By BARBARA M. JOYNER

Calvin Matthews, president of the Student Government Association at A&T, announced last week that he will run for a seat on the Greensboro City Council. Disruptive Tactics May Not Be Used Again

By FRANKIE PAULING

The A&T Student Union has announced that disruptive tactics will not be used again. The union has been working in an archaic and dilapidated system which was established seven years ago. The system has proven to be of little worth. These channels have placed the bulk of their demands on the administration, faculty and personnel administration.

"It is acknowledged that there are problems which make it necessary to set up protest procedures so that student grievances are given serious consideration," Matthews said. "These problems are real, and the students have proven to be of little worth. These problems are real, and the students have proven to be of little worth."

The Student Union has established channels which will reflect the complaints and personal administration. It is aimed at real human relations — real human relations which reflect their dissatisfaction.

Matthews was asked why the Student Government Association was not used. "The SG will not take on the role of the Student Union," Matthews said. "We have come to realize that these channels show repeat problems and an entrapment to stifle the students."

One Year Later
After Kerner Report

Major first-anniversary appraisal of America's reaction to the domestic crisis portrayed by the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders finds that the nation has taken some steps toward eliminating racial discrimination and poverty in the central cities but concludes that "progress in dealing with the conditions of slum-ghetto life has been no-where in scale with the problems."

Nor, states the study, "has the past year seen even a seri­ous start toward the changes in national priorities, programs and institution advocated by the Commission."

It states that: "Poverty remains a pervasive fact of life . . . and the continuing disparity between this poverty and the general affluence remains a source of alienation and discontent."

"Ghetto schools continue to fail. The small amount of progress that has been made has been counterbalanced by a row­ing atmosphere of hostility and conflict in many cities."

"At present there are no programs that seriously threaten the continued existence of the slums."

Using the commission's benchmark report of March 1, 1968 as a reference point, the study finds the concern of some white Americans over changes in Negroes' and other minority group's status by other elements of the white population. Among black Americans, the study finds the mood neither totally militant nor totally subservient but "not moving in the direction of patience."

"The report is totally directed to whites in this country. The report tells the white society that a year has passed and it has not moved significantly, toward relieving the burden of mi­nority groups in America."

There is very little attack upon black community but there is a sermon that can be written for blacks too. As the wrongs are made right it will mean that blacks will gain increased participa­tion in deciding the course of direction for this country. As more and more black leaders rise to represent the black community, greater responsibility will fall on every black Amer­ican. Cooperation and trust among blacks will need to im­prove considerably. So, even as roles of white Americans, to make a better society, becomes more critical and more impor­tant so will that of every black American.

Editorial Column Policy

Columns appearing on the edi­torial pages of THE REGISTER are written by members of the A&T Register staff, except where indicated. Opinions are made. Those opinions expressed are those of the individ­ual, and give a variety of views on subjects.

Opinions expressed in the lead editorial represent the poli­cy of the A&T Register editorial board. Members of the A&T Register editorial board, who disagree with the opinions of the lead editorial, are free to write columns, expressing their views.

Editor of THE REGISTER:

The events of last week have finally brought to the attention of the American public the students of this institution are not white. The other students who number many in this school.

However, the organization of the SGA was not the only SGA called the "take-over" on; that now the SGA is the answer. Many of the students, it seems, did not understand the purpose of the "take-over."

I feel that if more planning and more sincerity were shown about the events of the SGA, the pro­test would have been nega­tively pointed if not only because the students who organized the protest would understand the project better. If this were to happen, many of the students who organized the protest would be more forceful.

AT MORRIS COLLEGE

Brantley Says Work, Think, Dream

Curtis Brantley, speaking on the psychology of the black man, the psychologist Harry Overstreet, at a recent Kappa Alpha Psi Mass Gathering at Mount Pleasant Baptist Church, probably impressed the audience the most. He does know for sure that he did. Of that person, his assistant, was President Reaf of New York's Mount Pleasant Baptist Church.

It was during the Christmas vacation at this year's Kappa Alpha Psi special program, Brantley, a re­cent graduate of Mount Pleasant, spoke at New York's Mount Pleasant, at the special program Sunday. He shared something with the College's faculty and student body.

Brantley continued: "Within the past decade, all over the country black men and women have been affected severely. Our minds have been affected. We have understood the purpose of the "take-over," but for the end of this unrest is not in sight.

"Critical weaknesses in our en­tire educational system have been exposed. Deficiencies in mathe­matics, science, reading, and spelling have shocked the American public. We have been proud of the many of our young militant leaders that are producing better American schools are not only here in America and the growing American community, but that these programs are being supported by new and dynamic leaders."

"Our world is one of danger and change. The tremendous revo­lution is here. The tremendous revo­lution is here. We are living in a world that is changing, and God fulfills his dreams of the future. In the past decade, new forms of new young leaders have become common place in the capitals of the world. The world is changing, and God fulfills his dreams of the future. In the past decade, new forms of new young leaders have become common place in the capitals of the world. The world is changing, and God fulfills his dreams of the future.

The students here at A&T State University are very much concerned. It is because of this concern that changes in the curriculum should be made.

The changes I am talking about are in the humanities and history. I feel that knowledge in Black History and Black Communism is very good and very important. We are Black people and should not have to find out about our heritage. We have excelled in many areas and I feel that it is our turn to take it all to come out into the open.

This idea of having a Black in­structor is also good. Who wants a white person trying to tell one about ourselves? That's just like hav­ing a dog tell a cat about itself. If you are going to have a black course, by all means get a black instructor.

To all concerned students at A&T, I say, "hats off."

A&T Becomes A Center For Nat'l Exams

A&T State University has been designated as a test center for the National Teacher Examinations on April 12, 1969. Dr. S. O. Jones announced today, college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require applicants to submit their scores on the National Teacher Examinations along with their other credentials are eligible to take the tests. Last year more than 50,000 candidates took the examinations which are prepared and administered by Educational Testing Services of Princeton, New Jersey.

The designation of A&T State University as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance in the examinations against candidates throughout the country who take the tests, Dr. Jones said.

At the one-day session a candidate may take the Criterion Examinations which include tests in Professional Education and General Education, and one of the fifteen Teaching Area Examinations, which are designed to evaluate the understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area in which they may be assigned to teach.

Directions of Information describing registration procedures and examination fees may be obtained from Dr. S. O. Jones, Test Center, A&T State University, Greensboro, N. C.

Nuclear War Seems Ultimate

By MARK D. CAMPBELL

In the modern world the average educated reader is familiar with tary marvels that were even science fictions to war great-grandparents. Heart and other transplantaations, color television, and space flight are only a few examples of these. Yet, al­ mong all these achievements, the devout Christian continues to pray for the prayer. One of the most important is the prayer Jesus had during his prayer, which will be done in earth as it is in heaven.

If a believer prays this prayer literally, does He believe in an all-powerful God who accept through the power of a Divine Physician. The reason is that Jesus Christ predicted that in the next twenty years there would be a thermonuclear war between the United States allied nations and communist China on the other.

By CORNELIA SCHOOLFIELD

A&T and the Committee on Afro-African Art, Studies, and Friends have now on exhibition a collection of African Art. The exhibition will be done in earth as it is in heaven. The conscientious believer asks for the return of Jesus Christ to judge the events of the world to this time, so fast as the years shall be shortened.

Jeanne Dixon, a devout Christian, says the prayer: The reason is that the return of Jesus Christ to judge the events of the world to this time, so fast as the years shall be shortened.

President Kennedy was perhaps the famous, modern-day prophet that in the next twenty years there would be a thermonuclear war between the United States allied nations and communist China on the other.

This writer feels that the conception of predestination must be ac­cepted because of the history of man there have been wars between different nations. The United States is involved in a war in Southeast Asia today.) The threat of thermonuclear war hangs over the world today, as the modern-day historians regard the threat of thermonuclear war.

The international aspects of the new left will be dis­cussed. The book of Matthew states in Chapter 24 verses 6, 13 and 22. "And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars, and nations shall rise against nations, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be earthquakes in divers places, and all these things shall be the beginning of the tribulation of the world...

The conscientious believer expects the return of Jesus Christ to judge the events of the world to this time, so fast as the years shall be shortened. It is the sincere opinion of this writer that the great tribulation that could destroy all flesh on earth is the return of Jesus Christ to judge the events of the world to this time, so fast as the years shall be shortened. It is also this writer's opinion that this war was predestined by God nearly 2,000 years ago as a part of a small design for man and the eventual return of Jesus Christ at the end of the world and the final judgment of all mankind.

Urban Crisis

Wake Forest Symposium Seeks Student Response

A&T is one of 200 schools in the Eastern United States which will be invited to send ten student delegates by a convention-symposium on “The Urban Crisis — The Students’ Response” at Wake Forest University, March 20-22.

The symposium is called “Challenge '69,” and is held every other year at the Winston-Salem school.

Speakers who already have accepted invitations include the keynote speaker, Edward Monck (B-Maine); Harvey Cox, author of “The Secular City;” Saul Alinsky, “The Power of the Poor;” Daniel P. Moynihan, assistant to the Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development; and Herbert Kramer, former aide to Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Other speakers who have accepted invitations include Sen. Fred Harris (D-Ala.), member of the Senate Committee on Housing, Urban Development, and Related Urban Affairs; and Dr. L. C. Dowdy, former student body, and Dr. L. C. Dowdy, former student body president, of the University of Tennessee.

The symposium has three main divisions. The first day delegates will consider the student’s role as a citizen and voter; on the second day, his role as a volunteer; and on the third, his role as part of the university’s participation in community problems.

Honor Society Will Select Econ. Majors

By BARBARA M. JOYNER

The Alpha Chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon Honor Society for Economic majors is now in the process of selecting prospective members.

The Alpha Chapter, the first chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon established in North Carolina, was chartered December 1, 1964. Dr. Robert Collins, Southern Regional Director at the time of A&T’s charter, was responsible for establishing the Alpha Chapter. Dr. O. L. Tate, former chairman of the Economics Department, helped to push the request for the local chapter.

Omicron Delta Epsilon is a relatively new organization. It was founded January 1, 1955, as a merger of two other honor societies — Omicron Delta Gamma and Omicron Delta Chi.

Undergraduates and graduate students applying for membership must have a general average of “B” or better, and have at least 35 credits of Economics with average grades not less than within the top 30% of the class.

The purpose of the organization is to recognize scholastic achievement, establish closer ties between students and faculty in the same department, and to establish a close relationship with national honor societies.

The Alpha Chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon has the following officers: Interim President — Dr. George Smathers; Vice President — Dr. L. C. Dowdy; Secretary — Dr. James Hardin; Treasurer — Dr. J. C. Foreman.

The Alpha Chapter consists of 48 members with 22 members admitted in prior years. The request for the local chapter was on behalf of the Economics Department. In addition to the establishment of the chapter, the request was to allow the department to push the request for the local chapter. The chapter will be formally established at a meeting of the membership.

The local chapter has no members from any other honor society — Omicron Delta Gamma or Omicron Delta Chi.
