VOLUME XLVII NUMBER 6 NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL AND TECHNICAL STATE UNIVERSITY, GREENSBORO September 12, 1975

Dr. Frissell Jones Joins Education Department

By Rosa Smith

A new addition has been made in the Education Department. The new addition is Dr. Frissell W. Jones, new director of Student Teaching.

Dr. Jones was employed by A&T on August 8. He had previously been employed as director of student teaching at St. Augustine's and Hampton Institute.

When asked what problems he had encountered as a director, he replied, "I have encountered no serious problems except getting acquainted with a new situation. Usually, I have student workers and here they are unavailable, but none are serious problems."

Jones said that his aim is to get everybody (student teachers) placed by September 25 and to see that each student teacher knows how to plan with scientific thinking, write effectively, and report accurately.

Asked how he feels about the administration of the National Teachers' Exam he stated, "The NTE should not have been instituted. The Educational Testing Services never intended North Carolina to use this test in the manner it is being used; therefore, I'm delighted with the ruling that teachers can be certified who did not pass the test."

Jones continued, "As far as we know, you still have to take the NTE. The Preliminary Report indicated that N.C. is trying to devise an alternative to the NTE. The NTE's only value is to give some idea of how well you know subject matter but not how well you can teach it."

Concluding, Jones asserted, "The best measure of teaching ability is student teaching."

Felton Bess and Willie Gray are the newly elected president and vice president of the freshman class.

Only 199 Freshmen Vote

Bess Wins By A Landslide

By Francis Gilliard

One hundred and ninety-nine freshmen and 42 sophomores voted for class officers Thursday, September 15.

Felton Bess won the freshmen presidential election by a landslide with 128 votes. The vice presidential position was taken by Willie Gray. Gray was an easy victor with 155 votes. Laverne McKay was the unanimous choice for secretary as she was uncontested for the position.

Run-off elections must be held to determine the positions of treasurer, Miss Freshman and Miss Sophomore. Run-off contestants for treasurer are Gwen Horner and Mike Howell; for Miss Freshman, Gwen Robinson and Angela Niles, and for Miss Sophomore; Deborah Richardson and Patricia Lynch.

Newly-elected President Bess commented on his victory: "I would like to express special appreciation to all that supported me in my campaign. I will work on the issues that I stressed during my campaign as soon as possible. I had to win for a person that was a special influence on my life, the late Mr. J.W. Maye who is an alumnus and member of the Sports Hall of Fame at A&T. I would also like to thank Miss Annie Brown and Mrs. Mebane."

Vice-President Willie Gray stated, "It is a privilege to be one of the first individuals to represent the class of 1979. I will strive to fulfill my obligations."

Paula Dudley, a member of the Student Union Advisory Board and election committee, commented on the elections. "I would like to congratulate all the freshman on the enthusiasm they displayed by participating in the election. I am sure that the candidates of their choice will well represent them. I would like to congratulate the winners and wish them much continued success in the future," she concluded.

Homecoming Will Be Exciting

The student-faculty homecoming committee said Thursday that this year's celebration beginning October 13 will be one of the most exciting ever staged on the campus.

Theme for the fun-filled homecoming activities will be "A Blast From the Past Through Aggeland," in keeping with the nation-wide bicentennial celebration.

"We are asking all student organizations to try to relate to our theme," said James E. Garfield, general chairman of the committee. He reminded the organizations and individual students that a special judging will be held for decorations of sorority and fraternity plots and the residence halls.

Prizes will also be given for the top floats in the mile-long homecoming parade. Committee members are now in the process of trying to lengthen the parade and also to map out a new parade route, since the traditional Market Street route is being redeveloped.

Ted Mangum, president of the Student Government Association, promised that a full schedule of student activities for the week is being planned for the students. The week will be highlighted, of course, by the coronation of Christal Watson as "Miss A&T State University."

Joseph D. Williams, Sr., director of alumni development at A&T, said the alumni and former student of A&T will enjoy a taxing week of activities. Their activities will include

Student Enrollment Passes 5,000 Mark

For the first time in its 84-year history, the enrollment at A&T State University has passed the 5,000 mark.

Dr. Rudolph Artis, director of registration and records at the university, said Wednesday that A&T's total enrollment now is a record 5,002 students.

He said the total could be increased by 150 students or more when the final figures are in for the off-campus centers which A&T operates in several areas of the state.

"We are extremely pleased with our continuing growth," said Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, chancellor of the university. "It is especially gratifying when one considers the difficulty students are finding obtaining adequate financial aid, and the other factors which have served to cause a leveling off in enrollment growths across the nation."

Dowdy and director of admissions, William H. Gamble, attributed A&T's increase to the record 1,147 freshman students who enrolled this fall.

"We could see this happening," said Gamble, "after the applications of new students kept coming." He noted a

University Foundation Assists Many Students

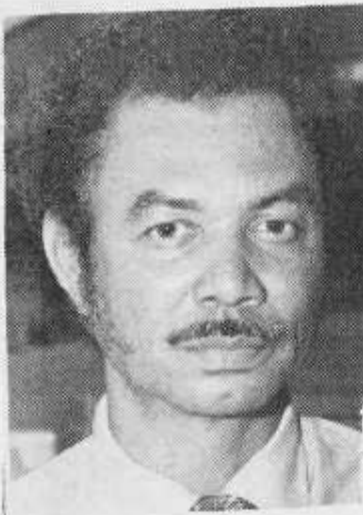

The A&T Alumni Association Thursday turned over $30,000 to the A&T University Foundation to assist with the University's scholarship program.

The unrestricted gift to the Foundation was announced by Robert Macon of Washington, D.C. Macon was chairman of the Alumni Association's national fundraising effort for 1974-75. Macon said the $30,000 was in addition to other monies already credited from the Association to the Foundation.

Marshall Colston, executive secretary of the Foundation, called the alumni gift "a continuing involvement on the part of the alumni to maximize the access to educational opportunities for the young students."

"This gift," he added, "represents a direct level of support for our university's Chancellor's Scholars program. We are grateful for this major contribution."

Rental Policy Covers Hard-Back Books

By Deborah L. Hawkins

There have been numerous stories about book shortages on campus, and most students don't understand the "whys".

When students paid their bills for the semester, they paid a "lenders" or "rental" fee. Under this policy students are issued "hard-back" books.

James Meachem, director of the book store, stated, "Hard-back books are issued under our lenders policy; but, if the book designated for a course is a "paper-back", then it must be purchased, simply because paper-backs don't stand up to the punishment in a re-issue policy."

He said, "The reason there aren't enough books is that students don't return them immediately upon dropping a course. Furthermore, more students may enter a class after registration, and we order only what is asked for.

"Also", he continued, "our text books are picked by a committee from each department. They pick the latest and best material for educational purposes, no matter if they are "hard or paper" backs. Even if the costs of those paper-backs are high to us, in reality they are low. These books are received and purchased at a wholesale price."

"Furthermore, if there aren't enough books after final registration, it is because the instructor does not send in another order form for additional books," he concluded.

Student Committee Will Review Budget Requests

For the art lovers, the Richard B. Harrison Players will present a stirring production of "Porgy" in the Paul Robeson Little Theatre. week's activities will be climaxed by the traditional football game between A&T and Maryland Eastern Shore on Saturday, Oct. 18, at 1:30 p. m. in the Greensboro Memorial Stadium.

Student Activities Budget Committee.

The purpose of this committee is to review budget requests from the various activity programs such as the General Administration; the Student Government Association; the Ayantee; the A&T Register; WANT; the Lecture and Lyceum Cultural Program; Intramural Activities; Paul Robeson Theatre; and the African Heritage Center.

The budget sent to the Student Activities Budget Committee will be submitted along with recommendations to the office of Fiscal Affairs for final decisions.

The members of the Student Activities Budget Committee are:

Female Enrollment Increases Significantly

significant increase in the number of female students applying for admission.

"There is no longer a war to chase the male students to college," he said, "so some of them are pursuing other things."

A&T's upsurge had posed a little housing problem at the beginning of the term, but Dr. Jesse Marshall, vice chancellor for student affairs, said the problem has just about been resolved because of natural attrition and other factors.

Foundation Is Source Of Outside Support programs during the past four years.

The Foundation, the prime source of outside support for A&T, has assisted more than 300 students in meeting their college finances during the past eight years. The Foundation also coordinates the gifts of faculty, friends, and corporations and foundations.

Juniors Hold First Meeting

By Mary E. Cropps

The junior class held its first meeting Wednesday evening. Although the attendance was poor, Anthony Fox, president, proposed to those present that four committees be established.

The four committees would be the ways and means committee, the social committee, the publicity committee and the finance and budget committee, Fox said.

The ways and means committee will be responsible for devising fund-raising methods and will be headed by Earl Chestnut.

The social committee, whose chairman is Michael Hailey, will be responsible for entertainment functions.

The publicity committee, headed by Mary Cropps, will be responsible for getting news and information to the members of the class.

Fox, in discussing the junior class's budget, said that, at the time of the meeting, the class has no money. However, Fox stated that the SGA will allot the class a budget of $200-$300 when its budget is approved. Last year, each class was allotted $100 by the SGA.

In order to raise money Fox suggested that the class sponsor a dance at the Cosmos. However, the details of this plan have yet to be completed.

Miss Junior, Sharon Simmons, brought into discussion the junior class's role in the homecoming activities. She said that the fee for placing a queen in the coronation would be $35.

The members of the class will have to vote and decide if they want to be represented in both the coronation and the parade, Fox said.

Library Cannot Extend Hours At Present Time

By Maxine McNeill

Mrs. Tommye Young, director of the library said that at the present time the staff is too small to extend the library hours. The library hours on Monday through Thursday are from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday. On Saturday the library opens at 9 a.m. and closes at 12. The Sunday hours are from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Mrs. Young said the library hours are shorter on the weekend because of student activities. Also, the Federal Employment Policy Commission requires each member of the staff to have two days off a week.

She continued, "On Friday

students are trying to get their work finished so they can enjoy the weekend."

When students were asked what they thought about the library hours, answers varied.

Olivia Robinson, a freshman child development major, said, "I don't think the library hours should be extended at all." Olivia said she thinks the hours are very reasonable now and that the library workers need a break too.

Mary Veale, a sophomore business administration major stated, "The library hours should be extended on weekends.

Some students need to study in the library because it's too noisy to study in the dorms."

Students Feel Sheet Shortage

By Patricia A. Owens

Has there been a shortage of linen?

This is one of the questions students ask when they find out that they have to return to the laundry later or that there are no fitted sheets or that there are no sheets. Yes, there has been a shortage of linen announced, Albert S. Crawford, operator of the school laundry.

Crawford also made clear that 3,000 flat sheets and 3,000 fitted sheets have been ordered. Pillow cases were not ordered because the order of brand new pillow cases was already in. He expects the order to come in within the next ten days.

The laundry itself has been in existence for at least 50 years. The laundry has been operated by Albert S. Crawford for ten years. The school laundry is state owned and it specializes in jeans and double knits.

Fools Speak The Truth

The assassination attempt on President Gerald Ford last Friday has resulted in the first indictment ever of a person for assassinating or attempting to assassinate a president of the United States. Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme was indicted Wednesday on a federal charge of attempting to assassinate Ford.

Her attempt to assassinate Ford has been given various interpretations. Some people say it was a conspiracy; others say it was only a sign of the times. Both views may very well be valid. However, we cannot overlook the fact that there are demented people who commit crimes for the sake of the notoriety it brings them.

But, as they say about children and fools, demented people often speak a world of truth. This is exactly what Lynette Fromme has done. Her first words of wisdom and truth were spoken when the secret service agents grabbed her and took her to jail. She cried out, "He is not your servant!"

We all know that this is quite true. Ford, like Nixon before him, is mainly a servant of big business. He has little regard for the poor and hungry people of the nation.

Ms. Fromme spoke words of even greater wisdom and truth while in her jail cell. She told a jailer, "When people around you treat you like a child and pay no attention to the things you say, you have to do something."

Now, what if we were to put these words in the mouths of the oppressed peoples of our land, such people as the Blacks, the Native Americans, the aged, or the disabled veterans. Yes, here in the United States a socio-economic time-bomb is ticking away because the voices of the non-rich and non-powerful have not been listened to. The common folk of America are getting tired of being treated like ignorant children by the politicians and businessmen. Pretty soon they will start doing something.

Maybe Ms. Fromme, in her own befuddled way, was merely trying to save us from our poor selection of politicians—even though we didn't really elect Ford as our President. However, I wonder if she ever realized that his replacement, Vice-President Rockefeller, might possibly be of the same mold.

Father Of Medicine Was Black

"The Egyptians paid great attention to health, and so wisely," says Herodotus. "was managed by them, that no doctor was permitted to practice any but his peculiar branch. Some were oculists, who only studied diseases of the eye; others attended solely to complaints of the head; others to those of the teeth; some, again, confined themselves to complaints of the intestines, and others to secret and internal maladies; accoucheurs being usually is not always women." And it is a singular fact that their dentists adopted a method, not very long practised in Europe, of stopping the teeth with gold, proof of which have been obtained from mummies in Thebes.

They received certain salaries from the public treasury; and after they had studied those precepts which had been laid down from the experience of their predecessors, they were permitted to practise, and, in order to prevent dangerous experiments being made upon patients, they might be punished if their treatment was contrary to the established system; and the death of a person entrusted to their care, under such circumstances was adjudged to them as a capital offence. If, however, every remedy had been administered according to the sanitary law, they were absolved from blame.

Imhotep of Ancient Egypt, was the real Father of Medicine. He lived about 2,300 B.C. Greece and Rome had their knowledge of medicine from him. In Rome he was worshipped as the Prince of Peace in the form of a Black man. He was also Prime Minister to King Zoser, as well as the foremost architect of his time. The saying "Eat, drink, and be merry for tomorrow we die," has been traced to him. Hippocrates, the so-called "Father of Medicine" lived 2,000 years after Imhotep.

Ford's Plan Is Not Working

By Benjamin Forbes

When President Ford first took office, he promised the people of this country that he would whip inflation. He passed out his shiny "Whip Inflation Now" which he thought would aid in the up-swing in the economy.

Now Ford has lifted the controls on oil prices. It has been said that the effect of Ford's decision would hike the price of gasoline by three per cent, cause an increase in unemployment of about 100,000 person, and an eight tens per cent increase in the inflation index.

If Ford has enacted a plan to whip inflation, he sure is doing it in a very strange manner. We all know that the economy can not make a 360 degree turn in such a short time, but things should have been turning in a favorable direction by now.

Congress hasn't help to alleviate the problems facing Americans either. The Senate fell six votes short of the two-thirds needed to override Ford's energy veto.

The oil-pricing policy will cost Americans billions of dollars. In a report yesterday, the Congressional Budget Office said that a sudden lift of oil-pricing controls might increase prices paid by consumers to almost two percent by the end of 1977. It also stated that unemployment could be increased by six tenths per cent or 600,000 persons.

Over the next five years, according to the Library of Congress, oil decontrol would cost the economy approximately $72 billion extra. This certainly is no way to "whip inflation." Such controls would also increase the retail food prices by approximately seven-tenths of 1 percent in a span of 27 months, according to the Agriculture Department. Seven tenths of 1 percent may seem like a small price, but when one gets to the check-out counter, it really adds up.

If Ford is defeated in the Presidential Election, which this reporter believes he will, he can only blame himself for not gaining the support of the people.

Dormitories Elect Officers

By Patricia Ingram

Elections for officers of the Hall Council were held this week in most of the female dormitories, while elections for male students were held earlier this semester.

In Gibbs Hall elected to the office of president was Andrea Rush with Andrea Villines as vice-president, Madeline Claggion, secretary and Wanda Brown, treasurer. In the election returns for Zoe Barbee Hall, Sharon Bailey was elected president, Denise Johnson, vice-president; Shelia Lewis, secretary; Geraldine Gill, assistant secretary; Patricia Ingram, treasurer; Tony JOyner, bulleting board committee chairman; Faye Andrews, group living committee chairman; and Margaret Hillard, public relations committee chairman.

There was a tie between Trudy Hawkins and Valerie Hall for chairman of the program committee. The nominees agreed to work as co-chairman of the committee.

For Cooper Hall the officers are Paula Dudley, president; Cynthia Vaughn, vice-president; LaVerne McKay, secretary; Angie Malone, assistant secretary; Eleanor G. Bullock, treasurer; Mary Tyson, program committee chairman; Gwendolyn Manley, bulletin board committee chairman; and Evelyn Falice, awards committee chairman.

Charles Watson captured the position of president and pilot board committee chairman of Senior Dorm. The other elected officials are Tony Henderson, vice-president; David Timmons, secretary; Ronald Troy, treasurer; and Steve Allen, parliamentarian.

For Curtis Hall the officers are Jimmy McLeod, president; Al Jones, vice-president; Craven Springs, secretary; Larry Pierce, treasurer; Randy Byrd and Thomas Whitaker, SGA representatives; Willie Caine, reporter; and Roger Sheff, program committee chairman.

Officers were elected for each section of Scott Hall. Section A's officers are Ross Slade, president; Reginald Murphy, vice-president; Randy Clarke, secretary; Jackie Davis, treasurer; and Hugene Fields, reporter.

The election returns released from Section B and Section C showed the following results; Section B, Gary Melchor, president; Ronald Craig, vice-president; Earl Chestnut, secretary; Russell Woodward, treasurer; and Section C, Edwin P. Wynn, president; Wesley Boykins, vice-president Donald Marable, secretary; Tony Britain, treasurer; and Archie Bass, parliamentarian.

Results from Holland, Morrison, and Vanstory Halls had not been reported at press time.

Stevenson Appoints Sophomore Officers

By Carlese Blackwell

Because of the lack of candidates for the sophomore class offices this semester, Donovan Stevenson, president was granted permission to appoint officers.

As a result of this, Curtis Askew became Vice-President. Askew competed with Stevenson last year for the office of freshman president. Zandra Debram, who served as freshman class secretary, was also appointed to a new term as secretary.

Finally, Stevenson chose a new-comer for the office of treasurer, Madeline Claggion.

Miss. Sophomore was not appointed and will be elected by the sophomore class.

These students, chosen by Stevenson, will be sworn in with the other newly elected class officers.

Students Express Views On Assassination Attempt

By Francis Gilliard

The alleged attempt on President Ford's life has made many people think. A&T students seem to hold varying opinions on the subject.

Reginald Pender a junior, said, 'I don't feel that she acted independently. I feel that there are higher authorities backing her. It is evident that they didn't intend to kill the president because it was too close to make the simple mistake of not checking the gun.'

Brenda Atkins, a senior early childhood major, declared, 'I was shocked at first because I didn't think that there was so much tility towards President Ford. I don't see why anyone would want to kill him. He has not acted against anyone to my knowledge.' Michael A. Patterson, a senior, expressed himself in these words: 'I think that it's a conspiracy against President Ford. I look back to Dick Gregory's investigation of the CIA and relate it to this incident. I feel that it is highly probable that the CIA is involved. If they are involved, President Ford's life is in danger because this is only the beginning.'

Donnie Simmons stated, 'I feel that it was a political move to draw attention to President Ford. He will continue to expose himself to the public despite the apparent danger. This will give him an image of bravery and daring. This, in turn, will help him during the elections.'

Anise Bowler commented, 'I think that it was political conspiracy to draw America's attention away from major issues.'

Donald Dixon stated, 'I feel as though the assassination attempt was a framework set up by the president himself to get publicity for the upcoming election which has no theoretical significance.'

Sophomore, Star Dednam declared, 'In a way I'm glad that the attempt failed because Rockefeller would really hurt the country if he became president.'

Darylene Gibbons added, 'I think that it was crazy because, if it had been successful, there is no one capable of handling the country at this point.'

The Hindus believe that the use of iron in buildings is conducive to epidemics.

Teacher Center Aids Students

By Daryl E. Smith

"These facilities are primarily for all of the education disciplines and for any students that plans to do any form of teaching"

This statement was made by Mrs. Mabel McCoy, one of the three staffers who operates the Teacher Education Material Center housed in the basement of Bluford Library.

The Educational Material Center has two locations, one room for primary early childhood development and nanother room for professional educational materials.

Both rooms are equipped with reference books, encyclopedias, dictionaries, and subject guides to books in print.

In answering the question of now she felt about the Teacher Educational Center, Mrs. McCoy replied "I feel that it has great p otential, but so many people do not know what we have to offer. The children's library is open to all faculty and staff members including students who have children."

Mrs. McCoy continued, "I feel, with the proper funds and equipment, we can make more of a viable contribution to the university community."

Along with the supplementary textbooks, there are games, filmstrips, tests, green plants, gerbils, terrariums, crabs, and records available for education majors to use for their own personal projects.

Asked if they have plans for future projections, Mrs. McCoy replied, "We do plan to relocate to Hodgin Hall, and we will have three rooms available to us."

The second room contains audio-visual materials, tapes, pictures, cassettes, multimedia kits, record players and a 16mm projector for use in the center.

"I service teachers utilize the equipment also, and we are open from 8:00 to 6:00 everyday, including the lunch hour ' Mrs. McCoy said.

Players Will Present Variety Of Productions

The Richard B. Harrison Players have selected an outstanding musical, a farce, a comedy, and a drama for their 1975-76 fare, and director Dr. John M. Kilimanjaro thinks this will be the group's best season yet.

"What we have selected to present this year will be our contribution to the university's celebration of the American Bicentennial," said Kilimanjaro, "and we are confident that our supporters will see some outstanding shows."

The Players will present for their opening play, the popular American drama, "Porgy" to run from Oct. 14-18, during A&T's homecoming week activities.

That will be followed by Moliere's farce, "The Imaginary Invalid," on Dec. 9-11. Other scheduled productions include the musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," from Feb. 23-29, and Richard Nash's comedy, "The Rainmaker," from Apr. 6-10.

Kilimanjaro was most excited about his group's forthcoming production of "Porgy".

"We are trying to present a 'balanced theatrical bill of fare,'" he said, "and this play hasn't been done in about 25 years or more."

"Porgy" was written by DuBose and Dorothy Heyward. In 1935, George Gershwin set the play to music and "Porgy and Bess" became the first successful folk opera in the American theatre.

Kilimanjaro also expressed pleasure with "Fiddler on the Roof," a successful musical comedy about Russian-Jewish life. The play, based on Sholem Aleichem's stories, is generally considered to be the most acclaimed musical.

"This will be a real challenge for us," said Kilimanjaro, "and it will be interesting to see Black Americans doing a Russian-Jewish play." "The story of this play is Jewish," he added, "but it has universal appeal. The Japanese recently did it and thoroughly enjoyed it."

Army ROTC Awards Three Scholarships

By Mary E. Cropps

Three Army ROTC cadets were awarded Army scholarships in a rather wet ceremony Thursday afternoon.

Rodney Joye, a junior business major at Elon College, received a 2-year scholarship. Ricky Mitchell, a business education major from Aulander, N. C., and Duane Clark, a sociology major from Laurens, S. C., both received 2-year scholarships.

In the same ceremony, the cadets who have reached their junior year were sworn into the Advanced ROTC program.

Each year the Army awards over 6,000 scholarships like those awarded Thursday. In order to receive the scholarships a student has to be a member of the ROTC and has to pass a written exam, according to Capt. D. E. Williams, the ROTC enrollment officer. In addition to the written exam, Williams said, a candidate is interviewed by a board of Army officers. The final decision is up to the Department of the Army in Washington.

Williams explained that the scholarships provide the money for the cadet's fees and tuition. Also the scholarship recipients receive $100 per month for their personal use. Those scholarship recipients who are juniors and seniors will receive $200 per month.

The Army provides four kinds of scholarships, Williams said. These include the four year scholarships, for which a student can apply when he is a senior in high school. The three year scholarship is available to advanced freshmen while the two year and one year scholarships are available to sophomores and juniors, respectively.

Answer To Last Week's Puzzle

SPORTS NOTEBOOK

By Craig Turner

It was the first game of year for both Virginia Union and A&T last Saturday night. One might expect that A&T would have its normal first game jitters like any team, and they did.

It is also necessary to relate the conditions under which the game was played. There was a large rainstorm during the contest to which the slippery turf could be attributed. However, a prepared team must be ready to play under any circumstances. Besides, both teams played on the same field so that explanation is shot too.

It might be hard to swallow for some folks but Virginia Union actually looked better than the winners.

A&T played well enough to win this particular game but, if this opening affair was an indication of further games, it won't be as easy.

The offensive line didn't strike fear in the hearts of too many defenders despite improving its pass protection of Aggie quarterbacks.

The defense played when it had to and did an exceptional job despite the "give away" turnovers by the offense.

The secondary is not as fast as in the past but it played more as a unit than prospective All-Americans.

As a whole the "pros" did outweigh the "cons" but that still doesn't win ball games nor a championship.

It is performance that wins and, as of today, A&T has got to have large doses to defeat their next opponent, South Carolina State.

Steve Ryan started against Union last Saturday but it was Elsworth Turner who played the bulk of the contest at quarterback. The sophomore ran for a touchdown and threw for another. I hope he continues to improve for the team's sake and tries to ignore the press clippings. South Carolina State's defense pays little attention to RUMOR.

Although A & T will be idle this weekend, nearly all of the MEAC clubs will see action.

Maryland Eastern Shore will hit the road to Johnson C. Smith, Delaware State goes to Patterson. N. C. Central will host Savannah State, Howard travels to Wayne State, and Morgan faces Grambling in Washington, D. C. at RFK Stadium.

Morgan will try to come out on top of the Grambling Tigers for the first time since 1968. The Bears handled Virginia State fairly easily at home last week as did Eddie Robinson's gridders against Alcorn.

The subject of Grambling raises the same old question year after year. Can the MEAC compete with the Southwestern Athletic Conference in football? The answer is a distinct NO. Last season South Carolina State established itself as the superior team in the MEAC and ventured South to decide the national Black title.

Grambling sported one of its better clubs during the regular season and blew State out, 28-7 and that could have been worse if Eddie Robinson had not pulled most of his first line people in the third quarter. This is almost an unbreakable cycle that will continue until the MEAC upgrades its non-conference schedules.

The Hamptons, Livingstones, and J. C. Smiths are going to have to be dropped from MEAC schedules in favor of the Tennessee States, Gramblings, and Alcorns to fill those open dates.

It is true that a successful program needs top competition to remain near the top, but it needs top administration from front offices. Also second rate leadership isn't even good replacement for failure.

Boosters To Sponsor S.C. Trip

By Willie Caine

On September 20th, the Aggies will travel to Orangeburg, South Carolina to play the Bulldogs of South Carolina State.

The Aggie Booster Club is chartering several buses to the game. The buses will depart from Greensboro at 12:00 on Saturday the 20th.

The cost will be $29 which will include a one-night stay at the Holiday Inn in Columbia, S. C., transportation, game ticket and refreshments.

If anyone is interested in taking advantage of this low cost, contact Dick Moore of the Aggie Booster Club in Room 203 of the Dudley Building or call 379-7582.

Due to the illness of half of South Carolina State's team, the time schedule of the game has been changed from 2p.m. to 7:30 avoid the afternoon heat.

Some freshmen and sophomores voted with enthusiasm in Thursday's election.

12 Teams Register For Football

"Very few A&T students can play football the way George Ragsdale and Dexter Feaster can and even fewer Aggies can play basketball like James Sparrow and Ron Johnson." These words were spoken by Ernest Gaskins, assistant director of intramural sports, in explaining the reasons for an intramural program for students to engage in.

"Only about 5 students can make the basketball team and about 50 or 60 can make the football team. What in the world can the others play? We have about 4,000 students," Gaskins explained.

He mentioned that the intramural program will not guarantee huge prizes and long trips to other schools, but Gaskins said there will be "a plenty of enjoyment and good clean fun."

Flag football is one sport which is already organized for this semester. Gaskins said 12 teams have registered with his office. He said six teams will play in an independent league and the other six will be in an organizational conference.

Champions will be crowned at the end of the season and trophies will be presented too. Flag football games will be staged in Holland Bowl around 4p.m.

Gaskins mentioned other individuals who are directors of the other fall sports. Joyce Spruill is coordinator of the women's volleyball team which will actually be playing extramural games against other schools in a volleyball conference.

James Pridgen is director of the skating which is tentatively scheduled to be held in Moore

Gym three times per week from 6-8 p.m.

Clay Cowan is the individual responsible for bowling which is to be staged in the bowling alley of the Memorial Student Union. Swimming is to be allowed from 6-8p.m. Monday thru Thursday in the swimming pool in Moore Gym.

Other types of competitive activities will be staged in Moore Gym from 8-12 p.m. Monday thru Thursday nights.

Every A&T student who is properly enrolled at the university is eligible to participate in the intramural fall sports.

Concerning the costs, Gaskins remarked: "Come by Room 103 in the Union between 9 and 4 and you can get all the details. What do you Mean costs? Everything is absolutely free."
