Four College Students Return After Battle Against Poverty

Four students at A&T College who served this summer with the North Carolina Volunteers, a group of 100 students from 20 colleges throughout the state, have returned to campus. They have served in various capacities. All are majors in sociology.

Dr. Robert E. Cooper, Associate Professor of Education, was a member of the staff at the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University in Greensboro. He served as a member of the staff at the public school system in the city of Greensboro.

Dr. E. O. W. Williams, Professor of English, is a native of Greensboro. He obtained his B.S. degree from A&T College in 1949. He received his Ph.D. degree from the University of North Carolina in 1961. Dr. Williams is a member of the National Black United Front.

Dr. W. E. B. Du Bois, a member of the staff at the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University in Greensboro, has been appointed to a position in the federal government. He is a member of the staff at the public school system in the city of Greensboro.

Dr. John A. Johnson, Professor of History, is a native of Greensboro. He obtained his B.S. degree from A&T College in 1949. He received his Ph.D. degree from the University of North Carolina in 1961. Dr. Johnson is a member of the National Black United Front.

Campus Alumni Writes A Book On A&T Legends

Dr. Albert W. Spruill, professor of education at A&T College, has written a book which is due to be published in the fall. The book is titled "Reconsiderations from Aggieville." It is based on the school's history and development. The book has been accepted by A&T College students.

"How We Came To Be Called Bulldogs" by Millie E. Smith

"Great Reconsiderations from Aggieville," published by the Whitbread Press, England, will be in leatherette form. It contains a preface and a chapter about the college's history and development. The book will be published in the fall.

The book will be published in two editions, one for the United States and one for the United Kingdom. The book is expected to be sold out.

"The College of the Future" by Millie E. Smith

"Great Reconsiderations from Aggieville" will be published in England by the Whitbread Press. The book will be available in both hardcover and paperback editions. The book is expected to be released in the fall.

Voting: Period Of Reflection

In less than a month voters will be going to the polls all over the United States to elect a president who will pilot the great ship of state for the next four years. This will also be election of governors and other state and local government officials in many states.

A period like this typically involves every section of every person of average and great nation. The eyes of the world are turned toward this nation during the next few weeks to see what choices we are going to make. And remember, one of the major world powers, cannot escape having her domestic affairs influence other parts of the world.

What are some of the qualities which our president should possess? The president should understand the problems and needs of every section of the nation. He should identify himself with these problems and needs and work earnestly for their solution.

He should be a unifying force behind whom all people of the United States will work to establish a truly free American society.

On president should be well informed on what goes on in other parts of the world so that he will be in the position to discuss with other world leaders matters vital to the preservation of our national interests and the maintenance of world peace.

He should possess initiative, and be calculative in making decisions bearing in mind that a misjudgment may have consequences.

In this election year as at other times, we, the students, have a great responsibility in choosing who will be elected to lead us. Remember that your vote may determine who is elected. This is one of your civic duties and failure to perform this duty is exhibiting irresponsibility at its best.

It is also our duty to urge other people to register and vote.

Vote, and the choice is yours! Don't vote, and the choices is there.

The Ayantee, 1964-65

Very soon activities will begin in connection with the publication of the Ayantee, the college year book. The following activities have been the dates when the first series of pictures will be taken for the 1964-65 year book. Subsequent announcements will be made in this publication as to the other activities in the campus.

It is hoped that everyone will cooperate with the photographers and the year book staff so that we will have a much better publication this year.

We hope that the Editor of the Ayantee and his staff will avoid the embarrassing mistakes that a mess of giving people wrong spelled names and other mistakes which could definitely have been avoided.

We are also confident that the quality of the pictures will increase tremendously this year.

There have been complaints that certain individuals or groups of individuals had deliberately made the year book a thing to disgrace rather than a medium by which pictures can be publicized. As was the case particularly last year. Also there were misspelled names and other mistakes which could definitely have been avoided.

If only there were no sorrow and shame,
If only there were no suffering and shame,
If only there would come a day
That we could do whatever we may.

Let's have cataclysmic consequences.

And with our lives we could keep.

With our lives we could keep.

If only your love with me would stay.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

STUDENT PARKING

Editors of THE REGISTER:

I think that proper regulations on A&T's campus are being made for students who must drive to school.

The parking on campus is set up so that only the faculty can use the parking lots around the main buildings. Most of the students at A&T have classes in Graham and Cherry Halls, but the students are not allowed to use the parking area immediately adjoining these buildings. They are told to use a parking area behind the infirmary. The students are required to pay one dollar for a permit to park on campus, yet they are only expected to park in out-of-the-way places. In some cases a student would be better off not to park on campus.

CAMPUS PULSE

ATTENDANCE AT VESPER

I was disturbed greatly when I found out that very few of the students attended vesper services here on campus. Most of the people that I questioned are the female girls. I think that they are not interested in attending because they are not encouraged to go.

It is my understanding that they are not being recruited for attendance.

Why is attendance so poor at vespers? I feel that the students do not realize that this is their own campus. The students themselves are paying for the distinguished speakers who are brought here.

I think that if the students would consider that vespers are designed for them more they would attend.

Speaking Of Sports With Hank

Well, the A&T Aggies after a very disappointing season, the team's confidence does not have the "touchdown" exuberance it once did. It seems, however, that they have earned the right to win the game against Morgan, blast through games so far has turned to victory as Willie Beasley, star back of the Aggies, blasted over from the fullback, blasted over from the five-yard line for his third touchdown of the game.

Elsewhere Saint Paul edged past Fayerweather 13-8, and Vir-Union triumphed over Elizabeth City 27-12.

Aggie Spotlight

Clifton Matthews (24) star halfback with the A&T College Aggies blasted the Norfolk State College Spartans.

The A&T Aggie pass defense was not formidable in the first half, as Willie Beasley, from Norfolk, engineered a 77-yard drive in which a 47-yard pass to Melvin Phillips for a touchdown. Randolph Elliott kicked the extra point to put his team in the lead 7-0. The second half was a different story. This time it was the Aggie defense that held the ball.

The A&T Aggies last Saturday beat the Norfolk State College Spartans, 36-13, in a CIAA college football game played in Memorial Stadium. A sparse crowd of 3,000 spectators saw the Aggies shake loose their running back for the first time this season and administer the third straight conference defeat to the Norfolk State defense. It was the second CIAA victory for the Aggies against a single loss, and that to a non-conference foe.

Cornell Gordon, the A&T quarterback, cried "Yackety yak" to his receiver and ran a 7-yard drive. The key play was a pass by Gordon in perfect position for Cornell Gordon, the quarterback, to score a touchdown.

The kickoff by Alfred Malone was blocked and returned for a 90-yard touchdown by the Norfolk State defense. Neither team scored in the third quarter.

Chairman of the Board, E. H. Spruell, presented the Aggie coach with a check for $2,000 for his team's efforts in the game. The check was made out to the Aggie football team.

The Academic Performance Of Students Is Affected By Roommates' Influence

East Lansing, Mich. (J.P.) — A study by Robert P. Witten, director of residence hall students services at Michigan State University, provides new supporting evidence for the theory that students today are more significantly influenced by a student's academic performance in college than ever before.

In a pilot survey of 25 men who roomed together as freshmen in 1966, Adams found that all five taken considered a roommate's academic performance in college and during February at the Coast Guard Reserve in New York the game was played.

While a team may win most of its games during the season, it is the team on to victory. So come time duty. Mel intercepted two passes against a single loss, and that to a non-conference foe.

The Virginia State Trojans were edged by Saint Augustine's 25-0. This team has been watching the FAMU Trojans blast Central State of Ohio 90-0. The Trojans of Coach John Gaither are having a very unimpressive start with non-conference over our tormentors, those Big Ten Bears. The Aggies were rolling trouble for a half before they ran a row against conference foes with a perfect straight game. Passes that should have been intercepted went unhandled, and two of them landed Norfolk all of their points.

I never thought I would see the day when the Aggies would have to beg with Aggie fans to cheer their team on to victory. This group combined to limit the Aggies to a mere 39 yards rushing.
