Reporte r Covers Canteen
From Other Points Of View

By EVELYN LOUISE PARKER

A number of articles have been written on 'The Canteen', a student's viewpoint, but we've never heard the view of one student who has been to the canteen. Mr. Wayne Talbert, manager of the canteen, gave us his view a few weeks ago.

One of the main concerns of the canteen is the meal, and Mr. Talbert said, "The food is good, but the service is poor. We have too many students, and they take a long time to get their meals."

Other members of the canteen staff agreed. "We have a lot of work to do," said one, "and we can't get it all done."

"I think it serves as a hindrance to the students," said another. "I don't think the staff is doing their job."

"We have to have more staff," said Mr. Talbert, "or we're not going to make the students happy."

"I think we need more money," said one student. "The food is good, but the prices are high."

Mr. Talbert replied, "I don't think there's a lot of money. We have to be careful with it."

"I think there's a lot of waste," said another. "We throw away a lot of food."

"I don't think so because it is up to us," said Mr. Talbert. "We have to be responsible for what we do."

"I think we need more space," said one student. "We can't serve all the students at once."

"We have to be more organized," said Mr. Talbert. "We have to have a system for serving the food."

"I think we need more help," said one student. "We can't do everything on our own."

"I think we need more training," said Mr. Talbert. "We need to learn how to serve the food."

"I think we need more money," said another. "We need to buy more equipment."

"Just Like a Child"

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Sometimes, it seems to me, we are all children... When I began teaching in the new schools, I began to wonder about the children. I began to realize that the children were not as much like children as they are like us.

For children have different minds. They are not the same as we are. They do not think like we do. They do not feel like we do. They do not act like we do. They are not like us.

Because the music was recorded in the past, it is not as if the present could be compared with that of today. However, the present is a case in the history and development of music. Therefore, it is the present that is the key to the past.

NOTE: Other important albums from the vintage are released weekly. For more information, contact the Mercury Records Corporation.

The Taming of the Shrew

By CLAYTON G. HOLLOWAY

"The Taming of the Shrew" is a play by William Shakespeare. It is set in the 14th century and is a romantic comedy. The play follows the relationship between two young lovers, Petruchio and Katherina. The play ends with the couple marrying and living happily ever after.

The play is known for its use of language and its exploration of gender roles. It is considered one of the most popular works of Shakespeare and is still performed today.

Hamlet

By NANCY WADDELL

"Hamlet" is a play by William Shakespeare. It is set in Denmark and is a tragedy. The play follows the story of Prince Hamlet, who becomes obsessed with the death of his father, King Hamlet. Hamlet's mother, Queen Gertrude, marries his uncle, Claudius, who killed Hamlet's father. Hamlet seeks revenge against Claudius.

"Hamlet" is known for its use of language and its exploration of themes such as love, loss, and power. It is considered one of the most popular works of Shakespeare and is still performed today.

How To Write Letters To The Editor

(Editors' Note: The following article was taken from material prepared by the American Friends Service Committee.)

By J. STEWART INNERST

Editors of most newspapers make provisions for the public to be heard through letters to the editor.

Correspondence surveys show that these letters are among the best received by newspapers. When a letter appears on page 3 of a newspaper, you probably have the largest audience you will ever reach with a letter of similar length. A small town weekly newspaper with a circulation of 2,000 may have as much influence as the New York Times while the circulation by 2 1/2 times is considerable. The circulation by 5 times may be quite large.

Your readers are a cross section of society, including all shades of opinion. A recent survey by Center for Public Opinion Research at Florida State University, conducted in a connection with the College of Education, has concluded that "Letters-to-the-editor provide one of the most influential channels by which an active citizen can express ideas about public issues." Here are some suggestions which can help you in writing the kind of letter that will have the largest audience you will ever have to address. Let's estimate its size. A small town weekly newspaper may have a circulation of 2,000. A metropolitan daily may have as many as 100,000. A big city tabloid wUl be at A&T on November 8 and 9.

November 8 and 9 Have Been Set For Blood Drive

The National Red Cross Blood Mobilization Bureau, A&T and the Alumni Association, under the direction of R. B. Hall, have called a Blood Drive for November 8 and 9 at Cooper Hall. Blood bank notices will be posted on campus for interested donors of the community.

All persons who are 21 years or older are eligible to donate blood and should have no fear of donating blood. Students who are under 21 must receive written permission from their parents or guardians.

Last year A&T had the largest audience it has ever had for a Blood Drive. This year it is hoped that we will not fall below our previous record.

Dr. Daniel Becomes First Layman To Serve As Speaker For Men's Day

Using for his frame of reference Marcus Anthony's famous trilogy for Bunsen, Dr. Walter C. Daniel, chairman of the Department of English at A&T, addressed the members of the University Church at his alma mater, Johnson & Smith College.

Dr. Daniel exhorted the young men of the university to properly mix the elements of their lives so that one may fit any part. His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in his that nature might stand up and say to all the world, "This was a man!"

Mr. Daniel was introduced to his audience by the Dean of Students, H. H. Davis, as one of the University's distinguished alumni and the first layman to serve as featured speaker for Men's Day. Dr. Daniel sincerely ended the present-day college student for his reliance upon the group image in society, without distinguishing himself in his environment.

Aggies Wallop Norfolk State Spartans 40-6

Sharp Shooters Face Busy Schedule After Win

By WESLEY POWE

The riflemen of the A&T College Veterans Rifle Team began their World Series sweep over the Los Angeles Dodger band in Baltimore. McNally, a 22-year-old left-hander exceeded the Dodgers' series of scoreless innings to 3, erasing a mark that has stood since the days of Christy Mathewson and Jim Man. Joe McCarthy in 1907.

The Angel's big hitter, Allen, who led them for a downtown all-time batting average of .342.

Frank Robinson, out to prove the Cincinnati Reds right he is, they tagged him as too old last winter and traded him to Baltimore, tripped a Joe Drysdale pitch deep into the left field stands in the fourth inning. It was a 400-foot single, finally caught by a fan in the 10th row of the left field stands, a fitting climax to his triple crown season.

McNally was taken out of the game during a wild streak when he loaded the bases with one out. Man McCarthy walked in both of the last the Dodgers were to get in the game.

Then Moe blanked Los Angeles the rest of the way. He was Wally Bunker and now McNally can comfortably sit on the shining string.

The old Series shutout record of 1-1 by Mantle was broken up 31 yards to the Norfolk 43; and the Aggies scored their first and only touchdown on an 85-yard run by halfback William Murphy. The Spartans lost 25-13, 18. The cost of a round trip ticket is $6.00. The trip is sponsored by the Richard B. Harrison.
