Dean of Admissions Records Show Increase In Enrollment

The figures released early this week reveal a impressive increase in the total enrollment at the college for the fall term. The total number of students enrolled in the fall term was 2,156, an increase of 17 per cent over the previous year. Education In America

Educators throughout the United States last week explored the theme "Education Strengthens the Nation." This theme held the attention of members of the world's largest professional education organization for the field during the annual observance of American Education Week. The week-long observance has ended, it is hoped, that the theme is one which will not be soon forgotten. Education plays such an integral part of the living pattern of the world that its value cannot be overemphasized. Its importance is such that a mere week of observance is not nearly enough.

Education is a never-ending process, one which is necessary for the successful realization of the "American dream." Too often education is the last item to receive attention. Its importance can hardly be overemphasized. Indeed, its importance is so great that the practice had root from this indirect effect of our own. The time has come, however, for us to direct toward the processes of education for her future generations. Education should never be considered as a luxury. It is a necessity for the successful realization of the "American dream.

At the same time there is another America, an America of underprivileged, of overcrowded schools, an America which is not living up to the land which produces the biggest and the best, the land whose citizens enjoy the world's highest standard of living, the land where even the educated are not receiving adequate salaries. This America exists, and the problem of placing and educating these children is not easily excused.

The writer wishes to emphasize the importance of placing and educating these children, in turn, places and traditions do not change overnight, nor is there any place to place and with individuals.

FAMILY UNITS

In Sierra Leone, as in other parts of the world, the family constitutes the main educational unit. In Sierra Leone, however, the typical African family includes the conjugal, siblings, and the parental line. Attention must be directed toward the processes of education for future generations. Education should never be considered as a luxury. It is a necessity for the successful realization of the "American dream.

The theme of American Education Week is a living one, one which fingers forwards and reminds us of the jobs to be done. Such a reminder cannot be unnoticed.

Keep Off The Grass

Things have reached a pretty poor state when Buildings and Motor Vehicle has no reason to keep tourists off the grass. Believe it or not, even this is not working; perhaps it makes some people homeless.

The the time comes for A&T students to kick this problem.

The reputation of a school comes from the appearance of its classes. We must maintain the beauty of our landscape. It is evident that man alone won't do the job. It is left up to every member of our community then to initiate a concentrated campaign to keep A&T clean and GREEN.

There were perhaps a few bright spots the recent defeat of the Aggies by the Florida A&M, but this was definitely a negative performance. The Aggies were in the lead for the most part of the game, but in the end they were defeated by the Rattlers. The Rattlers' defense was strong throughout the game, and their offense was able to score 32 points to the Aggies' 0. The Rattlers' quarterback, Ronald Francis, ran for one touchdown and caught a pass for another touchdown. The Aggies' quarterback, Charles Ward, was unable to carry the ball effectively, and the Aggies' running game was nonexistent.

The Aggies' defense was also not up to par, allowing the Rattlers to gain 404 yards in total offense. The Rattlers' defense was able to hold the Aggies to less than 100 yards in total offense, and the Aggies were unable to convert on third downs. The Aggies' offense was led by their quarterback, Charles Ward, who attempted 15 passes but was only able to complete 3 of them for a total of 45 yards. The Aggies' running game was also nonexistent, with their leading rusher only gaining 26 yards on 6 carries.
