Alumnus Shares Portions Of Dissertation

By Patricia Everett

Samuel Woods, a 1971 economics graduate from A&T and current candidate for his Ph.D at Harvard, was special guest at a gathering held for the presentation of awards for an economic essay competition sponsored by the Economics Department.

Afterwards, Wood was the center of many questions. The students were especially curious about his dissertation which will later be directed by Walter F. Carlson, Jr.

Concerning his first experiences at Harvard, Woods said, "My attitude was my biggest disadvantage. My professors never gave me the time of day."

Woods' dissertation is entitled "Food Cycles and Crises: A Special Analytic Inquiry into the Nature of the World Food Problem." Woods also noted that the work is in the process of being presented to the University for approval.

Plans Made For Student Courts

By Craig Turner

The Student Government Association is in the process of presenting a proposal to the University that would drastically change the Student Court System.

The new system would be proposed to give more power to the lower courts and to change the University Constitution.

Third, different procedures would be used in the trying of cases to improve the fairness of the students.

Increase In Our Student Population

Definitely Caused The Book Shortage

By Daryl E. Smith

The increased student population has definitely caused a book shortage. Meachem, University bookstore manager, stated that shortages come after or during the drop-add period. Late registrating students will try to get a full class load without knowing if the book store has enough books for their particular subjects.

"Freshmen classes and business classes are primary examples of book shortages, simply because these classes are overloaded with students. Anytime during registration or immediately after registration the faculty should inform us of how many students they have enrolled," he said.

Woods added that the bookstore starts an inventory on the 30th of June to determine how many books have been returned by students. Judging by previous enrollment at the school, he is certain that the bookstore must order mainly how many books the store has to order mainly the university's best financial books, rather than the university's best financial books.

During a five-hour session Monday the SGA was informed that the bookstore would not uphold any decision by the courts on punishment dealt out, on the condition that the student's rights be upheld under the constitution.

This means the student court dockets will be filled, once the hearings get underway. "The main reason student courts did not get major cases was that the state would not uphold rulings before, such as expulsion from the university," said Keans.

The main power of the court system would lie in the hands of the Appellate Board by the Student Judiciary Council.

In placing an order with the bookstore has to order mainly the university's best financial books, rather than the university's best financial books. Meachem stated that the bookstore has to order mainly the university's best financial books, rather than the university's best financial books. During a five-hour session Monday the SGA was informed that the bookstore would not uphold any decision by the courts on punishment dealt out, on the condition that the student's rights be upheld under the constitution.

"Talking about those geniuses at Harvard, Woods said, "We certainly hope the books are available to students." Woods then added that the bookstore has to order mainly the university's best financial books, rather than the university's best financial books.

"We certainly hope the books are available to students," Woods said.

Meachem added that the bookstore will turn out for the dedication so they can answer for the differences in the population has definitely caused a book shortage.

Return Of Textbooks Important For Function

Instructors, having students in classes without a textbook, should poll the class and report the shortage and text title to the department chairman, for a compiling and submitting to the bookstore manager promptly.

This action would eliminate a lot of obstacles facing student and faculty. Meachem also said that students who would like to, could purchase their books.

Students desiring of purchasing their textbooks shall receive a prorated share of credit of the rental fee paid toward the purchase of any or all rental textbooks on his or her current schedules.

The student should know that the purchase of books must be a cash transaction.

Meachem said that the return of books is very important to the bookstore's function. Failure to turn in books at the end of a semester, or when dropping or adding a course or when one has received the wrong textbook affects the bookstore by a shortage of books for students, having to order additional books unnecessarily, which poses a cost factor and an overstocking of books which causes a shortage as well as a supply problem.

Meachem said that the bookstore is part of the auxiliary service here at A&T.

J. E. Garfield is the director of the business services under which the auxiliary services come. Not only is the bookstore classified as an auxiliary, but the university auxiliary enterprises consist of intercollegiate athletics, and all other organized activities related to educational departments.

Garfield feels that, in many areas, there will be increased benefits affecting the total environment for students. Garfield says that the old image of A&T will undergo a complete change in the next two or three years.

This twenty-eight-month old band is accustomed to playing three and a half-hours for a show. Also this band usually gives two to three shows per week. Some of the talents include "The Bennett Underground," a group from Bennett College, who will perform "Then Came You". Dwayne Norris, from UNC-G, will rap out to mellow sounds of "Can't Get Enough of Your Love".

Also of the A&T talent participants are Pam Gore who will sing "You've Got the Love", a group which is composed of five of our students, "Utopia" will perform "Wild Flower" and "Stop to Start", another group, "Ectasy" will do "You Make Me Feel Brand New" and "Do It Baby", and The (Cookie) Williams will sing "Tell Me Something Good", and "Midnight Train To Georgia".

Prices are $5.50 with any college I.D. and $2.00 without one. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Parking Regulations

The regulations governing traffic, parking and the registration of motor vehicles can be found in a booklet called THE REGULATIONS GOVERNING TRAFFIC, PARKING AND THE REGISTRATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

We can't expound upon all of the regulations at this one setting, but would like to bring your attention to the parking ordinance which is in effect on this campus. If you haven't read it here it is.

Agents designated by the Traffic Administrative Officer shall remove to a place of storage any vehicle parked or left standing on any street way, or parking area other than as provided for in these regulations, or when such vehicle blocks the proper ingress and egress of any other vehicle to or from lawful parking spaces for a period longer than five minutes, or any vehicle parked or left standing on a sidewalk or walkway, on grass or lawn, on a crosswalk, or on the roadway of any vehicle stopped or parked at the edge or curb of a street or roadway whether the parked vehicle is parallel or at an angle to the curb or edge. The owner or operator of the offending vehicle shall be liable for payment of reasonable towing and storage fees if such vehicle is removed and stored in addition to a civil penalty as provided hereinafter.

The traffic registration became effective May 28, 1973, but it was not until this year that towing became important to the student, as well as the administrators.

The Agent designated by the Traffic Administration to tow a car away is not upholding the towing law. I say this because he can't understand what reasonable towing and storage fees are. And, if the traffic Administrative officer calls $5.00 towing, $10.00 parking ticket, $1.00 a day for storage reasonable for students, then one or both should consider “treatment”.

With such volume of towing, this high cost should not be permitted.

According to traffic administrators, they can't afford a tow truck or a driver or a place to store the cars. I say you can.

1. If you tow cars as they are being towed now, the towing could pay for a tow-truck as well as for more parking places.
2. Use campus offiers, older students or ground workers.
3. Use part of Scott Hall parking lot and cement it in.

There are just some of the ways, and if we take the time to think before we tow, we may do more to help the student.

One Milestone Of Our Lives Over

To the Editor:

Open Letter to the Class of 1975:

When we entered A&T in August, we were bright-eyed and eager to meet the challenges of "going to college".

The years since then have dimmed the brightness of our eyes, but they have also helped us broaden the scope of our lives.

Now we face one of the milestones of our lives, our senior year, and, at the end of it, graduation. But as we enter our last year here at the "T", we need to stop and evaluate the first three we've spent here.

We must ask ourselves, "What have we really contributed since we've been here? When we've gone on to other places and other things, will anyone even remember that we were here?"

Will the Class of 1975 be remembered as "bad-d-d" or will the consensus of opinion be that "they were kinda tired"?

Seniority is not too late. There is still time for us to make a positive contribution. Let's all work together to see that the 1974-75 school year and the Class of '75 will never be forgotten.

Senior Class Executive Committee

Reorganization Is Important

By Rosie A. Stevens

Perhaps the most important facet of the reorganization of the student courts is the emphasis on student rights and due process.

It is sad to note this, but previous courts have placed emphasis on expediency to the point of denying the accused person his or her rights. Such examples of this are the failure of the campus security to inform the person of his right to remain silent during questioning, which, in itself, would nullify any process of law because of the technical point of illegal gathering of evidence that a failure to inform would constitute.

Other examples consist of the denial of the person of the right to face an accuser in cases in which the court deems it unwise. No case could stand in a court of law on such a flimsy basis because, in essence, it denies the accused the basic right guaranteed by the constitution.

It should not have held so long here, and that it has been applied and enforced for so long here is questioned. It is a flagrant example of disrespect for the rights of the accused, and consequently, the dignity of the person.

If a college or university proposes to teach people to deal with a system that is racist and repressive, the best place to begin is with the court system, in teaching appropriate process rather than denying it.

It is to be hoped that the current emphasis on student rights and due process will be translated into workable structures, practices, and processes in the student courts. A denial of such would be ironic and tragic.

Another good feature of the proposed system is the appointment of a commissioner to have the appointed duty of defending and advising students who are accused of committing offenses.

The student lawyers were fine, but did not have official capacity in the same way as the commissioner would have. This capacity should have an advantage of equalizing the power for the defendant somewhat.

There are, of course, disadvantages in the reform of the courts, just as there are disadvantages in failing to change the system completely. Students may not bring charges against anyone but students, while faculty and administration may bring charges against the student. Currently, there is no way for the situation to be changed because of power inequities of such a structure.

Other means exist, such as the grade appeals board, for student grievances, though these do not work. This should be made a working reality separate and apart for the student courts.

One Milestone Of Our Lives Over
Run-off Slated For Three Freshman Offices

By Carlese Blackwell

On September 12 the election committee released the results of the freshman class election. According to the election rules, a candidate must win by ten percent of all votes cast. If he does not, the candidate with the next highest vote is entitled to call for a run-off.

This year, a run-off was called for three offices which are President, Vice President, and Miss Freshman.

Out of a possible 225 votes for the freshman presidential position, Curtis Askew received 66 votes and Donald Stevenson received 63.

For the title of Miss Freshman for which a total of 254 votes were cast, Lavalle Adams received 46 votes and Cheryl Brown received 34.

For the office of Vice President, out of 253 votes, Steve Jones received 91 and Patricia Rice received 73.

The office of Treasurer was taken by Zandra Delain with 113 of a possible 244 votes.

Sharon Barnes won the Secretary chair with a total of 171 votes.

The run-off date is set for Tuesday, September 24, in Rooms 217 and 218 of the Student Union. The polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon. Also within these hours all newly-elected officers will be sworn in.

Brinkley Faulcon, chairman of the election committee, offers his apologies for the premature and incorrect announcement of the freshman presidential winner. At that announcement Stevenson was inaccurately named as the winner. Faulcon said the mistake was innocent and was due to a miscalculation of the figures.

Pageant To Be Held In Harrison Auditorium

By Jeanette Jones

A "Mr. A&T" pageant is being sponsored by a contestant for Miss Gate City, Ms. Evelyn Reid, secretary in the English Department. The pageant will be held in Harrison Auditorium, Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 7:30 p.m. A preview of the pageant will be on television Friday morning at 8:00, Sept. 20, on Channel 8 Bill Boggs Southern Exposure program.

The purpose of the pageant is to focus attention on the fellows here at A&T and to have a closer relationship with our men throughout the campus.

The contestants are Julius Leake, Arthur Moore, Mike Boykin, Terence Hawkins, Ronald Troy, Johnny Pompey, Harold O'Brien, William Tuck, Keith Walters, Mike Matthews, Charles Cochran, Ronald Clinton, Thomas Moultrie, and James Jenkins.

They were chosen by Ms. Reid and two yearbook staff members, Ruthie Williams and Riley Walters. From the fellows competing, the judges will choose six finalists; from them, a first and second runner-up and the Mr. A&T. He will keep his title for a year, and, if needed, he will be expected to travel to other campus-related functions.

General admission is $1.00 for adults and $1.50 at the door; the admission for students is $.50 at the door with student I.D.'s. Faculty, staff, and interested persons may purchase tickets in Room 202, Communications, from Ms. Reid between the hours of 8:00 and 5:00 Monday through Friday.

Shirley Verrett To Open Series

People who go to some recitals hoping to be moved and exhilarated by the sheer sound of a superior voice found themselves just this side of paradise," wrote the New York Times about a recent performance by Metropolitan Opera star Shirley Verrett.

That is the same Shirley Verrett who will open the Guilford College Arts Series by appearing at 8:15 p.m. Monday (September 23) in Davis Auditorium on the Guilford campus.

Arts series membership, as well as individual tickets for the Verrett recital, will be available from the College Union office in Bryan Hall until 5 p.m. Monday and then at the door prior to the performance.

Persons wishing to purchase individual tickets at the door will be asked to wait until 8 p.m. to do so in order that series members may be assured of seats.

"We are expecting a large audience for Verrett, but we do not anticipate a total sellout," said series chairman Edward Lowe. "I am sure we can seat everyone who wishes to come.

For her Guilford appearance, Miss Verrett has selected three Giovanni Pergolesi arias, songs of Gustav Mahler, Richard Strauss, and Francis Poulenc, three spirituals, and the "Una Voce Posa" aria from Rossini's "Barber of Seville."

After having starred in most of the major opera houses in Europe, Miss Verrett made her debut at the Metropolitan in 1968 as Carmen, her lifetime dream.

Of her portrayal, Time magazine said "Verrett's gypsy was a wild, driving, panther-like, intelligent woman with a voice of velvet."

After Dark magazine wrote of her: "Mezzo-soprano Shirley Verrett is the most recent black artist to 'make it at the Met,' and in light of nothing else but her brilliant performance in the current season's (1974) production of Berlioz's mammoth masterpiece, 'The Trojans,' Miss Verrett would have proven herself to be an exciting and most accomplished performer.

She is one of the most widely recorded opera singers and her recordings, which range from complete operas such as Bellini's "Norma," Verdi's "Don Carlos" and Donizetti's "Anna Bolena" to orchestral concerts with the London Symphony, reflect her international appeal.
NOTEBOOK

home runs in only 21 games.

ICAM = just as amazing are the credentials of Korneagay and Earley. Korneagay was a 187 pound guard who started for four years with Aggie grid teams. In 1927, the year the Aggies went undefeated and won the CIAA crown, Korneagay proved to be devastating.

Earley was an all-CIAA selection in 1938 for football and, during his four years, he won four letters in football and three more for basketball. These guys have some impressive figures, and it is hard to imagine anyone being this good.

While they were in their heydays, most of our parents were either playing hide-and-seek or learning to write. It would seem highly improbable for anyone to match these fetes today, particularly in football.

Guards on football teams now tip the scales around 240 or better. Korneagay, with his unbeatable size, led the team to an unbeaten season and only in 1943 did the Aggies have another undefeated year.

Armstrong said A&T's pitcher of today, Al Holland, is one of the fastest pitchers he has seen. Yes, one of the fastest, but not the fastest. Artis Stanfield batted .500 this past baseball season but he has not received his due credit. Stanfield is one of the fastest pitchers he has seen.

The fisticuffs are not needed on the field. Bellamy gave the crowd the best play in four years and Aggies will find many things, some promising and some, around against S.C. State:

- The defense is led by two all-MEAC (Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference) choices. The first is highly touted and massively strong Harry Carson (6-6, 290). Carson's play was instrumental on several third down situations against Bethune Cookman.

- The other all-MEAC selection is middle linebacker Razzie Smith (6-3, 225) who terrorized the Aggies last year in Orangeburg. This year defense will return 10 starters and rates near the top in the nation.

The Bulldogs will undoubtedly come well prepared as will the Aggies. Should A&T pull off the upset of the third-ranked Bulldogs then a giant step will have been taken towards a conference championship.

Inductees Honored During Weekend Of Festivities

This year three persons will be inducted into the Hall of Fame at a banquet to be held immediately following the dedication ceremony. They are J. Neil Armstrong, director of summer school at A&T; Robert Korneagay of Mt. Olive, and James Earley of Hampton, Va.

The three inductees will begin the festivities on Friday at 1 p.m. They will also be honored during halftime of the A&T versus South Carolina State football game on Saturday.

Students, Attend!

Students will be admitted free of charge to the dedication of the Sports Hall of Fame which will be held in the lobby of the Student Union. Dr. Lewis Dowdy, chancellor of A&T, will be guest speaker for the event.

This ceremony at which J. Neil Armstrong, Robert Korneagay, and James Earley will be inducted, is just part of the various activities planned for this Hall of Fame Weekend. Athletic and non-athletic students are urged to attend this event. The ceremony will be provided by the A&T 30 piece band.

Here is a schedule for the activities planned for the Sports Hall of Fame Weekend:

Putting Team Together

Coach Sees Job As Tough

by Craig Turner

South Carolina State enters this week's game against A&T in one of the biggest games 'in this still-early season. The Bulldogs came from behind in the final 5 minutes to grab a 12-8 win over Bethune Cookman in Orangeburg, S.C. last week.

Head Coach Willie Jeffers, a former assistant under Hornsby Howell, moaned last week about the ineffectiveness of his offense that lost its top two running backs. However, Elias O'Neal (6-5, 201) at quarterback showed spurs of brilliance as he threw to wide receiver Dennis McCarthy (6-3, 180).

The offense returns the interior line almost intact with five starters that average 345 pounds per man.

Returning to the squad is Charles Summermone who finished second in the conference once again in NAIA District. He sent undefeated with a very impressive 15 wins.

Also returning at Roosevelt Hilton, who was a conference champion, is Melon Fair and George Harris, both of whom were NAIA District champions. In addition, Joe Windley, Darnell Glover, Sylvester Williams and Bernard Leak will be making their contributions to the team.

Even though the absence of a budget restricted Coach Pinckney to recruiting only two freshmen, there are still some extremely promising freshmen on the team. Earl Harris was conference and Regional champion and fourth in his home state of Michigan. Pinckney stated that Harris probably is a probable starter in the 142 weight class.

Another good prospect from New Jersey is John Ford who is a probable starter at 150 pounds. Ford was also Conference, District and Regional champion and finished fourth in his home state.

Horace McDonald, Al Hall, Rodney James, and Walter Barrett are some other freshmen who were outstanding during their high school careers. McDonald was a North Carolina conference champion and Hall placed third in the state of Delaware.

While at Grimsley High School, James and Barrett put together almost unbelievable records. They have a cumulative record of 62-7 each.

With a squad as talented as the Aggies appear to be, it isn't surprising that Coach Pinckney can predict his team to have a record of "no worse than 8-4." How Pinckney seems to feel that his greatest competition will come from the teams in the MEAC, namely Morgan, Delaware, and Howard.

Coach Pinckney stated that "we will practice as hard as we can between 4:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. and will officially open October 1. Any interested parents are encouraged to come out for the team. Practice is held in Moore Gym."
If you think Kodak is just pretty pictures, you ought to have your chest examined.

When a chest x-ray shows that you have a potential killer like TB or cancer, it's not a pretty picture. But it's an important picture because it can help the doctor detect and catch the killer in time.

When doctors are out to catch these potential killers, they want the sharpest, clearest x-ray films they can get. And that's why people at Kodak spend so many hours creating new and better x-ray film equipment. Already, the results include convenience for the patient, economy for the hospital, an even more useful tool for the radiologist—and, most important, reduced radiation exposure.

Researching and creating better x-ray films is good for our business, which is why we went into them in the first place. But it does our society good, too—which isn't a bad feeling. After all, our business depends on our society—so we care what happens to it.

Kodak
More than a business.
