Chancellor and SGA President Express Concern Over Tragedy

Expanding the tragic shooting of Harold Farrington, a non-student, on the A&T campus, Tuesday afternoon, Chancellor Lewis C. Doddy and representatives of the Student Government Association announced a series of new safety and security measures for the campus.

After a lengthy series of meetings with the SGA representatives on Wednesday, Dr. Dowdy issued the following statement:

"I am shocked and deeply distressed that the tragedy occurred on our campus Tuesday afternoon. I express the University's condolences to the family of the deceased and extend sympathy to the Harris family in this crisis."

"We are going to immediately widen and tighten security on the campus for the safety of our students. I call upon you to be calm and await the outcome of the investigations which are being pressed in this case."

"We ask you to especially disregard any rumors which may arise, as a full disclosure of the University's investigation will be released to the entire Aggie family as soon as the report is received.

"In her statement following the meeting, SGA President Marilyn Marshall said, "The administration and the Student Government Association are working diligently to restore the faith of the Aggie family by taking the necessary action to implement new plans and to increase enforcement of safety and security measures.""

"Brothers and sisters, let us avoid any unwarranted step now which could endanger everything we have worked and fought for at A&T State University. We must be together in order to stay together."

Dowdy said the following security and safety steps will be implemented immediately:

- All unregistered cars on the campus will be stopped, and the drivers required to show identification.
- The parking lot will be designated exclusively for registered A&T students and employees and for official guests of the University."

"Brothers and sisters, let us avoid any unwarranted step now which could endanger everything we have worked and fought for at A&T State University. We must be together in order to stay together."

"Part-time student help will be employed to supplement the present campus security force."

The Memorial Student Union parking lot will be designated exclusively as parking lot for registered A&T students and employees and for official guests of the University. All visitors will be required to show identification cards made by off-campus students. All out-of-town visitors will be asked to report to the Student Union."

"The administration and the Student Government Association are working diligently to restore the faith of the Aggie family by taking the necessary action to implement new plans and to increase enforcement of safety and security measures.""

"Student Charged With Murder

"Legislators Hear Jones

By Cassandra Wynn

An A&T student was arrested and charged with murder Tuesday in connection with a fatal shooting. The shooting occurred in the parking lot at the east end of Cooper Hall, only a few yards from a Cooper Hall entrance.

According to police reports, the shooting resulted from an argument over a girlfriend. The victim, Harold Farrington, 32, of 1931 Shamburger Drive on the campus, was an argument occurred between him and the suspect, Chester Harris, 24, of 209-B Woodnell Dr., a student enrolled at A&T. The argument resulted in a shooting which wounded Farrington fatally. He suffered from gunshot wounds in the left side of the nose, two in the left chest, and one in the buttock.

The shooting occurred at 2:55 p.m., a time when many students were changing classes. Greensboro city police arrived at 3:10 p.m. and arrested Harris on the scene.

"Seniors Selected For Who's Who List

By Yvonne McDonald

The Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges List, for 1973-1974, has been released from the Dean of Student Affairs for Organizations and Development Office.

The list is comprised of 35 seniors. Selections are made by campus nominating committees and are based on above average academic standing, community service, leadership ability and future potential.

Among those selected are Marti Marshall, Delores Mitchell, Jennifer Smith, Lloyd Siles, Sybilia Ferguson, Lloyd Inman, Ruth Allen, Judy Wellington, Cassandra Wynn, Millicent Brister, Sharon Bolden, Bobby Bellfield, David Gore, Dorothy Allen, Harold Martin, Yvonne McDonald and Betty Holman.

African Students Blast U.S. Mideast Policies

By Ted L. Mangum

Last week an article dealing with American involvement in the Mideast was posed to several Black students, student and faculty, who were born in America. This week some students from the African Continent were presented with the same question.

In response to this question one student, the president of the SGA, said that he felt that Africa should play a neutral role because the U.S. is a very powerful country, and as such it should not manipulate the affairs of the underdeveloped countries. If it does this, it will jeopardize the interest of African countries. My country is in strong support of Egypt because the spirit of brotherhood calls for material, financial, and moral support against any aggression.

There is no justification for the two world powers (U.S.,Soviet Union) to become involved in this war. They threaten the very future of the African nation and the struggle of Zionism, nor of Israel’s alliances with anti-Black countries. They indicate that the Irony Coast, one of the most moderate, puppetised African countries, had made comments indicating a swing to the Arab side.

Another student from an African nation said that he felt that Africa should not interfere with the policies that they did because they were not well informed about the history of the Middle East struggle of Zionism, nor of Israel’s alliances with anti-Black countries. He went on to say that the line between right and wrong is getting blurrier by the minute and reassures that what once was their land.

He then concluded, “The Egyptian land is African, and on no account should any part of that land be sold to any other area. Africa, being concerned with the need for continental unity, does not find it acceptable for Israel to expand, through war or under any circumstances, to Africa. No African nation has ever seen beyond the U.S. to afford to see an inch of African soil cut off.”

The opinions expressed by another student from Africa that the U.S. and Russia were both using the Middle East and other areas as centers as a way of setting weapon superiority without fighting each other. He also stated that either the U.S. could succeed in helping Israel to secure Arab rich oil land, then the U.S. would have another foreign oil supply in friendly hands and thus end its worry of the nationalization of oil resources. This he indicated that the Irony Coast, one of the most moderate, puppetised African countries, had made comments indicating a swing to the Arab side.

He then stated, “If the Arab Member allow the American-backed Israelis to defeat them, we will probably have another chapter of colonialization on our continent.”

“I think every humanitarian not trying to set self interests before world peace and unity will turn his back on America for her selfish and unreasonable step,” he said.

This Is The View Of The City You Live In From Backyard Avenue At Wendover Avenue. Beyond The Wachovia And Jefferson Buildings. In The Background Is A&T

Coltrane Hall: Devoted To People

By Cynthia Shipley

The entrance to David Coltrane Hall faces out to the main street, which seems appropriate since it is a community extension service, devoted to people with limited resources.

“These people have been neglected too long,” stated Dave Purcell head of the Community Development Program of Coltrane Hall.

Coltrane Hall is a part of A&T, and the only office building on campus. It does not hold classes as such, but workshops for the people of the community concerning: child care, preparation, cooking and freeding. Several of the personnel are involved in a presentation on WEAL at 7:55 a.m., for 5 minutes 3 days a week, dealing with foods and nutrition, child-parent community programs, 4-H Program, discussion on program assistance and communications.

The eight people involved in the programs are Mary Robinson, and LoveBookers with Foods and Nutrition; Henri Sheville, Jr. with 4-H programs; Shirley Rowe and Geraldine Ray in program assistance; to implement the program and help the field work; Thelma Feaster; Child-Parent Community Programs; Eleanor Williams, Communications, and Dave Purcell, Community Development.

The extension service is strictly an urban program, which tries to relate to the people in everyday terms. “The radio presentations are not a substitute for face to face contact, but a supplement to fill in,” Purcell said. “We write and present our own programs, and try to involve the people, the listening audience, in the programs,” continued Purcell.

A&T is an 1890 Black institution, built in the 1890’s at a time when land grants were given for Black Institutions. There are 17 of these 1890 schools in the United States, under the Smith-Lever law.

“In 1972, the idea to utilize the talents of these institutions, by developing an extension education program under the Smith-Lever law of 1914, came about,” stated E. E. Jones assistant director of Extension and associate dean of Agriculture a.T. was appropriated $375,000.00 to develop a program of work that would indicate how the funds would be used. North Carolina for limited resource people, non farm type.

Thus far the program has been accepted well by the community, and has bridged a gap in the community. With the dedicated and interested personnel, the extension service is now a vital part of the community.

Chicagol
Graduate Record Exam and what your job is going to be.

Concerning the subject: "The accounting major, had this to say was.

Students in Aggieland and the results left no clear cut answer as to how Aggies feel about the issue. The students seemed to split in terms of how important the speaking of a foreign-tongue was.

Carolyn Bailey, a junior accounting major, had this to say concerning the subject: "The relevancy of foreign language depends on where you are going and what your job is going to be.

To me, in reference to my major, foreign language is a waste of my time."

Cynthia Sauter, a junior accounting major, also from Raleigh, stated, "You don't need to know a foreign language unless your work involves associating with foreigners. Students need to know enough to communicate while visiting a foreign country."

"But most students qualified this answer to the question of what is needed to enter graduate school.

"I'm my field (B.A.) you have to be prepared to write opportunity; thus, I feel that a foreign language is important in my field of work."

"Anything you might learn in the field of education can be of benefit to you," commented Edward Evan, owner and operator of Parkway Janitorial Services.

From Burlington. He went on to say, "In my field (B.A.) you have to be prepared to write opportunity; thus, I feel that a foreign language is important in my field of work."

Another student from Burlington, Andre Enoch, junior sociology major, dealt with the issue by stating, "My field of study, sociology, makes people speak many different languages; thus, in my attempt to deal with and understand people, a foreign language would only be of benefit to me."

The Graduate Record Exam Is For Grad School

By Benjamin Forbes

The Graduate Record Examination will be given December 8. The Under Graduate Record Examination was given Oct. 27. The tests are given to prospective students who plan to enter graduate or professional school.

Mrs. Ruth Gore, director of Counseling and Testing Services, said that the purpose for the GRE is to enter graduate school. She added that the examination will evaluate the effectiveness of a curriculum. It can determine how well students are performing in their courses.

The Graduate Record Examination is comprehensive and designed to measure your abilities in mathematics, verbal, and analytical reasoning.

The GRE is the test of choice among graduate schools, according to counselor, this does not mean that a high score is the only thing that counts.

The purpose of the GRE is to assist graduate schools in making informed decisions about the suitability of applicants for their programs. It is not intended to serve as an absolute measure of ability, but rather as a tool to help graduate schools evaluate the potential of applicants.

By Ronald Penny

Despite the debate over the ability of grades to actually indicate a student's ability to master a subject and the modern trend toward nongraded classes, traditional grading systems still prevail in many colleges.

According to the college career counseling service, "Graduate Record Examinations (GRE) are used by graduate schools to evaluate applicants for programs in various fields. They provide a standard measure of academic achievement and help graduate schools make informed decisions about the suitability of applicants for their programs."

The GRE is the test of choice among graduate schools, according to counselor, this does not mean that a high score is the only thing that counts.

The purpose of the GRE is to assist graduate schools in making informed decisions about the suitability of applicants for their programs. It is not intended to serve as an absolute measure of ability, but rather as a tool to help graduate schools evaluate the potential of applicants.

The average Aggie's concept of acceptable grades is below that of most graduate schools and businesses.

A review of the grade point averages sought after by graduate schools is 3.00 or above.

The Campus Gold Girl Scouts Get Male Members

By Yvonne McDonald

The Campus Gold Girl Scouts is now co- ed. Two male members, Roger Stinkaand and Ron Fleming, joined Monday and became the first male members in the history of A&T chapter, established in 1969.

Officers are, Darlyn White, president; Donald Stinka, vice-president; Polly Phillips, secretary; Carolyn Conner, assistant secretary; Linda Durham, treasurer; Ron Flemming, and Yvonne McDonald, reporters. Dr. Gloria Scott and Miss Marilyn Corbett, advisors.

The purpose of the Campus Gold Girl Scouts is to help sponsor community troops, serve as troop leaders, aid adult trailers, and assist already established troops.

It was not surprising at all to discover that the letter grade "C" was an acceptable average because biology is a science major. For me, in reference to my major, the foreign language is a waste of my time."
Solemn Reflections

When violence, whether in the form of a shooting death or a riot, that matter, takes place on campus, it discredits the University family.

For at least ten minutes, people reflect, reconsider, and speculate. And often they don’t know what to say.

Sometimes a fatal shooting like the one which took place Tuesday may make us temporarily paranoid—we are hesitant about going to the library or maybe the union at night.

Since the incident which took place here, the Cooper Hall should be turned back into a boy’s dormitory.

Others have said that the University should be closed to persons without official business on campus. And it was reported that someone even ventured to curse several residents of Cooper Hall, following the accident.

But the physical environment is neither fair to the residents of the dormitory, nor to the University. Surely, there is more need for additional security on campus; this is true of any university. Yet, when you literally keep a campus closed to the community, you also have an isolated university.

This leads into the discussion of attitudes and contributing factors to provide the atmosphere for an incident like the one which took place. Although no solutions are being offered, maybe it is time to give consideration to and investigation of the moods and attitudes on the campus and in the community.

It is no consolation to say that the incident could have happened anywhere. Although it could have taken place somewhere else, it happened here. We must live with the fact, but we must also seek to find an answer to eliminate the type of atmosphere that caused the incident to happen.

Conserve Energy

By Rosie A. Stevens

Recently, much has been said about the energy crisis on campus, the emphasis being placed on conservation of electricity, gas, and heat. Students have been urged to cooperate in turning out all lights which are not necessary. Dormitory counselors have been working with the physical plant director to lower dormitory temperature at night to conserve electricity at home. In brief, almost everyone is involved in the effort to save on fuel, part of a very widespread effort to be more careful in the use of resources. These efforts are very necessary for our survival and well-being.

At the same time, it must be wondered, and it has been pointed out before, why the U.S. has not taken steps to preserve its natural resources. We have been labeled by some as the “throw-away-society” meaning that we throw away, on an individual basis, everything from soft drinks and beer cans to electric energy and oil. As a result, it is felt by some that individual attitudes are responsible for the electricity shortage. (This is aside from the situation in the Middle East.)

At this point, we must ask a critical question. Who told the American consumers to want all the commodities which require the use of electricity? Who programs us to acquire all the commodities such as electric appliances, electric heat, electric trains, etc.? If we are a “throw-away-society” then we are also within a society which constructs and invents materials which are, in turn, thrown away and wasted. The society invents objects to store the wastes that are disposed more compactly, but does not get at the root of the problem. As a result, we continually deal with the consequences of actions rather than correcting the initial problem. Individuals are blamed for the problems created by the society as a whole.
Lead Ourselves By Principle And Ideology

When you see a so-called leader go contrary to what he professed to be about, then don’t become angry or disappointed, let him, become angry with yourself for dealing solely with man, the man is the creature on earth, rather than the principles that guide. No real “leader” should think himself, he must push and urge the people by his principles, programs, and ideology and they must be consistent with each other. You can’t say your principles won’t allow you to consistently exploit people and yet call for programs of apportion. You can’t pretend to be guided by a Pan-Africanist ideology and push programs and principles that are self-destructive or negative to the people the world over.

There is no greater frustration to be a leader, if you are not himself about the principles for which he stands. It is to stand for principles that made him strong. Everybody could be heard to say “SCSL will never do it again,” an indication that SCSL was losing its way.

For a leadership organization to be asking for leadership directions is like asking another Black “how does it feel to be Black,” because SCSL was being led by leading Black people, SCSL should have been organizing the boycott and setting directions to the people. Rather than waiting for someone to show them how to boycott. Then again we need to know why they did what they did; we just don’t know why they tried to explain it.

Your radio station asks for some support

The want, Soul Brotherhood, needs to know your feelings and ideas toward further development and improvement of your radio station. With the register, the mighty voice and pulse of this institution, but we cannot speak about earning and spending money. An adult is a mature person who knows what to expect of life and how much he must give in return.

Vets Establish Units On Direction, Policy

The Veteran Association met on Tuesday to establish directions for the internal good of the club. The meeting also focused on the club’s responsibility to become more productive in campus activities and responsible for maintaining organizations. The meeting aimed to establish a program of leadership with newly elected officers in place.

The irony of his once powerful leadership peaked organization turned to an assassination rather than leadership. SCSL along with Black leadership organizations and individual leaders had turned a position of leadership to a position of guilt. SCSL’s support of countries and causes that were not consistent with the principles of the organization were not accepted.

It was stated that no longer could the Vet Club remain silent or be taken for granted while issues that they were a part of remained puzzling to their people. A Committee was set up to deal with some of the issues that they were facing. The committee was set up to work with and give support to veterans as they continued to have to do work and continue to have to do with the world. The committee was set up to deal with some of the internal issues of the Vet Club. The committee was set up to deal with the possibility of drafting plans to further aid Vets financially and to study the need for further assistance.

President Ossie Hart expressed the hope that these committees, functioning internally and with the support of the entire Veteran Club, would be able to help make the Vet Club as meaningful and as powerful as it once was here at A&T. He also expressed a desire to see more vets present and ready to help make decisions concerning the club at the next meeting, 12 noon, Tuesday in Room 212 of the union.

Proving You Are an A&T Adult

Editor of The Register: What is an adult and are A&T students young adults? Denotatively, the word "adult" means a person who has reached the age of maturity. Now is that what an adult really means? In other words Dr. King adjourned his program and followed Dr. King rather than his organization that he founded.

The wanted was not the man to grasp the leadership that many of the people who supported the boycott. Principals on campus are more important for understanding and being taken as an invisible book. His reasons for SCSL’s abandoning the boycott was that people are waiting for any one man, a Moses, to come and lead us to the promised land or the right cause. A&T, he emphasized, is cooperative; we won’t be left stranded if they are jailed or stranded if they are jailed or professed to be or has been any extent?

We shouldn’t project to us as a “leader” and that much for ourselves if we are capable of doing. We are capable of doing the promised land or the right cause. A&T, he emphasized, is cooperative; we won’t be left behind. We can’t say your principles won’t allow you to consistently exploit people and yet call for programs of apportion. You can’t pretend to be guided by a Pan-Africanist ideology and push programs and principles that are self-destructive or negative to Black people the world over.

We've grown up and we are capable of doing. We have grown up and we are capable of doing the promised land or the right cause. Retail Supervisor Offers Hints On Hairstyles And Facial Care

By Patricia Everett

Sylvia Morrison, a retail supervisor for Dudley stores, explained hairstyles and make-up hints for Blacks.

During the presentation, Sylvia showed various Dudley and Fuller products which are helpful for Black hairstyles.

Here are some of her hints for the caring of Black's hair:

Use shampoos containing lanolin that moisturize the hair. Balms should be left in the hair for about five minutes. Hair creams should be used to strengthen the hair.

Miss Morrison offered these facial tips:

Loose powders give a professional look.

To prevent wrinkles the make-up should be rubbed upward.

Old lipstick can be used as a blusher.

To get a smooth look, lipstick should be applied beginning at the end of the lips to the center.

This presentation of Dudley and Fuller products was sponsored by the Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society as a part of its emphasis week.

Dancing Involves Pains And Pleasures

By Linda Stallings

The old and young alike are dancing these days. Everybody is not necessarily trying to keep up with the new dances, so let's say that everybody who dances is "doing their own thing."

Even though many are doing their own thing, much pain might go into learning the dance. For some, learning a dance isn't as simple as it appears. Such problems as trying to keep in step and in rhythm may be difficult at first.

Disguise sometimes accompanies this problem and also the pains of aching and tired feet, aching joints and side pains are the physical conditions experienced by the dancer.

Dancing is a form of exercise. As long as an individual exercises the more the body stays in good physical shape. Glenda Hamilton says, "As long as the individual doesn't over do it, the better off he is. Over doing it can tire the body; it's best to take it easy while dancing."

A party wouldn't be a party unless there was some music and dancing. Dancing can be a pain at times, but it's more of a pleasure after you've forgotten about the pain.

We are preparing to publish a Poetry Supplement. If you have copies of a poem or poems you would like to submit, contact Lance VanLandingham between 4-5 p.m., Monday thru Friday at The A&T Register, 119 Nocho St. It will be appreciated.
Swimming Team Needs Nine

By Blannie E. Bowen

"We have scholarship money, but nobody wants it. I don't want a Mark Spitz, just give me a guy who wants to swim and I'll make him a Mark Spitz," said Coach Leonard Dudka about his upcoming first year at the helm of the A&T swimming team.

Dudka has replaced Forrest Willis as the head of the swimming team; and, in the process, he has inherited a job that almost no other person in the Physical Education Department would care to have.

To be competitive in an MEAC swimming meet, you will need nine swimmers. A&T suffered from not having a complete swimming team last year and this was evidenced by the shellacings the Aggies received. "Swimming is a sport that requires a great amount of self-discipline and it is also an individual sport more or less," stated Dudka. Dudka emphasized that he wants males or females who just want to swim with no strings attached.

In talking about the situation of having no swimmers, Coach Dudka said, "It must be the apathy because we have the facilities to sponsor swimming successfully." A Canadian by birth, Coach Dudka has served as an assistant swimming coach at California State. Before coming to A&T, Dudka served as the water polo coach at the University of Illinois.

New in his third year at A&T, Coach Dudka stated, "With only three swimmers, there is no way we can compete; but we are going to try as hard as possible."

Bowing Team Rolls By Virginia,

By Carrie Holmes

The A & T Holy Rollers journeyed to the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia last Friday and Saturday's match with the University of Maryland resulted in a loss for the Aggies. Final score was Maryland 70, A & T 26.

Bowling high for the Maryland team was Rich Gieckes who rolled 204 and Eric Back who rolled 198 for five games. Leading A & T was Chester Morrison who shot 214.

Virginia dominated the match with the University of Maryland. Final score A & T 53, Virginia 33.

High for Virginia was Steve Slight who bowled 594.

Omega Psi Phi Defeats BOSS 12-6

By Robert Brooke

The Que defeated BOSS 2-6 to move into a first place tie with the Kappas Tuesday in a tough defensive struggle.

The Que scored first in the second quarter on a 35-yard pass from Mike Patterson to Greg Proctor to take a 6-0 lead in the game.

After receiving a Que punt, BOSS drove 70 yards to score with the big play being a 20-yard pass from George Hand to Paul Williams to knot the score at 6-all at the half.

The last two periods were all defense. The weather played an important part in the game as receivers dropped numerous passes because of cold hands.

Bowie State University's offensive backfired.

McGee Named Offensive Lineman

DURHAM (AP) - Richard McGee of Howard has been named offensive lineman of the week and Robert Hammond of Morgan State and Warren Craddock of Howard shared defensive back honors.

McGee was selected by conference public information directors for fine blocking in Howard's 51-0 win over Hampton Institute.

Hammond rushed for 89 yards in 30 carries, scored two touchdowns and set a new school rushing record in Morgan's 19-10 victory over A&T.

Craddock carried the ball 19 times for 198 yards and scored three touchdowns in Howard's victory over Hampton.

TED MOODY IS LEARNING HOW TO FLY

"He's a classy guy. Always went all-out." says one of the Dartmouth football coaching staff about Ted Moody, a former star linebacker. Ted graduated from Dartmouth College in '72 with a degree in Economics and a mission in mind...to be a pilot...a Naval Aviator.

Now Ted Moody is going all out again. This time in Pensacola, Florida as a Naval Aviation Officer Candidate. He is finding out what it takes to be a Naval Aviator. He's finding it takes a lot of classroom work and long hours studying. It takes a lot of work on PT fields and obstacle courses. It takes special training like the parachute slide and the land survival mission in which you must hunt your own food and erect your own shelter. It takes a lot of time in a cockpit and even some old fashioned close order drill. And it takes a lot more. But, most of all, it takes the right kind of man.

No, you don't have to play football to be a Naval Aviator, but you do have to have a college degree and a lot of drive. And, when the time comes for you to wear your "Navy Wings of Gold" you will know what it takes. It takes your best!
