Summer School Offers Plan
For Early Registrations

Summer school will offer regular and special courses, including an opportunity to reserve class space for those who register by April 15. The procedure will be the same as in previous years, but with some modifications.

This material will be distributed in the regular class notes and the information sheets for students. The reservation forms, which will be mailed to each student who will attend summer school, will require priority for housing accommodation, if desired, and, request for desired courses. A list of courses is included in the reservation forms and details on the procedures to be followed.

Fee Requirements

When the reservation schedule is completed, in consultation with the Academic department, the student will pay a fee of $10 per week for all courses taken. This fee will be applied to registration forms and any associated costs. The fees collected will be credited towards tuition due at the beginning of the summer, but under no circumstances will the fees be refundable.

A highlight in the observance is the appearance of Miss Margaret Vine, noted opera soprano, a 1941 graduate of A&T College, and Greensboro native, now a resident of Milan, Italy, who is to be presented in concert on Friday evening, April 28.

Other events scheduled for the week, as follows:
- April 25 — concert by the A&T College Symphony Band, Thursday, April 27 — recital by Geoffrey Liddle, dancer, pianist, actor, choreographer and singer, Wednesday, April 26 — "Guys and Dolls" at the College Theatre, April 29, at 2:30 P.M.
- Convocation on Saturday afternoon, April 16 at 2:30 in Senior Auditorium, followed by a dedication and naming of three buildings. Three new buildings will be dedicated, and a dedication ceremony will be held. These buildings include the Student Union Building, the Biology Building, and the Education Building. The dedication ceremony will be followed by a community reception.
- A&T College will open its 65th Anniversary during the week beginning on Monday, April 24, and culminating with a Convocation on Saturday afternoon, April 29, at 2:30 P.M. The Convocation, to feature the dedication and naming of these new buildings, will draw a large list of prominent leaders in education, business, and the State and Federal Governments.
- The three structures, recently completed and ready for occupancy, include: the Student Union Building, the Biology Building, and the Education Building.

A highlight in the observance is the appearance of Miss Margaret Vine, noted opera soprano, a 1941 graduate of A&T College, and Greensboro native, now a resident of Milan, Italy, who is to be presented in concert on Friday evening, April 28.

Programs scheduled for Saturday include:
- National Library Week Celebration
To Feature Two Noted Authors

Two successful authors will be featured in the Library Week Celebration, April 15, at A&T College. This annual event with its usual programs — Read, Read, Read — will include two contemporary authors who have made contributions in the fields of Chinese culture and Negro history.
- Miss Josephine Huang, a visiting scholar from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and Dr. Walter W. White, former executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be the special guests.
- Miss Josephine Huang’s lecture will be held at 10:30 A.M. on Saturday, April 15, in the A&T College Library, while Dr. Walter W. White’s lecture will be held at 10:00 A.M. on Sunday, April 16, in the College Auditorium.

Dr. Walter W. White is a well known leader in the field of civil rights, and has been instrumental in the struggle for equal rights for African Americans. He has been a strong advocate for education and has been a key figure in the civil rights movement. Miss Josephine Huang is a Chinese-American scholar who has made significant contributions to the fields of Chinese history and culture. She has written extensively on Chinese culture and has been a key figure in the Chinese-American community.

The event will feature a reading by Miss Josephine Huang and Dr. Walter W. White, who will discuss their work and answer questions from the audience.

The event will conclude with a special performance by the A&T College Choir, which will sing a selection of songs from the civil rights movement.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the A&T College Library at 336-253-6800.
Spring Demonstrations

It’s spring again, the weather is warm, and it is likely to become warmer. Though it may seem strange, warm weather has a decided effect on college students. In other words, the atmosphere and weather are just right for riots and mass demonstrations. Many students feel that it is not a burden to walk over the Slater Food Service, and this may very well be true, however, it may be for this reason that a group of students of the University feels it their duty to complain about the food, and they certainly won’t be the last. It’s like one of those things that one can count on to occur, and it is not likely to be the last. It’s something that one can count on to come to the surface once a year and usually during the spring of the year.

The University of Pittsburgh had its little "riots" at the very beginning of this month which lasted for consecutive nights. According to The Pitt News, the students were basically without leaders or any particular persons in mind as an object of their distress. Many, who engaged in the eruptions on the Pittsburgh campus, showed somewhat of an increase in numbers as the demonstrations went on.

In the many articles presented in the April 5 issue of the Pitt News, the most popular reason given for the unrest was "the warm weather." Perhaps students here do have grievances that need to be voiced. It is quite possible that such actions would be almost a periodical repetition of "spring demonstrations" this year. If they do occur, it is hoped that they will not be the result of a group of restless students, a group of deranged students, or the warm weather.

A Step Forward

The second annual student teaching conference represents a step toward the advancement of the teacher education program here at A&T College. An interest in the program was shown by the number of persons attending in addition to student teachers and co-operating teachers, several high school teachers, who are not involved in this program, the teacher program, attended because they are interested in our prospective teachers.

Both teachers and prospective teachers openly discussed new innovations in teaching. In addition, they stated their grievances with the present program. All were accepted in a manner indicative of positive changes in evaluative methods of the college by the teacher.

A suggestion which may prove very beneficial to both the students and the co-operating teacher is that of allowing each school department to set up its own criteria for evaluation of the student teachers. Since most of the school departments offer a teacher education program, attendance is a matter of interest in our prospective teachers.

While it may be true that a long drawn out lesson plan may be effective in general education courses, such as English, etc., it does not hold true for a course in which some manual skill is practiced. For this reason, it appears that each department should cooperate in determining basic guides for its students.

In conjunction with this suggestion, it may be profitable for co-operating teachers and student teaching personnel to sponsor a meeting in which they may exchange teaching experiences. This would provide a better means of ascertaining the student teacher’s role. It would also decrease the importance of the prospective teachers, to his department, the ability to be an effective in general education courses, such as English, etc., it does not hold true for a course in which some manual skill is practiced. For this reason, it appears that each department should cooperate in determining basic guides for its students.

In conjunction with this suggestion, it may be profitable for co-operating teachers and student teaching personnel to sponsor a meeting in which they may exchange teaching experiences. This would provide a better means of ascertaining the student teacher’s role. It would also decrease what some cooperating teachers feel to be unnecessary paper work.

Class Positions Available

The elections committee of the Student Government announced a shortage of applicants for certain class positions for the beginning of the fall year. Any or all eligible students may submit petitions to any member of the election committee no later than Monday, April 17.

Positions available are sophomore class – student government representatives, vice president, secretary, treasurer, Miss Sophomore – a member of the Freshman class representing the senior class – student government representatives, secretary, and treasurer.

Elections

Elections for officers of the student government will be held on Monday, April 17, at 7:00 P.M. in Hodgin Hall auditorium at the end of the first period. The offices of the various class positions have been distributed to interested students already. By this means, the election officers will have an office and you will have a position for official candidate. The following persons for one:

Aggies Off To Good Start In CIAA Baseball

By EARNEST FULTON

A&T's baseball team got off to a fine start last week by winning two of their first three conference games. Aggies lost the season opener to Hampton but came back to take two straight from Norfolk State and Howard University. All of the games were played in Greensboro.

Aggies have been and still are one of the finest teams in the CIAA. They have won eight championships in the past 12 years and have finished second several other times with the exception of last year when they came in at the number three spot. This year they are out for first place.

Chief competition should come from Maryland State, the defending champs, and from Shaw. The Aggie team is built around a strong combination of outstanding veterans. The one that stands out most is Lloyd Lightfoot, the team captain. Light is outstanding and consistent at bat and in the field. He plays the all important shortstop position and forms an excellent kerryno combination with Henry Fleming.

Royell Neal, the first baseman, is the power hitter of the team. He is capable of cleaning the bases with just one blow from his mighty bat.

Other returning veterans are Miles Haywood, the catcher, and Lewis Onumma, the third baseman.

James Jace and John Quick are the leading hurlers on a staff that is mostly composed of rookies.

resignation and asked Forbes to reconsider.

The election committee has made gigantic steps in assisting students that they will no longer have to continue with voting for names instead of people for leaders. This year the Election Committee is providing a convention in order that the candidates may present their platforms to the students. The convention is scheduled for the latter part of this month. There will also be a Candidates Parade, a Fairsport for Miss A&T candidates, and a special program with a nationally known speaker presiding at the occasion. Rufus White is chairman of this committee.

Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. J. K. Marshall, also present at the meeting, stated that several committees have been formed to inspire students and faculty-staff members to unite and solve any existing problems under the newly organized Self-Analysis Program. Some of the Committees under this program are: Purposes and Objectives of the College, Organization and Administration, Educational Programs, Faculty, Library, Student Personnel, Physical Plant, and Graduate Program.

Additional information pertaining to this Program may be obtained from Dr. Marshall.

Mere Cato, an interested student present at the meeting, asked the SGA to consider making a proposal to the administration concerning the shortening of semester break and lengthening of the Easter holidays. Cato said, "Easter holidays are the only official holidays between Christmas and the end of the semester. The Easter holidays, for most of us, consist only of Saturday and Sunday, since Friday and Monday are used for traveling". The president said the matter would be brought up at the next meeting.

After, Willie Drake, Chairman of the Student Affairs Committee, introduced a matter of the student r a n k according to grade point averages. The president ordered Drake's committee to perform an investigation of the fact that there are GP A's as low as 0.35, 0.85, and 0.60 in the regular and advanced classes. The immediate attention to the matter was set.

Miss Wena Dodd, SGA adviser informed us that Operation Crossroads is looking forward to another Aggie this year. (Miss Dodd participated in Operation Crossroads last summer in Africa. This will not necessarily be a homecoming for one of our fellow Aggies, who will be journeying to our native continent of Africa this summer, but she is waiting in great anticipation for the close of this school year. Charise Cummings, physical education major from Portsmouth, Virginia, has been chosen as a GOODWILL AMBASSADOR for parts of Africa from A&T College.
