President Releases Roster Naming Faculty-Staff Changes

Several additions and changes have taken place in faculty and staff, according to a recent release from the office of the president.

Among the faculty additions are Mr. Terry A. Babb, instructor of English; Dr. Frank C. Bell, professor of history; Mrs. LaMyra Davis, assistant professor of home economics; Dr. Floyd A. Farrar, professor of economics; and Miss Emmalyn J. Franklin, instructor and assistant director of cataloging.

In addition are Mr. Hubert Gaskins, Jr., instructor and coordinator of student activities; Mr. Charles M. George, instructor of history and political science; Mr. Edward Leroy Graves, instructor of music; Mr. Huntley George Manhertz, assistant professor of agricultural economics; and Lt. Colonel Hubert G. Parker, assistant professor of military science.

Mrs. Lucille J. Piggott has been named assistant professor of education and dean of women; Mr. James B. Porter, assistant professor of English; Mrs. Marjorie W. Rogers, instructor of sociology; Mr. Arthur Lee Simpson, instructor of sociology; Mr. Claiborne Thorpe, assistant professor of sociology; Mr. James D. Wooten, instructor of English; Mrs. Cordella Rumph, research assistant and assistant professor of home economics; and Mrs. Sylvia B. Wrobel, instructor of English.

CHANGES

Mr. J. Niel Armstrong has been named acting dean of the Graduate School; Dr. Walter C. Daniel, acting chairman of the Department of English; and Dr. Arthur F. Jackson, dean of the School of Education and General Studies.

In addition are Mrs. E. Bernice Johnson, assistant professor of home economics; Dr. Leonard H. Robinson, director of research; Dr. Virgil C. Stroud, chairman of the Department of Social Science; Dr. Robert S. Beale, director of computer science and data processing center; and Mrs. Fannie Gilchrist, acting director of the nursery school.

Dr. William H. Robinson has been appointed coordinator of the Humanities program, and Mr. B. C. Crews, Jr., will continue as acting head librarian.

RETURNEES

Returning from leaves of absence are Dr. Dorothy Prince, professor of education and psychology; Dr. Randa Russell, professor of physical education; Mrs. Carrie Walden, assistant professor of nursing; and Mr. Avva Sharma, associate professor of mechanical engineering.

Staff additions are Mrs. Carolyn C. Caldwell, stenographer, President's Office; Miss Ernestine Camp, accounting clerk, Business Manager's Office; Sergeant Joel B. Cantrell, Military R.O.T.C.; Mrs. Dorothy R. Copeland, stenographer, Dean of Instruction's office; Mrs. Alice A. Crews, secretary to the Director of Summer School; T/Sgt. Alvin E. Cross, Air Force R.O.T.C.

Others include Mrs. Beulah B. Evans, secretary, PIO; Mrs. Ida V. Gabriel, assistant dietitian; Mr. Henry L. Goldston, chemist; Mr. Jerry G. Kimbrough, athletic

Student Government Issues Proclamation

By LEE HOUSE, JR.

For the incoming freshmen and the un-informed upperclassmen this may be considered an introduction to the Student Government Officers for the 1965-66 school year. President, George Stevens; vice president, Alton Wallace; corresponding secretary, Hattie Kittrell; recording secretary, Jean Liscomb; treasurer, Raymond English; and adviser, Miss Barbara Dodd, and Captain Donald Malloy.

To use the words of Miss Dodd, adviser, the Student Government "has started with a boom." The first Proclamation of the body was issued Saturday, September 18, to President L. C. Dowdy which, in substance, proclaimed "An Aggie on the Go Week" which encompasses the theme: Aggies on the Go for Leadership, Scholarship. The Proclamation was presented directly after the Saturday night movies and a rally for school spirit were held in Harrison Auditorium. Following the rally, George Stevens, president of the Student Government read the proclamation and led the participants by candle light to President Dowdy's Residence, "The Oaks."

Each participating student carried a lighted candle and sang the Alma Mater following the presentation of the Proclamation, President Dowdy responded that the event was a pleasant surprise and he hoped that the students would respond to the challenge offered by the Proclamation. He responded by inviting the student leaders to a "Steak Cook-Out" in the backyard of "The Oaks."

REGISTER Editor Attends Workshop At U. Of Minn.

William Goode, editor of the REGISTER, attended a college publications workshop at the University of Minnesota this summer. He was the only Negro editor present.

The workshop, sponsored by the University's School of Journalism and the Associated Collegiate Press, ran for two weeks, from June 14-25.

Students represented such colleges as the U. of Mass., Catholic U., Berry College, U. of Minn., Siena College, Union College, and many more.

It was an intensive session in which the editor received a chance to study the files of All-American and first class collegiate publications from throughout the country. He was also given the opportunity to exchange ideas with other college newspaper staff members.

In addition to the workshop in the afternoons, there were "shirt-sleeve" sessions in the mornings in photography, typography, and lay-out which were optional to the students.

To gain experience in various aspects of the newspaper business, the students were given the following assignments: to take pictures illustrating work, play, love, hate, anger, and others. The students attended and reported on a speech by Louis Lomax, the Negro author, and they made a photo scrapbook and did newspaper lay-out.

However, the workshop was not all work. There were jazz sessions on campus as well as dances, plays, and concerts; and there were recreation areas for table tennis and pool.

Student involvement in local, state, national, and international issues is essential for the advancement of today's youth.

MAJOR CONCERN

The major concerns of the Student Government for the fall semester are (1) more involvement of A&T College with other colleges in the area; (2) the introduction of "intercollegiate scholastic competition among the community colleges; (3) closer student-faculty relationship. There will be attempts to counter the depersonalization of students that seems to be taking place as the college grows larger.

In order to make himself better qualified to serve as President of the Student Government, Stevens attended a summer institute for student government presidents at the University of Wisconsin. In spite of numerous helpful experiences, Stevens was most expressed by the power of organized students who can create such incidents as those at the University of California.

Student government for 1965-66 promises to be progressive and an asset to A&T. The harmonious cry from advisers and officers alike is for student co-operation and participation.

INITIAL SPEECH

The substance of Steven's first speech to the students at large served as an invitation to student participation and as a challenge to students' resourcefulness. He stated that the role of the student has changed since the last generation.

Honor Graduate Begins New Duties As Dean Of Women

Mrs. Lucille J. Piggott, an honor graduate of A&T College and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, has been named dean of women at A&T.

While other A&T graduates have probably served temporarily in this position, Mrs. Piggott is probably the alumna to be employed as full time dean of women here.

Prior to assuming her present position, Mrs. Piggott has been a stenographer in the Office of the President and more recently secretary to the dean of instruction.

As an undergraduate, she was a member of the Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society, Pi Omega Pi National Business Education Fraternity, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

In March of this year, as graduate student at UNC-G, she was initiated into Delta Pi Epsilon, an honor society for business education majors.

The new dean's enthusiasm about her duties and her concern for the welfare of students are probably best reflected by her philosophy that the student comes first. In view of this, she extends an invitation to students, with or without problems, to visit her office.

Beneath her easy smile and her ready sense of humor is a seriousness that is contagious. With praise for her predecessor and the cooperation of students and personnel, Mrs. Piggott believes that, she as an alumna, she can be a better dean at A&T College than at any other institution.

MRS. LUCILLE J. PIGGOTT

Arlene Maclin, Rawlins, Va., a rising junior in engineering physics here at A&T, has been awarded a full expense scholarship to study for one year at the University of Munich, Munich, Germany, beginning this fall.

This summer she worked as a research assistant on a study of X-ray diffraction of cadmium-magnesium alloys being conducted at A&T under support of the National Science Foundation.

Here Arlene is shown working with Albert Cheek, Greensboro, and Johnnie Richardson, Farmville, N. C., both research assistants in the A&T College Department of Physics. They are shown working with a new Single Channel Analyzer, an expensive group of physics laboratory equipment which is on loan to the college by the Argonne National Laboratory of Argonne, Illinois.

Girls Dormitory Underway; Student Center Imminent

Construction was begun recently on a new $600,000 dormitory for female students.

The L-shaped structure, the first of a proposed two-dormitory complex, will accommodate 200 students. The second building, proposed to follow the same format and contain about the same space, will complete the enclosure of a courtyard.

The building will occupy the site at the Dudley Street entrance to the campus on property purchased a year ago from the Greensboro Redevelopment Commission.

College officials said the new facility will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall semester in 1966.

Besides an even 100 rooms for the girls, the building will also contain reception rooms, suites for dormitory counselors and other facilities normally a part of modern dormitories for girls.

Construction on the new million-dollar Student Center is expected to begin within the next thirty days.

At bid-opening ceremonies conducted recently, low bids on the structure of $850,314, plus allowances for fees and $75,000 for moveable equipment, fell below the original allocation of $1,020,000.

"The savings," said Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, "will allow us to increase the space of the building by full excavation for the ground floor level." Original plans called for use of only about one-half of the available basement area.

The center will house a banquet hall and ballroom, bookstore, club rooms, snack bar, reading rooms, bowling lanes and game rooms and other facilities for recreation. It will also include a few guest rooms for visitors.

To The Freshmen

WILLIAM GOODE

We, the members of the REGISTER Staff, wish to extend a most sincere welcome to the members of the Class of 1969.

You are starting on a long journey that will influence you for the rest of your lives. The difficulties and joys you will encounter are all a part of growing-up. Don't lose hope if the road seems rocky at times. Countless numbers of people have made the same journey before you and many more will follow you. You can do it, too.

A word to the wise is sufficient: nothing good in life comes easy. The same is true of a college education. The facilities and faculty members are here to help you. Don't waste time and money by cutting classes and refusing to study. With the limited housing facilities, you are fortunate to be here. We hope you are not taking space from an individual who would have studied had he been allowed to come.

Once again, we urge you to make this a successful year for yourself and for A&T.

School Spirit

"Sure I'm going to the game Saturday. So what if we did lose our first two games! We lost the first two last year and went on to win the Championship. I don't see why we can't do the same thing this year; and besides, even if we don't win this year I'm a true-blue Aggie and I'll be in there all the way, regardless."

The preceding is a typical example of school spirit. Its importance cannot be overemphasized. School spirit is essential to a well-rounded college atmosphere. It's that something that pulls the team across that last fifty-yard line. It brings in that extra point that can mean so much. It makes champions of a deserving team. So let's pull together and show our school spirit, not only at tomorrow night's game but at all our school ventures.

It's Up To You

By EULA BATTLE

Although many of you have entered college with mixed emotions, there is really nothing to fear. The Agricultural and Technical College is a society set apart from the general society outside the college community. Therefore, you are still protected from the "Great Society" to a certain extent. Yet, you will be able to gain many of the qualities which will be necessary to survive the demands of the modern world. The college can help you to develop your intellectual abilities; and through the years, it will enable you to develop a set of values which will guide you through life.

However, what you gain through study and association at A&T College will depend largely upon you and your attitude toward college life. You have not come to a winter resort; nor have you been fortunate enough to select a year-round playground. If the college has fallen short of your expectations, perhaps you were expecting too much. You cannot hope to gain more from the college than you are willing to exert your efforts and energy to obtain.

In a larger sense, the college is what you make it. This institution has its short comings just as you have yours. Please do not expect perfection. If there is something which should be brought to the attention of the college community, take the initiative to see that it reaches the college newspaper.

Should you have a complaint against some member of the college community or against the rules and regulations by which you are governed, be sure to communicate such through proper channels. Ignorance is no excuse. Find out the names and locations of all college personnel. You may need their assistance sooner than you think.

The college community is proud that you have made A&T your choice of an institution for higher learning and hopes that you will live each day so that it reflects favorably upon the institution. The Community feels that you should try to broaden the scope of your knowledge by attending cultural programs and that you should always strive to do your best. You are an Aggie now, and nothing less than the best is good enough.

Mediocre work is for the birds. The bulldogs want the best.

Fashions

BY PHENIE DYE
"THE SOCK STORY"

This year, socks will play a very important role in the attire of college students. Socks at one time, had been used for elementary and high school students; but as the new fall fashions present themselves to us you will see that a lot of stress has been placed on socks.

The basic white sock is very important for the majority of the coeds, but this fall the trend has been just a little different.

First, we must think of the TEXTURE. The most important thing is to make the scene, and this deals with the type of material which the sock is made from. The sock may be from the fine, fairly visible to the bolder, almost brash material.

Secondly, is the PATTERN. The style as most of us know is most important. One does not want to wear out-dated styles. The Fall styles are ranging from Conservative interpretations to the "wild ones." The designs for socks are from the geometrics, stripes, checks, plaids florals to abstracts.

FIBERS. Fiber plays a major part in socks as to the strength with addition to stretch. The man-made fibers usually get the attention of the consumers.

The LENGTHS vary as to the locality in which one lives. Socks that barely cover the ankle are very fashionable, but in the south-west the knee and above the knee and garter lengths are finding more and more takers. The length of sock depends upon the individual wants to distinguish himself or herself.

Along with socks one must think of the TOTAL LOOK of his appearance. This is known as TOTALITY. The completeness of our dress is from head to toe; and, in order for this to be complete, we must dress accordingly.

This means that we should watch our color combinations.

First Impressions

by PATRICIA LANIER

To the upperclassmen, "Aggieland" is still the same with only a few minor exceptions — like the numerous lights that were installed during the summer to add to the beautification of our lovely campus; the construction in progress on the Girls' New Dormitory; the installation of central air-conditioning, also under progress, in Bluford Library. But, how does "Aggieland" appear to the new "Aggies"? Maybe the following ten impressions expressed by members of the Freshman class will let you know.

DIANNE MANCINI — "When I first arrived at A&T, all I could see were lines, lines, lines; therefore, my view of the campus was almost totally blocked."

FORD BREEDLOVE — "A&T impressed me with its size more than anything else other than the vast number of lights that seem to beautify the campus while illuminating the night."

BERNARD HAILEY — "It's really great in all phases!!"

COMMODORE MONK — "I suffered linenitis, but the food is much better than I had expected."

BARBARA HUDSON — "My first impression of A&T came this summer during Visitation Week. It was greater than I had anticipated."

WILLIE CURRIE — "Academically and socially, it appears challenging, but I was mostly impressed with the general attitudes and hospitality of the upperclassmen toward the freshmen."

FREDRICK ROBERTS — "I believe it just has to grow on you before you realize you wouldn't settle for some place else."

YVONNE LIMA — "The general appearance of the campus impressed me more so than anything else. It looks like a college campus and the atmosphere is quite collegiate."

DARRYL WASHINGTON — "The lines depress me more and more as each day passes."

JUANITA BRAWLEY — "The upperclassmen seem to be quite friendly as well as helpful. I find the campus beautiful and the atmosphere conducive to collegiate life. My only complaint — lines."

I wonder if these first impressions will be lasting ones, don't you?????

Get A Headstart In The Annual Display Contest

Like popularity? Want Campus wide and even national recognition? Want to be the proud owner of a 2 1/2 inch trophy? Huh? Did I hear a yest there? In that case, urge your organization to start now! Start your own conception of a first-rate campus decoration display for homecoming '65.

In the words of the sponsors, "let's make homecoming, 1965, a L A L L A P O L O O Z A . . ." Your entry may just do it. It may be a design or any decent creation of your imagination!! A trophy will be awarded for the best judged display. Plaques will be given for 2nd and 3rd places.

Please contact Captain D. E. Malloy to secure an entry form for your organization. (Capt. Donald E. Malloy C/O AFROTC Campus Post Office, Prior to 8 October, 1965.)

Let's be true "Aggie on the Go" and make the campus really shine with decoration for homecoming. GOOD; BETTER; BEST!!! GREEK; SOCIAL; SCHOLASTIC!!! Your decision. Make it!!!!

Attention, Seniors

ALL SENIORS are urged to come IN PERSON to the Placement Office within the next few days to file their resumes, and list their names and school addresses to receive monthly copies of the "Flash" — in which are listed job interviewing schedules, vacancies in many worthy positions, graduate study opportunities, scholarships, fellowships, and part-time work. This is especially important to those seniors who will graduate the first or second semester of the 1965-1966 Academic Year (or during the Summer of 1966). During the upcoming school year, the Placement Office anticipates 400-500 representatives from Government, Business, Industry, and School Administrative Units from all over the United States to visit our campus and this office to interview hundreds of our interested and qualified students for possible employment. These recruiters will DEFINITELY expect each INTERVIEWEE to have certain data properly filed with their Placement Office, Room 201, Dudley Building. Full co-operation of every senior is urged.

Dr. Broadus Butler Keynotes Faculty - Staff Institute

Pershing Rifles

The National Society of Pershing Rifles of A&T College has already begun preparation for a prosperous year by organizing the drill team under the leadership of tentative P/R Captain, Charles Waring.

The drill team has already received numerous invitations throughout the state of North Carolina. They will also perform for our Homecoming Parade.

Phi Beta Sigma

The Eta Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity extends a hearty welcome to everyone. We are hoping that each of you had a profitable summer and that you are ready to continue your educational pursuits.

In living up to the principles on which our noble fraternity was founded, "CULTURE FOR SERVICE AND SERVICE TO HUMANITY," we of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity volunteered our services to the Freshman Studies Office to help with Freshman Orientation.

The Officers of Eta Chapter are as follows: President and Dean of Pledges, Harold T. Wells; Vice President, George W. Brooks; Secretary, Eddie J. Miles, Jr.; Treasure, Benjamin Brown; Corresponding Secretary and Dean of Probates, William Greene.

Some of the things we plan to accomplish this year are a Founders Day Program in January, and to participate with our graduate chapter, Gamma Beta Sigma, in one of our National Programs, Bigger and Better Business, which is conducted annually. Also we are planning a Greek Week and a Rush Week Program which will culminate this semester.

We invite your interest in Phi Beta Sigma.

Arnold Air Society

The Arnold Air Society is a national military organization composed of Air Force R.O.T.C. cadets. The purpose of this organization is to provide a greater opportunity for cadets to become aware of and associated with Air Force life and functions, to provide valuable service to the Air Force R.O.T.C. detachment, and to provide a social outlet for the members of the Society and the Air Force R.O.T.C. Detachment.

The commander of the Arnold Air Society is James Payne. Any Air Force cadets who desire to join the Society may contact Eugene Feimster or George Wade in 435 Cooper Hall.

Pan-Hellenic Council

The Pan-Hellenic Council under the leadership of its new president, William Greene, had an informal meeting September 22. The purpose of this meeting was to designate and plan the activities of the Pan for the 1965-1966 school year.

The members of the Pan-Hellenic Council are expecting more co-operation this year from the respective fraternities and sororities than ever before. With full co-operation from everyone we are planning to initiate a "Greek-Week" and "Rush-Week" Program in which all Greeks will be active.

We are also planning to increase the membership of the Greek-Lettered Organizations by sponsoring programs and achieving goals which will kindle the interest of those who are academically qualified.

We are expecting full co-operation from the faculty and administration in all our endeavors.

Bills enacted by the U. S. Congress during the past three years were described as representing the greatest achievement in educational legislation in any period in American history.

The speaker was Dr. Broadus Butler, special assistant in Higher Education, U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C. He was delivering the keynote address at the annual Pre-Session Faculty - Staff Institute.

"The legislative program," he said, "has been an orderly development, taking in consideration all sectors of need, covering all conditions of Americans from the most underprivileged to the better advantaged."

He said efforts are now being devoted to making it realistic for any young person, with talent and ability, to complete education after high school regardless of his financial ability.

"These developments," Dr. Butler said, "create new challenges and responsibilities for the college teacher."

Another speaker, Dr. Glenn F. Rankin, dean of instruction at the college issued a warning. "Colleges and universities cannot stand still in purpose and scope, for they have an obligation to better education for greater numbers, to broaden knowledge and to serve society in many other ways," he added, "Neither can colleges and universities ignore current problems without losing their significance in a dynamic social order."

In introducing the self-study program, to be put into operation during the academic year, Dr. Rankin told the group that despite the increasing pressures and demands being placed upon colleges and universities today, these institutions must avoid the temptation of "trying to become all things to all men."

Without carefully planning a course of action, the college "runs the risk of damaging its integrity and fragmenting its basic purposes."

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of the college, in his "State of the College" address, challenged the faculty to wider experimentation in education, to find better and more effective means of instruction.

"The first teachers to discover effective techniques to reach those who have been deprived, should be those who have overcome the same handicaps," he told the group.

Speaking from the subject, "Frontiers in Higher Education," Dr. Dowdy said the frontiers of education may be found in every field of action, unguided by knowledge, wherever the Bill of Rights remains theoretical, wherever ignorance, poverty and disease remain the curse of man and in foreign countries whatever American freedom is valued above American dollars.

During the two-day session, the faculty, representing the disciplines of humanities social studies, professional education, natural sciences and mathematics, and engineering and technology, discussed the theme of the Institute, "Identifying Challenges and Setting Priorities for Higher Education."

Autumn Is A Two-Faced Character

By BOB WAGONER

Autumn is a two-faced creature. It creates all the fun for those who spent a summer in the sun, but brings a sigh of relief for those who toiled for the year's tuition or sweated in summer school.

Too, autumn means fall season; but it also means football season. Even now I hear the band ringing against Scott Hall as it fades onto the marching field the sounds of the canteen become apparent sounds silenced by the absence of vibrant youth during the summer.

The two-faced monster spells lack of confidence for freshmen who, stumbling from place to place, can't seem to understand why "they" built the gym so far from the Dudley Building or why they placed freshman math and physical science in either Carver or Graham Halls. However, for the sophomore there is added assurance that he has made it because now he is Mr. Sophomore and screams it if asked, that is until he gets into first semester calculus, organic chemistry, advanced grammar or any other "sop" course, as he calls them. The junior concludes that this is his year for balling before he gets down to the real work, but the senior broods that he balled too much, and now it doesn't appear that he will "waltz" down the aisle come June. In any event, we will find a Mona Lisa smile on this creature's face almost at any glance.

Autumn is football, however; and every football player wants a pretty girl, and every pretty girl wants a football player. The barber cuts his hair on credit and the grocer waves at him as he passes by. The majorette and cheerleader iron his shirts and the dietitian feeds him a heaping plate with a smile while the 3.79999 electrical engineering major starves from malnutrition. Football season impresses upon the minds of higher education administrators that higher education administration IS a matter of economics and that receipts from football must, in addition to paying for scholarships, also help support the entire athletic program.

In the fall, the young lovers race to enjoy the cooling cool of the autumn evening. The boy enjoys the sight of his girl bathing her face in the colorful evening sun, her eyes closed, the brown skin made bronze by the autumn sun. He kisses her and she races off into the forest where pastel leaves reflect the colorful sun and paints a multicolored land-scape before it rusts away into winter.

And then, when the band stops playing and the crowd stops cheering and the classroom is silent except for the turn of a page now and then, loneliness creeps into our young adult and we ask ourselves what are we doing here. Are we getting the most out of college? Where did we come from? We remember the proverb "Success is not determined by the height that we have gained but rather by the depth from which we have come." We realize that there is nothing that we can do about time that we have wasted "and we haven't even begun to live yet," we finally realize.

We tend to believe that as we grow older, every autumn will bring new joys and new sorrows or, if you like, new food for thought. There will still be football. But the coach no longer knows us, and the players do not respond with an intimate nickname. Our classmate will no longer cheer vigorously showing their beautiful legs because they no longer have the vital look that the walk from Carver to Graham Hall helped give them, and somehow we won't know any of the faces you know, just like high school. The boys will have realized they do not have the Mr. America physique they thought they had and will have consequently developed a taste for clothes that will emphasize their good points and hide their bad ones.

We will however, always remember how it was, won't we? And we will still love our school. We will still love football and we will still love autumn although she is a lonely two-faced creature.

Capable of speeds better than 2,000 mph, the YF-12A is the hottest aircraft around. Now Maj. Walter F. Daniel, test pilot for the YF-12A, answers your questions about the world's fastest manned airplane and America's Aerospace Team.

(Maj. Daniel, a test pilot since 1954, is a member of the Society of Experimental Test Pilots. He received a B.S. degree in Aeronautical Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. In February 1962, he set world class time-to-climb records in a T-38 jet trainer.)

Is the YF-12A the world's fastest manned aircraft?

It certainly is. On May 1 of this year the YF-12A (formerly known as the A-11) reclaimed the world absolute speed record from the USSR. It was clocked at 2,062 mph over Edwards Air Force Base.

How big is the YF-12A?

The exact dimensions of the YF-12A have not been released yet. But it's approximately 100 feet long, with about a 50-foot wingspan. That's half again as big as our present interceptors!

Is the Air Force training many men as pilots these days?

Yes, very definitely. In spite of all you hear about unmanned vehicles, the human pilot is still very much in the picture. As a matter of fact, the Air Force pilot quota is on the increase.

What other kinds of jobs does the Air Force offer?

Since it's one of the world's foremost technological organizations, the Air Force has plenty of openings for scientists and engineers. There are also many challenging and varied administrative-managerial positions.

What do I have to do to become an Air Force officer?

Air Force ROTC is the best way to get started as an Air Force officer. The new two-year Air Force ROTC program makes this method available to men who have already completed a year or two of their college education. For college graduates, if you did not take advantage of ROTC, you can still get started through Air Force Officer Training School (OTS), a three-month course open to both men and women.

Can I keep up my studies while I'm in the Air Force?

The Air Force encourages its men and women to continue their educations. For instance, you may qualify to study for a graduate degree during off-duty hours, with the Air Force paying a substantial part of the tuition.

What kind of future do I have in the Air Force?

A bright one. As we move further into the Aerospace Age, the Air Force is going to grow even more important. And you can grow with it!

CONTEST WINNERS

Mrs. Irene Pleasants, left, was last week crowned as "Miss Buildings and Grounds" at A&T College, in winning first place in a fund raising project sponsored by the A&T College Alumni Association. Mrs. Mabel Davis, also an employee at the college, was runnerup.

Students Get 50 Per Cent Discount To Attend NRT Productions

Students are offered an exceptional saving on tickets for the National Repertory Theatre production at Aycock Auditorium in Greensboro. Between October 13 and October 16 NRT will give two performances each of Jean Giraudoux' "The Madwoman of Chaillot" and Richard Brinsley Sheridan's "The Rivals."

Groups of 10 or more students will be admitted for 1/2 the regular Box-Office prices. Faculty members attending with students are also entitled to the 50% discount. This is one of the few opportunities students have to see and enjoy the plays they read and study in the classroom. Reservations can be made by phone 273-5584 or 273-5585 or by writing to Box Office, National Repertory Theatre, UNC-G, Greensboro.

For the third consecutive year, the National Repertory Theatre is preparing its tour with an "artists-in-residence" period at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Both productions will open at Aycock Auditorium — the first on October 13 — before beginning its coast to coast tour, which arrives on Broadway next Spring.

The productions star Eva LeGalienne, the undisputed First Lady of Repertory, Sylvia Sidney, celebrated stage and screen actress; and Leora Dana, Broadway and film star. Margaret Webster, one of the outstanding figures of the contemporary theatre, will be joining NRT for the first time as director of "The Madwoman of Chaillot." Jack Sydow, who directed THE CRUCIBLE and SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER the past two seasons, returns as director of "The Rivals."

"The Madwoman of Chaillot" was first produced in this country on Broadway in 1948. It received the Drama Critics Circle award as the best foreign play of the 1948-49 season. Critics have hailed it as "a fascinating piece of dramatic irony," with "wild imaginative glamor" and "the most unusual and provocative play of the season."

"The Rivals," an hilarious farce set in Bath, England, the fashionable watering place of the late 18th century, has the same rollicking spirit as NRT's highly successful production last season, SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER. The play stars Miss Sylvia Sidney in the role of the famous comic character, Mrs. Malaprop.

All student groups who attend any of the performances are invited to remain in the theatre after the production for an informal discussion with members of the acting company and staff.

A&T COLLEGE GETS TEACHERS ON LOAN

Three new teachers for A&T College, on loan from the University of Wisconsin, under a special program of cooperation between the two institutions, were recently welcomed to the A&T campus.

Dr. Glenn F. Rankin, left, dean of instruction, greets the new arrivals, all doctoral candidates in history at the University of Wisconsin: Ralph Desmarias of Nashua, N. H.; Brian Peterson of Des Moines, Iowa, and Miss Sylvia Deprez of Appleton, Wis.

Under the exchange, A&T has sent Dr. Robert Johnson, professor of humanities to the University of Wisconsin, for one year.

From The Library

Beginning this school year the Reader's Adviser Librarian will teach Library Usage to each section of the freshmen English class. She will also be in charge of Freshmen Library Orientation. This will consist of familiarizing the class with the various departments and services offered by each.

Students going to other libraries in the city will not be permitted to use the facilities without a letter from the Bluford Library.

How About That? RBH Players Outline Plans For This Year's Activities

By STANLEY JOHNSON

In a recent meeting of the 'C' Section of Scott Hall it was noted by one of our roving reporters that the men of A&T are conscious of the language they use in the dormitory and around the campus. Profanity is used most frequently. It was suggested by a concerned student that the amount of profanity now being used be reduced.

The suggestion brought on quite a discussion about the use of profanity in general. The following are pros and cons to that suggestion. Names of individuals who made the statements have been withheld for their protection.

Pro. . . "I don't think a person should use a great deal of profanity because it is a sign of insecurity. It also reflects a limited vocabulary."

Con. . . "If you should walk up to a guy in the dormitory and say something to him in correct English, with proper grammar and composition, he would probably look at you and say "HUH?" But if you tell him in a language he can understand (indicating a mixture of slang and profanity) he will probably answer you without hesitation."

Pro. . . "When you use profanity around females on campus, you aren't showing them very much respect. So one should try to break the habit."

Con. . . "Some of the females use profanity more so than most of the males, so what are we to do?"

Pro. . . "Get another girl friend."

Con. . . "Why not use profanity? Teenagers are exposed to it in the movies and on the television. The actors use it; not only this but some of the faculty members use it incessantly."

Pro. . . "... but we come to college to better ourselves and learn to talk intelligently, so why not practice it with our friends."

Con. . . "If you take ROTC and you do something wrong, you'll get chewed out in no-uncertain-terms. You can believe me that it usually brings results. So I say, why not

The Richard B. Harrison Players met Wednesday, September 22, 1965 in Hodgkin Hall, Room 207 to discuss the 1965-66 theatrical season and to select various committee chairmen. Charles Atkins, a junior from Gary, Indiana and president of the organization, presided over the meeting. Other officers for the 1965-66 season are as follows: vice-president, Willie Randolph, a junior from Elm City; recording secretary, Louise Gooche, a senior from Henderson; corresponding secretary, Sandra Daye, a sophomore from Greensboro; treasurer, James Thorne, a junior from Elm City; parliamentarian, Roy White, a junior from Elizabeth City; reporter, Eula Battle, a junior from Whitakers, North Carolina.

COMMITTEES

To help carry out the plans for the 1965-66 school season, the following committee chairmen were elected: Awards Committee, Dianne Laughlin; Social Committee, Cassandra Gaines; Program of Work Committee, Morris Rogers; Publicity Committee, Stanley Johnson. If any new member is interested in working on a committee, he should contact the Chairman of that committee.

PRODUCTIONS

The Harrison Players' first production will be THE BRICK AND THE ROSE by Lewis Carline which was presented last spring in Atlanta, Georgia at The National Association of Dramatic and Speech Arts. Both the cast — William McCrary, Morris Rogers, Sandra Daye, James Wilder, Stanley Johnson, Anne Mitchell, Roland Haynes, Louise Gooche, James Thorne — and the play itself were received favorably by the critics. It is hoped that a similar group will receive recognition at the NADSA Conference (Grambling College, Louisiana) in April, 1966. Other plays which are being considered for this school season are as follows: DARK OF THE MOON, RAISIN IN THE SUN (Lorraine Hansberry), IN WHITE AMERICA, (Martin Duberman), THE BLOOD KNOT (Athol Fugard), and MEDEA Euripides).

A back to school picnic has been planned for October 2, 1965 at Battleground Park. It is hoped that this event will bind former members closer together and allow them to become acquainted with new members. Other activities on the agenda are theatrical exchanges with other colleges in the area, theatre parties, and an awards banquet where trophies, keys and certificates are given for outstanding achievement in acting or technical work.

THEATRE PARTY

The first theatre party plans to journey to Catawba College Community Center (Salisbury, North Carolina) which has scheduled the Professional Broadway Touring Company for the very popular musical comedy, "Stop The World — I Want To Get Off." The production will be presented on Thursday, October 7, 1965 at 8:15 P.M. Jackie Warner will play the leading role. Anyone desiring further information should contact the adviser, Dr. John Stevenson; the secretary, Louise Gooche; or the president, Charles Atkins.

The Richard B. Harrison Players are thirty-two in number. However, a recent entertainment of freshmen revealed several interested persons. After viewing short scenes from various productions, the freshmen "dined and danced." Hoping for a very successful year, The Harrison Players solicit the support and cooperation of the college community.

An A&T Trustee Becomes Member Of H. Ed. Board

The A&T College Board of Trustees has had one of its members, Mr. J. S. Stewart, a Durham banker, named to the reorganized North Carolina Board of Higher Education.

The announcement was made by Attorney Robert H. Frazier, chairman of the A&T Board, who said that the appointment is temporary pending formal approval at the regular fall meeting to be held in October.

A&T was one of five senior colleges named by Governor Dan K. Moore to select one of its members to fill the quota for representatives from the senior colleges, as specified in the new act. The new board will be composed of 15 members authorized by the recent session of the North Carolina Legislature.

Stewart, who became a member of the A&T Board in 1961, is president of the Durham Mutual Savings and Loan Association, a member of the Durham City Council, a member of the North Carolina State Democratic Executive Committee and a member of the National Public Advisory Committee of the Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA) of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

IT'S A NEW YEAR... A NEW CLASS

Cheering the cheers that cheer the boys on to victory is the stock in trade of these freshmen tryouts for the A&T cheering squad. They are being shown the ropes by veterans from last year's championship screamers.

The pert pulchritude of Cynthia Womack who hails from Martinsville, Virginia, is symbolic of the loveliness of the new Aggie Coed. The delightful freshman hopes to major in clothing.

High School All-American James Smallwood of Buffalo, New York and quarterback William Pearson of Winston Salem, review plays with Coach Bert Piggott. The two freshman players have shown outstanding ability in the first few opening games.

Class Of 1969 Has Brain And Beauty According To Scores And Reporters

By BOB WAGONER

The space-age freshman of 1965, a fallout of the second world war bomb, finds much in common with his counterpart of some years ago when our college was brand new. He has classrooms, although they are somewhat better, and buildings although they are better are not strikingly more modern than they were then.

One thing they don't have in common is girls; and the freshman class of 1965 has its share.

The first freshman class of A&T had no girls. Can you imagine that? What did they do — all those boys (with no girls) just sitting around studying?

GIRL AND BRAINS

The freshman class of 1965 has more than just a few pretty girls, however. This class has brains. They could be the beginning of a new era in Aggieland. The college has enrolled new programs that are aimed at elevating the quality of the A&T student. We are concerned with education, the kind of education being taught throughout the country: good education. (There is no doubt that we always have been, but now we have some assistance from the government and the alumni association to help bring promising students to study here at A&T.)

Who are these students? Where are their homes? Why did they choose A&T since some had other choices? (A few of these students have SAT scores which average 103 points above last year's class. Such scores could have gained them entrance into just about any college in the country, other things being equal.)

These 1,400 young men and women were selected from 2,600 applications. They will represent the largest freshman class ever to enter college. Ninety-six of these students were either valedictorians or salutatorians of their high school classes. Eighty-seven per cent of the students come from North Carolina and the remaining thirteen per cent come from out of state and foreign countries.

FRESHMAN SCIENTISTS

Last summer 33 of these students began studying on the freshman program designed for high aptitude students. One of these was Clayton A. Hudson of Henderson, North Carolina. Young Hudson was sponsored last spring by his high school, Henderson Institute, as a junior scientist on the A&T Junior Science and Humanities Symposium, sponsored jointly by the North Carolina Academy of Science (Raleigh), the U. S. Army Research Office, Durham, and A&T. The young scientist presented a half-hour lecture on "Air Injections - Intramuscularly" and then answered questions from some of the most knowledgeable scientists in North Carolina.

Dr. Robert S. Beale, chairman of the high school program of the College and director of the Symposium, stated that Hudson's material was of a very high caliber. The presentation won for Hudson a trip to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point where he listened to lectures by famous scientists, attended seminars and toured the Military Institution's physical plant. These speakers included J. Robert Oppenheimer, the father of the Atom Bomb.

SYMPOSIUM WINNERS

Also winners in the A&T Symposium were Frederick D. Lockley of J. W. Ligon High School of Raleigh, whose project at the symposium was "Converting Solar Energy to Electrical Energy"; and George C. Thompson, Jr., of Central High School of Hillsboro. Thompson presented a paper on "Chorio-Allantoic Grafts of Limb Primordia in Chic Embryos."

Another talent that all Aggieland will be watching is William Pearson, a freshman quarterback on the A&T Football team. He showed some mark of his talent against the Camp Lejeune Team in a non-conference opener Friday, September 18. Aggie lineman James Smallwood, a high school All-American from Buffalo, N. Y., is another freshman who is showing good talent according to head coach Bert Piggott. Smallwood was recruited for A&T by Tom Day, former A&T great now playing with the Buffalo Bills. Coach Piggott stated that Pearson and his freshman teammates represent a new breed of athletes at A&T. "They are also doing well in the classroom," he stated.

IMPROVED PROGRAMS

This freshman class has the advantage of strengthened freshman English program in communications including an improved course in developmental reading. It will also have the benefits of modern mathematics.

There are other freshmen, and we hope that they will feel proud of the ones we have chosen to represent their scope.

It is hoped that these young men and women will successfully orientate themselves in the collegiate ideals and will then proceed to fulfill their potentials. The college has many sources of help available to every student and especially the freshman. This help includes the advisers, the dormitory counselors, the director of freshman students, the instructors, the director of admissions, the chaplain and the upperclassmen among others.

use profanity, if you're exposed to it daily?"

The meeting supervisor finally ended the discussion with remarks indicating that it would be preferable to discontinue the use of profanity. Although this ended the discussion, the matter of whether the general use of profanity should be morally accepted was left on a debatable note.

The incessant use of profanity is definitely becoming more noticeable. Though it may seem a minute problem now, wouldn't it be embarrassing if the day should come when college students are recognized as being profanners? How about that?

LEAVES GRANTED

Leaves of absence have been granted to thirteen faculty members.

Five of these are recipients of study grants under the Wisconsin Exchange Program. They are Mrs. Pearl G. Bradley, Mr. Sidney Evans, and Miss Myrtle Smith, all of whom are studying at Ohio State University. Miss Jean Marie Bright is at New York University and Mr. Wendell Jones is at the University of Iowa.

Also on leave are Dr. Robert Johnson who is serving as visiting professor at the University of Wisconsin; and Dr. Dorothy Williams appointed a member of the Interdisciplinary, Institutional, Interracial Research Team under the direction of the Rural Sociology Department of the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Edmund T. Moore is studying at Cornell University; Dr. Gladys Royal is doing research with the Federal Government; Dr. George C. Royal is participating in research in the Department of Microbiology at the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia.

Mr. James L. Jenkins has accepted an assignment with the Hampton Institute Project in Keneba, Sierra Leone, West Africa; and Mrs. Evelyn Gadsden Jones is accompanying her husband to the University of Iowa.

Joseph Lissa Tommy, a freshman from Sierra Leone, Africa is one of the many freshmen who have become absorbed in their studies at the outset of the semester. Majoring in agricultural economics, he has become a part of Bluford Library since arriving on campus.

Matthews Signs Contract With Baltimore Orioles

By BOB WAGONER

Cliff Matthews, who last year made the second team of the CIAA conference team and who also led the league in scoring, is not carrying the ball for the Aggie football team this year. His summer was spent catching the ball in the rookie team of the Baltimore Orioles.

We never want to see a player leave, even at graduation and even when a coach has the optimistic "There are more where they came from" attitude. While we were singing the blues, the Orioles were singing a different tune with a promise in one hand and a contract in the other.

How does it feel to be picked as a possibility of winning the Most-Valuable-Player Award in the major league? What's it like going from college ball to professional? What are the advantages and disadvantages? How does he compare his training and experience in the CIAA with other players coming from all over the world? The REGISTER talked with the Aggie star and these are some of his replies.

Matthews said that he found the pressure of professional ball a matter of economics as well as a constant need to improve his game. "If a player doesn't improve, he might get a decrease in salary," he said. "Every player is picked because he can possibly offer something to the club." The scoring champ said that in college one has more time to try new things and to perfect a particular skill. He finds that the pitcher and catcher must specialize more and try to become the very best in the game whereas infielders and outfielders might learn the other two positions around him. These can all help swell his bag of tricks. He feels that college ball can give a player time to iron out any doubts about his biggest talent and keep him from making a mistake that could cost him his career in professional ball. Although Cliff Matthews played on the rookie team in Bluefield, West Virginia this summer, he will go to Wisconsin for spring training. He feels that there are many good players in the CIAA and that A&T and Shaw University might well battle for the championship this coming season.

The rookie feels that there are several good players on the A&T baseball team, but he singled out shortstop Lloyd Lightfoot as one of the exceptional players. In the future Aggies might well tune in a World Series that includes both Matthews and Lightfoot on the roster.

Cliff Matthews is from Far Rockaway, New York where he played baseball and football for Far Rockaway High School. He made all-city in both of these sports. He was encouraged to come to A&T by a former Aggie who said that, if a man has talent, he can function on this campus as Matthews' experience and this break can attest.

What does the future hold? Work. "Professional baseball leaves little time for socializing" the player said. "We play every day and a person expecting a grand glamorous life will be disappointed in pro ball." You have got to work hard and I love every minute of it," he concluded.

Every Aggie who is an Aggie wishes the player the best of luck and that he may someday reach the heights.

AGGIE ACE

Mel Phillips, 6-1, 195-pound senior halfback, is the key to the A&T College Aggie offense for the current season. A speedy, shifty runner, Phillips is an outstanding pass catcher and is equally efficient on defense. He comes from Shelby.

Aggie-Ram Game Set For Capital On October 23

The A&T College Aggies and the Winston-Salem State College Rams will meet in the 23rd annual Capitol Classic, to be played at the Washington, D. C. Stadium on the night of October 23, 1965.

Peter C. Doss, director of D. C. Promoters, Inc., sponsors of the Classic, said that final arrangements have been completed between his organization and the two colleges, both members of the Central Inter-collegiate Athletic Association.

James "Red" Milner, quarterback for the Rams and CIAA leader last year in total offense, is the key man in the Winston-Salem attack.

Mel Phillips, star halfback with the Aggies, is his team's big man on offense. The Aggies will bring to the Classic two starters from Washington in John Brown, a 6-2, 232-pound center, and Thomas Conti, a 5-9, 222-pound fullback.

The engagement for the Aggies will mark their third appearance in the Capitol Classic. A&T played against Tennessee State University in 1950, and against Virginia State College in 1951. The Rams will be playing their first engagement in the Washington promotion.

The Aggie-Rams series, representing one of the keenest rivalries in the CIAA, dates back to 1952. While several of the contests have been close, decided by as few as two points, A&T has emerged the victor in each of the 13 meetings.

Classic officials said negotiations are being conducted to have both colleges bring their bands, both considered among the better musical units representing CIAA colleges.

A&T Plays Smith Tomorrow Night In Greensboro

The A&T College Aggie-Johnson C. Smith University Bulls football game, to be held here on October 2, is to be played at night. This is the first contest at home.

Dr. William M. Bell, A&T athletic director, said some schedules mistakenly list the game for the afternoon, but the correction reveals that the contest is to be played under the lights in the Greensboro Memorial Stadium beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

Bell also announced that the half-time show will include a fireworks display.

The clash is the second in a series for the two teams begun in Charlotte last year, marking a resumption in football competition after a layoff since 1948.

Homecoming

OCTOBER 16

Loss Of Veterans Creates Problems For Aggie Team

With limited depth at most positions, A&T could be in for a rough sledding considering its 10-game football slate.

Sad news which came from the Office of Admissions and Records, dropping at least four veterans, and the signing of a pro baseball contract by Cliff Matthews, the star halfback, are contributing factors.

For a team, which operates from a pro offense, requiring smooth timing, the loss of five veterans, creates an overwhelming problem.

A&T does have some positive factors. The defense will be about as good as ever. The interior line contains such returning veterans as Elvis Bethea, shot put and discus champion, at 6-3, 245 pounds; Harold Darby, 6-3, 278 pounds; Clyde Pettaway, 6-4, 255 pounds; and William Sinclair, 6-1, 240 pounds, all tackles; Guards — Robert Edwards, at 5-9, and Jerry McCullough, 5-11, both 240 pounds, and standout ends in Conrad Lattimore, 6-2, 195 pounds, and Heyward McKie, 6-3, 210 pounds.

The lone returning back from last year's starters is Melvin Phillips, a 6-0, 197 pound halfback, but who ranks among the best the Aggies have ever had.

Dr. F. E. Davis, left, physician at A&T College, examines Thomas Avant, right, Greensboro, a candidate for the end position, as varsity tackle, Harold Darby, Buffalo, N. Y., looks on from middle.

Dr. Davis pronounced 62 players who reported for fall drills in top shape and "battle ready" for the upcoming campaign.

Team Drops Season Openers To Camp Lejeune And Tenn.

The Aggies lost their opening game Saturday night, September 18, when they dropped a close one to the Marines by a score of 17-14.

Camp Lejeune scored first on a 22 yard field goal by Craig Blake. The Aggies came back in the second period and took the lead 6-3 when Willie Vaughn picked off a Camp Lejeune pass and returned it 30 yards for a score.

Both teams remained scoreless in the third period but the Marines exploded for two touchdowns in the final period to get the winning margin. Quarterback Jim Laurent threw a 20 yard touchdown strike to Bartolozzi for one score and Redder crashed in from the three yard line for the final score. Blake made both extra points good.

The Aggies scored their final touchdown when freshman quarterback Willie Pearson came into the game with five minutes of playing time remaining. With the ball on the 25 yard line he moved the team 75 yards for the final touchdown. He scored on a quarterback sneak of one yard and passed to end Conrad Lattimore for the two point conversion.

On September 25, the Aggies lost their second straight contest, this time to the Tennessee State Tigers, by a score of 42-12.

Tiger quarterback Eldridge Dickey had the offensive honors of the game as he completed 17 out of 31 passes for 245 yards. Three of these passes went for touchdowns and he also scored once on a four yard run.

The second stanza was a wide open scoring battle with Tennessee scoring three touchdowns and the Aggies two.

Freshman quarterback Willie Pearson once again showed great potential as he teamed up with end Conrad Lattimore for a 52 yard touchdown pass.

However, the biggest thrill of the night came when Aggie halfback Gerald Fitzgerald took the ball on a kick-off and ran 92 yards to paydirt.

Interior linemen with the A&T College Aggies began work with the seven-man sled the very first day of their workouts.
