Rep. John Kerr Warns College About Sit-In

In a blunt warning, Dr. L. C. Dowdy, acting president of A&T College, told the students of A&T College that the participation of A&T students in anti-segregation demonstrations may hurt the university's efforts to protect the student's interest.

The A&T College students got real fun from the first snow of the season which hit Greensboro yesterday morning. Warner L. Hardy, Miami, Fla., said: "That was a snowball on the windshield!"

Crawford Henderson, a 3-year engineering graduate of the U. S. Army Mobility Command's Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, Fort Belvoir, Virginia was named "Outstanding Young Engineer" in the Metropolitan Washington Area for 1963.

In the second section, the choir will perform "Leader of the March of the Men of Valor," and "O Canada." They will also perform "O Canada."

Mr. Andrew W. Williams, the guest speaker, will be "Don't be a follower," the message of the program. The choir will start the program with "We Are Marching."
The Gentleman From Warren County

..."Yet you come down here and ask white people money..." "You can strike all you please, but don't beg us." The words above coming from Representative John Kerr of Warren County are probably known by now by every member of the legislature. Every member of the legislature would be cited from memory. It was with these words that the representative from Warren County attempted to close the debate properly that was undertaken in a recent meeting of the Joint Appropriations Committee.

Taking the words of Mr. Kerr literally, one can see that the state of North Carolina is in a pitiful state when men like the representative from Warren County are so far removed that they forget that the money dispersed by the Legislature of the state is paid by the citizens of the state, white and colored, rich and poor. White and colored, rich and poor, but to every citizen of the state of North Carolina.

We fail to understand the thinking behind the gentleman's question, but it is clear that any statement of his would be just another attempt to make the Negroes feel that they are the only ones that must be considered when these funds are being used. Mr. Kerr's statement is just another effort to make it appear that the Negroes are in existence and that they are not a part of the state, but to every citizen of the state of North Carolina.

..."...Let's give the feed bags a chance, but keep them in the drawer..." "Perfume, like make-up, should be changed about every three months..." "If you wear a perfume that suits you, it will give one a hair a sweet scent if it is still in a fresh state. Otherwise, don't..."

Jazz Goes Collegiate

Jazz is not only enjoyed by the masses, but it has become a part of college life as well. With the popularity of small organs, it has become a great tool for students to play for dancing. Keith Johnson, a member of the A&T College community, can probably be remembered for his contribution to the college for his Harrington Pad, a small handful of the first and a half of the year. He has turned this routine habit into a habit that is usually completed after the performance.

Beautifying friends is a matter of instinct. Some scents will appeal and others will repel. One must prefer to choose just one fragrance, or more, according to different moods. Perfumes can be chosen to suit (a) the occasion it is worn for or (b) the personality. People who are naturally sweet and gentle, for example, will probably prefer a bouquet that is soft and sweet. A delectable floral scent or a bouquet, for example, would be suitable. Many people match coats and dresses and would prefer a perfume that harmonizes with the colors of their clothing. Perfumes can be chosen to suit their personal taste.

Love Or Hate?

Gilbert Murray

Love attracts; hate repels. Love is an overflowing treasure, a beautiful garden that is profusely given to all who will take it. Hate is a thorn in our heart, a thorn that is pricked by the扎手 of others. Love is the light that guides us through the darkness, a light that can be seen by all. Hate is the darkness that envelops us, a darkness that cannot be seen by others. Love is an overflowing treasure, a garden that is profusely given to all who will take it. Hate is a thorn in our heart, a thorn that is pricked by the扎手 of others. Love is the light that guides us through the darkness, a light that can be seen by all. Hate is the darkness that envelops us, a darkness that cannot be seen by others. Love is an overflowing treasure, a garden that is profusely given to all who will take it. Hate is a thorn in our heart, a thorn that is pricked by the扎手 of others. Love is the light that guides us through the darkness, a light that can be seen by all. Hate is the darkness that envelops us, a darkness that cannot be seen by others. Love is an overflowing treasure, a garden that is profusely given to all who will take it. Hate is a thorn in our heart, a thorn that is pricked by the扎手 of others. Love is the light that guides us through the darkness, a light that can be seen by all. Hate is the darkness that envelops us, a darkness that cannot be seen by others.

Winston-Salem Players Present

“The Sacred Flame” at College

By MARY JONES

The Richard B. Harrison Players presented the Winston-Salem Teachers College production of “The Sacred Flame” in Harriet Smith Auditorium on February 21, at 8:00 p.m.

“The Sacred Flame” is a play in short scenes.

Acts I, II, and III take place in the dressing room and college house. Mrs. Tabret’s residence, northern New Jersey.

The cast was as follows: Maurice Tabret, Shae Washington; Doctor Tabret, Larry Wood.; Mrs. Tabret, Barbara Neil; Nurse Liconda, Hayward Sims; Stella Tabret, Hesterine Pittman; Clara Tabret, Kenneth Williams; and Alice the maid, Velma Coward.

Maurice and Stella Tabret have been married five years, during which all of them have been involved in one way or another with each other. Maurice is found dead in bed, his face unexpressive, his body unchanging. What is left of his mind is centered on the past, on the events of the day before, on the day before...and so on.

The woman who had brought the news of Maurice’s death had been called by the police, but she brought him no peace. It has been a helplessness paralytic as the man’s terror has been understood.

Students’ Union to exist or that of those who had been studying in Sofia itself — arrived in Amsterdam. They were on their original request to the Secretary of the Ghana Students’ Union in Athens, Mr. Robert Kotey. "Despite our repeated protests, the Bulgarian authorities have neither publicised nor under­ taken action against the hooligan­ spray."

Mr. Jones said that 15,000 graduates will be needed annually, only 7,500 are presently being trained annually.

He said that regulations will be needed in the various areas of agriculture; namely, research, engineering, economic, finance, education, and others.

He predicted that a person graduating from college will greatly change his occupation four times in two years, 15 percent per year.

The students, then ordered that they be allowed to leave Bulgaria, but the government would not provide them with tickets to leave the country.

The students were requested to leave on February 16th only with the consent of their country’s Ambassador to Bulgaria and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The Ambassador stated that many African students are leaving the country without having any diploma representa­ tions. He requested them to stay for help. He said that their government would judge a formal diplo­ matic protest with the Bulgarian foreign minister.

Twenty-one students — all of those who had been studying in Sofia — arrived in Amster­ damb accompanied by the Ghanaian Ambassador. He provided detailed information of the background of the students, the conditions in which they had been subjected in Bulgaria. "Ivera, one of the leaders of African students by their Bulgarian col­ lege, was seen with the secretary of the Ghana Stu­ dents’ Union in Athens, Mr. Robert Kotey. R. E. Jones is Speaker

At Chapel

By MORGAN KAMARA

Mr. R. E. Jones, State Extension Agent, State Agricultural Extension Service, gave an interesting talk to students of A&T College last week.

Mr. Jones’ talk was based on the themes “Education and Economic Growth.” He covered the ten-year period 1959-1969.

The speaker revealed figures showing certain control which have great natural resources but low incomes. This seeming para­ dox is greatly due to under­ development of their resources. This is true in part because the masses in these areas are not skilled.

Mr. Jones also showed figures which revealed that the number of people and women who will join the labor force. He mentioned that there will be very little room for unskilled labor.

Within the period given, many changes have taken place in the college graduates, said Mr. Jones.

With particular reference to the agricultural profession, Mr. Jones said that 15,000 graduates will be needed annually, only 7,500 are presently being trained annually.

He further said that graduates will be needed in the various areas of agriculture; namely, research, engineering, economics, finance, education, and others.

Student May Win Job, Travel, And Board

The winner of a unique book review competition will receive a summer editorial job with a major New York publishing firm. Salary, board, and winners' round-trip travel expenses will be paid by the sponsor, Grossett and Dunlap, Inc., publisher of the Universal Library Line of quality paperback books.

The competition is open to all current undergraduates of accredited colleges and universities in the United States. It will run from March 15 through May 31.

The review of no more than 500 words will be based on one of twenty-four Universal Library paperback books specified by the publisher. These are titles used by many instructors as required or supplementary reading in literature, history, sociology, the arts, and other subjects. Books by James Baldwin, Joyce Cary, and others promise the student that his time and effort will be spent fruitfully even if he has no current course in which one of the twenty-four titles is used.

There will be twenty-five second prizes, twenty-five third prizes, and twenty-five honorable mentions. The winners of the grand prize will be a regular member of the Grossett and Dunlap editorial staff for one year, from July 1 to August 31, 1963. He will participate in all editorial activities of the editorial department, and in an editorial capacity, he will assist the back book production specialists. In short, he will be in a working laboratory of the book publishing field and be paid a salary of $600 per week, too. Columbia University is cooperating in the project by agreeing to house the student in one of its dormitories. The Columbia authorities have given their support in the belief that the competition has a worthwhile educational objective.

Rules and information about the competition are available at the college store and local book stores or the student and professor can obtain them by writing to: "Book Review," Grossett and Dunlap, 112 Broadway, New York 13, N. Y. The twenty-four Universal Library books included in the contest are:

- THE GOOD SOCIETY (Walter Lippman)
- MEASURE OF MAN (Joseph Wood Krutch)
- PURITAN Oligarchy (Thomas K. Woolworth)
- SHOCK OF RECOGNITION, Vol. I (Edmond Wilson)
- SHOCK OF RECOGNITION, Vol. II (Edmond Wilson)
- IRISH FOLK TALES AND FAIRY TALES (William Butler Yeats)
- THE UPROOTED (Oscar Handlin)
- JOHN ADAMS AND THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION (Catherine Barton)
- THE STORY OF MY LIFE (Clarence Darrow)
- THE SHORTER NOVELS OF HERNANDO MELVILLE
- FOUR SELECTED NOVELS OF HENRY JAMES
- THE AMERICAN PRESIDENCY (Harold Laski)
- U. S. Grant and the American Military Tradition (Byron Caton)
- THE HORSE'S MOUTH (Joyce Cary)
- HERSELF SURPRISED (Joyce Cary)
- FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT: ON ARCHITECTURE (Ed. by Frederick Gihels)
- ROOSEVELT AND HOPKINS (Robert Sherwood)
- GO TELL IT ON THE MOUNTAIN (James Baldwin)
- PUBLISHERS ON PUBLISHING (Ed. by Gerald Gross)

Pirates Overpower Aggies
In Thrilling Seesaw Games

Spencer Mayfield sent A&T's Aggies packing to defeat the 17-5 conference record and a 117-5 season mark were declared champions for the regular season in the CIAA.

They won the title on the basis of the Dickinson rating system which gave them a 23-9 record. The Aggies edged the second place team, A&T of Greensboro, which had a 23-9 rating for a 1-5 conference mark and 18-7 season record.

These two teams will be seeded in the 15th annual CIAA basketball tournament which will open Thursday at the Memorial Coliseum in Winston-Salem. The eight leading teams in the 18-team loop will compete in the tournament.

Pairings for the first round of the play will be as follows: the bracket: Winston-Salem vs. Elizabeth City at 9:30 P.M. and Johnston C. Smith vs. Maryland State at 4 P.M.

Lower bracket: A&T vs. N. C. College at 7:30 P.M. and Virginia State vs. Norfolk State at 3 P.M.

Two players with the Winston-Salem Teachers head the list of players named to the All-CIAA basketball team. They are Richard Glover, who tapped all players in votes at forward, and Ted Blunt at guard.

Others on the first team are the two full upper guards from Virginia State, Frank Stephenson at forward, and Ernie Brock, at center, and the great Freddie Neal, sharpshooter, ace of Johnson C. Smith at guard.

Players making the second team were forward James Jackson and guard Brash Evans of A&T, center Al Sanito and guard Edie Williams of Maryland State and forward Joe Parker of North Carolina College.
