Aggie Farm Gets New Lease On Life

The sprawling A&T farm has been given a new lease on life, thanks to $2,000,000 worth of environmental research projects slated to be conducted there over the next five years. The 700-acre farm, once very serious environmental problems confront this region are the use and management of water and land use resource. The principals involved in the new projects include Dr. S. J. Dinn, professor of plant science; Dr. Isiah Ruffin, associate professor of soil science; Dr. Charles A. Fountain, professor of plant science; and Dr. Eugene Marrow, professor of biology. The four researchers will study such vital areas as soil and water pollution, the management of waste and the selection and management of recreational sites.

Students Can Apply For SGA Scholarships

Students are now able to apply for scholarships to be given by the SGA for next semester. Two thousand dollars will be taken out of the SGA budget to be given to in-state and out-of-state students to aid them in paying tuition. According to Marilyn Marshall, SGA president, only four students have applied for the scholarship thus far. She said that the scholarship will be given totally on the basis of need. There is no stipulation as far as class or grade point average. Marilyn said that, even if a student has a very low grade point average, he still has a good chance of receiving the scholarship.

There is no positive way to prove the authenticity of the applications for scholarships, said Marilyn. Those making the applications will just have to be trusted to tell the truth. Besides making an application for the scholarship, the applicants will have to be interviewed. Marilyn said that the SGA plans to start a campaign to publicize the scholarship fund. According to Marilyn, there has been a change of plans in the administering of the scholarship. Instead of giving a $1,000 scholarship to an in-state and an out-of-state student as planned at first, the SGA may give two $500 scholarships to in-state students and one $1,000 scholarship to an out-of-state student.

Before the change of plans can become official, it has to be voted on by the executive committee of the SGA. The executive committee consists of the SGA president, the vice president, the secretary, the treasurer, the attorney general, and Miss A.T.

Marilyn said that the names of the students who apply and do not receive the scholarship will be given to the Alumni scholarship committee.

A&T And Bennett Join Forces On Garden Plot

"Any male student would love to go over to Bennett from A&T just to socialize but, when it comes to working on a garden project such as the one at Bennett, you can't stir the pot," stated Clifton Studdard, a junior Agriculture Education major at A&T, at the Curb Market Day at Bennett on Saturday.

Spreading was speaking to a predominantly female audience of around 100 who had assembled at the Practice House on Godsell Street to buy fruits, vegetables, pies, cakes, and other food items that were either grown or prepared by the home management class at Bennett.

Most of the items that were for sale had been grown on a 50 by 25 foot plot just behind the Bennett Gym. The project was initiated in late September by the home management class at Bennett and the Agricultural Education Association at A&T.

While giving an overview of the entire project, Blannie Bowen, president of the Agriculture Education Association of the supervisors of the project, stated, "It has been a long, hard struggle, but we have put our time and effort into it and we are proud of what we have accomplished."

The project such as the one at Bennett is one of the most successful projects that has been initiated. A&T students will be able to get the basic education that they need in order to succeed in the future.

A husband and wife team serve as the advisors for the two groups. Mrs. Queen Hunter Bell is the advisor for the home management class, and Dr. Arthur P. Bell is the A&T advisor.

Racial Fighting Erupts At Charlotte High School

The violence lasted for about 10 minutes and school officials said about 150 to 180 Black students, who had congregated outside, left the campus on school buses. The total number of students involved in the fighting was not known, officials said.

The winds of several automobiles in the school parking lot were smashed during the outbreak, police said. In addition to the students taken to hospitals, several others suffered minor cuts and bruises, school officials said.

Officers from the Charlotte and Mecklenburg County police departments stopped the fighting and removed the campus after order was restored. Classes continued.

About 29 per cent of the school's 1,457 pupils are Black, a school spokesman said.

Select Freshmen Participate

In Accelerated English Program

By Patricia Everett

New freshman students who performed well in their English classes are presently being taught a concentrated English course at A&T and they will receive credit for English 100 and 101 in the same semester.

The freshmen students were selected and recommended by their teachers and they will receive six credit hours as a result of the program. He said he did not have any problems getting the agreement of other instructors, not even by the pressure of students. Williams stated, "It was something I felt that ought to be done." Williams said he hopes that this accelerated program will aid students in getting the basic English concepts that they need in order to get into advanced subjects; also he hopes this program will attract students to accomplishing to attend A&T.

Next semester, beginning students will have the opportunity to take English 100.000. Interested students will be able to enroll in this course.

English 100.000 will be offered from the beginning of the semester until Mar. 9, and three-credit-hour course will be taught 6:30 p.m. on Fridays; 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. This 11-hour per week course which will be taught in four successive weeks will enable the students to finish the course quickly and will not make them feel overwhelmed.

All interested students should pick up the course card one month in advance of the day that classes begin.

Of students that makes up the A&T family, is a small minority of married students. These students make up very small percentage of the student body; yet, they function in the capacity as other students despite the added responsibilities. Many of the students have problems trying to work, study and keep house; but academically they show extreme optimism.

Mrs. Evelyn Reid, a senior English major from Reidsville, said, "The main problem is, I can never find time to study. By the time I finish my eight hours on the job, I can hardly give eight more hours, I really don't feel like concentrating. I also have a daughter and I would like to devote more time to her. Because of my studies, work and participation in civic activities, I hardly have time for her. As far as my social life goes, there is a gap between my social and student life. I would like to do the things that other students do, but, since I have a place in society as a mother and housewife, I can't do many of the things I would like to do."

David Crawford, a junior business administration major from Durham, has been married one year. Crawford resides off campus with his wife who is not a student, but who works to help support the family.

Crawford had this to say about his studies, "I work part-time and that leaves little time to devote to my lesson; therefore, I have to be very attentive in class and make the most of what free time I have. My wife is very understanding and that helps tremendously. The only difference in being married and single is that I have a responsibility to my wife and my lessons." He added, "I have to make every hour count for something."
Hot Plates To Be Confiscated

By Mary Cropps

Recently all of the residents of the women's dormitories on A&T's campus were issued a use of small heating units, the purpose of the memorandum, of the offending residents.

Counselors who would confiscate rule would be enforced by the memorandum stated that the rule would be enforced. The commonly known as hot plates, the memorandum from the Dean of counselors who would confiscate would be enforced. The memorandum stated that the rule would be enforced by the counselors who would confiscate.

In response to the question concerning the penalty for breaking the rule, Dean Piggott replied, "I hope they [the girls] will realize the request." However, she did state that the ultimate punishment would be denial of campus living privileges.

In order to alleviate the problems of such residences as Vanstory Hall, which does not have any facilities for cooking or for hairdressing, Dean Piggott said that she has recommended that the recreation room be completed. The prime reason that the facilties have not been completed is the lack of money she concluded.

Ecological Balance Of Aquatic Life

To Be Studied By Researchers

By Floyd Westerman

In this attempt to measure just how much liquid waste from septic tanks passes into nearby streams, Ruffin will investigate the management of agricultural waste to improve the quality of the environment.

"Agricultural waste must be managed just as industrial and municipal waste must be managed," he said, "and this is a very serious problem."

Ruffin said his project will investigate which materials are getting to ground water level and which are getting into streams, such as Buffalo Creek.

Marrow will use the ponds on the A&T farm to study the effects of domestic, agricultural, industrial and soil pollution on bodies of water.

"We want to investigate how these pollutants affect the ecological balance in the aquatic ecosystem," said Marrow.

"We are especially interested in the influx of raw stable manure, industrial and domestic wastes and siltration (soil runoff) and how these pollutants affect both plant and animal life," said Marrow.

The most unusual of the projects is that being conducted by Fountain, who is one of the six Black registered landscape architects in the nation.

His research is concerned with the selection, development and management of recreational sites.

We need a more rational means for predicting the capabilities of certain land resources for recreational purposes," said Fountain.

Fountain said he will develop experimental recreational sites on the farm.

Dean Explains

Lucille Piggott, dean of women, stated that the notice was issued because of the fire hazard that hot plates present.

She also said that some students who have been given the privilege of using hot plates for special diets have abused the said privilege by cooking the same thing that the dining halls serve.

Another reason she gave was the use of electricity. There is no electricity allotted for the operation of hot plates or refrigerators.

In order to alleviate the problems of such residences as Vanstory Hall, which does not have any facilities for cooking or for hairdressing, Dean Piggott said that she has recommended that the recreation room be completed. The prime reason that the facilities have not been completed is the lack of money she concluded.

Student Courts

It appears that positive moves have been taken in the student judiciary process. According to SGA Attorney General Clarence Jones, in a recent article in The Register, the student courts have been formed and the next step is to function.

During the past two years, stories have circulated that the courts are merely a power struggle between University Judicial Tribunal and the Student Government. This method is taken by some as a way to pass the test with the greatest rarity being the Black person who scores reasonably high on the test. This situation necessitated a solution.

One of the solutions which have been utilized here is the conducting of sessions with examples of material to be used on the test as aids for students. This method is not new. It has been utilized by whites prior to its use by Blacks.

Graduate Schools And The GRE

By Rosie A. Stevens

Increasingly, schools are beginning to use the GRE and other standard tests less for purposes of admission. These schools have apparently found that these tests do not predict performance and achievement as well as the single factor of grade point average. This is very much the case with graduate schools, which are beginning to use the GRE less and less.

At the same time, Black schools seem to find themselves in an interesting situation. Black students have felt that they are placed under pressure of competition to make passing scores on the GRE. Black educators have felt some of the same pressure to have students achieve passing scores on the exam, with the greatest rarity being the Black person who scores reasonably high on the test. This situation necessitated a solution.

One of the solutions which have been utilized here is the conducting of sessions with examples of material to be used on the test as aids for students. This method is not new. It has been utilized by whites prior to its use by Blacks.

The solution has the advantage of actually increasing the scores made by these students within a certain range. Insofar as the score is increased, the solution to the problem of failing and generally low scores may be said to be successful. However, this is not the point.

Further research, placing emphasis on that range of scores, indicates that these scores fluctuate only within a range, and that this is no indication that actual learning has taken place, the teaching of the test, though merely a way to pass the test which neither provides the student with, nor helps the student obtain, an adequate background, a background which most Blacks do not have because "adequate" means white middle-class, with respect to background.

We must ask, at this point, if the validity of the GRE and other tests comes under question because of this teaching of the test. If the answer is affirmative and if this affirmative answer is part of the reason, explicitly or implicitly, for lessened emphasis upon use of the GRE, then Blacks again have a problem.
Season For Goblins

Editor of The Register:

We all know that now is the season for goblins, witches, and the handy screams of the city kids. In the past it has been a hazard for children receiving their trick-or-treat. Many children have accepted harmful drugs in pseudo-candy wrappers. At one time it was beginning to look as though Halloween was going to be a thing of the past.

But we, the Aggieland Family, are glad to know that there are some people who feel that Halloween should continue for the children and propose to do something about it.

The Swing Phi Swing Social Fellowship, Incorporated, is sponsoring a Halloween Party for the children of Greensboro. The event will be held on Wednesday night from 5:30 till 9:30 p.m. in the Union Ballrooms. Games will be played by the Ladybug Club with an original play. The Groove Phi Groove Social Fellowship and the Swazamilt Club will help to entertain all the children of Greensboro, N.C. 27401. Refreshments served.

Are Contraceptives Necessary?
Survey Reveals Varied Opinions

By Aurelia Curley

In a spot survey early last week, persons spoke out on contraceptives.

Harry Anderson, a junior preprofessional major, said, "I don't believe in contraceptives because there are too many ways a young lady can take care of herself. I can't say whether or not I believe in abortions."

Thinking over his statement, Anderson added, "I believe in them depending on the month she is in."

Junior co-ed Marlene Walden who is an English major said she believes contraceptives are necessary. "They are a good prevention from an unwanted pregnancy. I am for abortions also. With the availability of contraceptives, I believe abortions should be safer in numbers."

James Patten, a senior mathematics major, viewed the use of contraceptives in a two-fold manner. "Morally, I think," stated Patten, "that the usage of contraceptives is a reflection of one's character, and the declining quality of our society."

Junior co-ed Betty McLamb who is an English major said she believes contraceptives are necessary. "I encourage the use of contraceptives if the couple is determined to engage in sexual activity," stated Rev. Earl Wilson, Jr., director of the Wesley Foundation, who is an English major said she believes contraceptives are necessary. "I encourage the use of contraceptives if the couple is determined to engage in sexual activity," stated Rev. Earl Wilson, Jr., director of the Wesley Foundation, who is an English major said she believes contraceptives are necessary. "I encourage the use of contraceptives if the couple is determined to engage in sexual activity," stated Rev. Earl Wilson, Jr., director of the Wesley Foundation,According to Rev. Wilson, "It is also necessary and I am against the possibility of an unwanted pregnancy."

"As far as abortions are concerned," continued Rev. Wilson, "an abortion should not be considered until all possible alternatives have been exhausted. I strongly believe that an abortion is used only as the last resort."

Most Of Polled Students Favor Varsity Athletics For Women

By Blannie Bowen

"We definitely should have varsity athletics for women," remarked Calvin cerca, director of athletics at A&T, on the subject of varsity athletics for the co-eds on the once all-male campus of A&T.

Ivious's remarks typified the sentiments of the students, administrators, and faculty on the subject of female varsity athletics. When a group of 39 students, administrators, and faculty was polled on the subject, the result was overwhelmingly in favor of having female varsity athletics.

Professor in the history department, 55, who expressed the sentiment of the group, said there is no such thing as varsity athletics. "There is no constituency for it, no traditions, no facilities, no support," he said.

"We're going to have to have some type of varsity program for women, and we have to do it properly," he said.

"I am going to work for us to have some type of varsity program for women," he said.

Assistant Professor Ernestine Ferguson, director of the A&T Women's Athletic Association, said, "I am definitely in favor of varsity athletics. "Other schools have it and I feel as though our team has to be tremendous backs.

"We need some good blockers to pave the way for the backs we have," she said.

Hornsby Howell Searches For A Winning Combination

All that alligators are not gold, but A&T's head football coach is convinced otherwise. As he searches for a winning combination going into the slate of the season.

"We've gone without two of last year's all-conference running backs, George Ragsdale and Al Surden had returned on Wednesday, generally in 60s. Temperatures will average in the 60s and 70s Thursday. Fair and mild Friday. Highs will average in the 70s and 80s.

The A&T Athletic Department provides no scholarship for female athletes, but it has been the case for most of the season. A&T has had to come from behind and win or not catch-up at all and lose.

Coming off an embarrassing 43-7 loss to Howard last Sunday, the Aggies got behind Morgan and the women could not cut the Aggies any slack.

Morgan scored the first touchdown against Mark Hornden this afternoon at Miles.
TED MOODY IS LEARNING HOW TO FLY

"He's a classy guy. Always went all-out." These are the words of one of the Dartmouth football coaching staff about Ted Moody, a former star linebacker. Ted graduated from Dartmouth College in '72 with a degree in Economics and a mission in mind... to be a pilot... A Naval Aviator.

Now Ted Moody is going all out again. This time in Pensacola, Florida as a Naval Aviation Officer Candidate. He is finding out what it takes to be a Naval Aviator. He's finding it takes a lot of classroom work and long hours studying. It takes a lot of work on PT fields and obstacle courses. It takes special training like the parachute slide and the land survival mission in which you must hunt your own food and erect your own shelter. It takes a lot of time in a cockpit and even some old fashioned close order drill. And it takes a lot more. But, most of all, it takes the right kind of man.

No, you don't have to play football to be a Naval Aviator, but you do have to have a college degree and a lot of drive. And when the time comes for you to wear your "Navy Wings of Gold" you will know what it takes. It takes your best!

For more information on what it takes to become a Naval Aviation Officer Candidate call, toll free: 800-841-8000. (In Georgia, call 800-342-5855) or mail in the attached coupon. Be someone special.
