Material Command Selects A&T For Program

A&T State University has been selected to coordinate a $550,000 cooperative education program, designed to interest more minority students in the field of engineering.

The national program, funded by the Naval Material Command in Washington, D.C., will involve five other predominantly Black institutions and California State University and New Mexico State University.

Lt. Col. Harold Lanier, director of the Cooperative Education program at A&T, said the university is already accepting applications for the programs for next summer.

He said interested high school graduates, who are accepted into the program, will be provided with a summer job next summer at one of 61 naval installations around the nation.

"After being provided with a meaningful work experience at some engineering installation," said Lanier, "the students will be permitted to enroll in the engineering program at A&T."

While at A&T, the U.S. Navy will provide free tuition, books and fees for the students for a period up to four semesters. Lanier said the students should be able to earn the balance of their college fees through the summer employment.

"Following their graduation," said Lanier, "the students will be offered positions with the Navy, without having to qualify on the traditional tests."

Lanier said this is the second phase of the program which began at A&T last year. He said high school juniors and seniors are eligible to apply for the program.

A&T students last summer were employed in installations in San Diego, Calif., Bethesda, Md., Newport, R.I., Cherry Point, and Warminster, Pa.

Lanier said it is possible for students in the program to earn $10,000 or $12,000 from four years of summer and cooperative work experience.

Board Of Governors Plan Tentative Budget Increase

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—A budget increase of nearly $350 million for the 1977-79 biennium, including faculty salary raises of 10 per cent for each year of the two-year period, is being prepared for consideration by the University of North Carolina Board of Governors.

The tentative budget proposal, was described by university officials Friday as a "barebones budget" designed primarily to keep up with enrollment increases and comply with previous mandates from the General

Concerning Blacks

Slurs Cause Butz' Resignation

Editor's Note: Secretary of Agriculture, Earl Butz' comments concerning Blacks were too vulgar and offensive to be printed in this publication.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reprimanded by President Ford for slurs against Blacks, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz said he regretted his language and resigned Monday.

Butz was summoned to the White House on Friday and was given "a severe reprimand" by Ford, who found Butz' racial comments "highly offensive," presidential aides said.

The reaction rolled in quickly from both Republicans and Democrats. There were strong calls for Butz to resign or for Ford to fire him.

Butz remarks were first reported in an article in The Rolling Stone Magazine by John Dean, a convicted Watergate figure, who said Butz made the comment in a conversation aboard an airplane after the Republican convention in Kansas City.

In his comment, as quoted by Rolling Stone and the magazine New Times, Butz referred to Blacks as "coloreds" and described in a derogatory manner what he characterized as their sexual, dress and bathroom predilections.

White House officials said Butz told Ford about his comments after discovering that New Times was naming him as the Cabinet official referred to by Dean in the Rolling Stone story.

Congress was closing out its final session of the year Friday night and the Butz quotation spread rapidly through the Capitol. There were immediate demands that Ford fire him, many of them from Republicans.

Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., the only Black member of the Senate, called Butz' remarks "vulgar and offensive."

It was the second such incident in which Butz has had to issue a public apology. He apologized earlier after being called to task for a November 1974 remark widely regarded as offensive to Catholics and Italian-Americans.

Butz, 67, was appointed by former President Richard M. Nixon and was rumored to be close to quitting at least twice since Ford took office. The sources say Ford personally prevailed upon him each time to remain.

In his article for Rolling Stone Dean said he was talking with Pat Boone about the GOP convention when Butz, who had campaigned to win the nomination for Ford, walked down the aisle of the plane and stopped to chat.

Dean reported that Boone said to Butz: "John and I were just discussing the appeal of the Republican party. It seems that the party of Abraham Lincoln could and should attract more Black people. Why can't that be done?"

"I'll tell you why you can't attract coloreds," Butz was quoted as replying. "Because coloreds only want three things. You know what they want? I'll tell you what coloreds want; it's three things."

Then Butz continued with the remark that led to his resignation.

Tentative Budget Calls For Work On Vet School

Assembly. It was discussed by the board's budget and finance committee prior to presentation to the board this week.

The tentative budget calls for initial work on a proposed school of veterinary medicine at North Carolina State University. It would also keep the state program of assistance to students in private colleges at its present level.

In outlining the budget proposal to the committee, President William C. Friday described the salary increases as the "number one priority" for the UNC system.

"This is the number one priority and it must be. We have not kept up and it will hurt qualitatively if we don't," Friday said.

A recent report by the American Association of University Professors suggested that faculty salaries throughout the university system had slipped in the last year in comparison with salaries offered by other universities across the nation.

Explaining the drop, UNC officials have pointed to lack of pay raises by the 1975 General Assembly. At the same time they said, faculty salaries nationwide were increasing between five and seven percent.

Signaling his plans to lobby forcefully for the salary increases and other budget requests during the coming session of the General Assembly, Friday asserted, "We intend to work hard for this budget."

It is doubtful, however, that the General Assembly will be able to fund the entire UNC request. Recent revenue estimates indicate the coming General Assembly will have only about $147 million available for appropriation increases.

Mezzanine Ceases Services To Serve Students Better

By Patricia A. Owens

Mrs. Laura Thornton, acting director of the dining hall, revealed that the mezzanine will no longer serve lunch to the staff members, so that the students will be served better. Not many staff members eat in the mezzanine, but in the Red Carpet Room. The two cafeteria staff members who served in the mezzanine will now serve the students, Mrs. Thornton said, "Students benefit from two more mature persons serving them. There were primarily freshman students serving. Students don't like to serve students."

Mrs. Thornton also revealed that these changes were mentioned in the report by James Garfield, director of auxiliary services. The report was later submitted to Chancellor Dowdy and Matthew King, the vice chancellor of fiscal affairs, who approved these changes.

These changes included the closing of the mezzanine the same day band members, all athletes, cheerleaders and persons who participated in intramural sports were to eat in Brown Hall. This was to help make the lines shorter in the cafeteria.

Positive changes are beginning to happen already in the direction of the cafeteria.

Margaret Farr Is Chosen N. C. President Of BSU

By Carlese Blackwell

Margaret Roberta Farr, a senior nursing major, has been elected president of North Carolina Baptist Student Union.

Purposes of this organization are to correlate, strengthen, and to unify the work of the various Baptist Student Unions, in the State.

Furthermore, the organization also aids in relating the gospel to one's life and to the lives of others. Its membership consists of 23 colleges and universities. Among these, only two participants are Black Universities. They are A&T and North Carolina Central.

When asked how she felt about being elected to the new position, Margaret said, "It was strange being elected because I had not planned to run; however, some students from A&T convinced me to."

Margaret was elected to this position in May of 1976, in Ridge-Crest, where the annual BSU conferences are held.

In addition to her election into the BSU organization, Margaret is secretary of the A&T Gospel Choir, a member of the Alpha Chi and Alpha Kappa Mu honor societies, and chairman of the United Christian Fellowship.

A native of Rocky Mount, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Farr.

Budweiser® presents "Beer Talk"

How much foam on a glass of beer?

1.

Maybe you like your beer without a lot of foam.

2.

So you pour it gently down the side of the glass.

3.

Well, that's fine — that'll do it. But here's something to think about:

4.

You just might be surprised at how much mellow and smoother the flavor becomes when you pour any beer smack down the middle.

5.

And when it's Budweiser you're pouring... well!

6.

If you think this looks good, just wait till you taste it!

Nelle's Corner

"A Family Show." Today the use of this phrase may sound corny, but without any guilt "Holiday on Ice" is proud to call itself a family show.

"Holiday On Ice" offers both the oldest and the youngest member of the family something special, a little bit of themselves.

When "Holiday on Ice" returns to the Greensboro Coliseum for seven performances beginning Wednesday, October 6, thru Sunday, October 10, one of the world's greatest shows will be celebrating its 32nd birthday.

It was in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in 1945 that "Holiday on Ice" was born. Cal and Emery Gilbert believed that a new ice show would sell if it were produced to play the smaller cities of the United States where the larger shows couldn't. Apparently they were correct.

Tickets for the 1977 edition of "Holiday On Ice" are being sold at the Greensboro Coliseum box office, and Belk in both the Four-Seasons Mall and the Friendly Shopping Center. The prices are $6.50, $5.50, and $4.50.

Also, on the campus of North Carolina State University in Raleigh, there will be another family show presented.

The Stewart Theatre will present the jazzy, multi-award winning Broadway musical "Don't Bother Me, I can't Cope" in Memorial Auditorium on Sunday, October 10, at 8 p.m.

The play, featuring a cast of 12 who sing with spirit and dance with vigor, is slick, stunning entertainment. The show is a Black expression of pride and exuberance conceived by Vinnette Carroll with Micki Grant.

"Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope" holds attendance records in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland, and Los Angeles. It is as lively a musical as can be witnessed in the seventies.

Tickets are $5.50 for the general public, with special rates for NCSU students. Anyone desiring further information can call 737-3105.

"Holiday on Ice" and "Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope", are two family shows both worth the money. How do I know? Simple, I've seen them both, and believe me, you should jump on this opportunity because they're both experiences that you will remember for a long time.

AFL-CIO Vows To Assist NAACP

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The NAACP and 128 individual defendants have won a week's postponement of the deadline for posting a $1.56 million bond that organized labor says it will help the organization pay.

Attorneys for the NAACP were granted a temporary restraining order in federal court Friday in their efforts to appeal a $1.2 million damage judgment in a racial boycott case.

The NAACP, however, lost its attempt to reduce the required bond of 125 per cent of the judgment for an appeal to be made. The Mississippi Supreme Court said it could not change the statute setting the amount of the bond.

The NAACP has raised less than half the needed bond money through its own fund raising efforts and the AFL-CIO said it would help provide the rest.

The suit grew out of a 1960's Black boycott of white merchants in the Claiborne County seat of Port Gibson, 60 miles southwest of Jackson. The merchants charged they were the victims of an illegal secondary boycott because the Black grievances were with local government and not the stores.

After almost three years of testimony and proceedings in Hinds County Chancery Court here, Chancellor George Haynes held the defendants were guilty and liable for $1.2 million in damages.

Haynes refused Thursday to reduce bond on grounds the law required defendants to post 125 per cent of the judgment. The defendants appealed this ruling to Mississippi Supreme Court Justice William Inzer but he also upheld it.

David Seth Michaels of Jackson representing the defendants before Inzer, said the urgency of the situation had been relieved when Judge Orma Smith issued a temporary federal district court order at Oxford to delay collection of the judgment.

Smith set a hearing on the matter for Oct. 7 in Oxford.

In New York, the NAACP said it had raised $763,000 toward the appeal bond and organized labor had guaranteed the other $800,000. The guarantee came from the AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers.

Butz' Comments...

Expletive Deleted

Earl Butz, secretary of agriculture, made some very offensive remarks about Black people. The fact that he was speaking of Blacks is bad enough, but the comments were too vulgar to be related to anyone or anything.

When the story on Butz's comments hit the news media (mainly television) this writer was wondering why reporters would not quote Butz. Well, finally, I got to see one paragraph of Butz's comments. They were so vulgar and offensive, even the Associated Press would not include them in its news story. Instead, it (the Associated Press) released a special notice to all of its subscribers giving Butz' actually comments as quoted in John Dean in The Rolling Stone.

It is good to know that Butz has resigned because no one should be allowed to stay in any public office, using the type of language he used. Even though the Butz incident was only brought to the public's attention Friday, it still took Butz until yesterday to resign. President Ford should have fired him Friday.

It would be hard to quote Butz' remarks, but it is worth a try. He said, "I'll tell you why you can't attract coloreds. Because coloreds only want three things. You know what they want? I'll tell you what they want, it's three things: a (expletive deleted); second, loose shoes; and third, a warm place (expletive deleted)." The words "expletive deleted" haven't gotten that much use since Nixon and the Watergate tapes.

It takes a "person" (if you can call Butz a person) with a very low, low thinking capacity to make the comments Butz made. I'm sure Butz isn't the only guilty party who has harbored such thoughts about Blacks.

Washington is littered with "creepy crawlers" and Butz is one of many who have made his way out of the deepest of darkness into the light of day.

Workers Lack Proper Attitude

By Maxine McNeill

Though the cafeteria food is presently under attack by students, that isn't the only problem students have to face while in that building. Another problem is the less than cordial attitudes displayed by some of the workers.

When a person takes a job in the cafeteria such as taking the numbers at the end of the line, he or she should know the line cannot move until the students are served. This is not understood all of the time, though.

On one occasion a particular line had run out of food and students had to wait about 10 minutes before they could be served. Instead of hurrying the people serving behind the counters, this number taker made rather harsh statements to the students. They were told to take anything and hurry up because she was ready to leave.

That was not the proper attitude for the workers to display. This is only one incident of thoughtlessness shown by a cafeteria worker but there are many others.

Besides having to eat the food, students have to put up with that type of attitude. It would be nicer if the workers could be a little friendlier since students endanger their lives by eating the food served in the cafeteria.

NEA Sets Up Fund To Assist NAACP

WASHINGTON, D.C. The National Education Association has set up a $50,000 fund to serve as need money to assist the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and 130 Black defendants currently in litigation in Mississippi.

NEA's affiliates will be encouraged to contribute to the fund, which is to aid the NAACP and the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights in appealing a $1,250,000 judgment against the NAACP.

The NEA fund will be made available to the NAACP and the Lawyers Committee jointly to help pay attorney's fees, court costs, and other expenses related to the litigation effort.

Under Mississippi law, in order to appeal, the NAACP must post a bond amounting to 125 percent of the judgment or a total of $1,563,000. Failure to raise the amount "can mean the end of the NAACP," according to the NAACP's Washington, D.C., office.

NEA President John Ryor, in a letter today to Gloster B. Current, NAACP Associate Executive Secretary, New York City, pointed out that NEA presented its 1976 Friend of Education Award to Roy Wilkins, longtime head of NAACP, "In recognition of the contribution that the NAACP...has made to the advancement of human and civil rights in this country."

"It is with the firm conviction that the NAACP must be allowed to continue its fine work that the NEA has taken the present action," Ryor said concerning the establishment of the special fund.

The Aug. 9 judgment against the NAACP stemmed from a suit brought by 12 white merchants of Port Gibson, Miss. The merchants charged that the NAACP had been involved in a 1966 boycott by local citizens, aimed at eliminating employment and voting discrimination and other racial abuses.

Home Economics Department Starts New Cooperative Education Program

By Margaret L. Brown

The Home Economics Department has started its first co-op program for dietetics and food nutrition majors with the Ball, Inc. Consumer Service Division in Muncie, Indiana.

Ball Inc. is famous for canning equipment recipe books, consumer letter, and TV and radio commentaries on preparing canned foods and food value.

Patricia Lynch, a junior from Wilson, was interviewed by a Ball representative and given a trip to Ball, Inc. She was selected to be the first co-op student.

The program lasts for 16 weeks. Pat left in September and will return in Mid-December. While in Muncie she will be introduced to the duties of the home economist and to business and construction of products. She will learn marketing development and tour the glass plant. In addition, she will work on the 30th Edition Blue Book which is famous for its canning recipes.

Pat will also have the opportunity to prepare a commentary that will be broadcast on TV and radio in the Consumer Service Department.

Pat will be traveling to Richmond, Ind., to test recipes and work on the 1977 Ball Newsletter. She will also be going to New York City to the National 4-H Convention.

Dr. Harold Mazyck, chairman of the Home Economics Department, hopes that the program will continue to expand and more students will be able to participate.

Campus Haps

Senior Class pictures will be taken October 12 and 13 in the Student Union from 9 a.m. till 8 p.m.

There will be a Sophomore class meeting Thursday, Oct. 7, at 8:00 p.m. in Rm. 100 of the Student Union. The budget will be discussed. Important!

The Home Economics Association will meet Sunday, October 10, at 4:00pm-Benbow Hall Room 207.

The deadline for removing incomplete grades received the Spring Semester or Summer Session 1976, is Friday October 15, 1976.

In cases where incomplete grades are involved, faculty members and students are requested to take appropriate action to comply with the above deadline date.

University policy provides for an "I" grade to become an "F" if an incomplete is not removed within the official removal period.

Alpha Kappa Mu Plans Several Fall Activities

"Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society plans to initiate several programs this academic year," said Yvonne Anders, president of A&T's chapter.

Yvonne said in keeping with its aims of emphasizing studies, research, original investigation, creative work and publications, AKM has planned a number of activities.

One of the main events the honor society has planned is a consolidated honors banquet. This banquet, said Yvonne, will be a fall activity. Its purpose is to bring together all of the honor societies on campus in order for an exchange of ideas to take place.

Yvonne hopes that the exchange of ideas will be geared toward the stimulation of others toward scholarly pursuits. "Moreover," said Yvonne, "we hope, as a group, to develop programs which will support the developing scholar, giving him the opportunity to realize his potential."

In addition to the banquet, AKM hopes to reactivate the Honors Day Program which was not held last year.

Yvonne said the members of the honor society will distribute Christmas and Thanksgiving baskets to the needy and participate strongly in the National Convention of the society.

AKM is open to all juniors and seniors who meet the society's requirements which include a high academic average. Approximately 30 students will be inducted into the society this fall.

In closing, Yvonne commented that the members of Alpha Kappa Mu must continue to create programs which attract and meet the needs of the talented students in general fields of the academic world.

The other officers of AKM this year are Janice Hutchings, vice-president; Glenda Currie, secretary; Cathy Faulcon, assistant secretary; and Hilda Pinnix, treasurer.

Black Leaders Draft A New Set Of Proposals

SALISBURY, Rhodesia AP-Black nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo said Monday that Black African presidents have drafted a new set of proposals for moving Rhodesia toward Black majority rule.

Nkomo, who heads one wing of Rhodesia's African National Council, claimed the new proposal would supersede the plan worked out by U. S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and reluctantly agreed to by Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian D. Smith.

"There is no such thing as the Pretoria agreement," Nkomo said, referring to the meeting in the South African capital of Kissinger, Smith and South African Prime Minister John Vorster. The plan drafted at that meeting called for Black majority rule within two years.

Nkomo said a conference called by the British government to deal with the Rhodesian transfer of power was "not called because of the Kissinger document, it is because of the heads of state document. It is a completely new document."

NAACP Collects $5,100 For Bond

CHARLOTTE (AP)-About $5,100 was collected Sunday by the Charlotte-Mecklenburg NAACP for an appeal bond in a Mississippi court case.

The money came from individuals, churches and community groups at a "Save the NAACP" rally at Mount Carmel Baptist Church.

The money was needed to save the 67-year-old civil rights organization from possible bankruptcy stemming from an Aug. 11 court decision, said Nathaniel R. Jones, NAACP general counsel in New York.

The NAACP must post a $1.56 million bond to appeal a decision by Chancery Court Judge George W. Haynes, who ruled that 12 white merchants in Port Gibson, Miss., were entitled to damages as a result of a 10-month Black boycott against them in 1966 and 1967.

The damages, Haynes decided, total $1.25 million.

The AFL-CIO Friday agreed to guarantee an $800,000 loan the NAACP will make. The NAACP has received about $600,000 in contributions and $1 million in loans to post the appeal bond, but the loans must be repaid, Jones said.

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg chapter hopes to raise another $5,000 toward repayment in the next two months, said Kelly Alexander, Sr., president of the state conference of chapters.

The boycott, led by former NAACP Field Director Charles Evers, was staged to force merchants and local government authorities to hire Blacks and allow Black voter registration, Jones said, adding that Port Gibson had only seven Black registered voters in 1966.

Haynes ruled it unfair for the NAACP to hold an illegal secondary boycott and single out private merchants.

Drawing Winners Receive Money

By Maxine McNeill

Last Friday, the Career Planning and Placement office held its annual career day drawing. A five-dollar certificate was given to each one of the 20 winners.

Tony Tyson, SGA president, drew the names of the students who won. The winners were Shirley Murphy, biology major; Terry B. Wiley, junior, accounting major; Terry Keith, senior accounting major; Michael George, professional biology major; Janice Hooker, junior political science major; Gregory Briggs, sophomore electrical engineering major; James R. White, electrical engineering major; Edward Cardwell, mechanical engineering; Matthew Bush, sophomore business administration; Gilford Watson, industrial technology; William Tann, senior electronics major; Brenda C. Walker, senior recreation major; Thomas A. Warren, physical education major; Charles Wright, junior physical education major; Randy Clark, senior business administration major; Darlene Cooper, sophomore nursing; Michael Jenkins, junior electrical engineering major; Anthony Turner, political science major; Rhonda Courts, junior accounting major; and Steve Estes, an industrial technology major.

According to Leon Warren, assistant director of career planning and placement, the drawing was sponsored by the career planning office to encourage students to come over and take advantage of the companies who took part in the career day activities.

"Many students fail to take advantage of the career planning office which is the best thing for them," said Warren. "Last year we had 534 companies to take part in over 100 activities on campus."

Warren said the career planning and placement office does not want students to become discouraged because they do not see anyone in their area.

Warren said, "The placement office can only accommodate 75 companies because of the size of the gym. Career opportunities are on the basis of first come, first serve."

Selected Cadets Receive New Positions In Army ROTC

The Army ROTC command structure for this school year was announced according to Diane Fisher, the Intelligence Officer. Senior cadets were appointed to fill positions as follows: Battalion Commander, Stanley V. Cash; Executive Officer, Marcus E. Floyd; Administrative Officer, Robin S. Arledge; Operations Officer, Ronald Lamb; Supply Officer, Reggie C. Lanning; Ranger Company Commander, Victor L. Street; Trick Drill Team Commander, Larry A. Campbell; Precision Drill Team Commander, Seamon M. Larson; Marksmanship Commander, Frank E. Batts; "Run For Your Life" Commander, Thomas A. Price, and Advanced Leadership Commander, Arthur N. Boone. Cadet Cash, the battalion commander, is a Lieutenant Colonel. Cadets Floyd, Street and Boone are majors, and the remaining officers are captains.

Those selected cadets were awarded these positions based upon their performance at ROTC Advanced Camp, overall academic standings, and demonstrated leadership traits. All are expected to be commissioned into the United States Army upon graduation next spring.

SPORTS NOTEBOOK

By Craig R. Turner

Surprise! A&T has found a running game. The Aggies rushed for over 200 yards in their convincing 37-22 victory over Johnson C. Smith last Saturday night.

Coach Hornsby Howell unleashed a brand new stable of "horses" on the Bulls and three of them will be familiar for the next few years. The first was freshman William Joyner who exploded from out of nowhere to stardom in just a single half of play.

The next was Jeff Wilkes who powered over tackler after tackler to help set up one of several scoring opportunities for the explosive A&T offense.

The third and perhaps the most effective was converted tackle George Small who moved in at fullback. The 6-3, 243 pounder smashed through the Bulls for two touchdowns and on short yardage situations on third downs.

Add to that the presence of fullback Ron Scott, Glen Holland, Larry Barham, and Anthony Porchia, and it makes you wonder about the games that A&T had problems running in.

A word should be directed to the offensive line. It was the finest blocking night for an A&T offensive line I've seen in four years. Wheeler Brown, Joe Bloomfield, Greg and Charles Roberts demonstrated that they are the best unit in the conference.

But more than anything the game may have belonged to guard Ron Aiken as anyone else. Aiken threw a bone crushing block to set Dexter Feaster loose on a 61 yard gallop to the endzone via Ellsworth Turner's pass.

It was Aiken who time and time again opened up holes that even this reporter could run through. He is certainly deserving of his All-MEAC status.

Turner was his usual self. He connected on 13 of 21 passes for 260 yards and three touchdowns. Feaster caught three passes for 121 yards for another brilliant performance. Receivers Bruce Black and Coy Holland also contributed a great deal.

Again, it was the A&T offense that proved to be the great difference between winning and losing. For once the Aggies didn't have to play catchup in a ball game. It's a lot easier watching the other guy struggle for a change. Hornsby Howell will attest to that.

Pinckney Anticipates Good Year

By Craig Turner

"On paper we should do as well if not better than we did last year." Those were the words of a confident Mel Pinckney in regard to the 1976-77 A&T wrestling team.

Pinckney was rather subdued in his comments about just how well his defending MEAC championship team would fare against the toughest schedule in the school's history.

"The two individuals we lost from last year's squad did not wrestle a great deal for us although they were super people," Pinckney explained. "We should do much better this year if we were to wrestle the same schedule."

Pinckney, the coach of the year for the last two seasons, pointed to the fact the Aggies have beefed up their schedule with over 80% of its slate being members of Division I.

Included in the Aggie schedule are such powers as The Citadel, Missouri, Tennessee, Georgia, Richmond, Yorktown, John Collins (N.Y.), Elizabeth City, and Campbell. Pinckney explained that his team would have a very tough road. "We will be on the road nearly every time we wrestle. Out of the 30 matches on our schedule only eight will be here."

The colorful coach also stated that the MEAC conference tournament would be held here in Greensboro.

Pinckney was very high in his feelings for the upcoming A&T invitational tourney, on November 19. This will mark the third year of the tourney and some of the participants will be The Citadel, Lynchburg, Liberty Baptist, Virginia State, Campbell, Elon, and Livingstone.

The wrestling squad will be without the services of an assistant coach for this season. "He left us to go to Barber-Scotia to coach Aquatics and Soccer teams. I don't think it will hurt us any since we have such a good bunch of guys."

Blood Blasts Madness In Intramural Football

By Dennis Bryant

In last week's intramural play, Blood blasted Madness 20-0.

Ronald Johnson scored two touchdowns and Francis Tuck caught a pass for another one as the Blood looked unstoppable.

The game was completed on Friday after rain delayed the Thursday game. Blood stands at 4-0 for the year. Madness is 1-3.

In other action, the Omegas and Grooves forfeited their game as fighting broke out between the teams. The Grooves have been banned from any other intramural play.

Intramural volleyball started Monday night, October 4, at Moore Gymnasium. The tourney consists of eight teams made up from around the campus.

*Aggies Defeat JC Smith 37-22

By Dennis Bryant

In their first three games, the A&T, Aggies managed a measly 50 yards a game in rushing. Saturday night the Aggies netted 483 yardage total offense with 225 yards in rushing, to go on to defeat Johnson C. Smith 37-22.

The key to the game was the running of William Joyner and Jeff Wilkes, who combined for 180 yards rushing.

With NCCU and Alcorn State having been upset earlier, the Aggies appeared to be on the same road. Johnson C. Smith got on the board to lead 7-0 on a fumble recovery in the endzone early in the first quarter.

The Aggies took over from there. In four plays, the Aggies drove 75 yards to tie the score 7-7. Ron Scott's reception of 10 yards from Ellsworth Turner was the touchdown play.

The defense held and on the next possession the Aggies drove 55 yards in six plays, to make it 14-7. George Small scored on a three yard plunge.

It looked as if the Aggies were on their way to a breakaway as they drove to Smith's one yard line only to have a clipping penalty nullify a touchdown.

Johnson C. Smith recovered a fumble at A&T's 42 yard line. Earnest Williams scored from the 10 yard line to tie the score 14-14.

Again A&T struck quick, as it drove 77 yards in four plays. The touchdown came on a 61 yard screen pass completion from Turner to Dexter Feaster.

Feaster out ran the Bull defenders near the ten to make it 21-14. The Aggies closed out the scoring with a 33 yard field goal by Turner. Howard Barnhill set that play up with his 33 yard runback of an intercepted pass. The half ended at 24-14.

After the thrilling halftime performance by the Marching Machine, the Aggies took charge again. Bruce Black scored on a ten-yard pass play from Turner to make it 30-14.

On Smith's next possession, the defense of massive ends

Lucien Nibbs and Dwaine Board was the key. Board recovered a Smith fumble to set the stage for Small's second short touch down run. This made it 37-14, A&T. Again Smith was forced to punt as Nibbs dropped Williams in the backfield.

The Aggies had very impressive drives in the last 15 minutes but failed to capitalize. Joe Crosby intercepted Wayne Banks' pass to stop Smith's only drive.

A&T was forced to punt as Smith retained possession on their own 20. The Bulls drove the 80 yards to make the score 37-22, A&T on Gerald Johnson's 14 yard catch from Banks.

Next Saturday A&T will look more to its ground attack. The Joyner-Wilkes team along with Dexter Feaster who caught five passes for 147 yards, will be a factor against Norfolk State.

Ellsworth Turner continued his domination of MEAC as he completed 13 of 22 passes for 260 yards. The Aggies are 3-1 on the year.

outstanding individuals," said A&T Head Coach Warren Reynolds who has guided the Aggies to a record of 70-3, including three conference championships, and a berth to the NIT.

"We will have a young team this season, with only one senior. "The team and the coaching staff is confident in the leadership ability of these young men."

Athletes Suffer From Diarrhea

By Margaret L. Brown

Several football players came down with a strange illness the Tuesday before the Florida A&M game.

Dr. Lewis Barbee, chief of medical services, here diagnosed the illness as an acute case of diarrhea.

Dr. Barbee said, "Some of the players had diarrhea but not all, because there was no common pattern in the symptoms."

Dr. Barbee also stated, "Some of the group of players who were given medication may have discarded it by throwing it in the shrubs and on the sidewalk by the infirmary the making matters worse!"

The cause was believed to have been the water or food supply. The water was tested and proved to be negative. It was the same water the rest of the campus uses.

Coach Hornsby Howell said, "There is no proof it was the cafeteria food and that is not my rumor."

Dr. Barbee said, "From my evaluation of the situation, it does not point to food services at the present time."

Dr. Barbee commented, "If I thought it was food service, I would call in the proper authority to sample and test the food."

None of the football players was put in the infirmary except Joe Crosby who was hospitalized for 30 minutes in Tallahassee, Fla., for stomach pains.

"The cause of the illness is unknown. It can't be pinpointed without a proper work up,"

Barbee said.

Coach Howell said, "I was glad that it wasn't any worse. I thank Mrs. Thornton for giving the players food to build up their energy and to Medical Services for their cooperation in getting the fellows to recover."
