Marshall To Stay Dean Of Students

By Patrice Dunn

"No change in Dean Marshall's position" was the university president, L.C. Dowdy's reply to rumors of the removal of Jesse Marshall from his office as the Dean of Student Affairs. Dowdy admitted that he had received a request from some students that Marshall be removed but, he told the group that he would not even consider the request and the grievance unless they were in writing.

As for other changes, Dowdy gave only the appointment of Dr. Edith Watkins as Dean of the School of Business. He, however, mentioned that there were other changes but the announcement would be made at a later date.

Dowdy stated that he and Dr. Glenn Rankin, dean of academic affairs, had been working on the faculty changes but that this year no changes had been made. Emphasizing the fact that enrollment effects faculty change, Dowdy stated that enrollment of was from 530-390 students off.

The student enrollment is used to predict the number of faculty members necessary in ratios of 3.7 students to each teacher. Based on the list of 390 students indicates that some 19 teachers will be released unless the enrollment increases.

Dowdy mentioned that there has been an indication that the enrollment will increase since approximately 800 entering freshmen have sent their advance payment. Continuing, he stated that over 1500 students have been admitted so far, which is well over the number for the time last year. About 1200 freshmen are expected.

Dowdy asserted that we must have 1800 full-time students or 4000 half-time students and part-time students in order to keep our present number of full-time teachers. If we do not have this number, he said that staff reduction would begin, first, in departments where the need was less, and then according to the faculty members' degree of tenure. Tenure which takes years to develop under North Carolina laws is seen by the president as being "good."

He feels that it gives the university sufficient time to determine a teacher's quality, professional ability, and see what he has to offer the university.

Dowdy emphasized the facts that other jobs have seniority, which is another name for tenure, however, said that tenure "works against us" when we do not evaluate our new teachers wisely. The president stated that teachers would be notified of changes by next week, though he would not know definitely until August how many teachers he needed. Furthermore, he hopes that all changes including the Phillips resignation of Watkins in the Business Department "will bring about a more rapid development" of the school.

Aggies Differ On 'Best Event' For The Past Academic Year

By Jacqueline Glisson

What was the best event here at A&T for this year? This was the question asked to several Aggies who gave varied answers in their preferences. Many activities and events occurred in the course of the year, and these following students singled out their choice of the best one:

"I believe that the recent memorial for Brother Willie Grimes was the most important event of the year," stated Samuel Turner, a sophomore from Halifax. He added, "It indicated that we have not forgotten our brother nor the struggle. Students are in a dormant period now so far as the struggle is concerned, but I am sure the memorial inspired many who tend to put the past out of their minds and to do some serious thinking."

Lynda McCray, a sophomore majoring in nursing, felt that "The Political Rap-Up" sponsored by the SGA last Saturday was very interesting. The highlight of the program was the speech by Nelson Johnson which was dynamic." In accord with her opinion, Cora McNeal, a senior from Durham, also thought that the Political Rap-Up was the best event.

McNeal commented, "It expressed black awareness, while also reminding students of disorders that took place on May 22, 1969."

"I feel that the Freshman Worship Service at which Jesus Jacobs was the speaker was the best event," exclaimed Phillipine Gatlin, a sophomore happy major. "It was a very good program, and his speech left a lasting mark on my mind."

Wanda Merritt, a sophomore from Jacksonville, Florida, expressed her opinion this way: "I feel that the art exhibition at the Taylor Art Gallery was one of the best events held here on campus. One would be surprised at the talent A&T has."

Scott Wants New Regents Board To Control Colleges By Oct. 1

By Janet Jones

"I hope to have the new Regents Board in being, guiding all sixteen of the Senior Institutions, by October 1," stated Governor Robert Scott to the General Assembly Tuesday.

The Governor hopes to get approved a new 44 member Board of Regents to direct the growth of all the state's public higher educational institutions.

Deconsolidation of the six-campus consolidated system of the University of North Carolina is involved, as is the replacement of the Board of Higher Education, currently the over-all coordinating agency but widely regarded as ineffectual.

Governor Scott spoke to critics who say the proposed board of regents would destroy the University of N.C.

Scott said the General Assembly had been wise in establishing the Consolidated University administrative office in 1931, but enrollments and campuses in the state system have grown so it no longer fills the requirements. He agreed emphatically with the majority that the state faces the possibility of further duplication and overlap in graduate degree programs without guidance from a central body.

A third area of emphasis by Scott and the majority of the study commission was the lack of state-level budget review.

Scott thinks that the system itself encourages jealousy and hard feelings among institutions. Further it encourages wasteful rivalry and unnecessary duplication of educational activities.

The majority report makes it mandatory for the Regents Board to plan and coordinate the total state educational system, determine the fate of new and existing degree programs and the expansion of new branch campuses.

The Regents may set tuition and fees and give it some muscle over the setting of budgets based on enrollment projections.

Individual campus, trustee, boards would elect their own presidents, subject to confirmation by the Regents Board.

The majority calls its plan a reconsolidated system rather than a deconsolidated system at one point and refers to it as a unified centralized system at another place.

The recommended plan is designed to maintain a proper balance between authority to govern institutions.

Scott said he bears the ultimate responsibility for efficiency in higher education, and it was to fulfill this function that he addressed the House and Senate.

He said that most attention within the system is given to Chapel Hill campus with the Raleigh campus following close behind. Others included within the family are the Universities of North Carolina in Greensboro, Charlotte, Wilmington, and Asheville.

Scott last remarked that all other institutions in the state are outside the family and their existence is acknowledged sometimes but not at the expense of or a threat to a member of the family.

Seniors began returning books this week in orders to prepare for Commencement. Commencement exercises will be held at 11:00 a.m. Sunday, June Sixth in Moore Gymnasium.
It's All Over

Time is a phenomenon that is very peculiar to the human mind. When one begins school at the age of six, the year, the month, and even the day seem to elapse rather slowly.

By the time the high school age is reached, the year does not seem to be as long as it "used to be." But, it is the same amount of time, 365.25 days or 24 hours to the day.

Usually, most of us go through high school wondering what we are going to do when it comes time for us to depart the secondary school confinements. Quite a few of our friends decided to terminate the educational process there, but many of us started thinking about college. Possible colleges were looked over and then it was decided that A&T was the place to go. It was learned that A&T has a lot to offer, academically and socially. Most of us have met many fellow students who have learned that college is more than just books and hard instructors.

However, college does have a lot to do with books. Many of the students in Aggieland have remembered the nights of "fierce booking" to try to get over an exam or just to acquire subject matter. For many of us the night oil was burned for research papers and similar reports. All of this and more is the life of a college student. And what about the time? During this period of college, time for most of us seemed to be on the opposite extreme of the way it was at the age of six; it passed rather rapidly.

For over 700 seniors, approximately four years have gone by and now time is saying that it is time to depart. For many of the 700, it is all over completely. Yet, for quite a number of the 700, it is on to graduate school.

It has been proved that the struggle is well worth it. Whether this is the end of the booking or not, the days at A&T for 700 seniors are over. And what about the many Aggies still at the "T"? Well, they only say to the Class of 1971, "Spread Black pride wherever you go and the best is yet to come."
Gov. Scott And Higher Education

By Willia Anderson

Scott's assertion that the recommendation of the majority of the Warren Committee be accepted in a threat to our Black colleges and universities - must be retained - as it is, exists, is causing duplication, rivalry, costly overlapping, and changes. Scott opposed to the competitiveness which has actually been part of the force which motivated the universities of North Carolina to achieve their present degree of academic excellence.

The minority report of the Warren Committee cited the contributions which the six consolidated University campuses have made to the state, and Scott reiterates that reconsolidation of these and other universities of North Carolina will increase these contributions. The fact that these institutions had distinguishable identities probably justifies for the contributions they have made, and it cannot be overly emphasized that they competed with one another to remain distinguishable.

In reconsolidating the University campuses of Chapel Hill, Raleigh, Greensboro, Wilmington, Charlotte and Asheville with ten other University campuses, it is evident that someone is going to be slighted. One board would be coordinating all higher education and deciding which institutions would serve in what roles and at what level. This does seem as the minority group report suggested, "an exercise in control and containment through use of power." What would be the role of A&T? Would at what level would we serve?

If the General Assembly solves things in the political arena, then the University will be the loser in the long run. In reconsolidation, who would be the loser? This seems merely a setup so that the consolidated University would prosper and at the same time find a way to comply with federal integration requirements.

Scott has reassured those who fear that the Chapel Hill campus will lose its identity that, in consolidating, they would rise even higher in national ranking, prestige and influence - but at the expense of what institutions? The coordination of Black institutions of higher education is a very feasible step in achieving this goal. The Board of Regents would not only dictate the capacity in which Black institutions would serve, but also would tell them what they need. And we all know that Blacks don't need anything, not even education.

The majority recommendation of the Warren Committee is enacted successfully on Scott's suggested date of October 1, what would it be a mere passive existence?

Credit Hours Offered For West African Tour

By Drusilla Dunn

At least fifteen undergraduate or graduate students will take part in the West Africa Holiday Tour. The deadline date for a deposit is May 31. The deposit of $150 will hold definite reservations. The tour will leave New York on Monday, July 19 and will return to New York Thursday, August 5.

Countries that will be toured are Liberia, Sierra Leone (called Mountain of the Lion), the Ivory Coast and Ghana.

First stop will be Monrovia, Liberia. While there, the group will visit the governmental and historical buildings along with the beaches. Next they will tour Firestone Rubber Plantation, the Firestone Hospital, and the Institute of Tropical Medicine and Botanical Gardens.

After Monrovia, they will visit Freetown, Sierra Leone, where they will tour Freetown and also, have days for independent activities. Leaving Freetown, they will arrive in Abidjan, Ivory Coast.

A city sightseeing tour is planned visiting the IFAN Museum, with 25,000 artifacts which reveal the history and development of the Ivory Coast. Next on the agenda is Accra, Ghana. There the group will also, do some city sightseeing of historical and government buildings.

Throughout the entire tour, the travelers will either stay in hotels or motels or on various university campuses.

The tour will be culturally rewarding, stated Benny R. Mayfield, who is the coordinator for the tour, and will probably be participating. The undergraduate and graduate students will be attending lectures throughout the tour working towards the six credit hours that are offered. In order for them to get these hours, they must be . . to write a paper on the tour.

Any interested person desiring to go on this tour can secure more information from Dr. Arta P. Graves, chairman of the Department of Biology.

"We shall be working with experienced teachers," said Graves. "We are concerned with sharing with them some of the modern techniques of teaching this important subject matter."

Participants in the conference will be eligible for a stipend up to $675 plus an allowance for dependent and travel.

In addition, A&T is sponsoring a two-week Tour Seminar to West Africa. Participants in the tour will leave New York City on July 19 and return to the United States on August 5. Tour members will be able to earn up to six hours of graduate or undergraduate credits.

Additional information concerning the Summer Session may be secured in the Summer School office in Dudley Building.

A&T Awarded Federal Grant To Conduct Institute This Summer

A&T, Tuesday was awarded a federal grant by Dr. Arta P. Graves, president, and we are pleased to report that an old dream will be realized this summer. The grant from the National Science Foundation was announced by J. Neil Armstrong, director of the seasonal seminar here.

The biology institute is expected to attract 50 teachers from North Carolina and neighboring states and will be directed by Dr. Arta P. Graves, chairman of the Department of Biology.

"We shall be working with experienced teachers," said Graves. "We are concerned with sharing with them some of the modern techniques of teaching this important subject matter."

Participants in the conference will be eligible for a stipend up to $675 plus an allowance for dependent and travel.

A well-spoken and well-educated Black militant whose speech impressed me most of all was Stokely Carmichael, "a history major from Oxford. She added that she felt this event was very relevant as well as enjoyable.

Loretta Lambert, a junior from New Brunswick, New Jersey, rates The Urban Affair Conference as the best event. She said, "The conference dealt with contemporary problems of the Blacks today and not just yesterday. The speakers and panel discussions were very controverial and interesting to those who attended."

"I think that the other events were good for social purposes, but the Drug Abuse Conference was the best event," stated Mary Glenn, a sophomore biology major. "This conference was beneficial and informative not only for the students, but for the entire A&T family."

Jeremiah Moore, a sophomore accounting major, selected The Easter Program given by the University Choir as a highlight event which was both interesting and enjoyable. As summed up by an anonymous Aggie, "The best event of the year is the day, June 5. School and classes will be over and everyone can at last, go home!"

Music And Dance Combined
In Theatre Group’s First Production
By Ruth James

Wednesday night was opening night for the first performance by the Black Arts Repertory Dance Company in the Paul Robeson Little Theatre. The theme of the performance is entitled "LUV" (or The Worst That Could Happen). The performance is presented by a talented dance group of ten students who have worked together and so far have made an extraordinary performance on stage.

Dr. John Marshall Stevenson, executive director of the company, stated, "The Black Arts Repertory Dance Company is one of the three theatrical organizations that we have in the Department of Speech Communication and Theatre Arts." The two other organizations are the Richard B. Harrison Players and the Black Arts Repertory Theater. "We placed the dance group under the department for two reasons. (1) They needed some type of college life and serious study in mathematics. Furthermore, it will introduce the students to computers and a study of basic programming techniques, and help motivate the student in learning mathematics through the use of the computers.

Participants are selected by the director on the bases of their interest in majoring in mathematics while in college, a statement of proof as to their acceptance at A & T as freshmen for the fall semester-1971, or a definite indication of gaining this acceptance, and an interest in an opportunity to begin college work for credit in the summer. Most of the participants have S.A.T. scores of well over 1000.

Participants will be enrolled in Mathematics 111 (College Algebra and Trigonometry) and Mathematics 244 (Introduction to the Programming of Digital Computers). These courses carry a total of seven hours of college credit.

The 1971 Summer Institute has been planned for a total of 20 students. All books, papers, pencils and pens are provided by the Institute. Each participant will receive $10 a week for his own expenses. Last summer the Institute had a total of 28 students; but, because of a decrease in funds, the number was cut to 20.

All the students that participated in the program last year are now leading students in their class and a majority of the students are on the honor roll.

Math Department Plans 2nd Summer Institute

by Ronald Barnes

The Department of Mathematics has announced the receipt of a grant from the Kellogg Foundation to provide for the Second Summer Institute in Algebra and Computer Science for High School Seniors. The Institute, which will be conducted from June 14 to July 24, will be directed by Mrs. Nan P. Manual, associate professor of mathematics.

The objectives of the Institute are to present the topics of algebra in such a way as to promote real understanding of the subject, to make a maximum contribution to the thinking habits of the student, and to help the student in understanding and proving theorems. The Institute also proposes to assist the students in making proper adjustment to college life and serious study in mathematics.

Furthermore, it will introduce the student to computers and a study of basic programming techniques, and help motivate the student in learning mathematics through the use of the computers.

Attes Urges Athletes To ‘Get That Degree’

By Jacqueline Glisson

“T is important to get that degree, to get that education, and put athletics in the right perspective,” was the theme expressed by Alvin Attes, guest speaker at the Athletic Banquet, last night.

Speaking before an audience of approximately two hundred, the former A&T basketball superstar and assistant coach of the San Francisco Warriors, reminisced about his days at A&T.

In emphasizing the theme of his speech, Attes emphatically stated, “Of all the things to happen to me here at A&T, the greatest thrill I ever had was receiving an award for the highest academic average in basketball during my senior year.”

Taking a line from the Alma Mater, Attes was credited by Dr. Albert Spruill, dean of Graduate School, as having spread the trophies not only from Dare to Cherokee, but from Dare to San Francisco.

The highlight of the banquet was the presentation of awards to the athletes who excelled in their respective sports.

FOOTBALL

Coach Hornsby Howell presented trophies and awards to the outstanding players in football. Doug Westmoreland, Melvin Holmes, and Willie Wright were awarded All-Conference players. The Courier All-American Player was Ralph Coleman. Holmes was Kodak All-American, while Ben Blacknell and Holmes received awards for All NAIA District 26 Players. Charles Middleton received the Football Most Valuable Player Trophy. The Golden Helmet Award went to Blacknell. Other outstanding awards went to Ed Harris, best Offensive Lineman, Best Defensive Back—William Harzaves, Best Defensive Lineman—William Wideman, and Outstanding Offensive Back—Lorenzo Pearson.

BASEBALL

Presenting the awards and trophies to the baseball team was Coach Melvin Grooms. Named the ‘71 Most Valuable Player in baseball was Charles Middleton, who also received the 1970 Most Valuable Player Trophy. The following received plaques and trophies:

SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD - Larry Beene, Most Improved Player - Bernard Chambers, Most Valuable Player - William S. Parks, Outstanding Hitter - Charles Middleton, Most Courageous Player - Artis Stanfield, Most Outstanding Freshman - Aaron Hall, and Outstanding Pitcher - Richard Cummings.

TENNIS AND TRACK

Coach Matthew Brown presented the following players with awards: Most Outstanding Player - Roy Moore, Most Improved Player - Cobbett Johnson, and Highest Academic Average in Tennis — Adolph Platt. Platt also was awarded the Most Valuable Player Trophy in Tennis.

Presenting the awards to the outstanding athletes in Track was Coach Murray Neely. Curtis Thompson received the Outstanding Track Man Award. At times, Elisha Spruill was named Outstanding Freshman in track. William S. Parks, Outstanding Hitter - Charles Middleton, and Outstanding Pitcher - Richard Cummings.

SPECIAL AWARDS

Richard Moore, director of public information, presented Paul Jones, a plaque as a leading statistician for his four years here at A&T. Mrs. Zoie Barbee, a representative for the A&T Boostionettes, presented the following trophies to those athletes who had the highest academic average in their respective sports: Freddie Hunter in football, Ralph Podger in basketball, Wyman McCoy in track, Adolph Platt in tennis, Alphonso Matthews in rifle, and Thomas Robinson in basketball. Melvin Holmes was awarded two Most Outstanding Athlete Trophies from the A&T coaches and the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter.

Charles Middleton received Most Valuable Player Award From Football Coach Hornsby Howell.

Eleven High School Stars Agree To Join Football Team This Fall

Hornsby Howell suffered his first losing season (4-6) as head coach last year. “We hope to be much improved this year,” said Howell, after the signing of 11 top-notch high school athletes.

The biggest catch for Howell and his staff is Larry Leonard Redfield, a 6-4, 210-pound quarterback from Macon, Ga. Last year the Aggies did not have a seasoned quarterback. Redfield, who has been in the service, may be the answer to the need.

“T in two years,” said Howell, “I predict that he will be best quarterback in the area.”

The best of them all could be running back Tom Murphy (5-10, 185) of Ashbury Park, N.J., who bypassed such big names as Dartmouth to sign with A&T.

Murphy’s coach, Ed Hudson, and the youngster has the ability to go inside and outside with equal success.

A&T’s other big need is capable running backs. Howell has signed a bevy of them, including speedsters Charles Mathenly (6-1, 210) of Valdosta, Ga., and former All-Navy performer James Bibens (6-6, 195) of Mobile, Ala.

Daniel Moss may the 100 yard dash in 9.9 and Bibens, also a wide receiver, a 9.7 dash man.

The other A&T signees include West Charlotte High’s Gary Cunningham, the area’s leading runner, running back William Medley of Charlotte’s South Mecklenburg High, and Mike Henderson, a 6-4, 225 pound tight end from Canton, Miss.

The Aggies have also signed defensive backs Robert Nash of West Mecklenburg and James Hamilton of Valdosta, Ga., linebacker Thomas Martin (6-1, 235) from Lane High School in Charlottesville, Va., and quarterback Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga.
Dance Group Presents Production After Two Months Of Organization

"LUV" is the first production by the dance group choreographed by Jayle St. Marc, a freshman student majoring in professional theater. Graceful movements, form and balance marked the dance numbers from such songs as "I Told Jesus," "He's Mood," "A Change is Gonna Come," and others. Costumes worn by the dancers were made to represent the type of mood they were trying to project to the audience. The music for the dance performance was from Debussy, Roberta Flack, The Fifth Dimension, and Isaac Hayes. The dance along with the music combines to form an interesting and effective theater piece performed.

The students are as follows: Clifton Carmon, art design major from Snow Hill; Christine Cockerham, mathematics major from Greensboro; Gail Joyner, physical education major from Rocky Mount; James McNair, English major from Greensboro; Venice Preston, Speech Correction major, New York; Yvette Russell, clothing and textiles, Washington, D.C.; Barbara Thurnbull, foods and nutrition, Greensboro.

The curtain goes up at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale now at the theater box office. Students $1.50 and general admission $1.50. Reservations can be made by calling 273-1773 extension 204. The dance company performance continues through Saturday.
