The Register, 1962-10-26

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digital.library.ncat.edu/atregister

Recommended Citation
https://digital.library.ncat.edu/atregister/197

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Digital Collections at Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship. It has been accepted for inclusion in NCAT Student Newspapers by an authorized administrator of Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship. For more information, please contact iyanna@ncat.edu.
Reading Program
Is Initiated
At College

The Department of English has initiated a Developmental Reading Program at the College during the past year. The College has clearly demonstrated the need for such a program by the introduction of this activity. The students currently being supported under the program.

The new scholar, from left to right, are Melvin Silver, Fortuna, Va.; Angelyn Wyrick, Greensboro; Alton Wallace, New Bern; Evelyn McKey, Hispanic, Va.; and Robert D. Brown, Ayden.

College Alumni Association
Honors Students At Dinner

Twelve A&T College students, including alumni scholars who are at present enrolled in the program, are eligible for the College's annual awards for top performance. The awards are presented at the annual dinner held at the College, where students are recognized for their academic excellence.

A&T College student, including alumni scholars who are at present enrolled in the program, are eligible for the College's annual awards for top performance. The awards are presented at the annual dinner held at the College, where students are recognized for their academic excellence.

Homecoming Celebrations
Continue To Pick Up Speed
As Alumni Arrive On Campus

Football Game, Reunions, Dance And Parade Are Among Events Scheduled For Tomorrow

When some ten thousand alumni converge on this campus tomorrow, many things will be materializing, for their entertainment and enjoyment.

Reading the schedule of events is the football game between the Aggies and the Morgan State Bears which will be preceded by a giant homecoming parade before the main stadium.

When tomorrow's schedule is announced, the alumni are scheduled to be honored at an all-black lunch at the Brigham, Hall, after which members of the class of 1932, 1933, and 1935 will hold their class reunions.

Tomorrow evening, the graduates of the 1932 class will gather at the Broadway Theater, and really have a little fun will have an opportunity to dance to music of their choice of music whether it be "rock and roll" or just smooth dancing music. These returning Aggies and the student body will have an opportunity to choose between alumni events of Buddy and Zilla Johnson or the "improvised"

Drama Group
Schedules Production

The Richard B. Harrison Players, under the direction of Mrs. Gunderson, will present "The Greatest Man Alive," in Harrison Auditorium October 31 and November 1.

Herman Thomas, a junior from Bryon City, and Bobby Spencer, a senior from Henderson, have been double cast in the role of Romeo Benedict.

In addition are the following students and their roles: Harvey Stone, a junior from Graham, and Glenn Little, a junior from Washington, Tenn., as Tom Beagins; Louise Goode, Jemezon, and as Mrs. Beagins, Francine Goddard, as Peggy Thomas; James Withampp, sophomore, Morgan, and Glenn Little, William, as Brandon, and as the cook, Ray Dunham.

The cast also includes Green, Corbin, and Megan, as the cook, Ray Dunham.

The hospital attendants and the photographer will be played by members of double cast roles.

Alumni Group
Mary P. Byrd
"Miss Gate City"

Miss Mary P. Byrd, assistant director of L. Richard McNeely, is the "Miss Gate City" in a contest sponsored by the A&T College Alumni Association.

Bringing the annual homecoming pageant to a close will be the Alumni Worship Service which will be held Sunday morning in the Harrington Auditorium at 11:00 a.m. For this occasion, the speaker will be Rev. Earl H. Mckinney, president of the church. Mrs. Byrd will be the keynote speaker.

This annual service will culminate the homecoming celebrations.

Last night the Homecoming King and Queen officially began the coronation process. On Tuesday morning, all the festivities will continue with a giant bonfire and a social.
Returning Aggies

Today and tomorrow nearly ten thousand members of the Aggie family will return to their alma mater to celebrate homecoming. For nearly everyone that returns, there will be an individual reason. Some will just come to get a look at the old place; others will come just to be a member of the crowd. Whatever the reason, the wandering Aggies who converge on their old home place will find something different, something new, or perhaps something they do not quite understand. Yet, in the midst of this, each person is sure to find something he remembers.

Among the new things the returning Aggies are apt to find, are several new buildings, new programs of instruction, new interest in learning, and new hope in attaining academic excellence. Unfortunately some will find that some of their favorite hangouts on campus have gone underground; but it is hoped that the executive committee and the college's publications will bring them from hiding, out of their confinement.

At any rate, it is to be made clear that the literary page is intended primarily for the purpose of printing student writings. It will not be achieved only if students submit their writings to the paper. They may be published in person, by mail, phone, cable or express. Students would like their work printed, and the paper and the literary editor would like to.

"Teigh" Raleigh insists on finding us with his writings this week, a fact which is rather misused if we did not attempt a long, stringent evaluation of their usefulness, because of cause this will not be possible. The criticism will be short and to the point.

The story, which he claims won second prize in the short story division of the Greensboro Writers' Contest, is a short one. The article is clear and precise but the message is somewhat obscure. Raleigh says that he detects oversaturation of his work. He says that he sometimes借 a little too much to understand. We feel that he likes the story, though he may be pretentious, or because of its understanding there are quite a few who may not like it. He has given it its full meaning.

In "Concerts In Miniature," he says that he wants to use words, and people skillfully from behind steaming windows afraid, but now they begin to enter the streets and move cautiously at first and then boldly

v

Shoreline

BY JAMES PETTIFORD

Along the shores lies a sea, vast, undisturbed and endless - Dark unapproachable abyss of infinite water. The only sound is the gentle roar of the breakers rushing in to dash themselves against the rocky crags, and then swiftly back out to sea. Albatross gulls dip and soar gracefully eternally. Time passes bringing changes. Old men die, young ones are born. But the scene remains the same, until changed by the face of man.

Fashions

BY PHENIE DYE

This time of the year is known as Indian summer and one does not know what to wear. During this particular season we also have transition periods in mind. We went to dress comfortably but with the coming of the climate change, the scene changes. Since the all-student dinner head dress one event the women wore wool knit sheath dress with a leaflet belt and will be with matching accessories. The accessories that will add sparkle to the dress are light weight gloves, square-cut, and a few ornaments and costumes to make music. About this, we can only say that he is not yet a Beethoven, or even an Envis Eades. We commissaries that he will be trying to "set back more of the best of the immortal". These are commendable efforts.

"Shoreline" is a poem - tangible, intangible images and beauty with an iron message. If this type of non-parisian poetry keeps cropping up among our writers, the Negro's entrance into the mainstream of literature is assured.

The Theatrical Scene

By George Raleigh

In Evening, when twilight paints fanfares on the edge of the world the mind begins to form drifting between emerald halls of hush memory, and from sudden silence appears the black hair the intense dark eyes, from whose quiet lowering lids, a tear falls - consumed upon the glistening pareapet.

After your vision has solemnly waned from your eyes, your mouth says with painful music - the azure notes at which pale might only guess, and others never fully comprehended.

"Shoreline" is a poem - tangible, intangible images and beauty with an iron message. If this type of non-parisian poetry keeps cropping up among our writers, the Negro's entrance into the mainstream of literature is assured.

The Literary Scene

By George Raleigh

The reader's indulgence is requested tonight, because out of sheer necessity your literary editor is forced to feature the works of George Raleigh. It appears that most of our students are completely occupied; there will be no Aggie stories for the members of that club. The Crosby Hall basement's College Fan will not be found there any longer either, and some of the old paths have been covered with buildings.

Yes, the sons and daughters of A&T College will return to bring them from hiding, out of their disguise.

At any rate, it is to be made clear that the literary page is intended primarily for the purpose of printing student writings. It will not be achieved only if students submit their writings to the paper. They may be published in person, by mail, phone, cable or express. Students would like their work printed, and the paper and the literary editor would like to.

"Teigh" Raleigh insists on finding us with his writings this week, a fact which is rather misused if we did not attempt a long, stringent evaluation of their usefulness, because of cause this will not be possible. The criticism will be short and to the point.

The story, which he claims won second prize in the short story division of the Greensboro Writers' Contest, is a short one. The article is clear and precise but the message is somewhat obscure. Raleigh says that he detects oversaturation of his work. He says that he sometimes借 a little too much to understand. We feel that he likes the story, though he may be pretentious, or because of its understanding there are quite a few who may not like it. He has given it its full meaning.

In "Concerts In Miniature," he says that he wants to use words, and people skillfully from behind steaming windows afraid, but now they begin to enter the streets and move cautiously at first and then boldly

v

Shoreline

BY JAMES PETTIFORD

Along the shores lies a sea, vast, undisturbed and endless - Dark unapproachable abyss of infinite water. The only sound is the gentle roar of the breakers rushing in to dash themselves against the rocky crags, and then swiftly back out to sea. Albatross gulls dip and soar gracefully eternally. Time passes bringing changes. Old men die, young ones are born. But the scene remains the same, until changed by the face of man.

Fashions

BY PHENIE DYE

This time of the year is known as Indian summer and one does not know what to wear. During this particular season we also have transition periods in mind. We went to dress comfortably but with the coming of the climate change, the scene changes. Since the all-student dinner head dress one event the women wore wool knit sheath dress with a leaflet belt and will be with matching accessories. The accessories that will add sparkle to the dress are light weight gloves, square-cut, and a few ornaments and costumes to make music. About this, we can only say that he is not yet a Beethoven, or even an Envis Eades. We commissaries that he will be trying to "set back more of the best of the immortal". These are commendable efforts.

"Shoreline" is a poem - tangible, intangible images and beauty with an iron message. If this type of non-parisian poetry keeps cropping up among our writers, the Negro's entrance into the mainstream of literature is assured.

The Theatrical Scene

By George Raleigh

In Evening, when twilight paints fanfares on the edge of the world the mind begins to form drifting between emerald halls of hush memory, and from sudden silence appears the black hair the intense dark eyes, from whose quiet lowering lids, a tear falls - consumed upon the glistening pareapet.

After your vision has solemnly waned from your eyes, your mouth says with painful music - the azure notes at which pale might only guess, and others never fully comprehended.

"Shoreline" is a poem - tangible, intangible images and beauty with an iron message. If this type of non-parisian poetry keeps cropping up among our writers, the Negro's entrance into the mainstream of literature is assured.

The Literary Scene

By George Raleigh

The reader's indulgence is requested tonight, because out of sheer necessity your literary editor is forced to feature the works of George Raleigh. It appears that most of our students are completely occupied; there will be no Aggie stories for the members of that club. The Crosby Hall basement's College Fan will not be found there any longer either, and some of the old paths have been covered with buildings.

Yes, the sons and daughters of A&T College will return to bring them from hiding, out of their disguise.

At any rate, it is to be made clear that the literary page is intended primarily for the purpose of printing student writings. It will not be achieved only if students submit their writings to the paper. They may be published in person, by mail, phone, cable or express. Students would like their work printed, and the paper and the literary editor would like to.

"Teigh" Raleigh insists on finding us with his writings this week, a fact which is rather misused if we did not attempt a long, stringent evaluation of their usefulness, because of cause this will not be possible. The criticism will be short and to the point.

The story, which he claims won second prize in the short story division of the Greensboro Writers' Contest, is a short one. The article is clear and precise but the message is somewhat obscure. Raleigh says that he detects oversaturation of his work. He says that he sometimes借 a little too much to understand. We feel that he likes the story, though he may be pretentious, or because of its understanding there are quite a few who may not like it. He has given it its full meaning.

In "Concerts In Miniature," he says that he wants to use words, and people skillfully from behind steaming windows afraid, but now they begin to enter the streets and move cautiously at first and then boldly

v

Shoreline

BY JAMES PETTIFORD

Along the shores lies a sea, vast, undisturbed and endless - Dark unapproachable abyss of infinite water. The only sound is the gentle roar of the breakers rushing in to dash themselves against the rocky crags, and then swiftly back out to sea. Albatross gulls dip and soar gracefully eternally. Time passes bringing changes. Old men die, young ones are born. But the scene remains the same, until changed by the face of man.

Fashions

BY PHENIE DYE

This time of the year is known as Indian summer and one does not know what to wear. During this particular season we also have transition periods in mind. We went to dress comfortably but with the coming of the climate change, the scene changes. Since the all-student dinner head dress one event the women wore wool knit sheath dress with a leaflet belt and will be with matching accessories. The accessories that will add sparkle to the dress are light weight gloves, square-cut, and a few ornaments and costumes to make music. About this, we can only say that he is not yet a Beethoven, or even an Envis Eades. We commissaries that he will be trying to "set back more of the best of the immortal". These are commendable efforts.

"Shoreline" is a poem - tangible, intangible images and beauty with an iron message. If this type of non-parisian poetry keeps cropping up among our writers, the Negro's entrance into the mainstream of literature is assured.

The Theatrical Scene

By George Raleigh

In Evening, when twilight paints fanfares on the edge of the world the mind begins to form drifting between emerald halls of hush memory, and from sudden silence appears the black hair the intense dark eyes, from whose quiet lowering lids, a tear falls - consumed upon the glistening pareapet.

After your vision has solemnly waned from your eyes, your mouth says with painful music - the azure notes at which pale might only guess, and others never fully comprehended.

"Shoreline" is a poem - tangible, intangible images and beauty with an iron message. If this type of non-parisian poetry keeps cropping up among our writers, the Negro's entrance into the mainstream of literature is assured.
Dr. C. H. Edwards Is Participant On NSF Panel

The National Science Foundation invited a member of the A&T College faculty to serve on a panel of scientists who judge applications for undergraduate research participation programs submitted to it from colleges and universities.

Dr. Castle H. Edwards, professor of Nutrition and Research, Department of Home Economics, at A&T was appointed to the panel of scientists who judge applications for undergraduate research participation programs at their national meeting in Washington, D. C. October 18 and 19.

Dr. Edwards has supervised a program of undergraduate research participation sponsored in the Department of Home Economics for over a period of three years by grants from the National Science Foundation. In February of 1962, he was invited to address the new Director of Using and Altr

The 31-page report, "A Shorter Workweek," said that reducing hours of work would tend to reduce opportunities for research, employment, total output and income of the country, and would tend to curtail productivity increases and push up prices.

Social benefits, however, might accrue from a shorter workweek, the report said: more time for education, job training, community activities, recreation, family outings, and the like. And for particular plants and industries, according to the report, flexibility of hours can be "a means of reducing the impact of short term declines in employment."

In the field of foreign trade, uniform shortening of the workweek might have a considerable impact, the report said, because the shorter workweek "will inevitably raise total labor costs." Price increases would result or investment and research would be reduced. It is easier to purchase foreign goods to compete with foreign goods would be affected.

Over-all effect on the economy might be to reduce employment, total output, and total income. Shortening the workweek would tend to curb productivity increases, according to the report, because the supply of investment goods would not rise. Also, workers would spend more time proportionately preparing to start work and preparing to quit work than working.

Therough the report is that the American people have a choice between working less and producing more. Less work gives more time for other activities, more taxes, taxes, local, state, and federal governments. The report notes that since a shorter workweek would affect, taxes, it would therefore, affect services governments provide.

The report has a 114-page analysis of the effects of a shorter workweek, 20 pages of charts, graphs from a shorter workweeks (much of it historical) on the length of the workweek represent.

Mr. Bernard Whiting, left, a 1918 graduate of A&T College and a recently retired executive of the Edison Electric Company, Inc., turned to his Alma Mater last week for a brief visit. He chats with Mr. John M. McRill, Jr., professor of sociology at the college.

Shorter Workweek Would Affect America’s Economic Growth

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it comes to your college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to those questions in officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of commissioned status. Inclusion of this three-month course receives a commission in the United States Air Force. You see how military education is made rewarding, earn references.

Aim of the report is to help business executives, labor officials, legislators, workers, educators, scholars, and others develop and greater understanding of the problems and cons of this issue.

Woodrow Wilson Nominations Still Open

The 114-page report, "A Shorter Workweek," said that reducing hours of work would tend to reduce opportunities for research, employment, total output and income of the country, and would tend to curtail productivity increases and push up prices.

Social benefits, however, might accrue from a shorter workweek, the report said: more time for education, job training, community activities, recreation, family outings, and the like. And for particular plants and industries, according to the report, flexibility of hours can be "a means of reducing the impact of short term declines in employment."

In the field of foreign trade, uniform shortening of the workweek might have a considerable impact, the report said, because the shorter workweek "will inevitably raise total labor costs." Price increases would result or investment and research would be reduced. It is easier to purchase foreign goods to compete with foreign goods would be affected.

Over-all effect on the economy might be to reduce employment, total output, and total income. Shortening the workweek would tend to curb productivity increases, according to the report, because the supply of investment goods would not rise. Also, workers would spend more time proportionately preparing to start work and preparing to quit work than working.

Therough the report is that the American people have a choice between working less and producing more. Less work gives more time for other activities, more taxes, taxes, local, state, and federal governments. The report notes that since a shorter workweek would affect, taxes, it would therefore, affect services governments provide.

The report has a 114-page analysis of the effects of a shorter workweek, 20 pages of charts, graphs from a shorter workweeks (much of it historical) on the length of the workweek represent.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in those times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to those questions in officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of commissioned status. Inclusion of this three-month course receives a commission in the United States Air Force. You can tell yourself that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of commissioned status. Inclusion of this three-month course receives a commission in the United States Air Force. You can tell yourself that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of commissioned status. Inclusion of this three-month course receives a commission in the United States Air Force. You can tell yourself that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the future of America.
Dr. Turner To Speak At Convocation

Dr. Darwin T. Turner, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Mary Baldwin College, will deliver a major address before a special session of the college alumni association at the Coliseum, this afternoon.

Dr. Turner, who is also president of Central State University, will speak on the "Role of the College Alumnus in the Promotion of Peace." A graduate of Tuskegee Institute, Dr. Turner has served as president of Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte and as dean of Howard University.

Dr. Turner. Speaking at the Convocation, will be Mr. Howard T. Pearsall, co-chairman of the Humanities committee, and English Department and Shirley Hinson, Chairman of the English Department.

Dr. Turner and Mrs. Turner will arrive in Staunton at 1:00 in the morning, and will leave at 1:40 at those stations.

Dr. Turner and Mrs. Turner will arrive in Staunton at 1:00 in the morning, and will leave at 1:40 at those stations.

Dr. Turner and Mrs. Turner will arrive in Staunton at 1:00 in the morning, and will leave at 1:40 at those stations.

Dr. Turner and Mrs. Turner will arrive in Staunton at 1:00 in the morning, and will leave at 1:40 at those stations.

Dr. Turner, who is also president of Central State University, will speak on the "Role of the College Alumnus in the Promotion of Peace." A graduate of Tuskegee Institute, Dr. Turner has served as president of Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte and as dean of Howard University.

Dr. Turner. Speaking at the Convocation, will be Mr. Howard T. Pearsall, co-chairman of the Humanities committee, and English Department and Shirley Hinson, Chairman of the English Department.

Dr. Turner and Mrs. Turner will arrive in Staunton at 1:00 in the morning, and will leave at 1:40 at those stations.
Mr. Harold M. McNeill, left, district supervisor for the AM College

The country is the independent and sovereign state. The

It is bounded on the north by the Sudan, on the south by Lake Victoria, on the east by Kenya and on the west by the Lake Victoria (Kisoro; Toro; and Ankole.

The historic kingdoms: Buganda; Bunyoro; and Ankole.

The seventh is water and swamp.

The ranges, the Mufinabiro, rising to two high snow-clad mountain

Mount Eglon (14,178 feet), with its lakes-Lake Victoria which has an

1/4 mile across. -^-

Aswa, and Malawa.

by the high mountainous terrain in Uganda are the Nile, Katonga, from March to May and Septem ber to November—and in the north sional and pastoral country. How-particularly in the rivers and lakes umlite, wolfram, gold, and bisscenery. The fauna is also rich which includes the following racial

Nations.

The leader continued, "All Afcanis are united in their fight a-against racial segregation in all its

In the United Nations political

The Geographic Society is mak

Eaton for his racial segregation

Negro American to the University policies and especially for his at-

Dr. Eugene Marrow is faculty

by Charles Anderson, vice-presi-presently composed of 15 active other Greeks, as relationship with other Greeks, as

While the organization is basically Bap-students of all denominations are invited to attend the meetings.

The Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity is has begun this academic school year of 1962-63 by announce-many goals and objectives in the discussion will be continued

has scheduled for the fall in in-

ND is also becoming a membership drive. Even though the organiza-

the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, As one of its projects this year,

Dr. P. A. Williams, on leave from A&T College faculty, was re-

His research project is entitled "The Effects of Serial hours Chick Embryo Homogenates

Injections of Total Ninety-six

Dr. Williams

To Study Sudan

An A&T College alumnus and torner dean of the Graduate school has been awarded a research grant for special study in Sudan.

Dr. P. A. Williams, on leave from A&T College faculty, was re-

as with all mankind.

The Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity is functioning presently with

Both students work under attending the University of the discussion will be continued

with Coke!

"boss Websters"

"the Campus
tog Shop"

For Tailoring and Repair

Service, Shoes, Skirts, Hats

and Pants — Visit —

Elit eClothi er

1822 East Market Street

For the Best Food in North

Favor ite Newspapers and a Magazines

NEWSTAND on Market Street, Directly Across from Hodge Hall.

ATTENTION COEDS!!

ATTENTION COEDS!!

THE GREATEST COLLECTION OF CAMPUS THINGS FOR THE SIDE OF THE WORLD'S FASHION CENTERS

MAY BE SEEN AT

"the Campus
tog Shop"

105-E EAST MARKET STREET

Furnished Especially for the

THE CAMPUS TOG SHOP OFFERS THE BEST SELECTION OF

Dresses, Skirts, Blouses,

Coniotes, Socks and Tanks

in Greensboro

Stop By for the Assistance of

Mrs. H. B. Schubert, Dean of Students

Designed Especially For Your

Individual Personality

Dr. Williams

To Study Sudan

An A&T College alumnus and
torner dean of the Graduate school has been awarded a research grant for special study in Sudan.

Dr. P. A. Williams, on leave from A&T College faculty, was re-

as with all mankind.

The Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity is functioning presently with

Both students work under

attending the University of

the discussion will be continued

with Coke!

"boss Websters"

"the Campus
tog Shop"

105-E EAST MARKET STREET

Furnished Especially for the

THE CAMPUS TOG SHOP OFFERS THE BEST SELECTION OF

Dresses, Skirts, Blouses,

Coniotes, Socks and Tanks

in Greensboro

Stop By for the Assistance of

Mrs. H. B. Schubert, Dean of Students

Designed Especially For Your

Individual Personality

BETWEEN HALVES... get that refreshing new feeling with Coke!

Brought under authority of The Coca-Cola Company of BUTTLER'S WINE

GREENSBORO COCA COLA BOTTLING CO.
By ERNEST GAINER

The Bulldogs of A&T College are riding high in the CIAA ratings, second only to Virginia Union. Union has a 5-6 record in conference play as compared to a 4-0 record posted to the Aggies. The Virginia team appears to be a definite threat to the A&T College spread in this race for CIAA honors.

The point of interest, however, is the fact that the team does not play Union in regular season play. Remaining on the Aggie schedule this season is Florida AM, Virginia State, North Carolina College, and, of course Morgan State for homecoming.

Homecoming should prove to be a very exciting affair. Last year we spelled Morgan State’s homecoming by beating them 36-0 so we can rest assured that this year they will be trying to repay us for the damage we did last year. The Aggies will feature new CIAA stars at James Mitchell and Willie Ferguson, both quarterbacks, who are leading the CIAA in the passing department. The outcome of the year, Cornell Gordon will see much action as Tailback and Flanker. Acebro familiar with the team knows that we will have “Sugar” Hart, Ronald Francis and Richard Westmoreland running back.

This highly pep-up team has played two interesting games and has been successful in each contest.

Because of the versatility of the Aggie squad, their rambunctious players, and of course their strong coaching staff the Aggies are leading in pass receiving with 106 yards and 2 touchdowns for an average of 16.5 yards.

Aggies will feature such CIAA stars as James Mitchell and Willie Ferguson, both quarterbacks, who are leading the CIAA in the passing department.

Highly pep-up team has played two interesting games and has been successful in each contest.

Because of the versatility of the Aggie squad, their rambunctious players, and of course their strong coaching staff the Aggies are leading in pass receiving with 106 yards and 2 touchdowns for an average of 16.5 yards.

Highly pep-up team has played two interesting games and has been successful in each contest.

Because of the versatility of the Aggie squad, their rambunctious players, and of course their strong coaching staff the Aggies are leading in pass receiving with 106 yards and 2 touchdowns for an average of 16.5 yards.

Highly pep-up team has played two interesting games and has been successful in each contest.

Because of the versatility of the Aggie squad, their rambunctious players, and of course their strong coaching staff the Aggies are leading in pass receiving with 106 yards and 2 touchdowns for an average of 16.5 yards.

Highly pep-up team has played two interesting games and has been successful in each contest.

Because of the versatility of the Aggie squad, their rambunctious players, and of course their strong coaching staff the Aggies are leading in pass receiving with 106 yards and 2 touchdowns for an average of 16.5 yards.

Highly pep-up team has played two interesting games and has been successful in each contest.

Because of the versatility of the Aggie squad, their rambunctious players, and of course their strong coaching staff the Aggies are leading in pass receiving with 106 yards and 2 touchdowns for an average of 16.5 yards.