3-4-1966

The Register, 1966-03-04

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digital.library.ncat.edu/atregister

Recommended Citation
https://digital.library.ncat.edu/atregister/273

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Digital Collections at Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship. It has been accepted for inclusion in NCAT Student Newspapers by an authorized administrator of Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship. For more information, please contact iyanna@ncat.edu.
Mrs. Robinson To Give Address

At Luncheon

"Every time Eve" is the title of Mrs. Katherine H. Robinson's address to A&T College students, when she will speak on the Eve of her birthday, March 12. Mrs. Robinson is a native of New York City and a graduate of Barnard College. She is a member of the American Association of University Women and a member of the Board of Trustees of the International University Women's Center. She is also a member of the Board of Directors of the National Council of Negro Women. She has been a member of the Board of Directors of the National Council of Negro Women since 1961.

The complete honor roll follows.

HONOR ROLL

SCHOLLORS

Mrs. J. B. Purnell Is Speaker For Women's Week Observance

Mrs. J. B. Purnell was elected president of the A&T College Women's Club in 1963. She is a native of Atlanta, Georgia, and has been a member of the club since its inception in 1961. Mrs. Purnell is a graduate of Atlanta University and has received a Bachelor of Science degree in education from the University of Michigan. She has served as a trustee of the Atlanta University Foundation and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Atlanta University Foundation. She is also a member of the National Council of Negro Women.

The schedule of events for Women's Week is as follows:

2. Piano Lecture-Demonstration: M. E. N. C. will give a program on March 22, in the auditorium. At present Mrs. Wilhelma Bissell, director of music education, will execute this trust with a thoroughness that will assure the maximum of success.

The Cream of College Neon

Two seniors and one junior, all with perfect 4.00 average head on this page of 244 students who made the fall semester honor roll. Of this number, 40 made the "A" honor roll with the freshman and the senior classes tied for first place with 15 each and the sophomore and the junior classes tied with five each.

Sandra Echols is president of the Student Activities Council and Mrs. Purnell serves as an adviser to the organization.

The cream of college neon is the title of an article by Dr. A. L. Robinson, president of A&T College, which appeared in the May 1964 issue of the American Journal of Sociology. The article discusses the role of the college in society and the importance of college education.

The complete honor roll follows.

HONOR ROLL

SCHOLLORS
About the Protest

One thousand students rallied to champion the cause — a protest against the food being served in the college dining halls.

Did this rally have the support of the Student Government, the College Council, or the Administration? Had either of these organizations been informed of the problems confronting students? This was one question asked by a group of students who organized a protest. The answer was no.

Who is the key figure in SOUL? Why did it not go through the proper channels in registering its complaints? Was the action of SOUL a sign of the unified leadership it advocates?

The A T College REGISTER

Editor of The Register:
I have been following articles concerning the contract food service operation with much interest. The generally favorable reaction noted is pleasing to us and others who have been interested in and responsible for the College's affairs to the best interest of all concerned.

The idea of student cooperatives or cooperatives in some of the article's regard the continuation of the service at the level established at the beginning, were a little beyond my understanding. However, recent events have come to my attention regarding the luxurious and excessive socialized experiences presented by a few students in the form of unbecoming personal conduct and the removal of milk and bottles from the cafeterias are possibly justifiable reasons for the control and deterrent of liberal incursions into College dining halls.

Many students came here to bus their own dishes and trays, but due to social pressures, their activities may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

For many students place greater emphasis on the importance of college life other than academic advancement. Misplaced values are dangerous and in many cases detrimental to educational endeavors. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

For many students place greater emphasis on the importance of college life other than academic advancement. Misplaced values are dangerous and in many cases detrimental to educational endeavors. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

For many students place greater emphasis on the importance of college life other than academic advancement. Misplaced values are dangerous and in many cases detrimental to educational endeavors. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.

"It is high time that we heed the cries of academic excellence and the challenges hurled our way. It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success, and all will be well.

Some of this majority group strike back at inquisitors and all who exemplify misplaced values. They ask, "What good is making the honor roll in the first place?" and "Grades don't tell whether you are a good student, do they?"

It is not contended that grades should be the only criterion of success. Students who feel that riding in Mustangs, going to dances and games, and, in general, having fun is getting the most out of college may find themselves in a case by themselves. Students who strive for excellence may go to just as many dances and games and have just as much fun as others. The only difference is that they have a set of values which provides them with a guide to getting the most out of college academically and socially.
Among the many activities slated for the enjoyment of the young ladies of the campus are prepar­ations for the annual Spring Dance, which will be held on Friday, March 11, 1966, at 9:00 P.M. (After the campus movie) Symposia and luncheon are also planned for the week. Closet dress and bag, hat, and coat can be seen at the Campus Shop.

Unique Service Guides Students To Top Schools

West Hartford, Conn. — College guidance is being offered to students who are preparing for college. A unique new organization, Law School Placement Service (LSPS), is being established at the University of Connecticut.

The program is the brainchild of Richard Swinton, a junior at the university, and is designed to help students select the law schools that are best suited to their needs through the use of modern computers.

The participating law schools will provide LSPS with data about their entrance requirements, including the number of openings in first-year classes, the number of applications accepted, and the percentage of accepted students who actually matriculate.

In addition to the scores, the student will give LSPS his preferences in the form of a ranking of his interests and priorities. The service will then prepare a questionnaire with each student's preferences and submit it to the top 10 law schools that LSPS believes will have the most favorable results for the student.

The program will provide the student with the names of law schools and their entrance requirements, and will also give him an idea of the success rate of his classmates. The student will then be able to make his choice among the top 10 law schools.

The guidance service is available only to men and women who are currently enrolled at the University of Connecticut.

Women's Week Schedule

Thursday, March 10, 1966 — 8:00 P.M. TALENT SHOW — Harrison Auditorium

A. "A Revue of Female Talent" — Miss Linda Fish, Chairman

B. Purnell of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. "The leader of the discussion group was Charles Thompson (senior), who leads the new organization in its first year, LSPS has earned the reputation of being one of the nation's top law schools.

The program is the brainchild of Richard Swinton, a junior at the university, and is designed to help students select the law schools that are best suited to their needs through the use of modern computers.

The participating law schools will provide LSPS with data about their entrance requirements, including the number of openings in first-year classes, the number of applications accepted, and the percentage of accepted students who actually matriculate.

In addition to the scores, the student will give LSPS his preferences in the form of a ranking of his interests and priorities. The service will then prepare a questionnaire with each student's preferences and submit it to the top 10 law schools that LSPS believes will have the most favorable results for the student.

The program will provide the student with the names of law schools and their entrance requirements, and will also give him an idea of the success rate of his classmates. The student will then be able to make his choice among the top 10 law schools.

The guidance service is available only to men and women who are currently enrolled at the University of Connecticut.

Women's Week Schedule

Thursday, March 10, 1966 — 8:00 P.M. TALENT SHOW — Harrison Auditorium

A. "A Revue of Female Talent" — Miss Linda Fish, Chairman

B. Purnell of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. "The leader of the discussion group was Charles Thompson (senior), who leads the new organization in its first year, LSPS has earned the reputation of being one of the nation's top law schools.

The program is the brainchild of Richard Swinton, a junior at the university, and is designed to help students select the law schools that are best suited to their needs through the use of modern computers.

The participating law schools will provide LSPS with data about their entrance requirements, including the number of openings in first-year classes, the number of applications accepted, and the percentage of accepted students who actually matriculate.

In addition to the scores, the student will give LSPS his preferences in the form of a ranking of his interests and priorities. The service will then prepare a questionnaire with each student's preferences and submit it to the top 10 law schools that LSPS believes will have the most favorable results for the student.

The program will provide the student with the names of law schools and their entrance requirements, and will also give him an idea of the success rate of his classmates. The student will then be able to make his choice among the top 10 law schools.

The guidance service is available only to men and women who are currently enrolled at the University of Connecticut.

Women's Week Schedule

Thursday, March 10, 1966 — 8:00 P.M. TALENT SHOW — Harrison Auditorium

A. "A Revue of Female Talent" — Miss Linda Fish, Chairman

B. Purnell of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. "The leader of the discussion group was Charles Thompson (senior), who leads the new organization in its first year, LSPS has earned the reputation of being one of the nation's top law schools.

The program is the brainchild of Richard Swinton, a junior at the university, and is designed to help students select the law schools that are best suited to their needs through the use of modern computers.

The participating law schools will provide LSPS with data about their entrance requirements, including the number of openings in first-year classes, the number of applications accepted, and the percentage of accepted students who actually matriculate.

In addition to the scores, the student will give LSPS his preferences in the form of a ranking of his interests and priorities. The service will then prepare a questionnaire with each student's preferences and submit it to the top 10 law schools that LSPS believes will have the most favorable results for the student.

The program will provide the student with the names of law schools and their entrance requirements, and will also give him an idea of the success rate of his classmates. The student will then be able to make his choice among the top 10 law schools.

The guidance service is available only to men and women who are currently enrolled at the University of Connecticut.

Women's Week Schedule

Thursday, March 10, 1966 — 8:00 P.M. TALENT SHOW — Harrison Auditorium

A. "A Revue of Female Talent" — Miss Linda Fish, Chairman

B. Purnell of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. "The leader of the discussion group was Charles Thompson (senior), who leads the new organization in its first year, LSPS has earned the reputation of being one of the nation's top law schools.

The program is the brainchild of Richard Swinton, a junior at the university, and is designed to help students select the law schools that are best suited to their needs through the use of modern computers.

The participating law schools will provide LSPS with data about their entrance requirements, including the number of openings in first-year classes, the number of applications accepted, and the percentage of accepted students who actually matriculate.

In addition to the scores, the student will give LSPS his preferences in the form of a ranking of his interests and priorities. The service will then prepare a questionnaire with each student's preferences and submit it to the top 10 law schools that LSPS believes will have the most favorable results for the student.

The program will provide the student with the names of law schools and their entrance requirements, and will also give him an idea of the success rate of his classmates. The student will then be able to make his choice among the top 10 law schools.

The guidance service is available only to men and women who are currently enrolled at the University of Connecticut.
Dr. C. H. Edwards Does Research On Pinto Beans

The lofty pine bean, when added to the hungry, hard-laboring southern diet of the black, has added a wholesome, nutritious, and filling food to the basic southern diet. The bean is a product of the southern United States and is particularly important to the low-income families in the south. It is a leguminous legume, and its beans become an important supplement to the basic diet. The bean, as a legume, is a principal component of protein.

The researcher, Dr. C. H. Edwards, of the South Carolina Experimental Station, reported in a recent scientific paper appearing in the December issue of the Journal of the American Botanical Association, that his research, in cooperation with Dr. Edwards, and with the collaboration of two undergraduate students, Elaine S. Thompson, Englewood, N. J., and Mary H. Tyne, High Point, both majors in food science and nutrition, has resulted in the discovery of a new method for the preparation of the poisonous bean.

The paper is a description of a six-weeks' ready-controllable method of preparation, covering a period of three months. The students were the same who gave the same results in the previous studies done by the group. These results showed that the bean was just as nutritious as other beans, but in a different way. The new method of preparation was found to be more economical and suitable for the low-income southern diet.

Besides pits, beans, other supplies of the beans included black-eyed peas, sweet corn, and string beans.

Results of the study indicate that the timing factors of the cubes are important. The researchers found that the timing factors of the cubes had to be included early to get an economical growth responsive in the southern diet. It was previously fed only the hard diet. The study confirmed that the addition of any type of improved growth is necessary.

In the case of the adult rat, it was also learned that black-eyed peas were superior to pine beans in growth responsive, but not so for the growing rat. The study was supported by a grant of the North Carolina Experimental Station.

Letters To The Editor

Attitudes
Editor of The Register:
I witnessed the game between the Winston-Salem State Rams and the Greensboro College. The Rams seemed to be the better team, and their attitude was reflected in their play. The game was close, but the Rams pulled away in the final minutes. The Rams are a very talented team, and I hope they continue to succeed.

Henry Johnson

Movies
Editor of The Register:
Recently, the department of art and music has been showing a series of lectures. The last lecture was particularly interesting, covering the theme of film noir. The audience was engaged and enjoyed the insights provided by the speaker. The department has plans to continue this series in the future.

Kathy Collins

Meal Hours
Editor of The Register:
As a student at A&T College, I am very much concerned about the meal hours. The current hours do not accommodate the needs of all students. I would suggest extending the hours to better serve the campus community.

Juliette Harris

The "Winter And The Lonely Man"

The “Winter And The Lonely Man”

By RAY ELDRIDGE

The world was cold and bare. Winter had taken the life out of everything. The trees were covered with ice and snow, and the ground was frozen solid. The sky was overcast, and the wind howled like a winter storm. He looked around and saw nothing but the desolation of winter. His body was stiff and bent, and he felt the cold seeping into his bones. The air was warm, but the wind was cold. The ground was soft and wet. He walked slowly, and his steps were cautious. Often, lovers seemed as if he had no real destination. The cold, torrent of wind had dissipated and winter came. The leaves fell, the wind raged, and the snow covered the earth. Everything was cold and dead. And as the cold, hard winter had killed the trees, the wind, the snow, and the ice — each one dead and lifeless.

The trees were cold and bare. In the distance a shadow could be seen moving. It was a shadow of a wolverine, a most elusive and dangerous creature. He looked around and saw nothing but the desolation of winter. His body was stiff and bent, and he felt the cold seeping into his bones. The air was warm, but the wind was cold. The ground was soft and wet. He walked slowly, and his steps were cautious. Often, lovers seemed as if he had no real destination. The cold, torrent of wind had dissipated and winter came. The leaves fell, the wind raged, and the snow covered the earth. Everything was cold and dead. And as the cold, hard winter had killed the trees, the wind, the snow, and the ice — each one dead and lifeless.

Ten employers, each of whom has completed twenty or more years of service, received honorary degrees from the university. The recipients included Dr. L. C. Doody, left to right) Miss E. D. Banks, Mrs. Bernice Edwards, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Cobb, and Mrs. Catherine D. Banks; Bill Slack, Mr. John D. Edwards, Mr. William E. Guinter, Mr. Wm. H. Lilford, and Mr. John Post.

Committee Suggests Policy For Campus Speakers

The Board of Trustees has been considering the issue of allowing campus speakers. The committee has suggested that the following policy be adopted:

1. That all major speakers be invited to the campus through the Office of the Dean of Students, and that a list be submitted to the President.

2. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

3. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

4. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

5. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

The committee believes that this policy will provide a safe and effective way to allow campus speakers.

Editors’ note: The following progress report was presented to the faculty at its last meeting:

PERMIT. The Committee has worked hard to ensure that academic freedom is essential to the educational mission of the College. The committee has attempted to provide a worldwide policy which will not obstruct the educational program of the College in any way. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner.

The committee has been active in the following areas:

1. That all major speakers be invited to the campus through the Office of the Dean of Students, and that a list be submitted to the President.

2. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

3. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

4. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

5. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

The committee believes that this policy will provide a safe and effective way to allow campus speakers.

Editors’ note: The following progress report was presented to the faculty at its last meeting:

PERMIT. The Committee has worked hard to ensure that academic freedom is essential to the educational mission of the College. The committee has attempted to provide a worldwide policy which will not obstruct the educational program of the College in any way. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner.

The committee has been active in the following areas:

1. That all major speakers be invited to the campus through the Office of the Dean of Students, and that a list be submitted to the President.

2. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

3. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

4. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

5. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

The committee believes that this policy will provide a safe and effective way to allow campus speakers.

Editors’ note: The following progress report was presented to the faculty at its last meeting:

PERMIT. The Committee has worked hard to ensure that academic freedom is essential to the educational mission of the College. The committee has attempted to provide a worldwide policy which will not obstruct the educational program of the College in any way. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner.

The committee has been active in the following areas:

1. That all major speakers be invited to the campus through the Office of the Dean of Students, and that a list be submitted to the President.

2. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

3. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

4. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

5. That the meeting be held in a place where the speakers will be visible.

The committee believes that this policy will provide a safe and effective way to allow campus speakers.

Editors’ note: The following progress report was presented to the faculty at its last meeting:

PERMIT. The Committee has worked hard to ensure that academic freedom is essential to the educational mission of the College. The committee has attempted to provide a worldwide policy which will not obstruct the educational program of the College in any way. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner. It has been the policy of the committee to present a report of the educational program of the College to the faculty of the College in a timely manner.
Honor Roll

---

Junior Juniors

Willis Lewis, Allenboro, ag., $3.00; Joseph Harris, New Bern, agr., $3.00; J. Roy Alexander, Pembroke, agr. edu., $3.00; and Carolyn McKee, Rocky Mount, bus. adm., $3.00.

---

Junior Seniors

Willie L. Friday, Gastonia, inst. ed., $3.00; Betty J. Gardner, Edgefield, phy., $3.00; Mary J. Read, Goose Creek, phy., $3.00; and Andrew Y. Judson, Greenbrier, phys., $3.00.

---

Sophomores

David A. Johnson, Raleigh, engr. physics, $3.00; and Barbara D. Wills, Enfield, engr. physics, $3.00.

---

Seniors

Charles E. Lownes, Albany, N. Y., engr. physics, $3.00; Winston S. Leonard, Greensboro, acct., $3.00; and Andrew Woods, Jr., Warrensville, acct., $3.00.

---

Ticket No. 18

By William R. Adams

It had been raining for two days. It was not a hard rain, but the weight of the water grated against my kind of hard ground. It left at my instants of the season which was my last day of school and the Saturday of a school trip to the mountains. I had been taken care of, for he never lets me fall behind. Meanwhile and somehow, my legs were tired as I walked to the gym. The gym was pretty much empty. I had one thing to say to the coach. As we walked, I began to shake. I was about to wash my hands in the water. But I went to the gym and touched the digital clock that was at the entrance. It was no good, it was already 5:00. I had to wait.

---

In Face Of Climatic Problems Student Union Continues Progress

By LEON DEBSE

A weekend—today, and a meeting of the board. There was also a meeting of the Student Union tonight. It was the first meeting of the month, and the Student Union has been busy preparing for the upcoming election. The Student Union has been busy preparing for the upcoming election, and the meeting was held to discuss the election. The meeting was held to discuss the election.

---

The Register

March 4, 1966

Page 5
Photographic Wrap-Up Of CIAA Tournament

Like Christmas, the CIAA Tournament occurs but once a year. This year's tournament was one of the best. Even though the A&T Aggies were eliminated early in the event, there was such good competition represented that the spectacle remained in top interest throughout its duration to both Greensburghers and Aggies.

These photos display some of the highlights of the annual contest. The two photos at the top of the page show some action from the A&T-Howard game. Howard won 81-66.

The first photo on the left in the next group of pictures shows Norfolk State's defeating Delaware in the semi-finals by a score of 116-90. The photo in the middle shows two Howard players and two Delaware State players as they jump for the ball in the consolation game. Honors went to the Howard University team as it defeated Delaware State 99-91.

In every contest there must be a winner and this one was no exception. The Winston-Salem State Rams captured the CIAA championship title by defeating last year's champions, Norfolk State Bears 87-80. The photo at the right in the group of three shows one of the Rams as he takes his souvenir. The photo at the bottom of the page is that of a happy team of deserving champions, the Winston-Salem State Rams.
Howard U. Team Defeats Delaware For Consolation

By EARNEST FULTON

Howard University took consolation honors in the CIAA Basketball Tournament by beating Delaware State 99-91. Aaron Shingler led Howard with 25 points and Ed Taylor had 20.

Howard turned out to be the surprise of the tournament. This was the first time in 14 years that Howard had made it to the tournament.

In the opening round they made their presence felt by upsetting the tourney's third seeded team, the A&T Aggies, by a score of 81-66.

Howard lost to the Winston-Salem Rams in the semifinals by a score of 85-84 in overtime.

Delaware State trounced Eula­beth City in the opening round 96-81 and lost to Norfolk State 116-90 in the semifinals.

Al Rue, star of Delaware State, scored 33 in the first game against Elizabeth City, 36 against Norfolk, and 39 against Howard. He finished second in total points to Monroe of Winston-Salem with 108 points.

Great Decisions

WHEN? Tuesday, March 8, 1966 - 7:30 P.M.

WHO WILL SPEAK? Dr. Martin Gieszen, Germany

PROFESSOR OF GERMAN AND RUSSIAN

FULBRIGHT EXCHANGE TEACHER UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT GREENSBORO

PRESIDING? Dr. W. T. Bibbs, President Emeritus A&T College

WHAT TOPIC? "RUSSIAN AFTER KHRUSHCHEV"

Does Coexistence Have a Future?

WHERE? CARVER HALL CONFERENCE ROOM A&T COLLEGE

"BE SURE TO COME AND BRING OTHERS"
Soul Seeks Action on Food Disequalities

By LEE A. BOUSE, JR.
A new student organization called Soul (Student Organization for Unequal Treatment) was established last Monday night at A&T College. Jester stated that the group does not mean to cause trouble, but merely to attract interested students who desire just satisfaction.

He stated that the organization would be a means of ensuring that the complaints of the students would be brought to the attention of the college administration. Jester stated that the group does not mean to cause trouble, but merely to attract interested students who desire just satisfaction.

For, as SOUL instructs, communication and cooperation for a unified student organization is fundamental to any effective program. And, as SOUL contends that the Slater Food Service was instituted at A&T College, the student body of A&T College that the dining situation must be improved and solved campus problems at A&T College.

On such a short notice when those would number about a thousand fold except at a mass rally or a sitting solution in Holland Bowl at 5:00 P.M. on Thursday, the student organization was one of distress and unwholesomeness for the A&T students. The letter ended by announcing a mass rally for Sunday, February 28th with that of A&T. The appeal was the most powerful part of the committee and assured his listeners that he would resort to other methods. The letter ended by announcing a mass rally for Sunday, February 28th with that of A&T. The appeal was the most powerful part of the committee and assured his listeners that he would resort to other methods.

Dean Marshall announced that a new student organization called Soul has been made, but that his presence would no doubt have its present effect on the campus, demanding that no one had to eat on the campus against their will. As the auto-battery weakened, there was talk of picketing the dining halls, but no definite statement was made and nothing really materialized. Many students declined to eat in campus facilities; others ate as usual.

At the meeting, the group appealed to all students to get involved and solve campus problems at A&T College.

The U.S. Navy Marine Engineering Laboratory conducts RDTE in naval shipboard and submarine machinery and auxiliary systems (electrical, propulsion, control, etc.). In addition to developing basic improvements in performance and reliability, the Laboratory concentrates on solving simmering new concepts in energy conversion and control, ways to minimize friction and wear, special operating machinery for deep-sea vehicles, and tough, resistant naval alloys to meet all ocean environmental conditions.

The Laboratory buildings—now more than 50 of them—house some of the finest resourceful and experimental and evaluation equipments of their kind, such as high-speed computers, electric power sources, vibration and shock test stands, metals composition analysis instruments, cryogenic storage and handling facilities, physics and chemistry labs, and complex instrumentation for measuring strain, stress, pressure, acceleration, velocity, performance, and reliability. The buildings are grouped in a modern industrial park that include special facilities for indoor experimentation.

The laboratory is ideal, Washington, Baltimore, and the ocean researches. They are in response to the conditions and operations of the marketplace, like rain or snow falls on the roof of Murphy Hall and it continues to fall to the floor of Murphy Hall at all times.

Soul requested all students to make direct complaints to the administration. They advised against badgering or reprimanding the cooks or dining hall personnel. They are working on the roof of Murphy Hall where it remains for a year, depending on type of degree and scholastic standing.

Applicants acquire the benefits of career Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. All applicants will be considered on the basis of merit and qualifications.

Applicants acquire the benefits of career Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. All applicants will be considered on the basis of merit and qualifications.

Applicants acquire the benefits of career Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. All applicants will be considered on the basis of merit and qualifications.

Applicants acquire the benefits of career Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. All applicants will be considered on the basis of merit and qualifications.

Applicants acquire the benefits of career Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. All applicants will be considered on the basis of merit and qualifications.

Applicants acquire the benefits of career Civil Service and regular salary increases. Civil Service and regular salary increases. All applicants will be considered on the basis of merit and qualifications.