University To Be Site Of First Conference For Black Students

By DAVID LEE BROWN

The Rev. Archie L. Rich of Detroit, Michigan, has some definite thoughts on the direction for college student organizations in black colleges. The theme of his address to the North Carolina A&T Student Government Association at A&T, Mad, is that Black Americans, to enable them to examine the attitudes and aspirations of Black Americans before 1910 and tentatively this organization has been named SOBU which means Southern Black University. To be Site Of First Conference For Black Students

By PRINCE LEGHEE

The free press is the most important weapon against racism. It is the only weapon white man and black middle class man, is, for the freedom of the black middle class. Accordingly, Rev. Rich said, "Black middle class students, at least, have the right to be Black middle-class." They are divided on the philosophical and moral principles that must be respected because he is a man. The fight is not for equality before the law, but the fight is for Black excellence and the right to be Black middle-class people. We are all in this together, but the only difference is that some people are more educated than others. Our goal must be to liberate the black man and his humanity and to stand up and be free. The white man must recognize that he is not the only species on this planet. Our rights are no less than those of the white race. We are all in this together, and we must work together to achieve our goals."

Change In Student Linen Service Brings Comments

Editor of The Register:

Again a change was supposed to have been in the future or have the linen service sent back to the University Laundry. This felt really was in the best interest of the students, but in the interest of the University Laundry.

Linen is distributed about one time a week, all at times when it is supposed to be in the best interest of the students. If the University Laundry did not intend for the men of Scott Hall to all of the same lines for two or three weeks, or made this change for they supposedly had the best interest of the students.

Curtis Deloach

Editor of The Register:

I walked into Moore Gymnasium Friday, April 26, with the intention of canvassing the student body. Entering the dance area I recognized some trouble that may have indicated the dance being sponsored by the sponsoring unit.

At this dance, sponsored by the Air Force ROTC Wellness Council, the majority of the students were white. I must say that this did give an evident feeling of superiority which I did not think was the reason for the dance and rather got in the way of the dance being sponsored by the sponsoring unit.

During the dance and before I left I talked to a man who said that they needed help in order to continue the dance and stated that he did not know how many students were there. I was about to leave when a man asked me if I had the time to see him. I had been at the dance about thirty minutes when the lights were turned on and everyone was asked to leave — the time being about 11:00 P.M. The dance turned out because the crowd was rowdy and quite a few of those present were intoxicated. Several fights were reported and the campus police had to pick up two young men from the floor and carry them from the gym.

This should never again happen at an affair sponsored by any unit. The OSA bulletin clearly states that "ID cards are to be checked by the sponsoring unit." My ID card was not checked and neither were those of those present had no student identification. It is easy to see how so many of the black Aggies who attended the dance, were able to discriminate one except the sponsoring unit.

If the sponsoring units of affairs fail to check student ID cards, I feel their privilege to hold affairs should be forfeited.

Modern Sociologists Say Existence Of Perfect Society Is Impossible

BY MARK D. CAMPBELL

To the modern sociologists, the idea of a perfect society is nonexistent. It is impossible to believe in that kind of society. The perfect society has been a long dream of many human beings in all the ages of man. It has never been generally accepted or realized before.

The concept of a Utopian society is considered fanciful for the simple reason that the present condition of the world has made the perfect society nonexistent. The idea does not take into account the weight of the real conditions in the world. The idea of a perfect society is not possible because there is no provision for such a society.

The concept of a Utopian society is nonexistent because of the present conditions and the conditions which exist in the world. If a perfect society was possible, it would be a Utopian society.

The concept of a perfect society is impossible because there is no way of realizing it. The perfect society is only a dream that exists in the minds of men. The idea of a perfect society is not possible because there is no provision for such a society.

calls unanswered. We must now number ourselves among those students who cannot at this time square military duty with integrity and conscience.

The overall statement also said: "Most of us have worked in electoral channels and through other channels to change the course of America's foreign policy and to remove the inequities of the draft system. We will continue to work in these channels. There is one possible result of these efforts will come too late for those whom deferments will soon expire. We must make a anguish executive to accept induction into the armed forces, which we feel would be irresponsible to ourselves, our country, and our fellow man, or to refuse induction, which is contrary to our respect for law and involves injury to our personal lives and careers." Students have, for a long time now, made their desire for a peaceful settlement. The present negotiations, however, are not an end in themselves, but rather, the means to a complete cease-fire and American extraction. And until that ceasefire has been reached, young men who oppose the war will continue to face the momentous decision of how to respond to the draft," the statement said.

Eight of the nine who signed the letter to Nixon held a press conference in Washington, D.C., on a one-day trip to the nation's capital. The signers were: Tom Hagedorn, a junior political science major from Tulsa; Robert J. Barlow, a sophomore psychology major from5n Massey, L. C., a junior English major from Houston; Judy Pass, a junior English major from Johnstown, Pennsylvania; Robert M. Sheets, a sophomore history major from San Antonio; James A. Blount, a sophomore economics major from Greensboro; Michael P. Foley, a junior political science major from Enfield, Connecticut; and David C. Smith, a junior history major from Pineville, Louisiana.

Archie Bell Gets Cheers; Choir Continues Tour

BY GEORGE D. ADAMS, JR.
Fine Arts Editor

The Archie Bell and the Drells concert at Moore Gym Tuesday night was cheered by Aggies. Archie Bell, who just completed a two-year stint with the Army, is now planning to do similar concerts in halls and colleges throughout the country.

The Drells will be resting for a week before they return to the scene singing songs from their new album, "Showdown." The Drells mesmerized the audience with some of their well known songs, "I Love My Baby," "I'm Gonna Make You Love Me (Drell rendition)," "Funky Showdown" and "Tighten Up," which was made famous while Bell was stationed in Germany — preventing him from personally introducing it to the public.

Bell, who referred to Aggies once as S&T, also rendered support to a few of the candidates in the past election and gave a Funky Showdown afterward with music major Olivia Smalls and other female Aggies. LaRoy of Jacksonville did a rocking imitation of the James Brown steps when Bell called him upon stage to learn the Funky Showdown, far surpassing what Bell had wanted him to do. The Drells after the show (in recreational clothes) sang songs while the students danced to them.

The University Choir has completed its ten-day northern tour which took them as far as Madison, Wisconsin. The University Symphony Band concert is set for May 4, at 6:00 P.M.

Last week was Home Economics Week. Fashion shows and lectures were presented by McCall's and by home economics students wishing to show their wares and creative talents.

The Art of "going over" was at hand for those who have had the stamina to withstand ten weeks of pledging. Good luck to all of them; they deserve a hand!!

The lone Omega probate, Carl McNair, walks the line of Omega Psi Phi just before pointing the ranks of over 50 brothers of Omega on the University campus.

The probates of two Greek sororities on the campus march by Murphy Hall during the week to end the eight weeks of pledging they went through. The top photo shows the three AKA probates — Ghada Akeel, Debby Young, and Baratine Bush — singing the AKA song. The bottom photo shows the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority probates — Doris Mekeet, Xakena Smith, Anna Harrington, Veronita Knott, Pamela Wall, and Lillian Campbell, as their line moves across the campus.

Intramural Sports Start With Men's Basketball

By PAUL JONES — Sports Editor

Ann Jones, coordinator-in-charge of intramurals at A&T, has recently disclosed that this extra-curricular activity will get into full swing upon the resumption of classes. Basketball, Wednesday, marks the beginning of intramural and court basketball with the teams being composed of any members of the student body. There are no restrictions as to size of team, except a maximum of twelve. All games are to be completed by this Saturday, March 19. Hollywood or three-man basketball begins with a double elimination round-robin tourney.

For the spring sports, the intramural sports will find a few candidates to track for both men and women. A schedule of events for the year will conclude the annual CIAA championships at Morgan State College on May 9-10.

There are no whites working at GE.

No blacks either. Just people. And we need more.

People qualified by talent and training, nothing else. Because at General Electric, it's the man, and what he can do that counts—not the color of his skin.

People who are not satisfied with the past and want to do something about the future. People who look for and recognize good opportunities. Equal opportunities.

These are the people the Aircraft Engines Group of General Electric is looking for—qualified people with degrees appropriate to engineering, manufacturing, quality control, business systems and programming, financial operations and personnel.

Here, you can help develop new jet engines like the ones we're building for the latest new Air Force Transports, the supersonic Transport, commercial and military helicopters and business jets.

If you've got the talent, training and ambition, you've got all we want. It's that simple. It generally is when you put things on a positive, tangible basis. Which is the way we like to do things here at AEG. Why not fill out the coupon and send it today? We'll outline your education and professional experience, and mail to the location of your choice.
