A&T Engineering Society

To Sponsor Conference

The Architectural Engineering Society and the Architectural Engineering Department of A&T will host the South Atlantic Regional Conference of the Association of Student Chapters/American Institute of Architects (ASC/AIA) here, March 5 and 6.

The conference will be held in the Student Union Ballroom and on the campus of Guilford Technical Institute, which will assist A&T in hosting the conference.

A series of business sessions and discussions concerning the ASC/AIA will be held. The ASC/AIA is designed to give students of architecture and related fields across the nation a chance to meet and discuss matters that relate to their future careers in architecture.

Student chapters that will attend the conference will come from Clemson University, Georgia Tech, UNC-Charlotte, North Carolina State, Guilford Technical Institute, and Pitt Tech.

The schools attending the conference will discuss topics geared toward structuring the A&T Technical Institute, which will bring schools closer together, thereby enabling each school to compare its facilities with other schools in the region by means of a series of slide shows to be brought and shown by each attending school. Graham said these slide shows will also help to promote the proposed rotating slide shows between schools.

In addition to the visiting schools, the regional director and the national vice-president of the ASC/AIA will attend the conference. Local architects and the faculty of the A.E. Department will also be present at the conference.

A&T will play an instrumental part in deciding the direction the region will take. "It was the excellent showing of this delegation to the 1976 ASC/AIA Forum that was responsible for bringing this regional conference to A&T for the first time," Graham said.

A&T will get a chance to compare its facilities with other schools in the region by means of a series of slide shows to be brought and shown by each attending school. Graham said these slide shows will also help to promote the proposed rotating slide shows between schools.

The ASC/AIA Forum for 1977 will be a conference on the national level, attended by schools across the nation. Clemson University will host the conference and A&T will assist in the planning for it.

In addition to the visiting schools, the regional director and the national vice-president of the ASC/AIA will attend the conference. Local architects and the faculty of the A.E. Department will also be present at the conference.

Two Coaches Resign Tuesday

By Craig R. Turner

A&T made an unprecedented move in the institution's athletic history, as it was announced that both head basketball coach Warren Reynolds and head football coach Horney Howell resigned late Tuesday in a brief news conference.

Reynolds' resignation came as no surprise as press reports had indicated that his career would end after the Aggies' dismal 3-24 record, the worst in the school's history.

However, the resignation of Coach Howell came as a complete surprise as he was named by athletic director Cal Irvin as the assistant athletic director under him.

Howell stated that his decision was one that he had been considering for the last two or three years. He cited his primary reason for his decision as being health and his continued struggle with one of his medical problems.

But most attention was focused on Reynolds. The fifth year coach had been under extreme fire for the last year or so although most of it has come within the last two months.

Reynolds said that he was averse to speculation that he would resign "because it would only be speculation."

"I am back, and the Aggies are theirs and theirs alone," Reynolds said.

A&T's School of Business and Economics may become accredited in the next 12 months.

The programs have been revised so as to include courses necessary for accreditation. Craig said the first step in accreditation is deciding you want quality in all programs.

A learning research clinic has been added to assist the students at their own pace. That school's library and teaching equipment has also been upgraded.

The school has had to make a lengthy self-study report about all aspects of the program by

Shoplifters Will Be Sent Home

By Margaret L. Brown

When the question arose about what action would be taken to discourage students from shoplifting, Norwood McMillan, director of campus security, said, "I am going to be responsible for getting the names of students who have been caught shoplifting to Dr. Marshall. Then action will be taken to dismiss the students from the university."

The students will be given a hearing and trial. Afterwards, the students will be sent home.

In regard to students stealing from each other, they will be arrested and the same approach will be taken.

McMillan stated that he has already started going to the courts and jails to see who these individuals are.

"To dismiss the students from the university was decided because someone in authority has to take a stand on things. The court system has a dim view of A&T. We (A&T) have to discipline ourselves or someone else will do it for us."

In conclusion, McMillan wants each student to keep this thought in mind: "The university has been as tolerant as it can be. We have bent over backwards to give our students a second chance. I feel we have to draw the line. Our students are supposed to be adults. So whenever you make a decision to steal, weigh the facts that you may be sacrificing your college education."

1977 THE SUMMER SCHOOL 1977

Hi! There, My Fellow Aggie:

I would bet that you are now making plans for the summer months. First, very likely, you will eliminate all chances possible of being back in the old home situation. From this point of view, consider Summer School as an alternative.

Consider these advantages of Summer School:

* It is cheaper by the credit hour
* It is cheaper by the investment of time
* It meets the need of accelerating the time for graduation
* Some athletes can catch up with sequential courses or required ones
* Others may remove probation status or improve quality points
* Finally, it meets the need for summer away from the home situation and continuation through vacation time of the friendly atmosphere of college life.

The frame below shows the cost of Summer School. The cost is shown by dollars per credit hour and at the rate of double occupancy in rooms with meals by the week.

What do you do to go to Summer School?
1. Secure applications and schedules from Summer School Office (Room 202 Dudley Building)
2. Receive Permit to Register from the Summer School Office
3. Pay assessment and complete registration cards on Registration Day
4. Go to class and enjoy the summer

Show Depicts Black Artists
By Mary Williams
Vinnie Burrows, a one-woman performer, appeared in Harrison Auditorium Tuesday night in her show called “Walk Together Children.”

Featuring the Black journey from slavery to a new nation, Ms. Burrows relived the lives of Black American artists. Realizing that the Black poet and writer lacked adequate public exposure, she created her own show, using the poetry and prose of Black Americans. “Walk Together Children” opened in New York City to instantaneous and unanimous critical acclaim.

The program opened with the voice of Ms. Burrows singing “Somebody's Knocking at Your Door” and reciting the slave narrative, “M行程.” There were filmstrips of African culture, sculpture and painting, reflecting the African from freedom to bondage.

In addition to the virtuoso performance in which she depicts 24 different characters, the material she presented offered a seldom-seen view of Black writings and the Black experience in America.

Acting with dramatic emphasis on the expressions and feelings felt by the slaves, Ms. Burrows relived the time of slavery, the pain and anguish.

House Committee Tries To Sallage
King Murder Probe
WASHINGTON (AP) - House leaders said Thursday that House Committee on Assassinations members want to salvage at least a probe of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s murder, but the order offered no worth of optimism that the panel will survive its current disruptions.

Speaker Tom O'Neill said after a meeting with the committee's Democrats that they believe they can get three witnesses who would give new light on the assassination of the civil rights leader.

O'Neill still did not know if James Earl Ray, convicted of killing King, is one of them.

Another Columbia artist under Maurice White's Kalimba Productions. "It seems like everything that Maurice puts his hands on turns to gold and platinum."

The group that consistently keeps you moving to the beat, B.T. Express, is back on the hit tracks again with an upcoming Columbia Album.

To squash all rumors, Miles Davis is still on the Columbia label.

The Heroes of America have added a new member to the group, Donald Griffin, brother of lead singer, Bill. The Heroes debut Columbia album entitled "Love Crazy," featuring the hit tune "Spy For Brotherhood," will be released soon.

Maurice White of Earth, Wind & Fire is beginning to be introduced to music industry folk now as Mr. Golds Pen. It seems everything that Maurice puts his hands on turns to gold and platinum.

The Emotions received their first gold album for "Flowers," produced by Maurice. They are currently in the studio recording their second Columbia album under White's supervision.

Another Columbia artist under Maurice White's Kalimba Productions is Dennis Williams who has people everywhere humming and singing her smash recording "Free."

Earth, Wind & Fire is continuing to set landslide concerts grossing overwhelming record sales. Their latest Columbia album entitled "Spirit" has sold over two million copies and is heading rapidly for triple platinum.

Philadelphia International recording artist Billy Paul is opening the record doors to all music listeners with his latest L.P. "Let 'em in." Watch for him, Jean Carn and Dexter Wansel on tour together soon.

Well, that's it for now. The facts, the plain truth of the matter, just for you!!

No Beer Privileges Here

Some students at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and North Carolina State University in Raleigh are lobbying before the General Assembly for the right to sell beer and wine on public university campuses.

Presently there are three private institutions in the state that have the right to sell wine and beer. Duke University, Davidson, and Queens Colleges have this privilege and those students lobbying in favor of the bill for public institutions feel that the 16 campuses of the University of North Carolina system should be included.

According to those students lobbying for the passage of the bill, the law would give "the option to sell beer and/or wine on campus to public universities." If the bill is passed, it would be the board of trustees of each institution who would have the final word.

This is not the first time the bill has been presented to the General Assembly. The bill was dropped in the last session of the legislators because of the possibility of an increase in tuition. According to one report, the education committee of the assembly defeated the bill by a narrow 7-6 margin.

Now someone may ask how would passage of the bill affect student life at A&T. Well, in all honesty, this writer is sure student life would not be affected. It is safe to say that the A&T Board of Trustees would vote the bill down. This action would be in the best interest of the university.

Considering the attitudes and personalities of some students here, passage of the bill of the trustees (if passed in the legislature), would virtually destroy the academic setting of this university. We must admit, there are a number of immature students among us who would take advantage of the bill. Some students now can't consume alcoholic beverages discreetly.

If the beer and wine were to be sold in the student union, it would look like a bar. The Plain Truth. It is possible that there will be trouble if the beer and wine were to be sold in the student union.

Property damage here would almost certainly be on the increase. We are faced with this problem now-broken windows, washers, dryers, light fixtures, and the list could go on.

But it is true that other campuses face the same problems: but, for the sake of the university and the sanity of many, it is hoped that, if the bill is passed, trustees here will say no.

Letters To The Editor:

Student Wants Answers

Editor of The Register:
I am a student at A&T and I would like to see some positive changes in the way the education of the students is conducted. We are faced with this problem now—broken doors, broken windows, broken furniture, and anything else concerning the cafeteria, she aide. We want to hear students' complaints. So please, let us know what you think.

Is 'Plain Truth' Really True

Editor of The Register:
Saturday evening I walked into the student union building and looked up a free magazine. The Plain Truth. I was surprised to see that there was an article on South Africa. "One of the world's top four mining countries," it was called. "The Battle for Southern Africa" by Gene H. Hogberg. After reading this article, it has become clear to me that the administration is interested in the real issues in South Africa. Mr. Hogberg is either a very confused man who does not understand what the real issue is in South Africa, or he is deliberately trying to mislead us.

Mr. Hogberg insists that because of its economic importance to the industrial west, the people of the U.S. should support the present racial regime. Furthermore, he makes some half-hearted attempts to justify APARTHEID or "separate development of cultures." His lies and crying about the threat of Communism to this area is more beside the real issue of a cover-up.

Obviously, The Plain Truth is not telling the plain truth, but rather a biased, uncivil, narrow view of the situation. The black in South Africa are being subjected to.

What really bothers me is the fact that such a well-known black institution like A&T is making such a change in its student body. The fact that this university has, for a long time, been the only one to have black students in the U.S. is known in the world.

A Concerned African Student.

Why Do Students Leave Trays?

By Maxine McNeill

Oh, no, what could she possibly be complaining about now? That is probably the first question anyone of us are asking at this moment. Will you try to bear with me through this complaint, though?

When certain instructors begin class with a sermon which starts, "You, students," students become very defensive. We feel these instructors are classifying all students in one category.

The truth is that all A&T students are not doing the negative things we always write about. A few are spilling the name of the whole student body. The students who are not participating in these acts are to themselves to try to influence their friends to stop such actions.

At the beginning of last semester, some concerned students organized to protest the cafeteria conditions. The protest was abandoned because the majority of the students would not participate in it. In fact, all students who eat in the cafeteria complain but very few will even suggest ways conditions can be improved.

Now, it seems that some students have started another protest. This one is silent and unorganized but seems to be obtaining more support than last semester's did.

Some students enter the cafeteria, eat, and leave their trays on the tables. This trend has risen to the point where students are asked frequently by the cafeteria cafeteria manager to leave their trays.

It is your perspective to complain about the food but do so in a beneficial way. Mrs. Laura Thornton, acting food service director, has mentioned several times that she wants to hear students' complaints. So if you are dissatisfied about the food or anything else concerning the cafeteria, she will be glad to talk with you.

It does not take much effort or time to place your trays on the conveyor belt. That is one thing we students can do to improve the physical conditions of the cafeteria ourselves.
State Senate Rejects E.R.A.

RALEIGH (AP) - The North Carolina Senate Tuesday refused to ratify the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

ERA completely dominated a legislative day which saw the House approve two proposed amendments to the state constitution to eliminate discrimination based on sex.

After hearing solely from speakers arguing in support of ERA, the Senate voted 26-24 to reject the amendment. Opponents were so sure they had the necessary votes they offered no debate against the amendment.

It was the third time an ERA ratification measure has been killed in the Tar Heel legislature. In 1975, the House rejected it and in 1973 the Senate voted it down.

Hopes of ERA's boosters were raised about three weeks ago when the House voted 61-55 to approve ERA and turned the issue over to the Senate.

There it was the object of intense lobbying both for and against. Those who attempted in vain to persuade wavering senators to support the amendment included Gov. Jim Hunt and President and Mrs. Carter.

up to investigate King's killing and that of President John F. Kennedy.

Chairman Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., submitted his resignation Wednesday as a result of his feud with chief counsel Richard A. Sprague. House leaders still have to decide whether they will accept or reject Gonzalez' resignation or have the full House vote on it.

Democratic leader Jim Wright acknowledged to newsmen that his compromise efforts have been directed at keeping both Gonzalez and Sprague on the committee. Wright said today, however, "I must say I probably engaged in a miscalculation. His Gonzalez' feelings are very deep, very intense."

Wright said Wednesday he believes that, if Gonzalez insists on resigning, the House will kill the whole investigation.

Jury To Investigate Ten Case

RALEIGH- A federal grand jury will convene in Raleigh soon to investigate the Wilmington 10 case, it was reported Wednesday.

Officials close to a U.S. Justice Department investigation of the case were quoted Tuesday as saying subpoenas for witnesses are being issued. No time was given for when the grand jury will meet.

The report was carried in Wednesday editions of the Greensboro Daily News.

The report said two witnesses expected to be questioned by the grand jury were Eric Junious and Jerone Mitchell, who testified against the Wilmington 10 at their 1972 trial.

Nine men and a woman were convicted at the trial of conspiracy involving firebombings during racial violence in Wilmington in 1971.

The Wilmington 10 case has been under investigation by the U.S. Justice Department's civil rights division.

Junious was reported several weeks ago to have signed a statement declaring that he was offered a job and given a minicar by the prosecution and Wilmington police before testifying against the Wilmington 10.

Another witness for the prosecution, Allen Hall, also has stated publicly and in affidavits that he lied on the witness stand against the defendants.

Mitchell has refused to talk about the case.

Women Cagers Beat Meredith

In First Round Of Tourney

By Dennis Bryant

In the first round of the NCAIAW-Division III tournament Thursday night the Aggies defeated Meredith 85-69. The Aggies were led by the scoring of Mammie Jones with 16 points. Also contributing to the victory were Natalie Rogers and Charlene Henderson with 14 and 11 points respectively.

Meredith was led by Kay Owens and Kay Follock with 16 each. The Aggies held a 34-31 halftime advantage. The Aggies move in to action tonight against the winner of the Methodist-Atlantic Christian game.

The A&T Aggiettes led by Ivy Moody and Natalie Rogers, defeated Meredith 50 to close out their record season with a 15-3 mark. The Aggiettes have a perfect 7-0 division record, and now enter the NCAIAW-Division III tournament.

A&T, after being down 7-4 with four minutes gone in the first half, outscored the Aggies 15-7 in the first and last minutes to take a 48-45 lead. The Aggies led the rest of the game as they used a pressure defense.

The Aggies led 26-20 at the half. With 10:30 to go, Meredith pulled to within, three at 32-29. The Aggies began crashing the boards and with the scoring of Rogers and Moody, then opened a ten-point spread which was more than enough against Meredith.

A&T had leads of up to 14 points due to their numerous number of steals. The defense proved successful at every viewpoint. They shut off Meredith's outside shooting and received several coaching offers including from three institutions within the MEAC for next season. He refused to divulge the name of any of his prospective new employers but hinted that he was not worried about his future. The former coach-of-the-year also said that he was considering going into private business with two large corporations in the area of public relations and promotions. Reynolds said that he had been contacted by the heads of these companies about the posts earlier but his main interest would lay in the field of coaching.

Reynolds departs from A&T after five years as head coach assuming the post in 1972 when present athletic director Carl Leathers vacated the spot for his present job.

In that short period of time, he compiled a 73-57 record, claimed three MEAC titles, and named conference coach-of-the-year three times.

Last season he took his 20-6 Aggies to the NIT in New York to become the second predominantly Black college to do so. A&T lost to Providence in the opening round of that tournament.

No successor to Reynolds was named yesterday in the news conference but a new head coach is expected to be named in the next few weeks in order to start recruitment of high school candidates.
Search For New Coach Begins

He said that the situation was presently in the hands of the necessary persons and it was being handled as quickly as possible.

Irvin also stated that A&T's proposed football stadium is slated to open for the 1978 season. It would accommodate 15,000 fans initially and could later be expanded.

He was also questioned as to whether he would return to the basketball coaching circle. Irvin quickly dismissed the media he had no such intentions.

The question of successors arose and Irvin explained what the policy for finding new personnel would mean.

"We will send out notices that the coaching vacancies are present. There has been no previous announcement until today and a screening process will follow the applications."

Irvin stated he had heard the reports that Gene Littles, an assistant coach at Appalachian State, would move into the basketball opening.

"I cannot make any positive statement to that and there are several persons who have expressed interest. A decision will be forthcoming in the near future," Irvin said.

SR-56 $109.95*
If you want an incredible slide rule calculator that's also programmable, then this is the one for you. There are 74 preprogrammed functions and operations. And it has AOS, TI's unique algebraic operating system, the underlying reason an SR-56 is so powerful. It will let you handle problems with as many as 9 sets of parentheses. Talk about memory. An SR-56 has 10 (11 if you count the T-register.) And you can do arithmetic with all of them.

Chances are you'll soon discover how really easy it is to program. An SR-56 has 100 steps. Six logical decision functions. Four levels of subroutines. Decrement and skip on zero. Compare a test register with the display to make a conditional branch. And this is just the beginning.

Think about it. Can you really afford to put off getting your SR-56, now?

SR-52 $249.95* (New low price)
If you want the computer-like power of a card programmable then choose this one. Techniques like optimization, iteration, data reduction, what-if matrices, mathematical modeling, need not tie up your mind—or your time. But learning to use it is a hassle, you say. Not true. Preprogrammed programs are gathered into software libraries: Electrical Engineering, Math, Statistics, Finance. All you need do is load a mag card, press a few keys and you'll get answers that previously required a computer.

You can make your own programs just as easily. In just a couple of hours you'll begin to prove what a powerful asset you have—right at your fingertips. And there's not a better time to get a SR-52 than right now.
