Lt. Col., Cadet Captain Matthew Adams and George Warren to Cadet Majors, and Cadet Lt. Williams and Cadet Lt. Daniel Smith to Cadet Captains. Lieutenant Commander Smith has been a success with the unit and under his leadership Cadet Cadet 1st Lt. William Williams and Robert Warwick took over the command of "S" and "B" Company, respectively.

Lt. Warwick was formally a platoon leader in "B" company during the fall quarter, and because of his leadership ability over this period was chosen to be the new company's new commandant. The cadet commandant of the Battle Group is reorganized to give cadet cadets a chance to prove their leadership ability. The cadet cadet who will take over the "Distinguished Military Staff Cadet Program."
Aggies In Series Of Tight Squeakes — Bow To Virginia Trojans In Upset Ending Streak

The first weekend following the holidays has seen one major development in the CIAA, at least temporarily, has been brought back to earth following two seasons of the clouds.

The powerful Aggies, with every game on its schedule pointing for an upset, rolled up four decisive victories before Christmas and ran its streak to eight in a row by winning the next four; but look how they won them.

HAPPY DAY FESTIVAL

It all started in the Windsor-Ran-Tuc fest, which saw the Aggies finally won, by coming from behind in the final seconds to edge Johnson C. Smith 77-76. The next night was little easier but close most of the way in the 81-69 win over the C. F. Rams.

They made it five cliff-hangers in a row by eking past Hampton 75-73 with five seconds to go in the contest. Smith was beaten again the following night 69-66, but this one wasn't in the Aggies' favor. All A&T took a length-of-the-court fast break for a layup before the final buzzer. Finally the pressure was let off with the blowing of a seven point halftime lead and let to Virginia State's Trojans by the same 66-61 score in the last 31 seconds. None of the first two were played at Moore Gymnasium.

The play in all the contests ranged from the nucleus to downright brilliance and caused many an urchin to ache before they were over.

ATTLES, GRAY STANDOUTS

Ducky Edmonds, the little good field goal maker, has easily been the standout and favorite of the crowd this season, and the leading scorer as well. Big Herb Gray has been the other only really occasional regular. The big boy has been rebounding and scoring well. Dusty Kirkwood, the little good field no hit guy, has finally gotten the crowd on his side with his fine defensive play. The best defender on the squad, he has really come up with some gems.

DUCKY SPARKLES

Ducky prolonged the Aggies' streak against Hampton by making a brilliant save in the last 31 second fast break with only 35 seconds left in the game and the score deadlocked at 17-17. With the Aggies pressuring, he stole the ball three times in the last two minutes in the backcourt against the Trojans and passed off for easy shots that might have brought victory, but the lid was on the basket that night and the shots refused to drop.

COTTON OFF FORM

Joe Cotton, supposedly the Aggies' top gun, is in the midst of a real slump and has only on occasion finished the form that caused the Associated Press to name him to the little All-America squad last season. He netted only two points in the Hampton encounter, and has been but a shadow of his former self the last two editions because of the team's coaching and the injury to his right knee in a fall during the contest at Marshall, the highly tauted sophomore. The Aggies had many points more in this contest.

NOT CHANCE FOR COTTON'S RETURN

There's only one person who can make a decision in terms of when Cotton will return — Cotton himself. He got only two points in the Hampton encounter, and has been but a shadow of his former self the last two editions because of the team's coaching and the injury to his right knee in a fall during the contest at Marshall, the highly tauted sophomore. The Aggies had many points more in this contest.

COTTON KEY MAN

He and Cotton can push the Aggies back into those clouds if they can get a hot streak going and light a fire in everyone. The Aggies are not a high-scoring team. The Aggies have the personnel to give them that kind of scoring, but the problem is getting the team to play a solid team game.

HULL CAVE IN

The team's morale has been in the cellar ever since the loss of Joe Hull, who was perhaps the best outside shot in the league before his injury. The team's morale has been in the cellar ever since the loss of Joe Hull, who was perhaps the best outside shot in the league before his injury.
