Black Revolutionist Speaks Here

By Maxine McNeil

After a brief introduction by 'SGA president, Ted Mangum, the students and faculty members who were present were given an informative speech by Stokley Carmichael. Carmichael has been involved in the Black Revolution movement for a number of years. Carmichael began his speech by saying that he saw the Black students of the '60's turn the world around. He said that he saw them rock capitalism. "Students have the power to do this, but they have to take themselves seriously to have a revolution," he said.

Carmichael added, "Black students sole purpose for coming to the University should be to face the people." He said that if we just came here to study our majors, that we are "stupid students". A Black student can study and become the best doctor in the world, but if he doesn't try to help other Blacks, he won't be free," he added.

Carmichael continued, "If you're not helping free the people, than you're helping the oppression to oppress the people. Blacks are being oppressed everywhere." He also said that working at a part time job "We can't stop working at this job for one second." Carmichael said that America tries to confuse Blacks. He said that everything America teaches Blacks about Black people is a lie. He added that we shouldn't accept these lies as truths. He continued by saying that truth is objective to the point because it's based on scientific reality. He said that Black students must be very critical, that they must test the truths.

Carmichael said that in order for Blacks all over the continent to be free we all must start in the beginning. He said that all Blacks' beginning in Africa, but whites have done everything they could to cover up Africa. Defended this statement by saying that whites only show movies which depict a negative picture of Africa. He used the Tarzan movies as an example. "Ever since Blacks came in contact with capitalism," said Carmichael, "they've tried to destroy it. We have to destroy the capitalistic system and build a socialistic society. We have to fight to build this and revolution is trying to get people together to build this by using the scientific method."

Carmichael said that our first step in becoming free is an organization. "Africa is our primary goal," he said, "but Africa has to be organized first and every last Black all over the world will be weak. If the Black man in Africa is strong then the Black man everywhere is strong."

McMillan Views Drug Problems

By Mary E. Cropps

The fate of students arrested on campus for possession of drugs is hanging in the balance at this time, McMillan said he is in the beginning stages of the mind of the Student Government Association and the University Tribunal. Although Dr. Waverlyn Rice, chairman of the Tribunal, sent McMillan a letter asking him to take all drug cases to the city police, McMillan said he has not taken any action on the matter. (See Mcmillan, Page 5)

McMillan said that he has an educational policy as before. "Students should make decisions they can live with," McMillan observed. "They should take their education in one hand and the use of marijuana in the other and weigh them. Which is more important?"

Continuing, McMillan pointed out that, when a student makes his decision and the decision is to use marijuana and he gets caught, then he should put blame the police or the administration."

Fifty-four members and the advisors of the A&T Fellowship Gospel Choir will represent A&T at the Third Annual National Black College Gospel Choir Festival on November 28-30. This event will take place in Atlanta, Georgia, at West Hunter Street Baptist Church. Dr. Ralph D. Abernathy is the pastor. Carmichael Expresses His Ideas

By Daryl E. Smith

"Elements which make up the struggle to build Bridges over troubled waters are (1)Black people must have the platform of philosophy (2)Discipline, and (3)respect for leadership."

"We must know how to direct our energies in the community and how to direct them toward total society improvement."

The above statements are excerpts of two different speeches delivered by Stokley Carmichael. In an interview, he was asked probing questions of Stokley Carmichael, along with others. The Register's office, this reporter, along with others have arranged through the SGA, at A&T.

Stokely Carmichael lives and works in Conakry, Republic of Guinea West Africa, with his wife, one daughter, and two grandchildren.

In an exclusive interview, arranged through the SGA, at The Register's office, the reporter, along with others present, talked with and asked probing questions of Stokley Carmichael.

"The building of a party and the organizing of the people, is, the only solution to our problem, Pan-Africanism."

"Overall, the crisis of capitalism is becoming more severe, making the need for revolution more right."

Carmichael said, "Discipline means nothing, because we are not free." He continued, "Black people need political education of people, and students will have to happen in order for total revolution to take hold."

He continued, "If you don't do that, it gives the enemy more trouble."

Gaining Black Support

President Ford's statement last week that he would consider a Black man as his running mate for the presidency of the United States was clearly his way of appealing to the Black voters. However, there is another, more definite manner in which the President could gain the support of the Black voters.

With the retirement of Justice Douglas from the Supreme Court because of failing health and old age, a move has been put in progress to push a Black woman onto the court. Oddly enough, this suggestion was not initiated by a Black, but rather by CBS news correspondent Dan Rather. He said that Rep. Barbara Jordan or former White House aide Sallyanne Payton has excellent qualifications for the job.

The nomination of a Black woman to the Supreme Court would represent justice and greatly enhance Ford's chances for reelection.

There is, quite obviously, room for controversy about the appointment, since no Supreme Court appointment should be made on the basis of race, religion, political affiliation, or sex. Yet, there seems to be a hole in that line of reasoning, also. If the argument on race specifically has any validity at all, there would be no point in the suggestion of appointing a Black to the Supreme Court. In today's complex society, where ethnic discrimination still prevails, there is an urgent need for minorities being represented on the court.

In 1969, when President Johnson sent the nomination of Thurgood Marshall to the Congress, he certainly had in mind the idea of putting a Black man on the Supreme Court.

With the immense power wielded by the Supreme Court, it can not afford to be narrow-minded. The views of the court can be broadened, though, if the President and Congress would heed the suggestion of nominating a Black woman to fill Justice Douglas' seat on the Supreme Court.

Thanksgiving Will Be Here Soon!

By Zavery McDougald

The fall semester of '75 is slowly but surely winding down. As we proceed through the home stretch, we come upon a major event in the school year, namely Thanksgiving vacation.

For members of the proud Aggie family, this holiday season will be filled with various events, such as meeting old friends, rekindling romances, and attending various social functions.

For those individuals who have been missing that good old home cooking, a much greater emphasis will be placed on that Thanksgiving try, oh, yes, that tasty turkey, heby ham, crispy chicken, and those delicious chitterlings.

Then come the collard greens, cabbage, black-eyed peas, carrots, cornbread, hot water biscuits, rolls.

This will be followed by a delicious potato pudding, a fresh strawberry shortcake, a chocolate cake with homemade icing. To wash all this down take your pick, coffee, tea, milk, or maybe something a bit stronger, like a Royal Crown Soda.

If your meal will be or will not be this extravagant, let us not forget what this holiday season really means. It is the giving of thanks for all the blessings one has received.

Even though the times are filled with little disasters or mishaps, one should truly be thankful. We have been spared another year and given a second chance to better ourselves or maybe even the world.

As you prepare to leave, remember-to-be thankful.

We Would Like To Know

By Benjamin T. Forbes

The audacity of the Athletic Department to charge A&T students for admission to the Blue and Gold Intrasquad game leaves a lot to be said about those responsible for making this move, that is, if they are responsible people.

According to the way things are set up here, that event was a student activity which would normally allow students entry into the game by showing their IDs and activity stickers. Why must we pay activity fees (athletic) if we are going to be charged for athletic events? If the Athletic Department is having financial problems, then it should reorganize its budget.

Even if the Athletic Department was justified in charging the students for this particular game, then it should have made it known in a more professional manner. The amount being charged for the game was not that much of an issue to this reporter; however, the fact that students were being charged to see an intrasquad game did seem foolish. There were many students who came to the game only with their identification cards and activity sticker. Many of them came from the other side of campus which added a great deal of frustration.

This situation did not brighten that "good ole Aggie Spirit." In past years there has been no admission charged for students. This writer sympathizes and praises those students who turned back after refusing to pay to see their fellow student scrimmage against each other.

Times are hard all over, and if such policies continue to be the case, things will get even worse.

If there is a reason behind this "mystery," this reporter would most certainly be interested in knowing what the conclusion will be. Also, if we are going to be charged for future athletic activities then I would be more than grateful if I could be refunded that portion of my tuition that before had guaranteed my entrance in to athletic events.
Carmichael Urges Blacks To Be Able To See Truth

organization, then everything else will come. Carmichael also said that, if we were properly organized, then we could get more power.

The way we must organize ourselves, from Carmichael's point of view, is independently. We must maintain an independent organization. He said that some people say we should organize with whites; but, before we can organize with whites, we must have a Black organization founded on truths.

Carmichael said that, what Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., did wrong in his non-violence struggle was that he confused tactics with philosophy.

Carmichael said, "If a man is shooting a gun at you, you shouldn't just stand there. You should shoot back."

He also said that King thought non-violence could work all the time. Carmichael said, "We must have periods of non-violence and violence interchangeably."

Carmichael also said that Dr. King said that the truth will set you free. "In order for this to happen, everybody must be able to see the truth; if everyone can't see it, then it isn't truth," he continued.

Carmichael said the only solution to the problem for Blacks is Pan Africanism. He defined Pan-Africanism as "the total liberation and unification of Africa on scientific socialism."

Carmichael ended his speech by asking us to look carefully at the problem and to say that the only thing we came here for was the liberation of our people. He said, if we do this, then we have purpose.

McMillan May Take Cases To The City

He stated that the Tribunal and the SGA are caught up in petty issues. They seem to have forgotten about the student body and the reputation of the university he said.

At the time of the interview, McMillan said he had neither taken cases downtown nor to the Tribunal. However, soon he would have no other alternative than to take the cases downtown, he said.

When a violation of the law occurs," McMillan commented, "there ought to be a punishment." He went on to say that the police are concerned with enforcing the law, and who does the punishing is irrelevant.

Local Principal Speaks Here To SNEA Meeting

Speaking at the Student National Education Association, Robert Hayes, assistant principal of Page Senior High School stressed the importance of education in today's world. According to Hayes, Black people should be thinking while others are sleeping. Hayes mentioned that the principal of Page informed him of his appreciation of A&T.

Concluding his statement, Hayes said to entertain a man is temporary, but to educate a man is permanent.

The SNEA consists of students who plan to enter the educational field.

Society Inducts New Members

On Sunday, November 16, 29 students were inducted into the Gamma Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society in a ceremony that took place in the Memorial Student Union Ballroom. The guest speaker for the occasion was Representative Henry Frye, who is a graduate member of the chapter. Other graduate members present were Mrs. Frye, Dr. Ralph Woodson, James Johnson, Dr. Jesse Marshall, Mrs. Corley Kelley and Gilbert Cotton.

The list of students inducted began with Thelma Anders, Frank Bates, Loretta Bayins, Nancy Cameron, Martha Copeland, and Mary Cripps. Still others were Gladys Carter, Lorraine Delany, Margaret Furr, Cathy Fuller, Margaret Forsyth, Anthony Fox, Marilyn Gallis, Anita Gray, Sharon Hale, Jerry Conover, C. Janice Hutchings, and Dorothy Ingram were joined to the society. And the rest of the students, who were eligible and were inducted were Freda Jackson, Jeannette Johnson, Samuel Johnson, Sidney Marable, Ardishest McMillan, Ethelina Miller, Shirley Rice, Mary Randall, Rose Robinson, Ronald Troy, and Kathleen Ward. At some time in the next future due to severe illness Rochelle Morris and Paula Bowen will be inducted.

A student must have earned a 3.3 overall grade point average, at least 64 credit hours, and a clear record.

Blues Overtake Golds 102-101

By Craig Turner

A capacity crowd was on hand in Moore Gymnasium Wednesday evening as A&T took on the University of Goldsboro in a basketball game, which was played in an intra squad contest.

The Blues rolled through most of the first half before losing to 42-40 against the Golds. The change must have been to A&T's advantage, according to the Golds' decision at the half, 40-38.

In the second stanza began to shape up much as the first had until Gold guards Raymond Perry and Terry McMillin hit for 14 points to pull their team's lead to 78-69 with 12:37 to go. After that, the Blues moved a sensation James Sparrow to the swingman spot. The change must have been to explain what rules and privileges were at the disposal of the accused.

In the opening case, the chief defendant failed to show for his hearing. The board postponed the trial date instead of trying the case with only the arresting officers and witnesses present.

The second trial produced conflicting stories between two participants in a dormitory fight.

Both complainants charged each other with initiating the incident but neither preferred to press charges.

After the questioning and suggestions the case was dismissed as it stood at that time.

The trial did not force the issue nor try to establish blame but to merely sort the facts in the two conflicting stories.

In a case where misgivings was the overture period by utilizing their superior height advantage and the drives of Sparrow. Johnson struck with 25 points and 16 rebounds. Sparrow bolstered the nets for 24, and Raymond Perry 21.

Six foot nine inch center L.J. Pipkin claimed 29 points and intimidations toward the Gold squad with seven blocked shots.

Perry topped the Golds with 30 points, and sophomore Terry McMillin pumped in 24. Senior Collin Cole had 14, and Dexter Boone contributed 12 points.

Student Representatives Fail To Show For Trial

By Craig Turner

Wednesday afternoon this reporter sat in on a session of the University Tribunal. Once again the student representatives held their weekly meeting of the Student Body. It was clear that the Tribunal was more than equative in its handling of evidence and testimony.

Dr. Rice, who served as the Tribunal leader, opened the meeting by explaining what rules and privileges were at the disposal of the accused.

In the opening case, the chief defendant failed to show for his hearing. The board postponed the trial date instead of trying the case with only the arresting officers and witnesses present.

The second trial produced conflicting stories between two participants in a dormitory fight.

Bowling Teams Lose First Games

A&T men and women bowling teams opened their season Saturday, November 15, at UNCC, where both teams lost. For the men's match Clay Cowan of A&T had high set for five games, 959, high game 243, and high average 198. For the women's match, Julie Lambert of UNCC had high set 878, and high average 191.8. For the men's match Clay Cowan had high set 1105, high game 236, and high average 220. For the women's match Felicia Forbes had high set 878, and high average 191.8. The only way for the MEAC to survive is to work without a full-time commissioner and lacked a Division I program. The defense has bent on occasion but did not break through. The defense will be without the services of now-graduated, Bubba Smith and Sam Jones but it does have plenty of young talent.

The big man is Bobby Miller (6-3, 275) at tackle. Larry Height (6-3, 255) and Dave Leadbetter (6-2,240) have plenty of size but lack a great deal of quickness. Linebackers Tyorne Bokyin (6-2,210) and George Jones (6-4, 225) are two exceptionally strong players at their positions.

Sports Notebook

The defense has bent on occasion but did not break through when pressure was applied. Central seems to have peaked against South Carolina State and is now on a downhill slide after losing two straight.

The Eagles should hit the bottom Saturday and an old song should end and a new one should start. You can bet on that.

Smith Barrier, sports editor of the Greensboro Daily News, made some comments about the efficiency of the MEAC in his latest Sunday column. He expressed in no uncertain terms that the MEAC was without a full-time commissioner and lacked a Division I operation. He has rapped like this before.

All I have to say is that the MEAC, still being only four years old and all Black, has had to fight off the slurs and bigotry of a predominantly white University of North Carolina inclined press.

The only way for the MEAC to survive is to work against this biased framework. It will not boggle this institution's athletic program nor the other six members of the MEAC if we do not receive favorable consideration from the local press.

A&T's athletic department will survive despite the bullheaded opinions of its opponents, white or otherwise.

It has been six long seasons since the Eagles have beaten Central. The last time was in 1968 by a 21-6 score in Durham.

A six-year habit is hard to break and it's going to take some will power. But like a "henpecked" husband, A&T has the "seven year itch."

So here are the season's final predictions as Blannie and I go for perfect 1-0 records. Besides, Central is long overdue for a good whipping. A&T should win easily.

Central Eagles Will Meet A&T In An Old Rivalry

By Craig Turner

An overflow crowd of 20,000 spectators is expected at Memorial Stadium in Greensboro Saturday as North Carolina A&T goes after its first MEAC championship against arch rival North Carolina Central.

The Aggies are currently tied for first place with South Carolina State, State will entertain Delaware State in Orangeburg, S.C., Saturday. Should both A&T and State lose their contests, Central would claim the MEAC crown. Should State lose to Delaware, A&T could win the title outright with a victory.

Coach Willie Smith will strap up his third year as the Eagles' head coach Saturday. During his tenure, the club has claimed an MEAC title and a second place finish.

Central boasts one of the better signal callers in the MEAC. Quarterback Ricky Moore (6-3,190) is the top rollback passer in the league and an outstanding runner.

The passing attack has utilized receivers Edward Baldwin (6-4, 190) and all-MEAC tightend Terry Walls (6-2,230). The blocking wall has not lived up to expectations despite being the most highly touted in the conference. This group is led by pro prospect guard Ed Haywood (6-6,220) and all-MEAC Franklyn Bellamy (6-2,245). The center is smallish Leroy Tate (6-1,200). Runningback slots were vacated by a number of seniors and lacked ample reinforcements. Eugene Carmichael (6-0,180) and Delacio Bailey (6-2,205) are the starting picks.

The defense will be without the services of now-graduated, Bubba Smith and Sam Jones but it does have plenty of young talent.

The big man is Bobby Miller (6-3, 275) at tackle. Larry Height (6-3, 255) and Dave Leadbetter (6-2,240) have plenty of size but lack a great deal of quickness. Linebackers Tyorne Bokyin (6-2,210) and George Jones (6-4, 225) are two exceptionally strong players at their positions.

It’s true. The opportunities you’ll have as a Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate are far from ordinary. Just ask Lieutenant Junior Grade Charles Collier, from Baltimore, Maryland. Chuck’s a nuclear trained Naval Officer taking advanced studies in the field of nuclear submarine operations. It’s tough, but he thinks it’s worth it. Because Chuck’s next assignment will be in a nuclear powered Polaris submarine. Destination: the world.

Do you think you have what it takes to become a NUPOC? First, you have to be a college senior, or graduate with a good knowledge of math, physics, or engineering. You’ll also need talent...ability...and character. All the things it takes to be a leader of men and to deal with the challenges of "innerspace".

The graduate level training you’ll receive in our NUPOC program will prepare you for supervising the operation of our nuclear propulsion plants on either nuclear surface ships or submarines. You’ll work alongside a hand picked crew of experts. And remember, it’s a Nuclear Age. The knowledge you get today will be in demand tomorrow.

You get a lot in return, too. You receive a Naval Officer’s commission. Have a guaranteed income while you’re learning. And a chance to travel and have some fun. Talk with your Navy Officer Recruiter today about our NUPOC program, or call toll free 800-841-8000. (In Georgia, call toll free 800-342-5855). NUPOC: it means Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate. But it spells opportunity!

The opportunity is for real...and so are we.
