Register Captures Third Successive 'First'

FOOD SERVICE TO IMPROVE!!

Paper Rated By Specialists In Journalism

The A&T College REGISTER merited another first place rating in the Annual contest of the Scholastic Press Association. The REGISTER was listed in the category for printed newspapers of senior colleges and universities. The entries to the contest are classified by type of publication, method of publication, school level and size of school.

This marks the third time in succession that the REGISTER has received a first place rating. In 1958, under the editorship of Douglas D. McAdoo the first place rating was received and in 1959 under Alonzo Stevens. Now under the present editor, Albert Rozier, who upon accepting the Editor's position last Spring predicted a Medalist Award. The Medalist is the highest honor in the competition.

The publications are judged by a group of thirty school press specialists who are excellent in the field of journalism.

It was announced in the Greensboro Daily News, however, that the REGISTER placed second, the error was later corrected.

Last year's representatives to the conference were Albert Rozier, Editor and Cleveland Black, associate editor. This was the first time in a number of years the REGISTER wasn't represented at the conference.

Mrs. Loreno Marrow, instructor of English, is the adviser to the REGISTER.

In the fall of last year, several staff members attended the 35th Annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference in New York City.

Results of competition in that Association's competition are not announced until late spring.

Formal Guard Mount Held Yesterday

BY JAMES A. HEFNER

The Army ROTC presented to the public yesterday on Dudley Lawn, the Formal Guard Mount Ceremony, which is one of the most difficult of army ceremonies to perform.

The Formal Guard Mount Ceremony is the exchange of one guard for another in the guarding of an area or post. The guard that is relieved is the old guard, and his reliever is the new guard. Two platoons were used to illustrate this ceremony.

Prior to the ceremony, the Pershing Rifle Team, under the command of Cadet Captain John C. Holley, demonstrated before the many spectators, the version of "precision drill."

The ceremony began at 8:15 a.m. Previously, the Battle Group assembled at Campbell Hall, ROTC detachment, at 7:00 a.m. and departed to Holland Hall, where close order drill was performed. The personnel participating in the Guard Ceremony proceeded from Holland Hall to the Dudley lawn, where spectators had assembled in groves to greet them.

The army band was the first unit on the lawn, followed by two platoons composed of juniors and seniors, and the Pershing Rifle Drill Team. At 8:00 a.m. the drill team performed its precision style.

These student representatives from A&T College to the Student Assembly, a mock General Assembly, held last week at the State Capitol, Raleigh, were cited for having presented the best bill before the House and tied for the best bill before the Senate.

12 From A & T Attend Student Legislature

By WILHELMANA HARRISON AND ALBERT L. ROZIER

The bad-weather plagued North Carolina Student Legislative Assembly finally plowed out from under the snow after postponements of the sessions for two years in a row.

The mock-General Assembly was postponed last year (1958-59) because of a mid-March snowstorm which caught several colleges from the western part of the state enroute to Raleigh. The Assembly was originally scheduled this year for March 10-12, but a mammoth eleven-inch snowstorm on March 9 made it necessary to postpone the meeting until the following weekend, March 17-19.

TWELVE ATTEND

Senators are Wilhelmina E. Harrison, George Manning, and Fred Jones as an alternate senator.

Colleges and Universities, both state-supported and private, made up the mock-legislative assembly, which is patterned after federal and state legislative bodies. It is composed of a House of Representatives and a Senate.

Appointment in the House is on the basis of school enrollment, with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill having the largest delegation with fifteen members.

Each school is allotted two senators, regardless of school enrollment. However, in each of the bodies an alternate is allowed for every two voting delegates.

A&T had two senators with one alternate, and six representatives with three alternates, making a total delegation of twelve members from the school.

TWO BILLS

The Aggie delegation presented two bills on the floor of both houses. The first bill was one providing tenure and academic freedom for

Accrediting Agency Admits A&T College

A&T College has been recently admitted to membership in the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

The announcement was made last week by Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs, president of the college.

Notification by the Association stated that A&T is satisfactorily meeting the general and professional standards required. These include unqualified membership in the regional accrediting agency, planned educational objectives, college organization, admission, selection, guidance and placement policies, to mention a few.

The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education is a national voluntary association of colleges and universities throughout the United States, organized to improve the quality of teacher education.

L. C. Dowdy, dean of the School of Education and General Studies, who spearheaded the movement to gain admission for the college hailed the acceptance as "high recognition of improvement in the A&T teacher education program."

Surplus Funds Said To Be Reason For Change In Dining Hall Policy

To Serve Steak Family Style At Thursday Evening Meals

Campus food service authorities announced last Monday that T-Bone steaks (with all the trimmings) will be served in the dining hall possibly once a week, but at least every other week.

It was learned from authoritative sources Tuesday that this new trend is being made possible due to a surplus of funds in food service, which was detected in the recent quarterly audit of dining hall revenue.

BEGIN NEXT WEEK

The tentative plans for the beginning of this newest of the dining hall personnel's policy of improving the quality of food for students is set for next week. The day will most likely be Thursday evening.

Mr. Fred Nusome, head chef in Murphy Hall, stated Tuesday afternoon, "The type of steaks to be served on a regular basis will not be limited to one kind, but until we work out plans with our meat distributors about mid-April, we will serve T-Bone steaks."

Mr. Nusome also stated that the steak dinners will be served family style, with multi-colored time cards similar to those used on High School Senior Day being used to avoid crowding the dining hall at any one particular time.

STEAKS NOTHING NEW

It was pointed out by Mr. Nusome that the policy of serving steaks was nothing new. The dining hall staff has served steaks several times this school year, but with no definite dates preset for the occasions. "We are able to serve them on a regular basis now," he continued, "and we have sufficient personnel to serve family style."

Students are to receive their cards (all for the same time, or at different times, depending on their class schedules) from the deans of women and men, respectively. The meals will be served at the regular hours 4:15-6:00 p.m. with a thirty-minute limit on the duration of each group of students' mealtime. At the end of these thirty-minute periods, students must leave in order that the next group may come in and be served.

AKA Holds Regional Meet Here

The Greensboro chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha, Beta Iota Omega and A&T's Alpha Phi Chapter — are working diligently to complete plans for what promises to be an outstanding Regional Conference.

This year, special emphasis will be placed on the contributions of undergraduate chapters. One speaker on the Symposium will be an undergraduate — Soror Amelia Thorpe, a student at North Carolina College at Durham. The members of Alpha Phi Chapter will present the program for the close luncheon on Saturday afternoon.

The speaker for the Sunday worship service at St. James Presbyterian Church, will be Soror Edna Over Campbell, a former Supreme Basileus.

Many courtesies have been extended by Greek-letter organizations. The initial activity for the delegates will be Registration on Friday night, followed by a dance sponsored by Alpha Nu Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

Other activities include a Party sponsored by the graduate chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. Saturday night a formal dance will be sponsored by the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority in the Greensboro War Memorial Coliseum.

STRIKE MIGHTY BLOW FOR FREEDOM

These four students at A&T College, Greensboro, N. C., on February 1, took seats and requested lunch counter service at a local F. W. Woolworth Store and set off a chain "sit-down" which has engulfed much of the nation.

A New Negro To The Fore

Over the past seven weeks, the South has witnessed a new Negro — a young Negro — who goes about seeking his rights in a deliberate manner. And as someone has said, if Southerners think this is just another college fad, another panty raid, he had better think some more.

On many fronts throughout the South, this 'New Negro,' as he is referred to, has gained the respect of several leading Southern newspaper editors. This is exemplified in the editorial comment and favorable reader response which has been noticed on the editorial pages of these newspapers.

This new Negro has been attacked, for sure, both physically and verbally, but more thinking whites have been utterly awed by the remarkable leadership which has been evinced during these past few weeks.

Every move on the part of the students has been a well-planned one. Students are told (by students) not to retaliate when spat upon, pushed and otherwise abused. Of course, there are those among them who could not take this sort of thing, as they initially thought they could, but this is inherent when the element of numbers is considered, and has not subtracted greatly from the overall appearance of the movement. Especially when the manner in which opposing forces have acted is considered.

The most remarkable aspect of the whole movement — as viewed by the white man — is the view of this new Negro as he calmly sits at the lunch counters partaking not of food, but the higher forms of classic literature. This, while young rabble-rousers in black leather jackets and motorcycle boots heckled him.

Closer to home is the A&T College Negro student who launched the spontaneous movement.

He chose at first to bring to light the fact that injustices against him prevailed. He did this by actively demonstrating for a period of one week, then granting store managements two weeks to study the situation in an atmosphere void of bomb threats, etc.

When he (the student) felt the management would not grant his wishes at the end of this period, he dramatically lifted the time limit element in a statement to the press on the day which ended the two-week study period. He invited the city and store managers to meet him across the conference table. The invitation was accepted, and the insurgents were taken completely by surprise.

A Mayor's advisory committee was appointed the following week and has been, for the past month, soliciting the views of the public in the form of letters. In Greensboro, this has been done in a peaceful atmosphere.

This committee has completed its study and presented it to the operators of the lunch counters for their decision.

At the time of this writing, the decision had not been aired, but should have reached the ears of the public by now.

It can never be said of the A&T student that they did not allow ample time for a solution favorable to these students.

The House Of Glass

By CARL BULLOCK

The problems that South Africa has attempted to enclose in a glass house have shattered their way out. The system of 'Apartheid' (strict enforced segregation) being instituted by South Africa's Prime Minister Verwoerd, has become very unstable.

South Africa experienced its blackest day in history when 54 Africans were killed and 191 wounded in the town of Sharpville. They were shot down as they staged a demonstration at the police station. Men, women and children fell like nine-pins on a bowling strike. This incident was followed by similar incidents in other parts of South Africa.

The South Africans were protesting the law that requires them to carry passes. This was another method of suppressing the masses of colored native citizens. 'Apartheid' policies have attempted to reduce the South Africans to new depths of social and economic degradation.

There has been a constant rise of the fight for human rights by suppressed peoples of this world. The cry of Freedom is being heard all over the world. The Africans are being shot down, the sit-downers arrested, and the Civil Rights bills filibustered, but the movement has not stopped.

The suppressed peoples are refusing to stay in glass houses erected by the Verwoerd and South Carolina's Gov. Hollings.

These people are shattering the glass with their cry for Freedom and leaping forth from these under-dog enclosures and demonstrating their urgent plea for Freedom.

Local Problem?

FROM THE DAILY COLLEGIAN WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY

Is segregation just a local problem to be treated as custom?

Or is justice a responsibility of this "nation conceived under God?"

Five students at this crowded University felt some fellowship with the Southern students who courageously perched on Greensboro's "exclusive lunch counter stools."

These Northern sympathizers — backed by the Student - Faculty Council & are circulating petitions on campus. They read in part: "We want you to know that there are Northern students who will stand behind and will support the present fight of their fellow students in the South to end this humiliating 'custom'."

The petition will be sent to Woolworth's main office in New York.

SINCE THAT first "local problem," students have demonstrated against segregated eating facilities in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Tennessee, Georgia, Maryland, New York and New Jersey.

If this is a local problem, then why a Constitution granting freedom and equality to all men? If such problems can be settled by "custom" rather than justice, God Himself becomes a local constable. . . .

HOPE OF A NEW SOUTH

Editor of the Register:

On behalf of the United States National Student Association, I would like to take this opportunity to commend you and the students you represent for your courageous actions in connection with the movement that is currently sweeping the South.

It is unfortunate that some must suffer indignities and deprivations in order to build the moral climate in which all people will be judged on their merits rather than by the color of their skin, their religion, or their race. And yet the way you have met these indignities, the way you have demonstrated your courage in responsible and forthright action, would serve to show to those who would oppress you that there is not just cause.

You carry with you the hope of a new South, a South which can hold its head high in a nation which espouses freedom for all people, and which may someday see that dream become a reality.

Please convey our deep respect and admiration to those who have joined with you in the important fight to achieve the ideal democratic community. We hope that you will carry on with the dignity with which you have started until the battle is won and the true meaning of America is secure in its deeds as well as its words. Very truly yours,

CURTIS B. GANS
National Affairs Vice President
United States National Student Association

KEEP FIGHTING

Editor of the Register:

I am Naomi Leibowitz from Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, New York and am writing to commend you and your compatriots for having the courage of your convictions in fighting for integration. I also wish to urge you to continue fighting for equal rights for all. You have complete support from the majority of Northern Students.

We at Skidmore feel deeply and have been trying to give psychological as well as material support through letter writing, demonstrations, and fund raising.

Keep Fighting.
Sincerely,
NAOMI LEIBOWITZ
Skidmore College

NOT ALONE IN FIGHT

Editor of the Register:

I want to commend you for your supportive actions regarding the eight Negro students who have been arrested in Tallahassee, and the countless others who have suffered similar injustices.

It is very urgent and imperative, that we, the students, show our backing of the Negro in the Civil Rights issue. You are not alone in your efforts, as I'm sure you are aware. We, here at Skidmore, have taken action and hope to see some tangible results soon. Keep up the good work!

Yours truly,
ALICE GOODMAN
Skidmore College

JOIN MOVEMENT

Editor of the Register:

We of the University of Colorado chapter of the NAACP send our unanimous approval and encouragement of your students brave demonstration for civil rights.

We have followed with great interest your efforts to end racial segregation in public lunch counters. We feel that it is of utmost importance to bring an end to racial discrimination as soon as possible. We are happy to see your efforts in this direction.

On Monday, February 29, students at the University of Colorado answered the National Students Association's call to join the general movement begun in the South protesting segregation. On our campus this protest took the form of demonstrations in front of the Boulder branches of Woolworth's and Kress' stores. The NAACP, along with the student governing body, ASUC, and other groups, has endorsed these demonstrations, and has decided to continue them as long as you, our fellow students in the South, deem them fruitful and necessary.

Sincerely yours,
University of Colorado
Chapter of the NAACP

ERROR OF OMISION

Editor of the Register:

I should like to call your attention to an error of omission on the part of your paper with respect to the names of those students who were accepted for listing in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES.

The original (and official) list

The name omitted is that of Mr. Walter T. Johnson, a physics major whose home is here in Greensboro.

It is my hope that in an interest of reporting the Whole news and doing equal justice to all persons so honored, this oversight will be duly and quickly corrected.

Very truly yours,
THEODORE R. BUNCH,
Vice President, Student Government

Following is the list of students listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, as received from the office of the Student Government, and including the name of the student who was omitted: Mary F. Adams, Jerome Baker, James Blue, Doris C. Bowman, Christalene Clark, John L. Cooper, Charles DeBose, Curtis Dixon, Roy D. Flood, William J. Gavin, Wilhelmina E. Harrison, John C. # Debaters Win 6 Matches At Brooklyn Tourney

Competing for the second year in the Brooklyn College Invitational Tournament, the A&T debaters won six of ten matches. Meetings on March 11 and 12, the participants debated the 1959 national topic: "Resolved that Congress should be given the power to reverse decisions of the Supreme Court."

The negative team with Wallace Wortham and Walter Johnson won four and five debates, while the affirmative team, with Rex Fortune and Monroe Fuller, won only two debates. This team defeated City College of New York and was edged out by three points by Colgate University.

Select Schools

Competition was taken in a tournament which included only teams invited by the sponsors. Some of the other participating teams were Fordham University, West Point Military Academy, Holy Cross University, Temple University, the University of Pennsylvania, and the University of North Carolina, which won three of its ten debates. Norwich University of Connecticut won the tournament.

Two More Meets

The team plans to hold at least two more debates before the end of the school year. Students and faculty members are invited to attend the debates to lend encouragement to a team which has heightened the reputation of A&T in national debate competition.

Faculty advisors include Mrs. Zoe Parks Barbee, Dr. Darwin T. Turner and Mr. Warmoth T. Gibbs, Jr.

The team this school year has also competed in the Pittsburgh Invitational Tournament; the Annual T.K.A. debate tournament at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md., and the Annual Invitational debate tournament held at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia.

Thirteen ham shows aimed at improving swine production in Piedmont North Carolina, will be conducted throughout the section during April.

Frosh Students Direct Two One-Act Plays

Fannie M. Peay

Delayed a week by the snows, Kelly D. Mooring produced and directed two one act plays, "Air Tight Alibi" and "A Pair of Lunatics," in Hodgkin Auditorium, March 17, under the supervision of Mrs. S. B. Motz.

Kelly, a freshman Chemistry major from Bethel, N. C. is an ambitious young dramatic student who demonstrated more than his acting ability by producing and directing plays for the first time this year. Mr. Mooring, both sensitive and interested in dramatics, has shown promise as a director and actor. In Strindburg's "The Father," he played the role of the father, and in "The Triumph of Margery Dean," the hero.

New Talent Discovered

"A Pair of Lunatics," a riotous comedy, proved to be an excellent vehicle for two discoveries, Bobby Spenser, who starred as Jack Fielding and Shirlee Cherrye as Clara Mammox; both of whom suspected each other of being a lunatic until a happy coincidence brought them together.

A popular melodrama, "Air Tight Alibi," featured Helen Royal as Abby, and Edward E. Lewis as Zachary.

Mr. Mooring was chosen deliberately to initiate a planned series of student directed plays. The audience felt that Kelly's selection was wise, for he received several rounds of applause. The theatre devotees are speculating as to who will win the best actor's award this year. H-m-m, perhaps he's a good prospect?

Aid "Macbeth" Players

"Tribute is paid to the stage crew who greeted the "Macbeth" players and for their excellent services to the Dramatics Club," said the Dramatic's staff. They are: Curtis Morning, Kelly Mooring, Lemuel Lewis, Tommy Gaddy, and Samuel McCoy, who is a freshman body and fender repair major from Fayetteville, N. C.

Samuel has had experience in directing dramatics; has received honorable mention for assisting and directing, and received three certificates for dramatics in his senior year in high school. This year he joined the Dramatic's Club here at A&T and has been working with the stage crew along with Mr. Gilman. The Harrison Players have found him to be a valuable asset.

In addition, gratitude is extended to the ushers for their fine devoted services. They are: Catherine Hinson, Shirline Matthews, Agnes Wright, Julia Brown, Wilhelmina Matthews, Shirley Carlton, Rosa Richardson, Barbara Hawkins, and Shirlee Cherrye.

In the near future the Richard B. Harrison Players will bear a mark of distinction. They are purchasing sweaters in an attempt to give themselves a sense of identity.

The Spring productions for the Harrison players will be entitled "Harvey," in which Kelly Mooring assumes two roles: Edward P. David and the Judge.

teachers and principals of the North Carolina school system. The other bill, one calling for desegregation of eating facilities in public establishments. Both bills passed in each house.

WINS TWO AWARDS

The desegregation bill was the most dramatically presented bill on the floor of the House. It is for this reason, most likely, that it was chosen the "Best Bill" in both houses. These awards were two of the only four offered in the entire assembly.

This bill was scheduled fifth on the agenda for Friday's afternoon session, which was to begin at 2:00 and adjourn at 6:00 p.m. Realizing that there existed the possibility of the bill's not making the floor before 6 o'clock, members of the A&T delegation started lobbying with key members of other delegations. They contacted an influential member of the UNC group (which was split concerning the A&T bill, incidentally) who made a dramatic attempt to get the bill on the floor following a bill from the J. C. Smith delegation which was a carry-over from the morning session.

ATTEMPT FAILS

This first attempt failed. But after hasty passage of a bill co-sponsored by Duke Woman's College and Shaw University, the UNC delegate was aided by a member of the Duke Men's delegation and John L. Cooper of A&T. This combination succeeded in getting the bill on the floor at 4:35 p.m.

These deliberations involved a suspension of the rules for a change in the agenda, and a majority vote of the House ruling the chair out of order.

FEMALE SENATOR

Action in the Senate was somewhat less dramatic than in the house. However, the Senate did have its share of excitement in the area of house-to-house transfer attempts.

One member of the UNC delegation, a representative, sought a seat in the Senate. This was cause for a great degree of dramatic action. The representative was finally allowed to take a seat, but had to remain quiet and was not allowed to vote. A pre-law student, he had failed earlier to win the election to speaker of the House (of Representatives).

GUEST SPEAKERS

The opening speaker at the initial convocation on Thursday afternoon was Dr. John T. Caldwell, Chancellor of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, the host school in Raleigh.

Dr. Caldwell expressed his opinion that the entire student body was a politically "reliable" on because "... you are relatively free of dogmas, cynicism and prejudices, and are looking forward, rather than backwards, as your older counterparts are."

Harry Golden, author of Only In America, a former best seller, and editor of the Carolina Israelite in Charlotte, delivered the closing address on Saturday morning. He drew laughter in the beginning of his speech when he stated "I make more speeches than Eleanor Roosevelt ... I think ... I speak to the Roman Catholics, The Methodists, the Women's voters leagues. . . and now to the Student Legislators."

The more serious portion of Mr. Golden's speech involved human relations, more specifically in the area of race relations.

The A&T College Choir will present its annual Easter Cantata Sunday, April 10, in Harrison Auditorium.

The Choir just recently returned from its annual spring tour.

In keeping with the Easter season, a special program will be presented at the regular assembly on Tuesday, April 12.

The United States Navy Band will perform Thursday, April 14. The Navy Band will give two concerts; one at 2:00 p.m. and the other at 8:00 p.m. The affair is tentatively scheduled to be held in Moore Gymnasium.

After a series of mystery plays, the Richard B. Harrison Players are planning to present as its spring production the comedy, "Harvey," by Mary Chase.

Final copy for the Ayantee has been sent to the publishers; and according to the editor, students may expect the completed edition around the second week in May.

"'60 is to be a year of great change," according to William D. Snider, associate editor, of the Greensboro Daily News as he spoke to an audience in Cooper Hall. The Fortnightly Club sponsored Mr. Snider in one of its major programs of the year.

Congratulations to Edward W. Pitt on his byline in the Friday and Saturday, March 25 and 26, editions of the Greensboro Daily News.

59 Students Enroll For Spring Term

ERNEST JOHNSTON, JR.

Springtime usually finds the grass greener and the weather warmer around Aggietown.

Not only does nature stand out like a sore thumb, but new students coming in for the first time attract campus-wide attention.

Former students as well, are back on the scene after a brief vacation of a quarter or more.

Fort Lauderdale, Florida was represented with little sunshine in the Gate City when Lereader Edgcombe entered Aggietown during the sleet and snow period.

Only one former student traveled across the state to the Tar Heel State of North Carolina. Again, Jamaica, West Indies was represented by Mrs. Dorothy Albertha Show, who rejoiced in getting back to Greensboro.

Six Greenburghers entered A&T for the fall quarter topping the enrollment of any group of students hailing from one single town.

Other students entering A&T for the first time were: Vailoree Chamblee, Mrs. Loretta Clark, George A. Clemons, Phillip Earley, Arthur J. Fielder, Tina Alene Freeman, Hattie L. Gainey, and Donald Gray.

Lynn M. Hardy, Sidney E. James, Jania Jenkins, Larry Norris, Frank Phelps, George L. Sellars, James F. Short, Margie E. Taylor, and Marion Gilmore, Jr., all added life to campus life at A&T.

Other new students are Wallace Hughes, Annie Melvin, George T. Raleigh, Edward Roots, Bradford Stokes, William Thompson, Frank A. Vines, Benjamin Whitaker, Evelyn L. White, and Alfred R. Gatlin.

28 former students found their way back after a brief vacation from their studies.

Students returning are: Sophia C. Bell, Roscoe Brown, Laydell Y. Buffalo, Edward L. Campbell, Robert Dennis, Marion Eason, Ernest Goodman, William Graham, Hilda Henry, Earnell Hewett, Walter Little, Darlin E. Nedley, and Ena M. Poole.

Also, Andrew B. Powell, Maxine Richardson, Millard A. Rodgers, Nell L. Rodgers, Margaret E. Rutledge, Paul E. Talbert, Christiner Thompson, Nancy B. Willis, Ruby L. Wrath, George T. Halsey, William Kibler, Jacob A. Musgrove, and Louis Smith.

These 59 students will help swell the student enrollment to a great extent.

Test To Be Given At 15 N. C. Centers

The annual Selective Service College Qualification Test will be offered to college students April 28 at approximately 500 colleges throughout the Nation.

The score made on the test is a help to local boards in considering students for deferment from induction for study as undergraduate or graduate students.

Colonel Thomas H. Upton, State Director of Selective Service for North Carolina, announced that the test in North Carolina will be conducted at the following schools: Asheville, David Millard Junior High School; Boone, Appalachian State Teachers College; Brevard, Brevard College; Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina; Davidson, Davidson College; Durham, North Carolina College at Durham and Durham, Duke University.

Also, Greensboro, Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina; Guilford, Guilford College; Hickory, Lenoir-Rhyne College; Raleigh, Shaw University; Raleigh, North Carolina State College; Wilmington, New Hanover High School; Wilson, Atlantic Christian College, and Winston-Salem, Wake Forest College.

He urged students to take the test. "The test is for the student's benefit as well as for the Nation's good," Colonel Upton said. "A local board should have full information about a student in order to classify him, including his class standing and a score on this test. A high test score may compensate for low class standing; and high class standing may compensate for a low test score.

Application materials for the test are now available at the nearest local board office. Students are urged to make application early. The application must be postmarked not later than midnight, April 7. Full instructional materials are issued with the applications.

Groups Plan Events For Spring Quarter

The time for the Greek dances and the ROTC Ball is almost here. These dances are the highlights of the year's social events.

The Deltas and Omegas are going to the Mardi Gras, but instead of taking a journey to New Orleans, they will be in Moore Gym. This is an annual affair and Delta Sigma Theta and Omega Psi Phi are going all out in order to provide fun and gaiety for all attending.

One of the deeds that the Pyramid Club of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority undertook recently was taking flowers to the indigent people at the county home. The people there seemed quite pleased when they found out that some one was still thinking of them.

Future plans for the Pyramids are to make animals and take them to children in the hospital. In conjunction with this, they plan to read to these children on some Saturdays.

AKA's are all in the air over their coming Mid-Atlantic confab during the month of April. From the rumors passing through the grapevine, the young ladies of Alpha Kappa Alpha are really planning for a bang-up session.

Already the registration has reached a record high, and A&T is opening its doors to the ladies of the pink and green.

The AKA's are proud of the accomplishments of members of the Ivy Leaf Interest group. Ivy Evelyn Koone was awarded the C. C. Stewart Memorial Scholarship Award for the highest over-all average in the sophomore nursing class, and Inez Betty Pierce was awarded the Greensboro Academy of Medicine Award for outstanding performance in Medical-Surgical Nursing.

Kappas are making preparations to give the AKA's a get-acquainted dance during their Mid-Atlantic Conference. All of the Kappas are talking about their provincial conclave, which will be held during the Easter holidays at North Carolina.

A little fun will be injected when the Kappas leave Durham and journey to Charlotte for the Kappa Dawn. High on the social calendar for Kappa Psi will be the Kappa Cruise which will be held in May.

The Sigmas are presently making plans to visit other chapters in North Carolina in order to see how their brothers are lining up. They will visit such places as Fayetteville State, Livingstone College, Shaw University, and Johnson C. Smith.

The Sigma Rho Sigma Honor Society is setting up criteria by which students will be guided in order to become official members of their organization.

In order to join, the student must have an overall average of 3.00 or better. The student must be at least a junior and must be a social studies major or minor.

Army Missiles On Display

Students, faculty, and community will get a first-hand opportunity to learn about the latest missiles in the United States army's arsenal of defense in Moore Gymnasium April 7 and 8.

The exhibit will feature colorful paintings and backlit color photo murals depicting the Explorer Satellite launchings, man-in-space research and the highly successful army NASA deep space probe Pioneer IV now in an eternal orbit around the sun.

A color motion picture, showing actual firings of all Army Missiles, will be included in the exhibit, also.

Other features in the exhibit will be models of the Army's lethal Nike family of Air defense missiles, the medium-range ballistic missile, Redstone, model of the United States army developed Jupiter IRBM, and other such tactical weapons as the Sergeant, Corporal, Honest John, Hawk, and the uncanny Lacrosse missile.

The Army's family of missiles will be fully explained in the elaborate informational type exhibit.

Fifty Students Honored At 7th Annual Event

BY JUANITA P. HARGROVE

Approximately fifty students were honored at the seventh annual Honors Day Observance which was held in Harrison Auditorium Tuesday, March 15, 1960.

Honorees were those students who had been successful in making the honor roll two-thirds of the quarters that they have been enrolled in the institution.

Dr. Darwin T. Turner, professor of English here at the college, delivered the address.

Self Respect

He addressed the honorees on the subject, "The Self-Respect of the Negro scholar". In his address, Dr. Turner cited several quotations from famous authors: one of which was "Self-Reliance", a part of an essay written by Ralph Waldo Emerson. "Socrates", he stated, "a Greek philosopher, argued that in order to live the good life a man must know himself". "Later", he continued, "the English dramatist, William Shakespeare, wrote 'To Thine Own Self Be True'".

"The leader", he further stated, "who would have self respect therefore, must have some understanding of himself, must have a sense of responsibility to himself and must have the courage to act according to the dictates of his sense of responsibility."

Two Paths Open

Two paths lie open before the Negro leader today. One is the road of second-class citizenship leading to menial positions the bottom of the economic scale. The other road—the road leading to first class citizenship, the only road for the person with self-respect.

After the address, certificates for Alpha Kappa Mu honorees were awarded by its adviser, Dr. V. C. Stroud; acknowledgements were made to those students who made Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities by Dean W. H. Gamble, after which certificates for the honorees were awarded by the president, Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs.

Music was rendered by the A&T Brass Ensemble and the college choir.

Legend Of The Dogwood Tree Remembered

BY DAISY G. BURRIS

At this time of year, quite a bit of attention is given to the Dogwood, with those beautiful white and pink petals. But the Dogwood, according to legend, was not always slender and bent, but strong and the size of the oak and other forest trees. In fact, it was so strong and firm that it was chosen as timber for the cross—the "cruel cross" from which the Body of our Lord was hung.

Having been used for such a purpose, greatly distressed the tree and Jesus nailed upon it, sensed this, and in His gentle pity for all sorrow and suffering said to it:

"Because of your regret and pity for My suffering, never again shall you be used as a cross. Henceforth you shall be slender and bent and twisted and your blossoms shall be in the form of a cross—two long and two short petals. In the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be nail prints, brown with rust and strained with red, and in the center of the flower will be a crown of thorns, and all those who see it will remember."

Talent Show Presented By Men

BY ERNEST JOHNSTON, JR.

Swinging into "The Rocketing Sixties," AggieLand was shown just what real talent is like.

If Ed Sullivan had been in the audience, he surely would have been pleased to audition at least half of the participants for national recognition.

Al Waldon, who handled the emceeing chores in a manner likened to that of a pro, belted out his songs like Bobby Darin when he gave his rendition of "Mack the Knife".

Who would have thought of Ezell Blair (one of the pioneers of the sit-down protest) as a ventriloquist? Blair and his partner, Winchell, really teamed up to give the audience a chance to laugh awhile.

Likely Candidates?

Purnell Wooley, better known as "Baltimore", kept the audience in hysterics with his speech—bid for the presidency. Baltimore presented a strong platform and many students immediately began to say: "If he is going to do all of that, we had better nominate him right away."

The vice-president's speech was presented by Edward Lewis, who also had a strong program outlined should he be elected.

When Walter Holtzclaw, Joe Cotten, and "High Pockets", Robert Bryant, stepped onto the stage, the audience was breathless for a moment, and they immediately thrilled the students with their melodious songs.

"Little Worrying"

Joe Holman did a little worrying when he gave out with "I worry 'bout you". And to jazz the mood, the Gaytones followed with "Sweet was the Wine."

The young man from Chinquapin, N. C., Ralph Hall, told the students that there was something on everyone's mind.

Other people sharing the lime-light were Frank Blasingame, Hank Rose, Alonzo Blount, "Ike" Wilson, George Gant, The Da Costas, The Shades, Willie Nichols, The Bandidos, The Tams, and Morris Bacote.

Mr. James L. Harrell and Mr. Howard T. Pearsall were producer and director of the show, respectively.

AT WASHINGTON MEET

NYDSF Calls For Repeal Of Loyalty Clause In Loan Act

The National Young Democratic Student Federation on March 8 called for passage of legislation which would repeal the use of the disclaimer affidavit and the loyalty oath of the National Defense Education Act. The group's nine member National Executive Committee meeting in Washington urged in a strong resolution the organizing of letter-writing campaigns on American campuses to members of Congress informing them of the wide student protest of section 1001 (f) of the NDEA.

The group in a resolution stated that the Act "represents an unwarranted invasion, on the part of personal belief." The Student Young Democrats further charged that "the affidavit and the accompanying loyalty oath single out students as objects of suspicion."

The Executive Committee, speaking for more than 500 college chapters of the Young Democrats, termed the provisions presently included in the NDEA as "insulting the American academic community."

As a possible combat against the movement of Communists into the field of American higher education, the committee stated, "the affidavits and loyalty oath are ineffective in protecting the national security, and may even harm it by preventing otherwise well-meaning students from accepting funds under the Act."

The Democratic Party has earlier stated its objection to the disclaimer affidavit and loyalty oath through statements issued by the Democratic Advisory Committee and resolutions passed by the national convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America.

April Fooling Began Before 17th Century

BY CLEVELAND BLACK

Just where did this custom originate? Well to be frank, it is uncertain as to where it started. Some authors state however, that the custom has something to do with the spring equinox. Others state it has something to do with the crucifixion. But this point is not taken seriously.

France began the custom of April Fooling in 1564 with the adaptation of a reformed calendar by Charles IX. Those who were April fooled in France were called April fish. In England, April fooling began in the eighteenth century. In Scotland the April fools are called April gowks (cuckoo).

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

Jazz From Benjie's Lid

On Benny Golson

The letter "G" might bring the names of many active good musicians to your mind; but today on the East Coast the foremost one associated with it, is Benny Golson.

Golson, after making his original mark as a composer and arranger, blossomed out as a player late last year. He has risen quietly from the hectic activities of the jazz world in the last few years to take his right place with those jazz musicians whose creative influence have dominated any group with which they play, in the elite company of composer-arranger-performers that includes the like of Ellington, Lewis. (MJQ) and Monk, plus others.

It is possible that Benny doesn't yet merit unqualified inclusion with the elite, but the fact still remains that he has reached a point at which he can be considered on the same terms with them.

This is very remarkable in view that his influence has been felt as a sideman, not as the leader of a group of his own, until in the fall when he and versatile, eloquent trumpeter Art Farmer formed their own group—one which promises to be one of 1960's best.

Benny wrote two selections that are now an established part of the jazz repertoire: "I Remember Clifford" and "Whisper Not". This was during the time he was arranging for and playing in Dizzy's last big band. The full potential of his music emerged with his joining Art Blakey's Jazz Messengers.

While with the Messengers, he imposed his strong sense of order, style and melody without diminishing the emotional intensity which had clearly identified the group.

Such was Benny's influence on the jazz world that he was voted the new star on the Down Beat International Critics poll ahead of Coltrane.

Try these to check the scene of Benny: "Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers" (Blue Note 4003), "Winchester Special" (New Jazz), "Bluesette" (Savoy), and "Groovin with Golson" (New Jazz).

NOTES FROM THE BIG HORN

Another tenor saxophonist and composer with a strong feeling for form, Yuset Lateef, has lately subordinated his early yen for exotic sounds and instruments in favor of use of reasonable familiar instruments. On his latest, "The Fabric of Jazz" (Savoy) he shows what a buoyantly swinging saxophonist he can be.

Because of the scene's enormity, it is impossible to be on it all the time, so if you haven't, you ought to get "Lady Day" (Columbia CL 637), "The Amazing Bud Powell" (Blue Note 1503-1504), "Blowin' the Blues Away" (Blue Note 4017), "The Genius of Charlie Parker" (Savoy 12009 and 12014), and "Birth of the Cool" (Capitol T 762).

These, along with others, can tell you what jazz has been and how it has come to be what it is. Of the future?? That is a matter of conjecture.

Like spring—like BEARD!!

AFROTC Drill Team In All-State Meet

The AFROTC drill team participated in an Arnold Air Society All-state drill meet held at Durham, North Carolina on March 19, 1960. The team, led by Cadet Captain Frank Blasingame and advised by staff sergeant Phillip Smalls, received many applauses for its unique fancy drill.

Preparations are now being made to take the team to Washington, D. C. this month.

While the drill team participated in Durham, the AF Rifle team was firing in all-state rifle team competition held at Chapel Hill. Cadet John Green was the top man for the A&T Air Force team, scoring 364 out of a possible 400.

APRIL FOOL!

We Thought It Was True

Fellow students, pictured to the right is the Mr. "Nusome" we referred to in that mean, mean story on page one.

He gave the Register this false information on Monday and Tuesday in our office, misrepresenting himself as the head chef in Murphy Hall. We had sent page one (complete with that story) to our printers in Raleigh Tuesday night, and the page had already been printed on Wednesday afternoon, when we found out his story was a hoax—just an April Fool prank.

Our reporter even found out at that time that his name is really not Nusome, but rather, that his moniker is really Nuisance. Imagine that!

The Register staff apologizes for this thing, and truly hope the student body has not been too incapacitated because of it. It's just when the story was given to us, we felt we had the scoop of the year, and our natural journalistic instincts (truly gullible, as a matter of fact) completely out-weighed our better instincts which should have led us to check the story through the administration.

But anyway, April Fool!!

Mr. Fred A. Nuisance — The Prankster

Defense Loan Requirements Explained

The primary purpose of the National Defense Loan is to help needy students to continue their formal training in education.

Any student meeting the following requirements may apply for a National Defense Loan: First, the borrower must be a citizen of the United States. He must be a high school graduate, or a full-time college student on the undergraduate or graduate level. The student must be in good standing and capable of maintaining a good standing.

Must Need Loan

After meeting the above qualifications the student must then show evidence of financial need. The primary and most essential condition of an applicant's eligibility for a National Defense Student loan is that he needs the requested loan in order to complete his course of study.

Special priority is given to students with a superior background and who express a desire to teach in elementary and secondary schools, to students whose academic background indicate a superiority or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering and a modern foreign language.

Repay Later

The repayment of the loan with interest is made to the institution in ten equal installments, beginning one year from the date that the borrower ceases to be a full-time student in the institution. If the borrower requests, he may make payment in accordance with a ten-year schedule of graduated installments which has been approved by the institution and the United States Commissioner of Education.

There may be a full or partial repayment of a loan at any time or a payment in excess of the amount due at a given time in accordance with a repayment schedule.

In a recent interview, Dr. G. F. Rankin, administrative assistant to the President, gave four reasons why students may be denied loans:

Applicants for loans may be turned down because they have low scholastic averages, they are not enrolled in a four year program, they do not establish a need, or the institution does not have adequate money for loans.

Workshop To Be Held In Language Arts In June

The fifth Annual Language Arts Workshop will begin here June 14, 1960 and continue for two three-week sessions. It is open to teachers on all levels—primary, elementary, and secondary—for graduate credit and certificate renewal.

Writing Is Theme

"Developing Writing Programs in the Schools and Colleges of North Carolina" is the general theme for this year's workshop.

This year's new feature will be the one-week writer's clinic. Participants will be students who show high writing potentials. They will attend the lectures, participate in demonstrations, and be given guidance in their writing.

The workshop is an outgrowth of the English Section of the North Carolina Teachers Association which held a meeting in Raleigh, North Carolina in 1953. There, a cross section of English Teachers in the state were asked to give careful consideration to the question, "steps necessary to improve English instruction in the schools and colleges of North Carolina."

Unity Needed

This group conducted surveys and concluded that there was a need for greater unification in the language arts programs on all levels of instruction. In essence, this meant seeking a more effective approach to the teaching of the Language Arts.

This conclusion served as a mandate for initiating a program for teachers so they could share experiences and ideas thereby gaining greater insight and perspective of the Language Arts.

"Effective Approach"

Thus, the beginning of the Language Arts Workshop. In 1958-59, the general theme was "Seeking A More Effective Approach to the Schools and Colleges of North Carolina."

Carry Over Theme

The theme for this year is a carry-over from the 1958-59 theme. The entire Workshop idea was initiated and sponsored through the efforts of Mrs. Carrye H. Kelley, former chairman of the English Section of the N.C.T.A. and associate professor of English, assisted by Mrs. Pearl G. Bradley, associate professor of English. Both are instructors here at the college.

Skidmore College To Offer Elem. Education In Fall

Saratoga Springs, N. Y. (I.P.) — Beginning next year, Skidmore College will offer for the first time in its history, a four-year program for elementary education majors. It includes comprehensive coverage of the liberal arts and professional training leading to certification by the state of New York.

This new four-year program stipulates heavy requirements over a wide range of the liberal arts curriculum coupled with adequate requirements in the practical problems of learning to teach. The B.S. degree in elementary education includes these semester hour requirements: 69 credits in liberal arts; 15 credits in fields that are both of a liberal arts and of a professional nature; 24 credits in the professional field; 15 credits of electives; and 3 work credits in the summer. Electives will normally be selected from courses on the 200 and 300 level.

Entering freshmen will select the program on a trial basis. In the sophomore year, the Education Department will approve those students who will be permitted to continue the program. A probable limit of 20 to 25 majors will be accepted each year.

The number is determined by the number of places available for apprenticing in the local schools. The apprentice period in the senior year includes practice teaching and observation integrated with study of methods of teaching.

9 Sophomore Nursing Students Capped Here

The Annual School of Nursing Capping Exercise was held on March 20, 1960 at 5:00 p.m. in Harrison Auditorium. Mrs. Lucille E. Williams, Director of the Lincoln Hospital

School of Nursing, presented the capping address entitled, "The Nurse, the Cap and the Patient."

Mrs. Naomi Wynn, Dean of the School of Nursing, capped the nine nursing students, the smallest group in the seven-year history of the School of Nursing.

Compulsory ROTC To Be Dropped

Madison, N. J. (I.P.) — The University of Wisconsin regents voted recently to suspend compulsory ROTC for freshmen and sophomores for a two-year trial period while ROTC courses are improved with members of the University's own faculty taking over some of the teaching.

The regents approved an earlier faculty recommendation for ending compulsory training and improving the curriculum, but limited the approval for the two-year trial period on this proviso: "It is understood that the University will revert automatically to compulsory basis ROTC if the number of students entering the third year Army ROTC programs in Madison and Milwaukee in the fall of 1961 or in the fall of 1962 falls below 75 per cent of the number entering these programs in the fall of 1959."

The regent resolution said "we strongly believe that the University of Wisconsin must continue to make its traditional contribution to the armed services and to the national defense."

This action came after the assistant secretary of defense for manpower, personnel, and reserve, Charles C. Finucane, notified the University "that a military requirement does not exist for a compulsory basic ROTC program and that the Department of Defense has no basis for favoring such a program. Compulsory basic ROTC is not needed to meet quality standards nor is it needed to produce the number of officers required."

He also indicated that he had no fear that the Wisconsin move would start a national trend which would hamper ROTC. "Many schools will continue compulsory basic ROTC," he wrote.

HONOREES

Three members of the group received awards for outstanding work in the field of nursing.

Evelyn Koonce, Kinston, N. C., was presented the Dr. C. C. Stewart Memorial Scholarship Award for highest average, given by the Greensboro Medical Society.

Annie P. Baldwin, Fayetteville, N. C., was presented the Moses H. Cone Women's Auxiliary award, the "Most Promising Student" Scholarship.

Betty Pierce, Savannah, Georgia, received the Greensboro Academy of Medicine Award for outstanding performance in Medical surgical nursing.

The six other nurses receiving caps included: Lois Adamson Greensboro; Fannie L. May, Morehead City; Glenda Mitchner, Greensboro; Elsie M. Ricks, Newport, R. I.; Helen G. Royal, Winston-Salem; and Shirley A. Williamson, McLeansville.

Enlists in USAR

Miss Hattie Martin, Delray Beach, Fla., a senior student nurse, has enlisted in the Army Reserve. She will be commissioned in the Army Nurses Corps and placed on active duty for two years immediately upon her graduation. She will receive basic training at Fort Sam Houston as San Antonio, Tex.

These sophomores in the A&T College School of Nursing who have met qualifications to begin clinical training last week received their caps at the annual Capping Exercises.

Jordan Speaks At Convocation Of Deans and Registrars Convention

By Marjorie D. Amor

Dr. Howard Jordan, Jr., dean of faculty at South Carolina State College, delivered the key note address at the convocation of the Association of Deans and Registrars, which was held March 17, 1960 in Richard B. Harrison Auditorium.

Dr. Jordan stated that if we use anything other than education to cope with our pressing problems, we will certainly fail — "Only First Rate Is Acceptable."

"Wisdom And Courage"

"In order to cope with this age of atomic power, we must produce leaders with high intellect who can meet problems with wisdom and courage," said the speaker. "New duties and time make new demands imperative," he continued.

"The need is for people and teachers to keep ahead — not merely with education, but also to realize that tomorrow's demands cannot be met with second-rate scholarship. The future we all hold most dear is in our hands," continued Dr. Jordan. He stated that education carries us on to new opportunities and into nobler directions.

McKinney Honored

During the convocation exercise Dean T. E. McKinney, dean of Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, North Carolina, received the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws. Dean McKinney is the founder of the National Association of Collegiate Deans and Registrars which was organized at the Agricultural and Technical College, Greensboro, North Carolina in 1926, and also of the Alpha Kappa Mu Honorary Society.

The faculty and staff of A. and T. accompanied the deans and registrars, representatives of nearly all of the colleges and universities of the United States, in the procession.

Participating in the exercise was the Army and Air Force drill units, the college choir and band.

T. E. McKinney, center, dean, Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, N. C., and former dean at A&T College, was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws degree by A&T at the recent annual convention of the National Association of Collegiate Deans and Registrars.

Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs, A&T president, presents the degree as Edwin M. Thorpe, secretary to the organization and registrar at Florida A&M University, Tallahassee, Fla., himself a graduate of A&T, looks on from right.

ROTC Units Looking Forward To Annual Banquet And Ball

The Annual Military banquet and ball held respectively in Murray Hall and Charles Moore gymnasium will, as it has done in the past, bring the Army and Air Force units here together for a night of enjoyment and entertainment on the 29th of April.

This get-together has long been a part of these units since the splitting of the Army and Army Air Corps in 1947.

Both forces have placed special emphasis and importance on the banquet, since only invited guests and advanced cadets will attend. Most of the guest are deans and instructors here. Colonel George Roberst, commander of 3345th M & T Group at Rantool, Ill., will be guest speaker at the banquet.

BOOK REVIEW

THE AMERICAN TRAGEDY

By THEODORE DREISER

Reviewed by
WILHELMINA E. HARRISON

Does man have free will or is he simply a victim of circumstances and nature? Dreiser deals with this problem in a pessimistic naturalistic manner in The American Tragedy.

In this novel, we meet Clyde Griffiths as a member of a poverty stricken evangelistic family. From the start, Clyde is puzzled by his parents' deep religious faith and what he considers as God's "double-cross" or neglect for the ones who prayed the hardest.

Constantly disturbed over this paradox, Clyde's drive for social status takes over and he obtains a position at a local hotel. Here he meets fellows who introduce him to the other side of life — harlots, cheap wine and "good times."

This book is a novel that has wide implications. It presents far more than a picture of a fellow sinking deeper and deeper into trouble.

The purpose of this novel is to present in an easy to read manner, the question that is in the corner of each of our minds — the free will of man.

Clyde's becoming entangled with conceited, selfish, Hortense and his permitting this girl to gain complete control over his entire being is simply another step to support Dreiser's concept of nature as the true controlling agent of man.

The author allows Clyde to climb until he nearly reaches his aim of high social status. However, as he climbs, he becomes more and more interlocked with two other girls. One a socialite, the other a factory worker. Even though Clyde's true desire is to marry the socialite who can help him gain prominence; the author climaxes the novel with a tragedy that leads Clyde further into this clutch of circumstance.

The American Tragedy will please lots of readers. It will offer, to those who believe in the free will of man, food for thought and a challenge; it will reward, those believers in man's fate as a work of mere circumstance, an inspiration and a desire to investigate more of Dreiser's work.

Book Survey Shows High Readership

TOMMY GADDIE

Who's says A&T's students don't read?

From all indications the students of A&T spend a great amount of time reading. The observations of this reporter, obtained through a recent survey reveals the Aggies read books from all categories.

The survey revealed that students are reading and have read books ranging from the newest Greek Mythology Books to "very passionate novels" which include the Classics and the best sellers.

This survey revealed that 66% of the students and college personnel interviewed favored novels, 8% preferred books on History, 8% preferred Mythological works, and the others preferred passionate novels and Shakespeare.

Among those books referred by the persons interviewed were such books as: Prometheus Bound, The Kiss, Man With The Golden Arm, God's Little Acre, Lady Chatterley's Lover, The Fifty Minute Hour, Moby Dick, Bramble Bush, The Ugly American, Green Mansions and A Return to Peyton Place.

Groups Plan Events For Spring Quarter

grand time when they attend the annual ROTC Ball April 29. All necessary arrangements are being made by the senior officers of the ROTC units. These officers are in the process of securing a top-notch band for this occasion and one of the most mentioned bands is that of Red Prysock.

The Student Government is responsible for many activities that occur on the campus, such as dances, movies and other types of recreation. The Council is now in the process of setting up a quiz show among colleges within the surrounding area. This program will be similar to the G. E. College Bowl, which is seen on Sunday evenings.

The Council can't do this alone; they need the help of all organizations to make a program of this type successful. If the organizations will reply to the letters that were sent to them, the Student Government can get a general idea of how the students will react to a program of this caliber.

The Westminster Foundation, a group of predominately Presbyterian students, is in the midst of an interesting Bible Study program. This group meets every first and third Sunday in Benbow Hall.

Lately, they have been choosing selections from the Bible for analysis and discussion. This group will also sponsor a movie on April 14, "The Sign of the Hawk", starring Eartha Kitt and Sidney Portier.

The YMCA is conference-conscious in that they are making plans to attend the Quaker Lake Conference tomorrow. The conference will be attended by several members of the A and T YMCA and YWCA. The "Y" is currently sponsoring this year's Miss Coed Contest, and they hope to make it an outstanding event. Several organizations have chosen young ladies they are going to sponsor for the contest.

From Greece to clubland the fanfare of funtime is sounding in the air, and organizations are taking advantage of this gala time. Naturally, funtime must be mixed with work, so in order to rest those tired and weary eyes from calculus and chemistry texts, a wide array of activities are in store for the students.

Bordeaux To Attend Conference

Miss Arthalia Bordeaux, president of the North Carolina Student Education Association, of the North Carolina Teachers Association was among the seventy North Carolinians to take part in the Golden anniversary of the White House Conference on Children and Youth.

National Secretary

Miss Bordeaux, a student at Winston-Salem Teachers College in Winston-Salem, is also secretary of the Student National Education Association.

The 1960 White House Conference is the sixth such conference traditionally held at the turn of each decade at the call of the President of the United States.

Dual Theme

The program had two approaches to the need of children and youth—"The World around The Young" and "The Young in The World."

Miss Bordeaux will make her report of the conference Friday, April 8, at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Student Education Association in Raleigh.

Attles, Aggie Guard, Gets More Honors

More honors were heaped last week upon Al Attles, senior guard and captain of the A&T College Aggies basketball team.

Immediately following the announcement that he had been named to the Associated Press' Little All America basketball third team, announcement was made that Attles had been honored by Who's Who In Small College Basketball for 1959-60. Notification was given by Ron Streibich, Fort Wayne, Inc., editor.

Attles, a native of Newark, N. J., led the Aggies to third place in the NCAA small college tournament last season and sparked A&T to second place in the CIAA for the current season.

An honor student in education, the six foot, 175 pounder has maintained an average of 15 points per game during his four seasons of varsity competition, with 18.5 for the campaign just ended.

He has high hopes of landing a berth with one of the NBA teams and has received encouraging inquiries from both, Detroit and St. Louis.

Attles played in four tournaments last year and three for 1959-60 and was selected all-tourney in all but one.

As a college sophomore, you're nearing the mid-point. Halfway through college—halfway through Army ROTC. Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weigh the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer . . .

- 1. Traditional responsibilities. To meet the command responsibilities of an Army officer, you apply the leadership principles absorbed during advanced ROTC training. And your executive potential grows as you gather leadership experience. That's why employers often prefer men who served as commissioned officers. These men already have proven their capacity to shoulder executive responsibility.

- 2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. Thus the traditional responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.68 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Need more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered "yes" to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.
