Phi Beta Lambda
Charter's Chapter
At A & T College

A chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, a national society for students preparing for careers in business education, received its charter at A & T College last week.

The organization sets as its objectives: to improve scholarship and develop among its members qualities which will permit them to participate effectively in business professional and community life; to recognize outstanding majors in business and business education, to work toward further improvement in business education programs in secondary schools and colleges, and to develop leadership for business and business education.

The chapter, Theta Pi, has as its advisors: Mrs. Katie G. Dorsett and Dean John Sloan, both in the A & T Department of Business Education.

MRS. NAOMI WYNN

Mrs. Wynn is Named Chairman Of Nurses Association Section

Mrs. Naomi Wynn, instructor in nursing and dean of the School of Nursing, was elected State Chairman of the Educational Administers, Teachers and Consultants Section of the North Carolina State Nurses Association at the organization's annual convention in Raleigh.

A member of the A&T faculty since 1925, Mrs. Wynn, is the first Negro to become a state chairman in the "Nurses Association."

Attending the convention along with Dean Wynn was BETTY GORDON, president of the local Student Nurses' Association of North Carolina. The student nurses' convention preceded that of the State Nurses' Association.

Dean Wynn received her training from Hampton Institute and New York University.

A firm believer in professional organizations, she urges students to participate in professional organizations. She says, "It helps them individually as well as professionally."
A Tribute to the Late President

A year has passed since President John F. Kennedy was mortally plucked from our midst by the foulest deed of all times.

After twelve months the name and spirit of the late president still lingers passionately in the minds of millions of peoples all over the globe. This passion is not merely because the fallen leader was the president of a great nation; it is a manifestation of places he had come to occupy in the minds of people because of his determination to make this world a place of peace, justice and progress.

He was indeed the embodiment of youth and vitality. His intellect was unquestionable; his wit was shown in the way he handled his political opponents.

President Kennedy was concerned with the welfare of peoples all over the world. He understood the problems and aspirations of the developing nations of Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

It was perhaps with this realization that the nifty leader proposed the Peace Corps which is contributing tremendously to eliminating poverty, disease, and illiteracy in many parts of the world.

His domestic policies were not motivated purely by expediency. He fought courageously to rid this nation of the disease." The body they may kill; God's truth abideth still." Thus John Fitzgerald Kennedy lives in our hearts.

His domestic policies were not motivated purely by expediency. He fought courageously to rid this nation of the disease. He fought courageously to rid this nation of the disease. Biology Club Conducts Seminars

The Biology Club began its 1964-65 program with a seminar on "The Historical Study of the Effect of Fishing on the Hopkins Cozumel of the Grayfish," Dr. James Lacewell, professor of biology, led the seminar. This initial seminar was the first in a series which the club plans to hold monthly throughout the school year. The next one was scheduled for December 15, in Room 302 Noble Hall. It was devoted primarily to giving general information concerning opportunities and careers available in biology majors.

Regular meeting dates for the club are the first and third Monday nights of each month. Meetings are held in Noble Hall, Room 302 at 7:30 P.M.

Biology Club officers are Lillian Lacewell, president; Dallas Smith, vice president; Charles Thompson, treasurer; Lynnette Smith, secretary; and Mary Wright, assistant secretary.

Advice to the club is Dr. James Williams.

Traffic Safety Club Organizes to Improve Campus Driving

The traffic safety club's officers for the school year are Jerry Kimbro, president; Dallas Smith, vice president; and Jeannette Bell, secretary; Marian Montague, assistant secretary; and Wesley Motley, reporter.

At the first of three meetings held this year, the club formed the following committees: Poster Display, Homecoming Safety, Survey, and Car Safety Check.

The poster committee headed by Ronald Wildy will be in charge of placing on campus posters which will stress driving and pedestrian safety habits. Watch the display case in the library during the week of November 20 through December 5. The display committee, with Harold Seabrook as its chairman, has big plans for the main showcase.

The Homecoming Tips Committee, with Marian Montague as its chairman, made suggestions to authorities about safety features during homecoming.

Lillian Lacewell, as chairman of the Holiday Safety committee, will have recommendations for traffic safety during the coming holidays. There will appear in future editions of The Register.

As chairman of the Survey Committee, Carter Jones will lead his committee members in conducting a campus-wide survey on traffic safety knowledge.

The Safety Check Committee, headed by Dorothy Beddick, will conduct the final step of the committees' work, earn credits, make intercollegiate friends and receive valuable training in archaeology, by joining a program sponsored by the Association for Cultural Exchange, Inc.

Sponsor a Student Tutorial Conference. The conference was held at Wake Forest College November 15-16. The Conference Committee was sponsored by Mr. Robert Singletary and Miss Frances Givens, presidents of the host chapters.

Volunteers Are Needed for "Digs" in England

A new and exciting opportunity in England is now offered to college students wanting to spend next summer in Europe in an interesting way.

You may help to reveal the secrets of a Roman villa, an iron-age hill fort or the structures of a medieval town or Anglo-Saxon cathedral before they disappear, perhaps forever. Expanding housing programs, city center redevelopment and new highway projects in Britain today have opened up many new possibilities for archaeological investigation.

You may help in this important work, earn credits, make intercollegiate friends and receive valuable training in archaeology, by joining a program sponsored by the Association for Cultural Exchange, Inc.

When Jerry West goes fishing...

"Whether it's the fishing or basketball season, I always carry 'Chap Stick.' It's great; it's got a lip balm selected for use by the U.S. Olympic Team. DON'T LET DRY, SORE LIPS SPOIL YOUR FUN--WHEREVER YOU GO, GO WITH 'CHAP STICK'!"
Speaking Of Sports

With Hank

Well, it's 5 down and 1 to go for the Aggies and we have reached the climax of what has been one of the most thrilling seasons in Aggie football history.

The Aggies started as if they were doomed to a losing season, but a trip down to Charlotte and a victory over the J. C. Smith Bulls seemed to pull them together and they have been rolling ever since.

Last season the Aggies were covering all receivers well, but history can affirm that this favoritism did not win the game; the Aggies lost.

The Eagles made one TD stand up all afternoon and defeated the Aggies 6 to 0.

True, the Aggies led in every statistical column except one, and that one was the most important of all: your game-scoring column.

The Aggies haven't forgotten this game and probably won't ever.

For those who were left behind they vowed revenge for those brave warriors who moved on, and the time is here again.

The men have been working extra hard for this game, and you can be sure they will be giving an all-out effort in this one.

The Aggies are sporting a 4-0-1 record in CIAA Competition and the Aggies against N. C. C. could give the little bit needed to tie the margin. Before the Aggies know their work is cut out for them this Thanksgiving Day.

There are, no doubt, going to be Aggies swarming all over the Eagles Durham into this long awaited day. All that this Editor asks is that you show the Aggie spirit everywhere and help cheer our team to victory and the CIAA flag, which is rightfully ours.

It's been a long time since we have flown the conference flag and it would be a great pleasure to go along side the Basketball Trojans to first in season by the Aggie Caugers.

Basketball: Speeching of basketball, the Aggies Caugers tip off their third place in the nation. Not forgetting of course, it must be mentioned that we Aggies were Southwestern Regional (small college) Champs.

The Aggies were CIAA Champs, National Triples won last season by the Aggies and a chance to cup the CIAA Champs.

The Aggies win the game, 24-6, to remain undefeated in CIAA play.

Cornell Gordon Plays Final Game

With this season not yet complete, Gordon is passing at 481 average, hitting for 47 out of 86 attempts. He has tossed for 10 of his team's 24 touchdowns, five for over 50 yards. He has scored five touchdowns himself on 3.4 carriers.

Gordon leads the team in total offense with 368 yards by passing and 123 yards by rushing.

He was selected All-CIAA quarterback last season and is certain to repeat this year.

A fiery competitor, Gordon will be out to improve his already dazzling record as his team takes on the North Carolina Eagles in the annual Thanksgiving Day Classic to be played at the Durham County Stadium on Thursday beginning at 1:30 P.M.

Undeated in conference play, a win for the Aggies will clinch the CIAA championship.
