Strong Dissaproval Expressed By SGA Over Player In Golf Tourney

By Vernice Wright

In a press conference this morning, the SGA expressed strong disapproval of the admission of Gary Player, a white South African golfer, in tournaments.

Arthur Ade, a Black tennis player, has been denied the right to enter South Africa for several tournaments.

"We contend that this act illustrates without a doubt the quintessence of the character of the controlling capitalist, and imperialist of Anglo-Saxon origin here in the United States and in South Africa. It should be no question within the minds of the masses that the practice and performance of racist America is 'contradictory' to what the claims as her 'American Creed',' exclaimed Gail Thomas, vice-president of the SGA.

Moreover, she pointed out, "the perpetuation of the capitalist system readily exhibits your confirmation, support, and participation in the racist game of the 'great country.'"

Matthew Simpson, president of the SGA sought to clear up any confusion regarding the demonstration by A&T student. "It was peaceful and quiet," remarked Simpson.

On February 26, Abass stated that the SGA disapproves policy and recommendation in the Faculty Forum in a call meeting.

Specifically, the Student Government Association had not received the response it deemed necessary with regard to the students' demands put before the administration: (1) providing for student representation on the Faculty Senate; and (2) changing the regulations in computing the grade point average.

The Faculty Forum yesterday overwhelmingly passed proposals that called for the abolishment of the university's present policy regarding the grade of 'F' and the creation of a policy making body, former Faculty Senate, that will consist of students and faculty members composing the present Faculty Senate.

These results were a culmination of efforts by the students that began during the fall semester and ended with action taken by the Faculty Forum in a call meeting.

The opening session was held in the union ballrom at 9:00 a.m. Tuesday with William Hubbard presiding. The keynote speaker was Horace Ferguson, former Attorney General of S.G.A. at A&T. The topic for discussion was "The Black Man and His Fight to Overcome Drugs" plus "Dr. Dowdy was wholeheartedly in favor of our demands which he considers to be good demands," Simpson further asserted.

He also expressed the opinion that the SGA and the Administration have a very good working relationship. "We are working together for a better university," he said.

Furthermore, the Student Government Administration has not received the response it deemed necessary with regard to the students' demands put before the administration: (1) providing for student representation on the Faculty Senate; and (2) changing the regulations in computing the grade point average.

In an emergency student body meeting held in Harrison Auditorium Wednesday night, the underlying state of apathy that has existed on campus for the last six months erupted in frustration and discontentment.

Apathy within the administration, the faculty and the students as explained by SGA President Matthew Simpson has brought the University to a state of emergency. Simpson made this report to pressure why the SGA had called the emergency student body meeting.

The proposed state of apathy on campus came to an abrupt halt as Gail Thomas, SGA Vice-President, told students, "The lights are on the student body and not on the Student Government Association."

Policy Revised On Grades And Senate

Emergency Meeting

In an emergency student body meeting held in Harrison Auditorium Wednesday night, the underlying state of apathy that has existed on campus for the last six months erupted in frustration and discontentment.

SGA Support

The support rendered the Student Government Association yesterday by members of the student body was the greatest momentum exhibited by students herein support of the Student Government. Perhaps an evaluation should be made as to the reason behind this support.

If one were to look back over this academic year, he would find that, from the ordinary student's viewpoint, the issues being pushed by the Student Government yesterday were perhaps the only ones relating directly to the masses of the student body this year. It was undoubtedly this reasoning that led the crowd of about 800 students to Dudley and later to Carver Hall to support their student body heads in pushing their demands.

The facts presented above should not result in one believing that the Student Government has not been working in the interest of the student body throughout the year. Such a belief could not be further from the mark. The SGA has been working towards the solutions of problems confronting various student groups on campus when such problems were brought to their attention. Work on these issues has benefited and will benefit the student body has been and still is going on whether the ordinary student has this realization or not.

Reporting again directly to the support rendered by students yesterday, many observers on the university campus were perhaps stunned or even shocked at the orderliness and peacefulness of the assemblage of students. This did not happen accidentally; the student body was constantly urged by the SGA to keep things cool and peaceful.

It is time that people began to realize that students on this campus have no desire to destroy anything, especially the property of this Black institution. There is only a desire to have some authority in the policy making of this institution, to be treated fairly as far as grading practices are concerned, and so forth.

The belief that students should be 100% controlled by the faculty and administration and that these bodies should have the authority to impose any action on the student body if they so desire has long been a dying belief. A new type of universality is emerging in today's world. The university today is an academic environment where both students and faculty must contribute to its overall policy.

The university today realizes perhaps moreso than ever before that its existence is for the students it serves and not for students to "serve" faculty members. The majority of the faculty demonstrated their realization of this fact and, with the continued understanding among students and faculty, A&T can successfully compete in the world of "today's universities".

A Look At The Young People

Editor of The Register:

This is a time in history when young people are looked at as rebels. There are supposed to be "hippies", "yippies", "militants", dope addicts and the like. But, has anyone stopped to look at the young people and what some of them are really doing?

Here at A and T, if there are a great number of students who do not fit into any of the above categories. These students have found a rewarding way of expressing themselves. None of these students are ashamed of the fact that they still believe that there is a God. Not only do they sing and if there are a great number of students who do not fit into any of the above categories. These students have found a rewarding way of expressing themselves. Dormitory 'Quiet Hours'

Editor of The Register:

A&T's dormitory regulation of "quiet hours", existing from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m. every day, with general quietness to be maintained at all times, is suffering from a grave lack of enforcement or observance. Students in Cooper Hall during the late hours of week-nights, during the early morning hours of week-days, and all day on the weekends are victims of loud music from stereos, radios, and the like from inconsiderate fellow students.

Because of the structural design and compactness of Cooper Hall, it is essential that all students play their stereos, radios and the like in a reasonable and sensible manner, with regard to the rights of their fellow students.

'Bridge The Gap'

Editor of The Register:

The second Urban Affairs Conference, held on A&T's campus, sponsored and attended, predominantly by "liberal whites" and "educated blacks", amounted to no more than "bull sessions" of "hot-air and wasted time."

The black community, seemingly, is tiring of being told what constitutes social problems, by those who hold themselves above reproach, for the blacks are the ones long living conditions defined as social problems and they know of its actualities. It is the black community that must find their own solutions to their social state. The black community, thus, can "bridge the gap" by black collective action in the community.

Five Seniors Learn To Deal With Inner Urban Problems At Rutgers

CAMDEN - A field laboratory experience in inner-urban problems in teacher education is being conducted at Rutgers University with five seniors from A&T.

The project has been planned by Dr. Rosolia, coordinator of the teacher education program at the Rutgers urban center, in cooperation with Theodore B. Johnson, assistant superintendent of Camden City Schools, and James T. Ricks, director of the Rutgers Bureau of Community Services.

The main purpose of the program is to provide an opportunity for senior teacher education majors to learn about the distinctive problems of urban life and education in an urban setting through the facilities of Rutgers University.

Other objectives include fostering competence in dealing with urban problems in education and providing a means of evaluating the urban teaching preparatory program here through the performance and "feedback" of the students participating in the program.

It is also hoped that the materials and resources developed by the team during these five weeks will serve as the basis for a seminar in urban education to be incorporated into the curricula at both institutions.

Participants in the project, who are being housed in private homes in Camden, include Annie Herring of Waterbury, Conn., North Carolina residents Shirley Beth of Charlotte, Paul Jones of Kinston, Lizzie Miles of LaGrange, and Milton Ryan of Edison.

Selection of the student teachers was based upon interest in teaching in an inner-urban community, adaptability, scholarship, recommendations from academic departments, health, background including travel and employment, and parental approval.

At Rutgers, they are spending their time observing and teaching in the city schools, on field excursions to metropolitan agencies, attending official meetings of urban deliberative and decision-making bodies and community organizations, and visiting nearby schools in Philadelphia and Camden suburbs.

While five weeks is being devoted to the field experience, the project covers an eight-month span. Planning and orientation segments were conducted here at A&T.

The students, at the end of their stay in Camden, are expected to participate in an evaluation session. Then, they will complete their practice teaching experience in the Greensboro area where the project will be completed with a sharing of experiences in a group setting with other student teachers.

N. C. Broadcasters Offer Scholarship In Agriculture

The North Carolina Farm Writers and Broadcasters Association is making a $500 scholarship available to students at A&T and North Carolina State University at Raleigh. These students must be interested in entering the broad field of agricultural communications.

The $500 scholarship will be presented annually as a means of fostering interest in the field of agricultural communications among college students and rewarding those students who display particular promise in the professional field.

Such criteria as the following are necessary:

- Students must secure brochures by writing to the North Carolina Farm Writers and Broadcasters Association, P.O. Box 262, Raleigh, N. C. 27602.
- Students must have sufficient credits to be classified as a junior or above during or before fall semester, 1971.
- Students must be interested in entering the broad field of agricultural communications.
- Students must be interested in entering the broad field of agricultural communications.
- Students must be interested in entering the broad field of agricultural communications.
- Students must be interested in entering the broad field of agricultural communications.
- Students must be interested in entering the broad field of agricultural communications.

Senior students have input and not necessarily to take over.

To demonstrate that their drive is by no means terminated, the SGA is supporting a resolution of the Chemistry Department to allow students to take 40% of their courses on a pass or fail basis.

Present at the conference were Tom Bailey, Director of GAPP, and Cecil Rousse, Chairman of Woodmere Park Improvement Association.

Sophomore Chosen For ‘Homestay’ In Holland

Patrice Dunn, a sophomore here at A&T, was recently accepted by the Experiment in International Living for a summer "homestay" program in Holland.

The "homestay" of one-month living period as a member of a family abroad can be accentuated by travel, orientation work, language instruction, or independent study. Candidates can also enroll in a 16-day intensive language study period held at The Experiment School of International Training in Putney, Vermont.

The Experiment is a private non-profit, educational institution which, since its origin in 1932, has been giving young Americans the opportunity to test their ingenuity by living as individuals in homes of other countries.

The "homestay" is one of the eight programs being operated in conjunction with more than 40 countries that the Experiment co-sponsors. Different qualifications for high school students, college students, graduates, and teachers each program affords the recipient the chance to extend his stay if he desires to do so.

Patrice is an Engineering Mathematics major from Oxford.

Pastor Be To Honored At Palm Sunday Service

On Palm Sunday, April 4, 1971, at 6:00 p.m. in Harrison Auditorium, the St. James United Presbyterian Church Choir, and the Trinity A.M.E. Zion Church Choir will perform The Faure Requiem. The soloists will be Sharon Smith and Maurice Scott, voice majors and students of T. B. Clanton.

The program will be a tribute to the Rev. Julius T. Douglas, who is retiring as pastor of the St. James United Presbyterian Church.

To continue upgrading the students who wish to pursue music as a career, the University’s Department of Music, and Division of Adult Education and Community Services announce the eighth annual Institute in Music for Junior and Senior High School Students.

The first three-week session will begin on July 5 and end on July 13, while the second three-week session will begin on July 26, and end on August 13. The six-week session will be from July 5 to August 13.

Instruction will be offered in band or orchestral instruments, piano, organ and voice. All students will study piano, sight-singing, ear training, melodic and harmonic dictation, and primary and secondary choral. Also they will study music literature and appreciation. Students will perform in ensembles.

Students desiring to attend the Institute are requested to secure brochures by writing to the Department of Music, A&T State University.

Students Want Input On Faculty Senate Says Simpson

Simpson also noted that the SGA’s total drive to attain membership on the Faculty Senate is to allow students to have input and not necessarily to take over.

Credit Offered For Summer Jobs In Ed.

By Patricia Dunn

Education 302 better known as "Field Experience and Community Service," has as it's new requirement that has recently been reevaluated by the Department of Education and a proposal is currently under consideration. The necessary changes was discussed in an interview with Dr. Dorothy Prince, chairman of the Department of Education.

The course, usually giving two credit hours, and one day, Mondays, on campus from 2:00-4:00 p.m.

Dr. Prince explained the fact that students working in the summer can apply for course credit if their jobs involve interaction with children, youth or adults or any organization or agency with educational purposes.

Students can work in any part of the United States. Dr. Prince stated, but they must make sure to provide a city or county city and county consultation with the department that the Department of Education is able to get credit for the work that will be done at the company.

With emphasis upon the acquisition of social and cultural leadership roles and relevant educational growth and development, it is hoped that many students will express interest in the proposed program by registering now in the Department of Education.

Batts is a Political Science Major, an active member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., the Motion Society of Scharbald and Blade, Sigma Rho Sigma National Social Science Honor Society, and a recent selectee of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. He is expected to join other state interns in Raleigh on June 7. The program will last for eleven weeks.

The State Government Intern Program, began in 1962, provides an opportunity for undergraduates and graduates to work in state agencies. Students will work with top agency personnel learning about the many aspects of State Government while they work.

The Internship Program involves both a 40-hour work week and a concentrated seminar series. At the same time they are widening their interest in North Carolina and deepening their knowledge of the state, interns are faced with challenging opportunities to work on problems facing the state.

After the first week of orientation, the interns will work as full-time employees assigned to various state agencies and participate in the discussions on North Carolina. Such speakers as the Governor, the Attorney General, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Chairman of the Senate, and many others make appearances.

The Internship Program is expected to join the North Carolina State Internship Program. Batts is a Political Science Major, an active member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., the Motion Society of Scharbald and Blade, Sigma Rho Sigma National Social Science Honor Society, and a recent selectee of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Students Attend Honor Society Convention

Four members of A&T's Gamma Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society traveled to South Carolina State College to attend the Thirty-third National Convention of Alpha Kappa Mu, March 24-27.

Those attending were Diane Bell, a senior mathematics major; Patricia Edwards, a graduate student in education; Irene Luckey, a senior social service major; and Margaret Hammond, a senior political science major.

The convention theme was "A Look at America in the 70's.'

In line with the theme, discussions were held on campus unrest in which those of the past were compared to picnics. Campus unrest in the future will be far more disastrous unless two areas are dealt with on the campus.

These two areas are: (1) providing more effective instruction, and (2) broader and more meaningful participation on the part of students in the governance of a college or university. Now, it is only tokenism.

Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society is a society of students of all majors of junior classification or above with a grade point average of at least 3.30.

Motown Searches For Male Singer To Replace Eddie Of The Temps

Detroit, Michigan: Eddie Kendricks, who for the past ten years has been the melodic lead tenor for the Temptations, has left the group to start his career as a single performer. Motown Records Corporation announced last week. The announcement also revealed that Motown scouts are conducting an extensive nationwide search for a handsome six-foot male tenor to replace Kendricks.

Kendricks will remain with the Detroit-based recording and entertainment complex and record on Motown's Tamla label. He already has a single release, "This Used To Be The House Of Johnnie Mae," and Kendricks is now busy recording his first album.

Motown also announced that physicians have ordered singer, Paul Williams of the Temptations to cut down on his road trips until they are able to determine the illness which has plagued him for the past year.

The doctors said, however, that Mr. Williams could continue his recording chores while undergoing treatment in Detroit.

Meanwhile, singer Richard Street, who formerly sang with a Motown group called the Matosians, is slated to fill in for Paul. According to Ewart G. Abner Jr., vice president, Multi-Media Management Corporation, Street has been traveling as a sixth Temptation for the past six months and, since he is a veteran Motown singer, is thoroughly familiar with their style. Abner continued, "The Temptations will be fulfilling all contracted engagements and no change is anticipated in the quality of the world's top male singing group."

Black Urged To Stop Their Talk About Tactics

Blacks urgently urged to stop their talk about tactics in addition to the drug seminars. In particular, four other panel discussions will be held on the subjects of "The Individual and Escape from Loneliness," "The New Role of Volunteer and Public Service Agencies in the City," and "Overcoming Racism- The Key to Improving Human Relations in the City."

Low-Income Transport Problems Studied In Comprehensive Survey

A comprehensive study of the transportation problems of residents of low-income areas in and around Greensboro has been initiated through the newly-organized Transportation Institute.

"We feel that this will be one of our most useful research projects," said Dr. Florentine G. Sowell, one of the co-directors of the research proposal. "We are going to work closely with residents who are faced with transportation problems, getting to work and shopping." Dr. Sowell said that the actual survey will be conducted by students of the Departments of Business and Economics and members of the transportation classes.

The Transportation Institute has been working very closely with the Triad Council of Governments. Dr. Sowell said the current survey will provide valuable information for a number of area organizations and agencies who are concerned with planning modes of transportation.
Sociology Depart. Moves Toward Accreditation At Regional Meeting

By David Lee Brown

The Southern Regional Meeting of the Council on Social Work Education was held in Greensboro, March 28-30. According to Dr. Will Scott, chairman of the Department of Sociology and Social Service and a part-time consultant for the Council on Social Work Education, the meeting was concerned with the investigation of "issues that now exist as we move toward accreditation in social work." He further commented that accreditation is relatively new in this area.

The Council on Social Work Education is the only authorized accrediting agency for graduate professional schools of social work. It sets and maintains the standards for graduate schools of social work. It develops professional schools of social work and it develops standards for graduate schools of social work and it develops guidelines for and encourages the expansion of quality undergraduate programs in social welfare.

Recently, the Council assumed responsibility for technical education in social welfare in two-year community colleges.

A&T and St. Augustine's College are the only Black constituent members of the Council on Social Work Education in North Carolina, and both are accredited.

The major topics discussed by the participants were Implications for Program Development in the Preparation of Baccalaureate Social Workers, Implications for Undergraduate Programs, Implications for Curriculum Content in Class and Field, Implications for Program Development, Implications for Administrative Services, and Implications for Linkages Among Levels of Social Work Education: Community Colleges, Undergraduate Programs, and Graduate Schools.

These topics were centered around three major issues involving social work—accreditation, field experience, and training.

Participants attempted to answer several important questions, involving field experience and work schedules. Some members felt that the most favorable time for undergraduate field experience was during the senior year when the students had attained a higher level of maturity, while others agreed that the junior year was the most opportune period for this experience.

Dr. Scott stated that he thought that students should obtain field experience during their junior year so that they can determine if they are genuinely interested in social work. "If they discover that they are not interested, then they have the opportunity to change majors," he stated.

He said that this method would eliminate a large group of ill-suited professional social workers.

Several conclusions were accepted during an analysis and summary period at the general session on Tuesday. They were to prepare students for professional positions at the bachelor's level, to prepare students to be generalists as opposed to specialists, to spend more time in advising students, and to accept the concept that accreditation will benefit programs in social work.

Celtics Beat Niggerbockers
In Intramurals Championship

By Jacqueline Glisson

The crucial last remaining six minutes of the Intramurals Basketball Championship held the entire crowd on the edge of their seats as the scoreboard read 59-59 all between the Niggerbockers and the Celtics in Moore Gym last night.

The ball was in the Celtics and the clock was ticking away those last valuable seconds as the Celtics' Ken Williams quickly went down court for the victory, but was fouled by Vic Hayes of the Niggerbockers seconds before the buzzer. The buzzer sounded with all the weight on Crawford. His one free throw determined whether it would be an overtime or a victory for the Celtics.

The crowd was spellbound as Crawford stood at the free line and his shot went up in the air. The ball went to the Celtics and Crawford stood at the free line weight on Crawford. His one free throw determined whether it would be an overtime or a victory for the Celtics.

The second half began with the ball going back and forth between BOSS and Porchie. The Roaches came out on top, the scores knotted twice and all of a sudden Porchie and the Roaches took a commanding 6-point lead at 41-35 with less than 4 minutes remaining.

High scorers for the victorious Porchie and the Roaches were Tony Johnson and Corbett Williams, each with 14 and 10 points respectively. They competed against the tough opposition of 400 contestants comprising 30 clubs from all over the nation in a day long match. With only 22 trophies being awarded many of the clubs went home with no trophies, but the Karate Club of A&T was outstanding in getting six of them and being the only Black Karate club to participate in the tourney. Three members received the other three trophies.

In the women's white belt division, Porchie and the Roaches took a commanding 6-point lead in free-fighting, Sandra Smith came in second place. With this being her first time in the tourney, she performed well in fighting the number fourth ranked woman in the nation. Marvin Hamilton, competing for the first time, won second place in form in the men's white belt division, while his fellow member, Lamonier Bryant followed with third place in form.

“Even those who did not place in the tourney, still made a good show,” replied McNair. For example, Judy Lawing came a half point from placing in the form division of white belts. The entire club was well-represented; their preparation and sacrifices were not in vain in claiming such victories.

The Karate Club is preparing themselves for more competition. This Saturday they travel to Atlanta, Georgia to participate in the National Karate Tournament. The Karate Club is very optimistic and looking forward to an outstanding performance in this tourney, also.

Karate Club Wins Six Trophies
At Karate Tourney In Asheville

The Karate Club traveled to Asheville Saturday to the U.S. Karate Tournament and brought home six trophies. "The six trophies proved without a doubt, we have the best fighters around," proudly stated the Karate instructor, Ronald McNair.

In the green belt division, Ashby Worrell came out of tough competition with a trophy for first place in form and third place honorable mention in free-fighting. McNair watched his superior ability through achieving two trophies in the brown belt division, second place in free-fighting and third place in form. The overwhelming success of the club was quite evident as they competed against the tough opposition of 400 contestants comprising 30 clubs from all over the nation in a day long match. Porche And The Roaches Take
Third In Intramurals Tourney

By Jacqueline Glisson

Nip and tack was the way the consolation game in Moore Gym went between BOSS and Porchie and the Roaches came out on top with a 50-44 victory.

The turning point occurred in the game at 4 minutes remaining when the Roaches took the commanding lead at 32-20 and held the lead the rest of the game. This victory gave Porchie and the Roaches the title of Consolation Winner of the Intramurals Basketball Tournament, while BOSS came in with fourth place in a hard fought performance.

First half began with the ball going back and forth between the two teams. BOSS took a slim lead at 14-10 and then fell behind as the Roaches got hot. The charity two pointer by "Webb" Chambers gave BOSS back the lead at 17-16. At the half, Tony Johnson led BOSS with 8 points while the Roaches' Mike Davis collected 8 points also.

After the second half got underway, the scores knotted twice and all of a sudden Porchie and the Roaches took a commanding 6-point lead at 41-35 with less than 4 minutes remaining.

Both teams were hustling hard and BOSS experienced a few bad breaks as the Roaches capitalized on these errors. Then BOSS surged up to a 2 point deficit at 46-44 in favor of the Roaches. The Roaches pushed on for the 50-44 lead as the buzzer sounded.

High scorers for the victorious Porchie and the Roaches were Mike Davis and Joe Harrison with 12 points apiece. Harrison Taylor added 9 points and commented, “I think it was an all-around effort on the part of the team in winning the game.”

The fourth place Brothers of Soul Society were led in scoring by Tony Johnson and Corbett Johnson with 14 and 10 points respectively.

From the mood of the SGA leaders and members of the Concerned Students of A&T who were familiar with the SGA, they were seeking directions from the students as to what course of action they should take to obtain their demands.

The student body agreed to stage a boycott of all classes on Thursday in expression of their support of the elected leaders. However, the SGA officials at no time asked or advised the students to boycott classes; whereas, the students should "boycott" who said what direction the SGA should take.

Consequently, a mass meeting was scheduled for 10 a.m. on Thursday to

Awards Scholarship

To Freshman Coed

By Wanda Jones
Rocky L. Wright, a freshman nursing major, became the recipient of a $100 scholarship awarded by the Alpha Phi Chapter of The Alpha Kappa Sorority. This scholarship evaluated in terms of grade point average, financial need and other criteria, was awarded annually to a deserving student.

Rocky was born in Greenwood, South Carolina, is presently living in Curtis Hall. Her organizations on campus include Kappa Delta, Sunday School, Teloca, and Women's Council.

Throughout scholarship, assistance can be given to young women of high academic potential, like Mrs. Wright. Scholarship is a main program target by the Alpha Kappa Sorority. Along with scholarship, the women of Alpha Kappa continue to emphasize service to all mankind.

The vote was virtually unanimous. Also the Council of Deans had previously recommended to the Faculty Senate to have the grading procedure changed. The change of procedure would be made retroactive to May 1, 1965.
