Scott's Problem Aired

By Patricia Everett

Philip Boone, director of Scott Hall, was interviewed Monday morning about the statement which was printed in the August 23 edition of The A&T Register.

This article concerned the Physical Plant Department's decision to "proceed immediately" with repair to Scott Hall "with the realization that certain inconveniences to the occupants would occur."

Boone stated, "Some people from Buildings and Ground came over to make a survey of the repairs needed for the building. However, the workers were rather late starting because the workmen did not begin until the Friday before the students were to arrive.

"They began by tearing out the ceilings of the bathrooms. This particular job was not divided into specific sections nor was it a tear-and-repair job."

He concluded, "The dormitory was put to a disadvantage because the dry plaster created dust which fell on the hall floors which had previously been cleaned. But, with all the dust, the floor looked dirty again, thus putting the counselorms at a disadvantage because we were the one who had to face the parents."

According to Boone, the workers started only a week before school opened, but their efforts decelerated considerably before the end of the week.

Boone stated, "Such things as window shades were requested last year but were not available. Boone continued "I approve of the repairs, but I'm sorry they were so late getting started on it."

He ended the interview by saying, "I'm not out to criticize anyone. I just hope that, in the future, we can get these things done because, when you house students in these conditions, it is hard to get their cooperation in return."

Committee Goals Set

The Student-Chancellor's Advisory Committee is in the process of redefining itself. This statement came from Ted Mangum, organizer of the committee.

Mangum indicated that the committee had begun to do this last year, after identifying a number of problems on campus, such as the conditions in the dormitories, problems with financial aid, etc.

After identifying the problems, he said, the committee found it necessary to redefine its purpose so that problems could also be solved. Mangum said efforts were being made not to duplicate the functions of the SGA, but that the committee would work in close cooperation with the SGA.

He expanded this statement to include any organization. "We don't have the power," he said, "to eliminate problems" that are "not within the scope, range, and power of the committee."

Dr. Will B. Scott

Chairman To Direct Session

By Rosie Stevens

Dr. Will B. Scott, chairman of the Department of Sociology and Social Service, will be chairing a session this week at the conference of the American Sociological Association. The session will be on the sociology of education.

"He is dependent on the replace William Wideman and carry much of the defensive leadership. A definite all-conference performer," is the way Strickland was listed last year in the A&T football programs.

From an illustrious high school career at Thomasville Senior High School, he came to A&T with a label of "prospective" as a professional player.

Artis Stanfield, one of Strickland's teammates, said yesterday, "May I could not even go to the funeral. He just had had luck all the time. It is like he is gone on a trip forever. I can't explain the loss of Regoe as a player and friend."
The Money Is Needed Now

Scott Hall was constructed in the early 1950's. At that time it could house 1,000 students.

Scott Hall has undergone many transitions. From the early 1950's until the late 1960's, Scott remained much the same. In the past six years Scott has been under renovation. As a result of this renovation, Scott now can house 960 students. Most of these 960 students are questioning the renovation of the dormitory.

Scott Hall just underwent a $500,000 renovation program in the past two years. Most of the money went toward the new lounge, which is never used. Which brings us to the point; why was so much money spent for a lounge which is not open most of the time? Why wasn't more money used to improve living conditions in the dormitory, living conditions which Lt. Col. William Goode, dean of men, called embarrassing.

It's time to stop passing the buck and get to the heart of the Scott Hall problem.

The problem is not a new lounge or a parking lot, but living conditions. It is not the students' responsibility. They can't repair cracked plaster in showers. It's not Col. Goode. He makes a detailed inventory of Scott Hall twice a year, but nothing is done. It's not the director. Dean Boone. He can only request what is to be done. Then who?

The living condition in Scott can only be corrected when the money is there, and we all know where the money comes from.

Committee Takes Action Steps

By Rosie A. Stevens

The Student-Chancellor's Advisory Committee has done an admirable job in taking steps to solve the problems it defined during the previous academic year. Such problems as financial aid have been given an interesting solution by the establishment of a student janitorial service. This, indeed, is an accomplishment.

At the same time, the committee finds itself powerless, in some ways, to deal with problems confronted by students. It is powerless in the same manner that some other organizations are powerless, in that it lacks access to many resources to effect solutions to problems. In addition, the committee lacks a base of operations, in that it cannot, on its own, consult with people responsible for such things as dormitory sanitation with any assurance of its recommendations being placed into effect. This must be done with the Chancellor.

As a consequence, the committee finds itself, through no fault of its own, but through problems relating to the structure of the university as a system, confined to such things as feasibility studies on the availability of washers in residence halls. This something, the administration, with the appropriate officers, should have done long ago.

At the same time Ted Mangum, the organizer, is correct on the matter of setting a general direction, rather than focusing on specifics. He is right also, on the matter of raising the student body's consciousness of matters. Perhaps the only way for legitimate questions to be raised on the matters which confront us is to have an informed student body, supporting those who raise legitimate questions.

It is the most effective way to destroy the current administrative myths that plague the student body and cry for dissolution. It is also the way to insure that the efforts of students do not get channeled into doing the jobs administrators are currently paid, by the state, by student fees, and by other sources to perform.

After all, such things as sanitation in dormitories, and feasibility studies on availability of washers should already have been taken care of by responsible administrators. Such questions should not have to be raised. They're embarrassing.
Campus Rooms Shortages

Failure To Make Reservation

of people simply because they suffer duty to another race's because of the conditions they obtained the ability and racism. Racism can be in the often arise within one race the Jewish people. Yet, it wasn't guilty of "racial hatred" towards of students, three beds are put into some rooms in residence individual racism is usually the number of spaces available. She housing on campus exceeds the number of female students requiring accommodations. The total housing in the spring when all the athletes are assigned. There should be 1242

William Goode, dean of men, the only to find that they have no number of spaces will be filled

When asked about the advantages of on-campus living, the dean of women stated several reasons for the return to campus living. College students have found that living on the college campus has its economical advantages.

Food is cheaper and they do not have to have transportation. Also, off-campus facilities are not readily available.

Have you heard? Mrs. Pigott continued, single women, especially, have difficulty in securing off-campus quarters. There just are not enough apartments and boarding houses within walking distance of the campus.

However, there are 1450 women living on campus now. In order to accommodate the excess of students, three beds are put into some rooms in residence bodies through laws and the failure to apply constitutional rights equally in this country, the results spell the same; our people are denied the same rights and benefits of the ruling race, simply because of our race. Conditions brought on by this denial of opportunity plus 400 years of uninterrupted institutional and individual racism often lead to each other, their harming us, and at best, our progress being retarded.

In 1967, "The Report of The National Advisory Commission On Civil Rights" publicly charged white "institutional racism" with creating the conditions that caused the riots that year. In 1967, the Commission's findings were related, denied and watered down to imply that the "White man's burden" was only an excuse for the expansion of imperialism and the colonization of Africa; it was never intended to mean that they were responsible for the conditions or well being of the local "colony." Institutional racism is difficult to admit to because it means that there is something racist about the very foundation of the government and the institutions that it has created.

Now with the "New South" and the Sports Business the pro scouts apparently punished him for being too good or maybe the major league hitters bribed the scouts into not signing him. Perhaps the scouts bribed them on Stanford. The fake excuse they usually use is that no one wants to draft a black college player. The date with Earth, Wind and Fire has not been confirmed as of Monday. This statement came from the SGA President, LaVerne, that afternoon, in criticism of an article appearing in the Register. Closer noted that an article appearing in the Register that Earth, Wind and Fire was to appear here during homecoming. "The author of the piece cooperates with the A&T Student Groups" he said. "Nothing has been confirmed."

Other than that, he noted, the article was "good."

GRISTIS

Ted L. Manum

Watergate Is An Example Of American 'Truth'

A&T Band Marches

To Blood, Sweat, And Tears

Error Noted

In Article
Football Coach Plans Revival; Some Changes Are Being Made

By Blannie E. Bowen

What do you do when your football team wins only four games after running up eight the previous year? Well, Coach Horshy Howell of A&T is starting a revival program. He has begun by initiating a program similar to the "good old time religion" which once dominated religious circles in the process, he has gained some disciples.

Many changes are coming to the school and the football program. First, there is a white coach and some white players.

Second, there is a new offensive set-up which many say will put points on the board for the team. A&T is noted for its "good ole time religion" in the process, he has gained some disciples.

There are 34 players returning this season, and Howell feels they are returning in the best of conditions. "It is a different day this year. The players have a better attitude this year and we have been working well so far," the veteran coach said.

Howell seems set to have a good year. "If there are any problems this year, they won't be on the field. This includes coaches and players alike," he related.

Team leadership was a major concern with Howell last year, but he feels this problem has been solved with Dwight Netter and John Hampton serving as team captains.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.

There are 34 players returning, who believed last year was just a fluke year. However, at any rate, seven quarterbacks are in camp this year. Paul McKibbens of Atlanta, Ga., seems to have the upper hand on the pact.

Lee Redford is not playing after working with the team for three previous years last as a quarterback.

Atchison Conway, Ellsworth Turner, Phillip Nettles, Steve Rivas and Gary Alliance are going to push the two veterans.

Al Holland is taking over the punting chores completely and will avoid possible injuries to the players.