Twenty-Eight Africans To Visit College On Study Tour Of State

Twenty-eight agricultural and home economics officials from four African countries are due to arrive in Greensboro during the next few days on a five-day trip to North Carolina.

During their stay in North Carolina the African officials will be guests of the Agricultural Extension Service and the A&T College School of Agriculture.

The first group of officials numbering eleven men and seven women are scheduled to arrive in Greensboro on April 13. They will represent these African countries: Kenya, Sierra Leone and Togo.

While in North Carolina the visitors will take part in various activities related to A&T College Agriculture. The overall objective of their program of activities is to broaden the understanding of agricultural extension with particular emphasis on the techniques and skills of rural youth activities; to receive general orientation on American agriculture, life and customs, the role of the United States Department of Agriculture, land-grant colleges and the organizations that provide services to rural people.

The second group composed of seven men and seven women, extension workers, is coming from Kenya, Florida A&M College in Tallahassee, and the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. The program will be to provide training in the extension techniques, aimed at the goal of strengthening Kenya's Agricultural Extension Service.

The third group will be composed of seven women graduate students from the Republic of the Congo, Florida A&M College Extension and the University of North Carolina.

The purpose of the program is to prepare these Congolese to better understand their technical fields and to assume the direction of agricultural organizations in their country.

The study tour will end in September after the officials have visited other parts of the United States. The trip is arranged by the Agency for International Development of the United States Department of State in cooperation with the government of the various countries represented.

Cannonball Will Be Here May 19

Julian "Cannonball" Adderley and his quintet, who have gained many "Firsts" during the early stages of their career, will appear in concert at the Charles Moore Gym on April 23 at 8:30 P.M. The group's appearance is a feature of the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Birthday Week program.

In the latest poll released by Down Beat magazine, this group is rated a gold award winner in the small group division. Since the group was formed Adderley quintet began at the Rotobin in Amsterdam with such a bang that later on in Europe audiences thought they were Adderley's quintet from the United States.

Mr. Adderley has had glowing success with his quintet. This musical organization is made up of Julian and Henry Adderley, trumpet, together with the five members of the band which played the Amsterdam Rotobin on Europe.

A conference on human relations will be held at the college chapel on May 29.

The conference will be one of the best attended student leaders in over one hundred high schools in the state.

UNC Will Hold Human Relations Conference

A conference on human relations in the South will be held at the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill, May 3-9.

Titled "The Future of Human Relations in the South," the conference is sponsored by the University of North Carolina and the young Adult Council, which represents all youth organizations in the United States (except those which are composed of the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans to the future of the States of America.

The purpose of the conference is to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas from all points of view on human relations in the South.

The main speakers will be: J. Clayton Beaver, Ph.D., chairman of the Department of Religion at the University of Oklahoma at Norman, Oklahoma; Richard Laurence, president of the National Association of College Women in the South, Chapel Hill, and the University of North Carolina; and the author of the Negro Vanguard, Rev. Dr. Charles T. Jones, executive secretary of the NAACP.

The conference will begin on May 3 with a panel discussion on "The Southern Experience and the Job Training." The American Friends Service Committee has released literature on human relations in the United States, which it supports. Most of these publications are sponsored by the United States government, although they carry no government endorsement.

Some of these publications may be obtained by writing to the American Friends Service Committee, 1500 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

UNC will hold Human Relations Conference (CONTINUED ON PAGE 2)

Student Body Elections Are Scheduled May 8

In Charles Moore Gym

A&T College students will go to the polls Wednesday, May 8, to elect their officials for the coming year.

The second group composed of seven women Home Economics extension workers, is coming from Kenya, Florida A&M College in Tallahassee, and the Florida A&M College in Tallahassee. They are also on a program to prepare these Congolese to better understand their technical fields and to assume the direction of agricultural organizations in their country.

A&T College students will go to the polls Wednesday, May 8, to elect their officials for the coming year.

The format for this year's election will use a direct secret ballot system. The results will be announced immediately following the election.

The members of the Student Council Committee will hold a meeting at 9:30 a.m. on May 8, in the Student Union, to hear the results of the election.

All students must be registered to vote in the election. The final day to register to vote is Wednesday, May 1.

The Student Council is responsible for the overall management of the college, including the student body, the A&T College, and the A&T College Extension Association.

The Student Council consists of the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, Student Council representative, and the Student Council advisor.

The Student Council is elected by the student body and is responsible for the overall management of the college, including the student body, the A&T College, and the A&T College Extension Association.

The Student Council is elected by the student body and is responsible for the overall management of the college, including the student body, the A&T College, and the A&T College Extension Association.

The Student Council is elected by the student body and is responsible for the overall management of the college, including the student body, the A&T College, and the A&T College Extension Association.

The Student Council is elected by the student body and is responsible for the overall management of the college, including the student body, the A&T College, and the A&T College Extension Association.

The Student Council is elected by the student body and is responsible for the overall management of the college, including the student body, the A&T College, and the A&T College Extension Association.
"College Groups Have Changed"

BY EULA JONES

No one can have health without a healthy scalp. That's a common place saying. But do you know that there are certain things you can do to keep your scalp in good shape? Healthy hair and a healthy scalp go hand in hand. When the scalp is healthy, it is light, easy to manage, and it looks better as long as it is kept clean and healthy. In order to get a healthy scalp, you need to be aware of some basic scalp care practices.

Here's how to brush: Brush the scalp gently, being careful not to pull or tug at the hair. This will help to stimulate the scalp and promote healthy hair growth. The scalp should be massaged in a circular motion to help increase blood flow to the scalp.

Hair oil is effective in soothing and moisturizing the scalp. It should be applied daily to the scalp to help keep it moist and healthy. The oil should be applied to the scalp before the hair is shampooed.

Be sure to take these scalp care tips into consideration. If you take good care of your scalp, you will see the results in your hair. Healthy hair and a healthy scalp are a sign of good health and well-being.
STAND on Market Street, Dixie, Ne.—The Register April 10, 1963 Page 3

Peace Corps

WASHINGTON — June graduates who have completed additional training in recreation or education will find ample opportunities to use their skills and training at Peace Corps service.

Requests for Volunteers with experiences in these fields have been due for 1963 as emerging nations look to the Peace Corps to supply persons with this specialized knowledge.

Ten countries, India, Burma, Laos, Morocco, Guatemala, Venezuela,

Food: The most providing institute of the Peace Corps was not the "Food for Mississippi Drive," but the opportunity to help neighbors in need. This was the principle of the meeting, all students were looking to the student council for help in spreading the word.

In addition to the support of the people in four counties in Mississippi, these people have lost their homes and property, and are now food and clothing for them.

opportunities for those who wish to participate in music education.

Specifically, the Volunteers will school or college education, or have demonstrated ability in YMCA, YWCA, YMHA, or other community associations. As long they may have no dependence.

He also receives allowances to cover food, housing, clothing and incidental. Transportation and medical care are provided.

Peace Corps Volunteers are sent through a training program in the United

Peace Corps Needs Physical Ed. Majors

Four members of the Music Educators National Conference of A&T College attended the Southern Division of the M. E. N. C. in Charleston, West Virginia, at the Charleston Civic Center, March 20, 1963.

Representing A&T College were Cyril Taylor, Stanley Clark, Arg­ nors hemorrhage. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.

Food was the most prevailing need among the students. They were accompanied by Mr. Howard T. Pearson, chairman of the Music Department.

The theme for the conference was "Teaching for Excellence in Music Education." The conference was composed of music educators from southwestern and southeastern states.
The History Of Easter

To the earliest Christians, Easter was the most important holiday. Relatively little notice was taken of the anniversary of Christ's birth; as far as the Caesars were concerned, it was simply an opportunity to mark the time when the sun had arrived in the vernal equinox. Easter is considered the most ancient and the most important festival of the Christian year.

One of the great disputes that has been the subject of a detailed and serious consideration since the time of Christ is the question of the date of Easter. The Easter is considered the longest day of the year, which is on the 21st of March.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that in the beginning only Anglicans were allowed to hold any office, but it was not until 1817 when the Negroes were given that privilege. North Carolina was the last state to grant full religious freedom. The North Carolina hymn.

Easter is considered the most important day, both the Christians and Jews, was the main speaker at chapel on April 3. The program was a celebration of the tercentenary of North Carolina.

"It commemorates the progress of North Carolina during these three hundred years, I cannot omit the favorable parts," Dr. Lovejoy said. He spoke on the treatment of the three minority groups in North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.

The religious groups were considered next. Dr. Lovejoy stated that the N.C. Board of Education had the largest trade in cotton. In North Carolina, received the first Protestant minister in the state. He also noted that in 1830, the largest trade in cotton was done by the English. Dr. Lovejoy ended his address with a story of his own experience during the Civil War.

"I was a member of the Confederate Army," he said. "I was present at the Battle of Gettysburg." He then told of his experiences as a soldier and a statesman.
How Is Your Grooming I. Q.?

What's your impression of — and how is it usually achieved?

Good grooming has a "long view" — the first impression you catch of you when you're still some distance away — and a "short view," or close-up.

Here are tips from the National Institute of Drycleaning — whose members are celebrating Group Grooming Week, 1967:

THE LONG VIEW: If you want to look your best, lay your clothes down the corridor, or sideward, or side of a theater; look at yourself, try on these questions:

Do you neglect your shoulders of dress or suit? Is there a hump, or draggy, at the armholes? Does it hang unevenly? Do your clothes follow you about? Do you always look out of sorts, or in disorder?

What's your overall appearance and is it hang unevenly? Do you ever wear suit, or dress a few days after such item as shoes or belt? Do you neglect your pockets, or flaps.

Do you have a habit of keeping things out of your shirt? Are you wearing a belt that's too tight or too wide? Do you neglect your suit, or dress a few days after such item as shoes or belt?

What's your general impression of — and how is it usually achieved?

THE SAFE WAY to stay alert

NoDoz keeps you mentally alert and on the road, without harmful stimulants.

Second, turn up your coat collar at the start of your trip, and keep it there.

On your clothes should be kept clean and odorless.

Colors should be sharp, whites shined.

In this case, nepotism's a pretty good idea.

And the best way to get it is through Air Force ROTC — because the Air Force prefers to commission its officers directly upon graduation. And the best way to get it is through Air Force ROTC — because the Air Force prefers to commission its officers directly upon graduation.

George M. Stephens, Jr., special assistant to the Governor and representative of the Governor's Program on Economic Development in North Carolina, stated that not much improvement is to be expected in the State's economic picture by working at the top level alone. "These programs," he said, referring to the six which were under discussion at the Conference, "must all be brought to the level of the grass roots of the people.

"It can get as homegrown as a crowded closet. Your cleaner, however, can shrink the bulge out of stretched pockets.

Guess who offered me an executive position with a leading organization, where I'll get good pay, further my education, and enjoy world travel?

Industrial Education Centers

(continued from page 1)

The Register

April 19, 1968

Page 5

1, 000 thousand potential jobs, are to be approved prior to the end of this week.

O.T.S. offers college men and women an opportunity to assume great responsibility. When you complete the three-month course, you'll be commissioned a second lieutenant, and be one of the Army's technical officers.

But if you couldn't fit AFROTC into your schedule, you can still apply for Air Force Officer Training School.

We welcome your application for O.T.S. courses, representing millions of dollars and several

For Tailoring and Repair Service, Shoes, Shirts, Hats and Pants — Visit Elite Clothier

1332 East Market Street

Phone BR 4-9547

U. S. Air Force
"The Well Educated Man"

BY ARLENE CAROL JESSEPP

Being well educated and knowing how to use one's education are qualities every man should try to attain. But becoming well educated is not easy. One may be academically educated but may not possess other qualities that are essential to being well educated.

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, President of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, has listed thirteen qualities that a well educated man should possess. They are as follows:

1. Literacy — He should be able to read critically and with understanding. He should be able to express himself well and know more than one language.

2. Intellectual Honesty — He should be honest with himself; for in doing so, being honest with others will come naturally. Dr. Mays says, "A brilliant but dishonest mind is dangerous and NO OTHERS WILL COME NATURALLY.

3. A Love and Passion for Knowledge — He should consider studying a delightful privilege.

4. Mastery in Some Field — He should be able to do at least one thing well.

5. Intellectual Honesty — He should be honest with himself; for in doing so, being honest with others will come naturally. Dr. Mays says, "A brilliant but dishonest mind is dangerous and NO OTHERS WILL COME NATURALLY.

6. Hard Work — He should be known by his work. Dr. Mays says, "Recruit exemplary performance and all other things will be added unto you."

7. Ability to see relationships for what they actually are.

8. Capacity to read critically and with understanding.

9. Discontent with Mediocrity in Anything — Dr. Mays says, "No man has complete control over his creations. A Social Concern for the Community in Which He Lives — He is an educated person, has an obligation to work for the improvement of his community. This means he must work with civic and charitable organizations, as well as social ones, and contribute to them financially.

10. A Sense of Religion — He should be God-fearing and aware that God has complete control over his creations. Dr. Mays says, "That no man has sense enough to be an atheist."

11. A Profound Respect for Humanity — He must remember that every man is made in the image of God, and remember that God has complete control over his creations. Dr. Mays says, "That no man has sense enough to be an atheist."

12. A Sane View of Religion — He must remember that every man is made in the image of God, and remember that God has complete control over his creations. Dr. Mays says, "That no man has sense enough to be an atheist."

13. A Profound Respect for Humanity — He must remember that every man is made in the image of God, and remember that God has complete control over his creations. Dr. Mays says, "That no man has sense enough to be an atheist."

Dr. Mays says, that "no man has sense enough to be an atheist."