Foreign Affairs Seeks Students For Its Program

The Foreign Affairs Scholars program, sponsored by Howard University in cooperation with the Department of State and other foreign affairs agencies, is set up to select and help provide graduate study for foreign affairs students and other foreign affairs fields in the government.

Students are selected into the program while in their junior year of college; however, there is some consideration to seniors who show some indication of outstanding qualifications for a foreign affairs career.

Foreign Affairs Scholars program is planned tentatively for December 10 by the placement office.

Blood Is Essential

Next week the Red Cross Bloodmobile will once again be at A. T. College to obtain as much of the life-giving fluid as possible.

As you all know, blood is one of the most essential elements of the body. Without it we cannot survive.

The need for rapidity and efficiency is imperative that the Red Cross secure as much blood as possible. The holiday will be accompanied by the usual slaughter on the highways and the casualties could have been prevented if enough blood of the right type could have been acquired. Maybe a friend or relative was in this situation.

Prolonged exposure to hospitalization in the event of an injury or accident can drain a person of blood. Many more persons have died in World Wars I and II and the Korean Conflict if a ready supply of blood and plasma had not been available. Blood is also saving many lives in Viet Nam today.

The Red Cross is also ready for emergencies. There have been many floods and earthquakes in the last few years. The Red Cross was able to help save many lives because of the blood supply available.

Before you refuse to give a donation, stop and consider the consequences. Someday your friends, relatives, or even you may need a transfusion. Your own blood may save your life.

The Red Cross needs as much blood as it can get. That which is not used in transfusions is broken down into various essential products.

Remember, every little bit helps. We hope you will.

On Speaker Ban Law

Recently, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools threatened to withdraw accreditation from state supported colleges in North Carolina because of the Speaker Ban Law. The A&T Board of Trustees has already adopted the policy that the college campus should lose its accreditation, we will lose the ability to get federal and state monies. If a college allows on its campus a speaker who seeks to break down the government, should not that institution which is a federal representative and federally supported be considered as having lost its merit? After all, is the state supported institution not a child of the government? Should not the child who aids in the destruction of the parent lose the merit made possible by the parent? If you agree with this viewpoint, please let the President and Secretary know.

About The Laundry

Editor of THE REGISTER:

I am writing on behalf of many students who have had the agreed problem of the college laundry. Our laundry is perhaps the cleanest on campus. What is the problem? I believe the problem is the attitude of those in charge.

On the bottom of the slips that you receive for sending your clothes out to be washed, there is a box where you can write: "Prompt fetching please." I have sent them every week since August and my clothes have never been washed. What is the problem? I feel that it is because you are not checking the slips to see if they are washed. I would appreciate it if you could be more conscientious about this matter.

I am writing to you because I think that the college laundry needs attention, for it concerns all students.

Bookstore

Editor of THE REGISTER:

It has been noted that the laundry of our school has opened a depart­ment for the dry cleaning of stu­dents' clothes. An article that you published in THE REGISTER some weeks ago concerning the students using the college books for dry cleaning certainly did wonders for the morale of the young ladies as well as the gentlemen of the campus in that it taught us that we needed something more. I would like to thank you for bringing this issue to the attention of the administration and others who might be interested.

Every student on campus is proud of THE REGISTER for its notable­worthy article. Continue the good work.

Evelyn Daniels

Lawn Damage

Editor of THE REGISTER:

Since the construction of the student center, the college has been forced to practice routine lawn care. Few realize the work and un­derstanding that goes into the keeping of the lawn.

Letters To The Editor

Editor of THE REGISTER:

I am writing to you about the Speaker Ban Law. I think that it is very unfair to have a person who is a member of the government speaking on our campus. I believe that we should lose our accreditation because we are allowing this to happen.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS WILL BEGIN NOVEMBER 24, 2015 6:00 P.M.

CLASSES WILL RESUME NOVEMBER 29 7:00 A.M.
Dr. Robert Hatch Delivers Address
At Annual Education Celebration

Dr. Robert Hatch, chairman of the Department of Education and chairman of this year’s American Education Week, said, "Today, the importance of education cannot be overstated. Education is not only an individual achievement but also a societal necessity. It is a means to personal fulfillment.

The occasion was the college’s public assembly in the auditorium of Dudley Hall on November 21. Dr. Hatch addressed the gathering, saying, "Education is the key to unlocking the full potential of each individual. It allows us to explore our interests, to challenge ourselves, and to redefine our purpose in life."

He also cited figures showing the relationship of one's investment in education and how it brings about immediate returns. He assured his small Aggie audience that "education is sound and economical." He concluded in the midst of affluence that "education today is considered by all a good investment for the family." He added that President Johnson, a former classmate, Dr. Charles L. Spruill who presided, the Reverend Mr. James Cannon, director of US Life, and the college choir helped make American Education Week’s note a reality.

Recent legislation concerning education and the expansion that has accompanied such past events this year, he said, has helped us, Dr. Hatch, in a manifestation of our grave interest in education. He added that education was considered by all a good investment and pays good dividends.

Dr. Hatch continued his address by saying, "Our American Education Week in 1921 has been "hope" to attain a program adequate for Americans." He said that President Johnson, "former teacher turned President," has appeared on the scene to help make American Education Week’s note a reality.

As Americans everywhere continue to celebrate American Education Week and as A. and T. College launches its self-study project, it seems a good time to consider Nason J. White’s article which has appeared in the Edura­tor and the REGISTER.

He said that "education is the preserver of civilization and an investment in education on all levels has sur­passed in economic as well as personal fulfillment."

Dr. Hatch is a native of Marion, Alabama, and received his B.S. from Alabama State College in Montgomery and his doctorate degree from the National Education Association. He is also a member of the National Commission on Teacher Education and is a member of the Department of Education. Other honors include the Bolognawhopper Hamwhopper, the beginning of his sanctioned work.

Duke Professor Sees
Securing Better Teachers
As Problem For Educators

Dr. William Hoffman Cartwright, professor of educational psychology at Duke University, highlighted the American Educa­tion Week theme, "Invest in Learning to Deepen International Understanding." He said, "A good education is not just about acquiring information; it's about developing the ability to think critically and the capacity to make informed decisions."

Dr. Cartwright continued, "We must invest in learning to enrich family and community life. By educating our students, we are preparing them to lead meaningful lives."

He concluded, "We need to prioritize education in our society. It is not just a personal development tool, but a societal necessity."
Aggies Take On Eagles on Thanksgiving

This Thanksgiving, the Aggies will take on the Eagles of North Carolina College in the Carolinas Classic game lines in 2:00 P.M. Thursday, November 25, in War Memorial Stadium, Ohio State University.

The Aggies won their game last week against the Virginia State College Trojans by a score of 11-0. With that victory A. and T. College improved its season record to 2-1-1, while the Trojans dropped to 0-4-1.

The Aggies defense held the Trojans to 105 total yards in the game, including 43 yards rushing and 62 yards through the air. The Trojans were held to one first down in the game, while the Aggies had three first downs.

A T. Deaf, Virginia State 11-0

As Team Displays Rugged Defense

A. and T.'s Melvin Phillips did it again, as the mighty Aggie defense bounced back from a crushing defeat last week to beat Virginia State by a score of 11-0. The Aggie defense was at its best in the first quarter, as Phillips dived over from the two, clinching a sustained drive of 49 yards. Pearson then teamed with Phillips for the two-point conversion giving the Aggies an 8-0 lead.

The game being early, the fans never knew that the Aggies had written their team's epitaph so early in the game.

The Trojans threatened the Aggies in the second quarter, but the extra-ordinary rugged defense brought them to their knees each and every time. The Trojans picked up a first and goal at the Aggie two, but the Aggies plugged the holes just as they knew where the plays were coming before hand.

Phillips Reveals Club's Projects To Include Baskets For Needy

Lathan Phillips, a member of the Projects Committee of Phi Beta Lambda, presented at the November meeting in outline of some of the projects his committee hopes to carry out this year. One is the Thanksgiving Needy Project. The purpose of this project is to give baskets of food to needy families in the Greater Greensboro area for Thanksgiving. All business students are invited to donate one item to the list. Phillip news from this project will be posted as to the time and place of distribution of the baskets.

Another project is to organize a Christmas Committee. The objective of this chapter will be to plan the Christmas Committee. The objective of this chapter will be to plan.

A Christmas social is also being planned for the entertainment of the entire student body. Other projects are developing.
