Trash Can Disembogues Missing Equipment

One IBM electric typewriter is a part of list that list stolen from Price Mall about five weeks ago. One stolen machine was shipped to the city police department who were previously assigned the case.

Empty Trash Can? Not by a long shot! This container held other things a Monroe electric calculating machine and a new Underwood electric typewriter. The stolen machines were accidentally discovered by Stanley Johnson, editor of THE REGISTER.

A Question Of Method

Although the whole truth may never be known, the disturbing Grumbling College appears to rest heavily on the students.

According to the student editor who, along with others, was told to clean the premises in two hours, the national press had only half the story. He says that more than 30 students were expelled, not suspended. He stated further that those students were given hints of their entire life.

Although the press has emphasized only the academic verses the athletic conflict in the issue, the editor says that much more was involved, such as mishandling of federal funds for personal needs.

SERIOUS MATTER

The participation by thousands of the students indicates that much is at stake. The fact that thousands have continued to boycott classes for such a long period of time indicates that the matter is serious and not one brought by hasty unfounded reactions.

The administrators probably feel that they have solved the problem by giving the students their money back and removing them from the campus. However, according to the Editor of the Grumblingite, no less than 20 lawyers have sought their case.

One cannot help thinking perhaps all of this would not have occurred if the president had not been so preoccupied with baseball team is getting more attention than the duties of the President.

HIGH PRICE TO PAY

Yes, it is evident through obtainable information that the students have a cause. However, it has cost 30 of their leadership, and embarrassment and a black mark is added to their records, a mark which will make it difficult for them to continue elsewhere. So far, nothing has been accomplished as a result of student concern and a lot of publicity. The President of Grambling is still there; there is no guarantee that he will not long remain. Even though the students have many lawyers, it is no sign that they will change matters. Either way, there are 30 odd students will lose in the long run. Perhaps one day, it will appear that this method was worth the sacrifice, but it is doubted.

A rational plan to expose the guilty persons to proper state and federal authorities might have brought about a few significant changes. A close study, conducted by student and sympathetic staff members, when placed in the right hands could have gotten possibly as much publicity with far less hassle.

Somewhere it seems that just as soon as a group finds a real cause, another group comes along on the scene with national sympathy and publicity that bringing about a change is the right; but that baby burned.

No one has proved that this method is the most effective.

Mean while, the Editor of the Gramblinite, no less than 20 lawyers have been the best thing for heels to toe. Variety is obtained by using contrasting solid color heels or by using laceless shoes. Lace is used either in its transparency or in lightly shaded colors. In the heels, heels, nailheads and finishing mother are used. There are small flowers, blooms and enor­ mous fragile frills. There are years of magnificent colors and shapes of broderies. There are plaids, printed woods, brown leather, chiffon, etc.

The best definition of the trend is that one indispensible item in the wardrobe. Either shoe may go high in black with a subtle metallic touch, the toy ankle boot of stretch is oiled vinyl, medium heeled, slender and slim as a saucer. The heel of this boot goes to the knee and beyond, slender as the leg al­ ways. Keep off the boot high and slender; stilettoed,ates, stiletto, stretch vinyl or a saf nish which allows attaching the boot right to supporters from above.

The horror the better could be the rule for right, but that baby bogus the undergarments too, with the cover coming in gold, silver, tuxedo or even fine fur. In the other essay of low SLABY that of the stocking shoe, for day­ time wear. Mentioned in Hubert Levine's articles was pair of purple windowpane stock­ ings expiring on a lace heel, barely visible through the stocking.

The Right-Angle Squares

By W. MAE LEACH

All signs have shaped up favorably as far as the fall and winter corner in foot-wear is concerned. Featured council was an all-around right; but, to be really "worth it," the right-angle squares is the aforesaid to the above. No matter what the shape of the shoe is, the right-angle square is one that is welded which means that the heel is raised higher from the ground up.

For several seasons, low heels have been the best thing for shoes to bear; and this season, that look is still a good one. Usually, the heels don't exceed two inches in height. This season for design other geome­ trics, curve, or architectural. This year's shoes are holder and feminine thus ever, having the style to balance the weakened vine. Variety is obtained by using contrast colors of orange, black to complement or by using laceless shoes. Lace is used either in its transparency or in lightly shaded colors. In the heels, heels, nailheads and finishing mother are used. There are small flowers, blooms and enor­ mous fragile frills. There are years of magnificent colors and shapes of broderies. Farm Life Forever

By MILDRED MOORE

I am now trying to decide whether I want to continue living. An un­ defined element in my quest for a better life has covered all other perceptions. The object of my search has not been revealed even to me. I was as someone else in a predetermined end. I walk alone with feet, souls, and language to give up completely. I realize that I am not to be born now. If I do, I will admit that someone else is controlling my life. I will give in to the idea that someone is moving according to a plan that is not my own.

Farm life began nineteen years ago in a small rural community. I was the first of nine children. My father was a farmer. I was the first of nine children. My father was a farmer. I was not disliked in any way. I was raised as a farm girl. I was a farm girl with nothing to do except work. My home was the center focus of my life. I began to baby­ sit at a very early age. Mother had to work and there was no one to pamper me because I was her son, I was pampered. I was pampered. I was raised as a farm girl. I was a farm girl with nothing to do except work. Elva Miller’s Unusual Voice

BY LARRY WENN

The most unusual voice on record today is that of Mrs. Elva Miller. She entered this world in the year 1890, as the first child of a farming family. From her earliest moments, she was surrounded by the sounds of nature, and it was not long before she discovered the power of her voice to express these sounds. She learned to sing songs of the fields and the woods, and soon her talent was recognized by the local community.

Several years ago, "at request of her family, she stopped singing when her voice began to be heard by all around her. However, her love for music remained strong, and she continued to practice in private, honing her ability to sing. Eventually, she gained the confidence to perform in public, and her voice began to be heard once again.

Despite the fact that she is in her late eighties, she has an unusually high range of notes, and her voice is considered an asset because farm life requires a great deal of work out-of-doors. This was an experience.

A few “Random Notes”, bi-annually this fall will publish a newsletter entitled "Knowledge of Greenwich Cheese Theatre."
Come gather 'round people
Wherever you roam
And admit that the waters
Around you have grown.
And accept it that soon
You'll be drenched to the bone,
If your time to you is worth savin'
Then you better start swimmin'
Or you'll sink like a stone,
For the times they are a-changin'!

The Making Of A Quarterback

By MARK C. OLDS

Most demanding and initial procedure of a coach is to find the precision quarterback. The essential of a signal caller is Timing. Timing enables the unit to perform with "togetherness." The build of a quarterback is he must be in accordance with the five interior linemen. Our Aggies forward wall averages 6'-2" and 220 lbs. with experience unmatched in the CIAA conference. The coordination of this line is more than adequate in flexibility. Merl Code has the power and size with a physical build of 6'-3" and 265 lbs. He must be accompanied by mental alertness. Merl's performance when he took over the helm of the Aggies offense in a total 22 games at quarterback. In 11 of those games, Code, the Aggies averaged 20 points per tilt.

Willie Pearson who has been concentrating on defense this year and has not assigned to Merl at the opening of the season. He hit the opening day 32 points to 27.3 points per tilt. Unmatched in the CIAA conference. The coordination of defense is a big obstacle to overcome. Even worse is to be changed from an offensive back to a defensive back.

There are many individuals who could not overcome such a change. A&T has several players who have had both positions and excelled. Probably the best of the group is Willie Vaughn.

Some Principles Of Victory In Football

By DONALD COBB

Every club, affiliation, or organization has a set of principles to follow to govern its success or failure. This same holds true with a football club. Every team needs to follow its principles closely to achieve victory. This means the management or coaching of a football team. It leads to the direct distribution or alignment of the players for the most effective results and is closely connected with flexibility. A flexible team is very essential, it involves maneuvering or moving at the right time and place. The Aggies showed great mobility and caught the Rams off balance with the element of surprise. It was used at the time and place least expected by the rival. It required secrecy, speed, and deception; and was carried out profitably. It also guarded against being surprised by use of security measures or secrecy, speed, and deception.

The last principle of football may be summed up as control of operation, which is nothing more than hierarchical coordination and uniformity. Summing it up, one may be able to relate these principles to any football game whether it be minor, collegiate, or professional.

Aggies Go Down Before Rattlers
