Religious Emphasis Week Is March 27-31

"Called To Be Responsibly Human" Is Theme To Be Used For The Annual Observance

Reverend Mr. J. A. Forbes, Jr., Religious Emphasis Speaker

By STANLEY JOHNSON

"Called to be Responsibly Human" is the theme for Religious Emphasis Week to be held at A&T on March 27-31.

The five days of activities have been planned by the Interfaith Coordinating Council and the Religious Life Committee.

Special assistance was given by a special faculty committee which includes: Mrs. Carrye H. Kelley, Mrs. Naomi W. Wynn, Dr. W. L. Kennedy, Mr. B. W. Harris, Dr. Gerald Edwards, Mrs. Clara V. Evans, Mr. Walter F. Carlson, and Dr. John M. R. Stevenson, chairman.

A cordial invitation has been extended to the faculty, staff, and students of the college community to participate in all phases of the annual event.

On Sunday, March 27, at 9:00 A.M. the Sunday School will hold a panel discussion on the topic "What Does It Mean to Be Responsibly Human?" This discussion will attempt to give some direct meaning to the theme and thus give greater meaning to the events to follow.

Following an organ mediation by Michael Kenner at 2:45 P.M. in Harrison Auditorium will be the worship service at 3:00 P.M. The speaker for this occasion will be Mr. J. A. Forbes, Jr., minister of St. John's United Holy Church in Richmond, Virginia. He will deliver a sermon entitled "A Humanizing Encounter."

Other distinguished guest to take part in the worship service are the Reverend Harry E. Smith, Presbyterian Campus Pastor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and the Reverend W. M. Wills, Jr., the state director of Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Student participants include Bernie Mitchell, a senior nursing student of Greensboro who is affiliated with the Wesley Foundation, and Charmion A. Gordon, a freshman secretarial science major, also of Greensboro, who is affiliated with the Bahai Club.

To conclude Sunday's activities, a fellowship hour has been set for 6:00 P.M. in the Women's Lounge of Bluford Library. Students and other interested parties may take this opportunity to discuss their ideas on controversial matters that are related to religion, a good example being the "New Morality", even though a symposium on this particular subject is scheduled for Thursday, March 31.

Kaffe Klatch is scheduled for Monday Morning from 9 until 12 noon. The Taylor Art Gallery in Bluford Library will serve as reception center for this program segment. During these hours refreshments will be served to those gathered for the purpose of discussion and fellowship. Monday's activities will end in Bluford Library with a film-forum entitled "The Detached Americans."

At 7:00 P.M. on Tuesday, March 24, an Interfaith forum is to be conducted under the general theme "Called to be Human." It will seek to bring together all religious denominations and sects represented on the college campus, in an effort to reach a universal understanding of what it means to be "Responsibly Human."

The film "Parable" will be shown hourly from 1-5 P.M. on Wednesday in Bluford Auditorium. Each showing will be followed by a brief discussion.

Concluding the week of events will be a symposium on Thursday at 7:00 P.M. dealing with the very controversial topic "The New Morality." This symposium is scheduled for the Women's Lounge of Bluford Library.

United Holy Church Minister Speaks At Religious Emphasis Service

The Reverend Mr. J. A. Forbes, Jr. who is presently pastor of St. John's United Holy Church, Richmond, Virginia and the St. Paul Holy Church, Roxboro, will be the main speaker for the Annual Religious Emphasis Week Worship Service. The service will be held Sunday, March 27 at 3:00 P.M. in the Richard B. Harrison Auditorium.

Reverend Forbes was born in Burgaw, North Carolina in 1935. He received his elementary and high school education in the public school system of Raleigh.

In 1957, he received his B.S. degree from Howard University, Washington, D. C. After graduation he was commissioned by the United States Air Force as second lieutenant. After serving in the armed forces, he taught science at Kittrell Junior College in Kittrell, North Carolina.

He later went on to Union Theological Seminary in New York City where he served as student minister at the Church of the Master under the leadership of Dr. James H. Robinson. He participated in Operation Crossroads Africa where he toured a number of countries in West Africa. During this period at the New York Seminary he also served as student director of an Institutional Service Project at Cherry Hospital, Goldsboro.

He received his B. D. degree from the seminary in 1962.

For three years he served as pastor of the Holy Trinity Church in Wilmington. Presently, he is co-chairman of the educational Department of the United Holy Church of America. He also holds membership in the Committee of Southern Churchmen.

1965-66 AYANTEE Nears Completion

By DIANE BANNER

Lanard Geddings, editor of the 1965-66 AYANTEE, and his staff have been steadily working on the school annual since the second week of the school term.

This year's annual has approximately the same number of pages as last year's edition. The exterior of the book is basically white and gold, while the interior color scheme is white and blue. The jacket has the familiar college seal and the word AYANTEE in gold. There is also a bulldog impression in white and the date 1966 in blue. The inside folds have two campus shots in color. There are four color shots in all.

As opposed to previous years, the annual is divided into four major sections: "Impressions", "Individuals", "Media", and "Reflections". Each school has its respective clubs and organizations. More attention is given to student life and the major student organizations.

Other features include a write-up of each campus queen and senior. There is also space dedicated to the cheering squad, the karate and tennis teams.

There is also a dedication to 2nd/Lt. William Davis, 1964 graduate of A&T College, who lost his life in the Viet Nam war.

The College Life section of the Annual is divided into the following categories: "Welcome to Aggeland," "Home Away from Home," "Daily Activities," "Coronation," "Homecoming," "Holidays," "Celebrities," "Cafeteria," "Study Time," "Winter Wonderland," "Dorm Life," "Around and About," "Co-ed Life," and, finally, "Punching".

Of special interest is the theme of the Annual. It is "Aggies on the Go, for Leadership, Scholarship, and Citizenship (AOG/LSC)." The staff selected this theme at the outset of the year and has centered the book around this theme.

The exact cost of the '66 AYANTEE has not been determined. The price of the final publication depends upon the number of pictures that are included in the volume. Approximately one thousand pictures are included in this year's edition.

Persons other than students may purchase yearbooks. They are generally on sale at the college bookstore.

The staff also exchanges annuals with other colleges. On trips that are sponsored by the Guidance and Counseling Office, the AYANTEE serves as a means of good will.

Chrysler Corp. Donates Car For Driver Ed.

The driver education program at A&T College, the very first to be operated in the Southeast, last week received a boost with the gift of an automobile for training purposes.

Prior to this time the college either leased or purchased a training car.

The vehicle, a 1966 Plymouth equipped with dual controls and a complete package of the latest safety features, was given under joint sponsorship by the Chrysler Corporation and their dealer, Southern Motor Company of High Point.

W. S. Carrier, sales manager for the High Point firm, who made the delivery, said the car is being given under a continuing arrangement through which a new model auto is to be given the college each year without cost to the college.

The Driver Education Department, installed at A&T in 1950, became the first such program to be operated by colleges and universities in the Southeast region of the country.

Isaac Barnett, director of the program since its beginning here, said more than 1,000 high school driver education teachers have been certified to instruct in driver education and auto safety during the period.

President Dowdy Holds Meeting With Students

By LEE ROUSE, JR.

Approximately 600 students rallied to the impromptu call of Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, president of the college, on Thursday, March 17. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the problems as well as the ideals of the college.

Speaking rather extemporaneously, Dr. Dowdy broached the subject of the need for more communication among the administration, the faculty, and the student body. Through increased communication, he suggested, many problems may be quickly eradicated or prevented.

The president included in his list of problems in question the health service, the book store, the food service, and the library.

Dr. Dowdy stated that work was in progress on extending the health service, but reserved a release of further data until transactions were complete on this matter.

He cited the mention to him of changing the book system from rental back to a purchase system. The president said that he did not know whether a quorum has been reached on this idea and he anticipated further suggestions on the matter. It was implied that toleration of the book store facilities may predominate until completion of the student union building which is supposed to include book store space.

The college's chief executive stated that he believed the food service situation to be under control. He felt that an understanding had been reached between the college and the food service company.

Emphasizing Religion

Religion should not be looked upon as an annual celebration even though March 27-31 is being set aside to emphasize religion and its relationship to human responsibility.

Religion is a topical issue because of the controversy involving its relationship to other matters. The "death of God theory" and the new morality have provoked the interest of many religious leaders and laymen alike. Ideas growing out of discussions concerning the preceding topics are varied. Therefore, each person must formulate his own conclusion about religion and its relationship to everyday living.

No matter what one's professed religious affiliation is, he should strive to abide by the golden rule: "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DO UNTO YOU." Serving a Supreme Being is a personal matter, and one can best serve Him by serving his fellow man.

There are three hundred sixty-five days in a year — three hundred sixty-six in a leap year. Each day is given to man by a Supreme Being who allows man to choose how his day should be spent — to use his time wisely in service for his fellowman or to allow each day to drift swiftly away.

Religious service is a matter of great importance; therefore, one should strive to be a manifestation of his faith. His beliefs should be apparent in his daily living, and his life should be an example for others of his faith to follow.

Since emphasis is being placed on religion, one might try to bring a friend closer to the Supreme Being of his faith, to aid in the saving of another soul, and to align himself more fully with the doctrines of his faith.

Go to the church of your choice this Sunday and take a friend.

Comm. Suggests Reading List For Religious Emphasis Week

The Planning Committees for the Religious Emphasis Week, which is to be observed on March 27-31, has rounded-up some selected source materials for background reading. This reading will serve as a basis for participating in and appreciating the discussions and messages that will be given throughout that week.

The books will cover practically any phase of religion that could possibly be brought up in the week's observance.

All the books and pamphlets are not the property of the Library and are therefore being placed in the reserve section of Bluford Library. Borrowers are requested to handle them with care. Their circulation will be on the basis of Library policy for reserve books.

The list is as follows:

1. The Importance of Being Human by E. L. Mascal. Some aspects of the Christian Doctrine of man.
2. No Ground Beneath Us edited by Martin E. Marty. Subtitle: A Revolutionary Reader. Chapter 7 — Religion and Response to Revolution. Summary in Theology and Mission. P. 152 ff.
3. Called To Be Relevant by Richard N. Bender.
4. What Is the Nature of Man? Images of Man in Our American Culture.
5. The Christian's Calling by Donald R. Heiges. Chapter 4 — "The Calling of Everyman Today". This is a key source for understanding the general theme.
6. Questions To a Moslem . . . An Exposition of Islam by Dr. Mohammed El-zayyat, Counselor, Egyptian Embassy.
7. Modern Man Is Obsolete by Norman Cousins.
8. New Wine: A Christian Journal of Opinion, Vol. IV., No. 1, Fall, 1965. "The New Morality". (10 copies are available). A vitally important source.
9. The Christian View of Sexual Behavior; A reaction to the Kinsey Report by W. Norman Pittenger.
10. Mere Christianity by C. S. Lewis.
11. The Faith of the Apostles' Creed by James Franklin Bethune-Baker.
12. Life Is Commitment by J. H. Oldham.
13. Our Mission Today; The Beginning of a New Age by Tracey K. Jones, Jr.
14. Encounter With Revolution by M. Richard Shaull.
15. Sex and the College Girl by Gael Greene.
16. Dominion; The Religious Review, January, 1966. "What Is A Jew?" by Morris Adler; "Why I'm Not An Agnostic" by A. M. Stockwood; "Learning To Live With Science" by E. G. Mesthene.
17. Dominion; February, 1966. "Catholic and Protestant Renewal" by W. B. Blakemore, also other articles of interest.

18. The Moral Responsibility of Air Force Officers, Headquarters Air Force ROTC, Air University, U. S. Air Force, Maxwell A.F.B., Alabama.

NOTE — (1) This is an excellent source for understanding human responsibility in all relationships — to self, to others, to God.

(2) These pamphlets are on reserve in the regular library collection. They are used in the instructional program.

19. The Intercollegian, Vol. 83 No. 1, September, 1965. "Wine, Women and Horsepower" by Thayer Greene; "Sex Values on Campus" by Mary Calderone, William Hamilton, Hugh Hefner; "Playboy at Cornell" by Harvey Cox, Hugh Hefner; "A Maturing Faith" by William A. Spurrier.
20. "Religion and the Existential Will" by Adrian Van Kaam, C.S.Sp. Reprint from the charter issue of Insight.
21. "The Inescapable Question: Where Are You?" by Howard Clarke Kee, published by the National Student Council of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.
22. "An Interview With Reinhold Niebuhr" by John Cogley, McCall's Vol. XCIII, No. 5, February, 1966, p. 90 ff. "America's leading protestant theologian talks about women's rights, sexual and political morality, the strengths and weaknesses of the three major faiths."
23. "New Wine", Vol. III., No. 2, Winter, 1964, Identity Crisis.

Various Fields Are Opening-Up For Dietitians

By DORETHA LEACH '67

While you are balancing the merits of various careers, consider dietetics which is characterized by a single word: "Opportunity". The department of dietetics in a large institution offers four major areas of specialization: food service administration, diet therapy, teaching, and nutrition clinic.

Food Service Administration attracts dietitians who have a special aptitude for management. They derive satisfaction from supervising the preparation and service of attractive nutritious meals for patients and hospital personnel.

Diet Therapy appeals especially to dietitians who enjoy working with patients and planning both normal and modified diets, for the individual needs of patients as prescribed by the doctors. An important part of the diet therapy is helping patients understand their diets, and when necessary,

FASHIONS

The Soft Look

PHENIE DYE

The Spring brings this way this season, FEMININITY. A woman, the gentle sex, has sought a different way to show the femininity. From billowing bustle to the abbreviated skirt. Today's young woman considers herself fortunate. This season one can choose from a line of styles that offer freedom of movement as well as delicacy of design.

Among many of the spring selections comes the pique trumpet skirt with a jabot ruffled blouse, slither dress, and the Tom Jones dress.

The Pique is semi-flare and has a design of dogwood flowers. The Jabot ruffled blouse has long sleeves; the neck is made like a "V"; the ruffles are around the "V" and they extend all the way to the waistline.

Talking of the "Soft Look" let's see what the "slither" contributes. The dress is sleeveless; the neck does not have a collar, but it fits close. The slither dress fits only at the bust and the waist, but from the waistline down, it is very loose.

Even the movies have come into the gentle look of the woman. The movie has become so involved that there is a dress called "Tom Jones." This dress has a "V" or an opening at the neck that makes the collar stand up. It has the balloon sleeves and they come down to the wrist with a button on each sleeve. The waistline is a little higher than usual. The belt ties little beneath the breast.

This and many other styles bring that soft gentle look and especially when they are in the pale pink, pale green, pale blue, and all of the soft colors.

A REMINDER

THE SPRING SEASON WILL PRESENT MANY FADS AND SOME FROM THE YEARS; BE CAREFUL IN CHOOSING THOSE FADS. AN EXAMPLE: THE MESH STOCKINGS WITH THE VERY LARGE HOLES ARE BACK BUT THEY ARE NOT APPROPRIATE FOR CLASS. THESE STOCKINGS ARE MORE OR LESS FOR THE EVENING WEAR WHEN ONE WANTS TO BE DIFFERENT. MANY MAY SAY, "BUT I SAW MISS . . . AND THE LADY IN . . . DEPARTMENT STORE SAID . . ." BUT REMEMBER THEY ARE TRYING TO SELL THE MERCHANDISE.

In Hot Water

By PATRICIA LANIER

There have been a number of complaints made recently by members of the Aggie student body concerning the temperature of the water in the dormitories. Some want it hot — some want it cold, but the majority want it regulated!

It seems as though there have been quite a few scalds received by students in the process of taking showers, washing hair, or while in the course of running water in the sinks for one purpose or another. In fact, some of these students had to seek the professional care of the nurses in the infirmary concerning the painful scalds they attained. These scalds have left the students with almost a fear of any water other than cold; for, if the water has any warmth while they are using it in the bathroom and someone else runs water almost anywhere else in the dorm, they receive a scald so intense that it feels as though they are being either electrocuted or boiled.

It is the general opinion of these students that something should be done to prevent blistering backs, scalded heads, and burned hands; therefore, they are asking or rather pleading for something to be done professionally to put an end to these unnecessary accidents.

The Purple Heart

The purple heart, a medal presented for bravery, was founded by George Washington in 1782. The device consisted of a purple heart-shaped piece of cloth edged with silver braid. Two specimen still exist, while only three were actually awarded.

Washington's 200th birth anniversary was chosen for the revival of the award and in 1932 on February 22, a new purple heart was instituted. The principal purpose of this medal is to award recognition to those who have been wounded or killed in the service of their country.

The revised purple heart consists of a purple heart-shaped badge with light bronze edges. Between the top of the heart and the ribbon are Washington's arms (two bars below three stars) and the ribbon is purple with narrow white edges.

VICE PRESIDENT'S TASK FORCE

W. I. Morris, left, director of placement services at A&T College, welcomes members of the Vice President's Task Force on Youth Motivation of the Plans for Progressive Program, a group which made a visit to the college last week aimed at informing college students on the employment opportunities available in America's giant industries.

Rivers, senior research chemist, Scott Paper Company, Philadelphia, Pa., and W. Conrad Martin, Jr., branch manager, Bank of America, Los Angeles, California, and chairman of the group, both graduates of A&T College, and William Head, passenger tire engineer, General Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio.

UNC-CH Offers Grad. Degree In Public Administration

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill recently announced the establishment of a two-year graduate program leading to the Master of Public Administration degree which will begin in September, 1966.

The Department of Political Science in Cooperation with the Institute of Government offers this graduate program to enable government to meet the demands of a dynamic society. Applications will be accepted from students in the social sciences, engineering, law and the humanities as well as from current public employees.

Admission to the program is highly selective. Preference will be given emotionally mature candidates displaying intellectual capacity, potential for assuming responsibility and leadership, and a career interest in the public service.

Financial aid will be available to some outstanding students. The two-year graduate program leading to the Master of Public Administration degree includes an extensive internship and will allow special training in an option selected by the student. Options in urban and municipal management and in public personnel administration are offered. In addition, a student with a special interest in a governmental level (such as fiscal management), will be able to develop an appropriate course of study.

The resources of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the oldest state supported university in the United States, will be available in developing optional programs. These resources include the Department of City and Regional Planning, the School of Public Health, the Water Resources Programs, the School of Business Administration, the School of Social Work, the School of Education, and the curriculum in Recreation.

Applicants may apply at any time prior to July 1. However, they are urged to apply as soon as possible. Application blanks and other information may be requested from the Political Science Department or the Graduate School. When applications are received, the applicant will be notified concerning arrangements for the oral interview.

Dr. William M. Bell, director of athletics and winner of the regional leadership award, will attend the finals in Washington, D. C. March 27-29. Of the twelve regional leaders, three will be singled out for even more recognition and will receive $1,000 cash grants. Coach Bell is the first Negro to win regional competition in the Jaycee's Leadership Awards program. He is being sponsored by the Greensboro Jaycee's.

E. E. Association Elects L. Jones As President

The Electrical Engineering Association chose Louis Jones as its new president at its annual elections meeting last Tuesday night. Other officers include Charles Lownes, vice-president; Winston Jones, secretary; Keith Tapp, treasurer; Ronald Mullen, business manager; Norwood McMillan, parliamentarian; and Eddie Barnes, reporter.

The Association is a campus organization of students majoring in electrical engineering whose aim is to promote and stimulate interest in the field of engineering with an emphasis upon an electrical background. To stimulate such interest, the Association plans lectures, visiting speakers, seminars, and tours.

Slater Food Service, he stated, is the second largest such service in the country and that the "best we could get" was secured when the need presented itself. He requested the students to cooperate with the service to reap its best offerings. He announced that a food survey would be run on campus in order for the students to register the choice of foods. (This survey was run on Tuesday, March 22.)

President Dowdy noted the request by some students to extend the library hours. He stated that here, too, a quorum or majority of requests were lacking on the matter. He related that he paid a visit to the library on the foregoing Sunday, one of the days in question, and found only 77 students there. He stated that a trial plan of hour-extension may be subsequent with all sections of the library open subject to surveillance to see if the students would take advantage of the extended hours.

The president made mention of the fact that there was some unrest concerning girls' rules and regulations. He stated that the boys, of all people, seem to want to legislate for the girls. Jesting a bit, he said the boys or young men of the college do not qualify to make regulations for the girls and that when they begin to qualify, then the girls will no longer have any use for them.

A&T's chief executive appears to lean toward the realistic educator. He believes that the physical plant of the school should enhance all other undertakings thereof. In keeping with this belief, he stated that a request of at least $8,500,000 will be necessary for the next meeting of the N. C. Legislature. Proper finance is, no doubt, the key to maintaining a standard building program. Completion of the student union, the biology building, and the girl's dormitory are the major concerns of the physical plant program at present. The proposed eight-million-plus budget anticipates the construction of the second unit of the girl's dormitory, a mathematics, and a communications building, purchase of property to unify the campus, and the installation of closed circuit T.V. The president even plans for an outdoor swimming pool and a flower plaza centered with a fountain on either side of the student union, which he believes may materialize.

The president is, to say the least, a busy man. He related his trips to Chicago and Atlanta where in either place he came into contact with A&T graduates and where, while away as on all trips, he pursued the interest of A&T College, securing scholarships and donations of equipment for the college.

There are those who feel that the president's chat was too ideological and "dreamy" in nature, but he stated, for a great institution, one must plan for the future, not just tomorrow. Shakespeare reminds us that we are the stuff from which dreams are made.

President Dowdy expressed the hope for future meetings of the same nature and apologized for the lack of time to entertain questions from the audience, as he had become so involved with his discussion of A&T that time was rapidly consumed.

Blue-White Game Climaxes Spring Training

By EARNEST FULTON

Aggies concluded their spring football drills last Saturday with the annual Blue-White game. The Blues won 12-8.

The Whites, composed of players from out of state, were coached by former Aggie great and current star defensive back of the New York Jets, Cornell Gordon.

The Blue team's members were the players from North Carolina. They were coached by assistant coach Hornsby Howell.

The Whites scored first on a safety which resulted from a bad pass from the Blues' center that went out of the end zone.

The Whites were holding a 2-0 lead at halftime.

In the latter part of the third period, Willie Vaughn scored on a 50 yard burst through the middle. The conversion attempt failed, but the Blues had captured the lead 6-2.

The Whites regained the lead on a long bomb from quarterback Craig Sills to Fred Ballard. The extra-point attempt failed.

The Blues came back in the last few minutes of the game and scored on a 10-yard burst through the middle by Willie Pearson. The extra-point attempt was no good, but the Blues were leading 12-8.

That is the way the game ended. The Blues were forced to run out the clock by "falling down on the ball."

The Whites kept pressure on the Blues throughout the game. They had the ball within the Blues' ten-yard line four times but did not score.

The game was marred when one serious injury was sustained by senior Blue quarterback John Granger. He had a severe shoulder separation, but he should be in good shape by next fall.

Outstanding performers from the Blue team were John Granger, quarterback; Willie Pearson, halfback; Willie Vaughn, halfback; Henry Douglas, guard; Clyde Petteway, tackle; Dennis Homesley and James Medley, fullback and Carmie Elmore, end.

Outstanding performers from the White team were Willie Gray, Craig Sills, Michael Johnson, Coleman Tutt, Frederick Robinson, and Joe Weston, all backs; Thomas Reeves, guard; Henry Hipps, end; and James Smallwood.

During the spring drills, two players were assigned to new positions. They were Carmie Elmore and John Moore, fullbacks, who will play end next season.

During the drills, the team's spirit was so high that in the dressing room such terms were heard as "Batman", "Peaches", "Cinderella", "Cowboy", "Honeydrip", "Mercury", "Angelfeet", and "Little Gole".

The term "Batman" is applied to Freddie Robinson. He is outstanding halfback prospect. He possesses speed and agility on a 6 foot, 190 pound frame. He also has good hands.

"Angelfeet" would be Coleman Tutt. He packs a combination of speed and power from the fullback spot.

Dieticians

showing them how they can fit their diets into their everyday lives at home. Therapeutic dietitians work closely with the doctors, the nurses, and other members of the hospital staff, contributing to the case and the well-being of the patients.

Hospital Nutrition Clinics attract dietitians who are interested in offering nutritional guidance to patients who are not hospitalized. The clinic dietitian teaches classes for expectant mothers, diabetics, over-weight people, and those having other types of nutritional problems.

Teaching is an important aspect of all dietitians' work, but in hospitals teaching becomes a specialized field. Classroom seminars, lectures, and projects are designed to meet the specific needs and interests of each group of students.

"Mercury" is Wendell Barte. He is only 5 feet 8 inches and 157 pounds. What he lacks in size, he makes up for it in speed and determination. Once he gets into the open, there will be an automatic touchdown.

The players believe that they will win the C.I.A.A. championship next year. To make a championship team, the Aggies will have to mend together and accept each other as members of the team.

A&T should be strong at the quarterback post if Gray and Granger have a good season and Sills continues to develop. It is generally felt that Willie Pearson will be used more at halfback than at quarterback.

Since the platoon system will be used, more players will get a chance to play.

The players to watch next year are Dennis Homesley, Frederick Robinson, Coleman Tutt, Richard Armstrong, Craig Sills, Henry Douglas, Clyde Petteway, and Willie "Cowboy" Vaughn.

The player who was most impressive in spring drills was Dennis Homesley. "Homing" Homesley is a fierce competitor who gives 100 per cent effort whenever he is playing.

Track Team Wins 6 First Places In Florida Relays At FAMU

A&T's track team captured six first places in the Florida Relays last weekend at Florida A&M University.

A&T dominated the field events with first place wins in the triple jump, shot put, discus, long jump and the lone running event in the 220-yard dash.

Bob Beamon set two records in the Relays. He leaped 49' 8" for a new record in the long jump.

Sam Marsh took the 220-yard dash. His best time was 21.8 seconds.

Elvin Bethea set a record in the discus. He threw the discus 174' 3 3/4" for the record. Also he won the shot-put. He heaved the "shot" 54' 5". That was a poor effort for Bethea because he is capable of putting the shot in excess of 60 feet. Steve Dixon won the javelin throw with a throw of 203' 9 1/4".

Mike Hart took a third place in the high-jump with a leap of 6' 4".

Roy "Spaceman" Thompson took a fourth place in the triple jump with a leap of 43' 6".

Other schools that were represented at the Relays were Johnson C. Smith, Morehouse, Benedict, Allen, Clark, Bethune Cookman, Fort Valley State, and Florida A&M, the host school.
