"Called To Be Responsibly Human" Is Theme
To Be Used For The Annual Observance

By STANLEY JOHNSON

"Called to be Responsibly Human" is the theme for Religious Emphasis Week to be held at A&T on March 27-31.

The Reverend Mr. J. A. Forbes, Jr., minister of St. John's United Holy Church in Richmond, Virginia, will be the speaker for this occasion with Dr. John M. R. Stevenson, chairman of the coordinating council and the Religious Life Committee.

Special assistance was given by a special committee which included Mrs. Carmen H. Kelley, Mrs. Naomi W. Wynn, Dr. W. L. Gordon, Mr. B. V. Harris, Mr. Gerold Edwards, Mrs. Clara V. Zehes, Mr. Walter F. Cates, and Dr. John M. R. Stevenson, chairman.

A formal invitation had been extended to the faculty, staff, and students of the college community to participate in all phases of the annual event.

On Sunday, March 27, at 2:45 P.M. the Sunday School will hold a panel discussion on the topic, "What Does It Mean to Be Responsibly Human?" This discussion will attempt to give some direct meaning to the theme and thus give greater meaning to the events to follow.

Following an organ medley by Michael Leonard at 3:00 P.M., in Hinton Auditorium will be the worship service at 3:00 P.M. The speaker for this occasion will be Mr. J. A. Forbes, Jr., minister of St. John's United Holy Church in Richmond, Virginia. He will deliver a sermon entitled "A Remaining Encounter."

Other distinguished guest to take part in the worship service are the Reverend Harry E. Smith, President of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and the Reverend W. B. Willis, Jr., the state director of the Methodist Student Movement of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Student participation in a film by E. B. McGhie, a senior majoring in Engineering who is affiliated with the Vokes Foundation, and Charnio A. Gordon, a freshman secretarial science major, also of Greensboro, who is affiliated with the Bahai Club.

To conclude Sunday's activities, a fellowship meal has been set for dinner in the Women's Lounge of Bluford Library. Students and other interested parties may take this opportunity to discuss ideas in an informal and interreligious format that are related to religion, a good book, and the "New Morality." Special assistance was given by the Bahai Club.

On Monday, March 28, the Reverend Mr. J. A. Forbes, Jr., pastor of the Holy Trinity Church in Wilmington. Presently, he is chairman of the educational department of the United Holy Church of America.

This symposium will be held on Wednesday at 7:00 P.M. in the University Auditorium.

A. & T. COLLEGE

President Dowdy

Holds Meeting
With Students

By LEE HOUSE,

Approximately 600 students rallied under the leadership of Mr. Dowdy, President of the College, at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, March 27. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the problems as well as the ideals of the college.

Speaking rather extemporaneously, Mr. Dowdy opened the meeting with a discussion of the need for more communication between the administration, the faculty, and the student body. He expressed concern, he suggested, many problems may be solved by understanding or prevention.

Mr. Dowdy expressed his interest in the problems of the health service, the book store, the food service, and the library.

He reported that work was in progress on extending the library service, but reserved a release of further data until recommendations have been made on this matter.

He stressed the necessity of changing the book system from a permanent to a revolving system. He pointed out that this plan is expected to save money and provide better service. He also discussed the problem of student registration, which he felt was a fundamental matter. It was implied that this issue should be handled by the student union, which is covering the cost of the books.

The college's chief executive officer also stressed the need for a food service situation to be resolved. He felt that the situation at the college had been reached between the college and the food service company.

Emphasizing Religion

Religion should not be locked up, as an annual celebration even though March 27-31 is being set aside to emphasize religion and its relationship to human responsibility.

Religion is a topical issue because of the controversy involving its relationship to other matters. The "death of God" theory and the new morality have provided the interest of many religious leaders and laymen alike. Ideas growing out of discussions concerning the preceding topics are varied. The student must formulate his own conclusion about religion and its relationship to everyday living.

No matter what one's professional religious affiliation is, he should strive to abide by the golden rule, "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE THEM DO UNTO YOU."

Serving a Supreme Being is a personal matter, and one can only serve Him by studying His fellow man.

There are three hundred sixty-five days in a year — three hundred sixty-six in a leap year. Each day is given to the students where souls are lost, who do not know that the day they should be spent — to use his time wisely in service for his fellowman or to allow each day to drift slowly away.

The books will cover practically any phase of religion that could possibly be brought up in the week's observance.

The planning committees for the Religious Emphasis Week, which is to be observed on March 27-31, have worked on the selection of resource materials for background reading. The week is the basis for participating in and appreciating the discussions and messages that will be given throughout that week.

The planning committee feels as though they are being either electrocuted or boiled. It seems as though there have been quite a few scalds recently. Students have been burning their hands; therefore, they are asking or rather pleading that something be done to prevent blistering backs, scalded heads, and burned hands.

The revised purple heart consists of a purple heart-shaped piece of cloth edged with silver braid. Between the top of the heart and the ribbon is purple with narrow white edging or killed in the service of their country.

It is the general opinion of these students that something should be done professionally to put an end to these unnecessary accidents.

In Hot Water

By PATRICIA LANIER

There have been a number of complaints made recently by members of this student body concerning the temperature of the water in the dormitories. Some want it hot — some want it cold, but the majority want it regulated.

It seems as though the students have been attacked by the scalds received by students in the process of flushing showers, shaving hair, or while in the course of running water in the sinks for one purpose or another. In this, some of the students have tried to seek the professional care of the nurses in the infirmary concerning the painful scalds they attained. These scalds have left the students with almost a fear of any water other than cold; for, if the water has any warmth while they are using it, the bathroom and someone else runs water almost anywhere else in the house. They know the water is so hot that it feels as though they are being either electrocuted or boiled.

It is the general opinion of these students that something should be done professionally to put an end to these unnecessary accidents.

The Blue team was composed of players from out of state, while the White team was composed of Aggies. The former unit was the most pressing to the front, showing speed and superior defensive tactics.

Throughout the game, the Blues had maintained possession of the ball through a series of their own attempts, but the Blues were leading 12-8. The game finally ended with a score by the White team. The Blues had captured the lead at halftime.
