Graham Takes Top Office

"My first reaction was shock. I knew I had a good chance of winning, but I didn't really know I would win," said Tony Graham, after his lopsided victory over Donald Allen in the bid for the SGA presidency. Graham received 718 votes and Allen received 164.

"I'd like to thank all the students who had direct input into the campaign," Graham said, "and those on the outside who pushed me forward. He congratulated all the elected officials and added that he and the other officers and Miss A&T would work together as a team to represent the students.

In the race for Miss A&T, Debbie Richardson was the victor with 443 votes.

"I didn't expect to win by such a wide margin," she said with tears in her eyes. "No words can express how I feel and I'm grateful to everyone who voted for me.

"To the students of A&T, as your queen, I'll do my best to represent you."

Warren "Toby" Bryant won the vice-presidential spot and Cynthia McMurray was elected secretary. Curtis Askew was elected treasurer.

In the senior class, Steve Jones became the president, and the vice presidential spot went to Andrea Wiley. The treasurer of the senior class is Sherry Purvis and Wilhelmina Scott was elected the senior class queen.

The top spot in the junior class went to Lila Washington. Wesley Boykin was elected vice-president. There will be a run-off between India Aikins and Rosalind Tucker for the position of Miss Junior.

Debbie Richardson

There will be a run-off for the top position in the sophomore class between Steve Lipscomb and Bobby Henry. Sharon Newkirk won the vice-presidential spot, and the secretarial position went to Trenna Ross. Carla Walker was elected treasurer of the class. Carole Carr and Donna Shaw will vie for the position of Miss Sophomore in a run-off.

All run-offs will be held Thursday, April 14.

Protest Committee Meets With Chancellor Dowdy

By Maxine McNeill

"The main thing accomplished was that we let the administration know that students are no longer willing to accept the living conditions A&T forces upon them," said Dorothy Whitaker, an organizer of Tuesday's protest committee.

Dorothy was speaking of the meeting the protest committee held with Chancellor Lewis C. Dowdy Tuesday morning. The group which met with Dr. Dowdy was composed of one representative from each dormitory, SGA President Tony Tyson and freshman class president Bobby Henry.

Dr. Dowdy told the committee that 1430 spaces for women are available on campus and 500 have to be reserved for (See Curtis, Page 2)

At 85th Commencement

Former President To Speak

Dr. Samuel DeWitt Proctor, former president of A&T will deliver the keynote address at the university's 85th commencement exercises Sunday May 8, in the Greensboro Coliseum.

The professor of education at Rutgers University in Brunswick, New Jersey, will address approximately 1059 seniors and master degree candidates.

Proctor came to A&T in 1960 from Virginia Union University to succeed Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs, then president of A&T. He served as the fifth president of A&T for four years before resigning in 1964.

The former A&T and Virginia

Union president is a native of Norfolk, Virginia, and holds the doctorate degree from Boston University. He has also done graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, Crozier Theological Seminary and Yale University.

He is the senior minister at Abyssinian Baptist Church, New York, and education professor at Rutgers under the Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Chair.

College Education Cost Will Go Up Next Fall

NEW YORK (AP) - The cost of attending college will go up again in September, 1977, according to a nationwide survey by the College Scholarship Service, the financial aid activity of the College Entrance Examination Board. The increase will be 4 per cent, the lowest average increase in five years.

It brings average total costs at private four-year colleges to $4,905 annually for resident students and $4,331 for those who live at home. Total cost at less expensive public colleges will increase to an average $2,500 at two-year colleges and $2,700 at four-year colleges in the 1977-78 school year.

World Hunger Week

Communion Highlights Drive

By Charles L. Perry

The University's Religious Life Committee Task Force on World Hunger presented its Holy Week Communion Service Thursday night. The Communion Service ended a week long drive to help the worldwide hunger problem that last year resulted in over 10 million deaths.

Guest speaker for the service was the Reverend Will Chambers, instructor of Bible study at Livingstone College. In his speech, Rev. Chambers reminded everyone that they were there for a communion and expressed that communion means sharing but communion is not an end in itself.

Rev. Chambers said, "Hunger is a morale problem when five per cent of the world population uses 35 per cent of the total world resources. It's a matter of seeing and not seeing."

Rev. Chambers feels that it is possible for a problem of hunger to become noticeable and still be left alone. He said that the American government gives millions for foreign aid, but it often has attached to it a foreign policy agreement.

The minister urged the audience to be careful not to give relief for hunger and then lock people deeper into hunger. Helping the hungry is not an end but a beginning—a beginning of new life.

In his closing remark, Rev. Chambers stated that he would like to be a little candle; then he could share himself with others by giving the needed light.

He said that no matter how small you may think you are, you are still important in the eyes of God.

Student Feels Cheated Out Of Campaign

By Maxine McNeill

"I feel I have been dealt with unjustly because, if a constitution is to be what it is, then everyone must abide by the guidelines set," said Kelvin Buncum, a former candidate for sophomore class president.

According to Buncum, he was informed two and one-half weeks ago by Dr. Jesse Marshall, vice chancellor for student affairs, that he was ineligible to run for sophomore class president.

Buncum said neither the constitution nor the qualifications he received stated it is mandatory for him to have accumulated 32 hours by May in order to seek office. He will have only 31 hours at the end of this semester.

"If I'm supposed to run for an office, I feel all these qualifications should have been given to me before a week and a half prior to elections," Buncum said. "When I went to sign up, the only qualification given to me was that I had to be in good standing with the university."

Buncum said Dr. Marshall's restriction upon him was contrary to the constitution.

freshmen. Also, he told the group that 135 females are presently on the waiting list for rooms on campus.

According to Dorothy, Dr. Dowdy said his first alternative to off-campus living is to place the 135 females on the waiting list in dormitory rooms.

Secondly, Dr. Dowdy contends he is thinking of changing Curtis Hall into a female dormitory for this fall.

The third alternative, Dorothy said, Dr. Dowdy mentioned was off-campus living. Presently, A&T has a nonfunctioning director of off-campus housing.

One suggestion the committee made to Dr. Dowdy was to ask students who live within a 20 mile radius of A&T to commute. He said that possibility would be looked into.

SUAB Sponsors Fashion Show

The Student Union Advisory Board will sponsor a fashion show and lecture Tuesday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m. Entitled "We've Come A Long Way," the show will take place in Harrison Auditorium.

The fashion show will feature a Bicentennial Fashion Review and lecture with some of the country's outstanding Black fashion designers and models. This is the first international tour group of its kind, promoting models and designers. They have been invited to tour many of the African nations including Kenya, Cameroons, Rowanda, Somaliand Zaire. Also many European fashion houses have expressed interest in them.

In addition to modeling, the show will feature drama, comedy and audience participation. Following the initial presentation, a personalized workshop will be held. Also young designers will be introduced in one phase of the show.

A presentation of Allen Bailey of New York City, the fashion review's purpose are to enlighten students to the many injustices encountered by Black models trying to break into the business. Another purpose is to expose professional models, designers and fashions to college campuses.

The models are a group of Afro-Americans of varied backgrounds. The theme "We've Come A Long Way," should give students a historical perspective of fashion throughout this century.

Admission for this event is free.

Nelle's Corner

By Lynelle Stevenson

Guess what, Aggies There is something coming to Aggieland guaranteed to blow your mind.

On Sunday, April 17, in Moore Gymnasium, at 7:00 p.m., the SGA, in conjunction with Continal Productions is sponsoring a dynamite show "Deniece Williams" all the way from Detroit, "Brainstorm."

Deniece Williams wanted to be a nurse. However, before long, she found herself in one of the choicest spots in her profession. Today, she's well on her way to a successful career as a songwriter and solo vocalist.

While attending high school in her home town of Gary, Indiana, Deniece worked part-time in a record shop. The owner of the shop bought in some friends to hear Deniece. Soon she found herself recording for the Toddlin Town label.

One day, Deniece received an unexpected telephone call from Detroit. It was Stevie Wonder, who offered her a position she couldn't refuse. She toured with Wonder for one and a half months but decided to go home only to return again.

Between 1972 and 1976, Deniece participated in every album Wonder has recorded, through the most recent, "Songs In The Key Of Life."

While with Wonder, Deniece discovered and developed her talents as a composer. The most recent step in Deniece's career occurred when a mutual friend introduced her to Maurice White of Earth, Wind and Fire.

White was looking for new talent to produce for Columbia Records. Although not exactly new, Deniece was certainly talented. The result of this meeting may be heard and appreciated on Deniece Williams' first album, "This Is Niecy."

Although I don't have any information on "Brainstorm," I am sure they are smokers too.

Tickets are $3.50 for students and they are limited to 1,500, $4.50, general admission and $5.50 on the day of the show.

Look, don't wait until the last minute. Go get your tickets now and be ready for a mind-blowing show, I'll see you there!

Art Gallery Displays Coverlets

H. C. Taylor Art Gallery presents Indiana Coverlets a traveling exhibition organized by the Indianapolis Museum of Art. The exhibit will be on display until April 29.

The exhibit represents such diversity as to stimulate the mind and imagination toward further appreciation of one of our lost crafts. Indiana families came from Kilmarnoch, Scotland, to create, a production of ingrain carpeting; as a result "Indiana style" began.

The coverlets chosen for this exhibition are all from the private collections of Mr. and Mrs. John Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eckert and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hardee of Indianapolis. The coverlets were selected for their technical and artistic excellence and demonstrate weaving and stylistic contrasts that enhance appreciation of this art form.

The coverlets, woven in two strips between 36-41 inches wide and 90-96 inches long, are sewn together down the middle to create a magnificent form of art. Ranging from cotton yarn to wool yarn, the coverlets exploit the beauty of color. As a work of art, coverlets run the scale from excellent to mediocre, related to the eye and skill of the weaver, the pressure of time and the wishes of the consumer.

The excellence of design and skill in weaving exemplified, the coverlets demand appreciation in their own right. The exhibit is on display in the Bluford Library on the lower level.

Freshman Class Sponsors First Spring Ball

By Margaret L. Brown

Spring is a time of year that brings out the warmth in people. So, as your spring fever rises, cool it off with the Spring Ball.

This affair is sponsored by the freshman class. It is hoping to make this into an annual event at A&T. It is not geared just to freshmen but to the whole student body.

The function will take place April 15 at the Cosmos II featuring "Anglo-Saxon Brown" and will last from 10-2 a.m.

Bob Henry, president of the freshman class, feels that the university needs this type of exposure.

Tickets are on sale for $3.00 per person. Annie Bullock is chairman of booth sales which will be in the Student Union and dining hall and the hours will vary. Several people are selling tickets. They are Ronald Eldridge, Nancy Wooten, Clark McGriff, Debbie Richardson, Rosalind Tucker, and Ricky Steel.

There will be free set-ups. University Studio also will be on hand to take pictures.

Bob Henry said, "To all the students of A&T who say there is never anything going, here's your chance. If you don't attend, don't complain. Poor attendance by students is why there are so few things given."

JOB OPPORTUNITY

City of Greensboro is now accepting applications for trainee positions in the Greensboro Police Department. A recruiting team from the Police Department will be at A&T State University Student Union on April 14, 1977, from 9:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. to answer any questions about the police officer trainee position. All interested students are invited.

Why Pay $50?

Since it was announced that students planning to live on campus next semester had to pay a room deposit of $50, it has been said by some students the money will go towards the proposed stadium.

A number of angry students have come to this conclusion. Whether they are right or wrong is a question that demands answering. There are some who have complained about having paid the required $50, but remain without a room for the coming semester.

If one took the side of these angry students, one could sarcastically say, "Well, since our $50 has been used for the stadium, we'll have to room there next year." University officials are hoping the stadium will be completed by the 1977 football season.

In a story printed in the January 28 edition of The A&T Register, entitled, "A&T Board of Trustees Approves New Dormitory," Chancellor Lewis C. Dowdy was reported as saying the $50 deposit was made necessary because "of the increasing number of students who reserved rooms in the past, but who did not claim their rooms in the fall."

This writer isn't going to take the side of the administration or the students involved in these accusations. It would be difficult to believe the administration of this university would stoop that low. But nothing is impossible. The reasoning behind this is simple. The university officials involved in the stadium drive have said more than $51,000 has been donated by alumni and friends of the university and more than $1.8 million from corporate institutions. Although more money would be needed to construct the stadium in the manner desired, taking $50 from each lodging student would not be the logical way out. This is only this writer's point of view. As stated earlier though, nothing is impossible.

'Will You Ever Change?'

By Mary E. Cropps

Aggies, will you ever change?

This question is addressed to those students who attended the campaign speeches Wednesday night and who displayed a lack of respect for the candidates who were speaking.

The candidates were booed and laughed at and humiliated by many of the students in the audience, and there were quite a few there.

All that can be said is that A&T students change very little from what I have observed after attending this university for four years. The same incidents occur year after year. Some Aggies seem to feel that they have to humiliate their fellow students.

Those students who had the nerve to get up in front of an A&T audience and try to deliver a well-organized and thought-out speech have to be commended. Even if you didn't win, you deserve a medal for even showing up at Harrison Auditorium and a trophy for walking out onto the stage. If you tried to speak, you deserve a 21-gun salute.

For those of you who have plans for running for a position in your class or the SGA, please don't be discouraged. Here are a few tips as to what not to do in front of an A&T audience.

1. Don't show them that you are nervous. This is a fatal error. They will sense your nervousness and, like a wild predator who smells his victim's fear, they will pounce on you and laugh you off the stage. So be cool.

2. Don't be sweet and talk softly. An A&T audience likes to be shown that you are in control of the situation. So talk junk to them; they like that.

3. The most important "don't" of all is don't make your speech too long. This is another fatal error that will surely be your downfall. Aggies don't like to hear or see one person for too long. If you talk too long, they will begin to shout you off the stage and drown out what you are saying.

If you remember the above-mentioned tips then perhaps you can get your message across. Or perhaps, miraculously, Aggies will change, but don't count on it. That's another "don't" to remember.

Fighting For Class Cards

By Maxine McNeill

Students have complained about the hassles of trying to preregister before, but Tuesday's performance by some students was ridiculous. Can you imagine students actually fighting over class cards?

Campus Security Officers were summoned to Merrick Hall Tuesday afternoon to bring order to a crowd of students obviously unhappy because certain class cards they needed had been distributed.

The students were shoving, snatching cards and acting as if their lives depended on a class card. To this reporter's knowledge, no one was arrested.

Students should learn not to panic when all the cards have been distributed. It is likely that these same classes will reopen next fall and more students will be able to enroll in them.

If the class you need does not reopen, maybe, if enough students are interested, you can talk with the dean of that school about adding another one.

Letters To The Editor

Let's Remember The Deceased

Dear Fellow Aggies,

It's high time we did something to commemorate our late sisters and brothers of the Aggie Family.

It's awful to think these students who had been with us for years, some less, die and no more is said or done in memory of them.

They may not have done anything so spectacular or breathtaking in order for their names to be printed in the paper or placed upon some edifice, but what about our fellow sisters and brothers who had been among us and by some misfortune now cease to be? Take for example Ms. Enid Furgerson, a fellow nursing major who died in March of 1974.

She may not have been a famous A&T football or basketball player, but she "was" a family member, and, even though she was ill, she still had determination and courage to continue her education.

Many other students, I'm sure, may have some terminal illness or condition that may hinder or prevent them from leading a completely normal life, but maybe if they knew of the determination and courage of this young lady and that many others displayed, it would inspire them too.

Many of our sisters and brothers have been taken from us because of auto accidents and other misfortunes and I think they should be remembered. A memorial service would prove sufficient to encompass them all. It truly would be thoughtful.

Council Proposes Holiday To Honor King's Birthday

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) - A committee of the Charleston city council has proposed that city employees be given a holiday on Martin Luther King's birthday rather than Good Friday.

The council's Personnel Committee voted 4-1 to recommend that January 15 be observed in honor of the slain civil rights leader.

The committee had considered allowing city employees to pick between the two holidays and observe the one of their choice. But, councilman Robert Ford said the option wasn't approved because it would not be in the "spirit of what we're trying to do, educate the Charleston public on what Martin Luther King stood for."

If the full council approves the proposal, the change would take place next year. City employees will observe Good Friday as a holiday this year.

The annual spring convocation will be held Thursday, April 14 in Moore Gym.

Campus Haps

Teloca Student Nurses Association will hold its last meeting for the school year Tuesday, April 12, at 6:30 p.m. in the Reading Room. All nursing majors are encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

"We've Only Just Begun", a spring affair sponsored by the freshman class, will be held April 15 at Cosmos II. Music by Anglo-Saxon Brown. Tickets will be on sale next week during lunch and dinner hours in the lobby of the cafeteria. General admission is $3.00 per person.

The Campus Community Church Choir will celebrate its anniversary April 15-17 in the Student Union Ballroom. Each service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a meeting of all young ladies interested in pledging Tau Gamma Delta Sorority this fall, Wednesday, April 13, at 7:00 p.m. in Room 100 in the Student Union.

The Business Administration Club will meet Wednesday, April 13, at 4:00 in the faculty lounge of Merrick Auditorium to elect new officers. All members, please be present.

Young's Remarks Trigger U.N. Reaction

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - A remark by U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young that he sometimes thought Britain had "invented racism" touched off lively reaction Thursday among delegates to the United Nations.

Young, the first Black American ambassador to the world organization, told a British Broadcasting Corp.-BBC interviewer that Britain institutionalized racism "more than anyone else in the history of the earth."

He also accused Britain of being "a little chicken" in handling racial matters at home and in southern Africa.

"I lived in England for about 30 years and believe me there's a lot of truth in what he is saying," said Ambassador Radha Krishna Ramphul of Mauritius, a spokesman for the Organization of African Unity-OAU.

"Ambassador Young is outspoken, but he speaks his mind sincerely and we respect him for it."

But a Western diplomat, who asked not be identified, accused Young of being "a clumsy team player."

"Look, when you are in the process of delicate negotiations, you just don't go around making disparaging remarks about another member of the team," he said.

There was no comment from the British mission, but a spokesman said Ambassador Ivor Richard might have a statement later in the day.

SPORTS NOTEBOOK

By Craig R. Turner

What is the reasoning behind the dispute now arising from the naming of Stan Felton as the new assistant basketball coach under Gene Littles.

The subtle disdain has settled in since the coaching changes over the last few weeks.

It is bad enough that some "loyal" Aggie supporters won't allow either new man to make a decision as to how he will run his own program.

Even the reverse bigotry, for all its ignorance and sadness, has shown its head. I wouldn't care if the guy was "Tom Thumb" as long as he produces a top product.

The time has arrived for A&T to set aside its petty misconceptions and to accept things as they are. Changes come in many different ways and at many different times. Today is no different.

Spring football practice is in full swing now and over 70 candidates have shown up during the first five days.

Coach Jim McKinley and his staff have been about as tough as coaches can be in the conditioning drills.

It was obvious after watching those weary souls stumble back to the dorms that A&T will be in shape even if it doesn't win a game.

Richardson Addresses Dining-In

By Robert E. Beasley
Brigadier Gen. John W. Richardson (Retired) was the guest speaker at the annual Air Force ROTC Dining-In last Friday night. Gen. Richardson served over 30 years in the Active Reserve, including four years in World War II; three of his active duty years were spent over seas with the eighth and 15th Air Forces. He was promoted to General March 7, 1961. He retired in 1966.

In November 1971, Gen. Richardson moved from Greensboro to Longboat Key, Florida. Gen. Richardson is still active in the Reserve Officers Association of the United States of which he is a past president. He is active in the Interallied Confederation of Reserve Officers, the Reserve Officers of the NATO countries.

New Assistant Coach Is Named

George Felton, a 1975 graduate of the University of South Carolina, has been named assistant basketball coach at North Carolina A&T.

Felton, who lettered in basketball for the Gamecocks under the guidance of Frank McGuire, taught one year at Swansea Elementary School in South Carolina and was a graduate assistant at Appalachian State University before accepting the A&T position.

During his career at South Carolina, Felton, 24, played on some of McGuire's best college teams with such stars as Alex English, Brian Winters, and Kevin Joyce. Felton made his trademark among his offensive minded teammates by hustling and playing good defense.

His primary duties at Appalachian included scouting, recruiting, and coaching the defensive part of the team's attack.

"I feel very impressed with the job George did at Appalachian and I feel he will be an asset to the program here at

A&T," said recently appointed head basketball coach Gene Littles. "He was highly recommended by some of the best coaches in the country."

"He is exceptional in instructing the man-to-man defense and pressure defense. He will also assist with developing our big men."

The challenge.

This is a cryptogram, a form of code language, where letters of the alphabet stand for other letters of the alphabet. For instance, the words "A CAT" in a cryptogram might be "Q TQL," the "Q" always standing for "A," the "T" for "C," and the "L" for "T." Your challenge is to break the code of the cryptogram below, and discover its hidden message.

Aggie Booters Outlast G'boro Camerot

Last Saturday's soccer game started exactly 3 p.m. with Camerot Soccer Club of Greensboro taking the kick off. It started initially on a low tempo as both teams studied each other. Camerot guys invaded the Aggie defense and got a cheap goal through their unmarked attacker in the early minutes of play.

This early goal deficit was a stimulant for the Aggies. Captain Badom made some changes to strengthen the Aggie team, David was brought in to complete the strong attacking force of Kamson, Ebiana Senior, Paulinus, and Expoudom.

From then on, it was A&T dictating the pace of the game with occasional goalward break-throughs by the visitors. Their efforts were always foiled by no-nonsense defense of A&T master-minded by Captain Badom, Ex-Nigeria school-boy soccer pride, Dangerman Muganda, experience man Mohamed Turay, and up rising star Sunday.

Camerot devised many soccer strategies to arrest the moving Aggies but found no solution. Aggies became very goal hungry. Paulinus, the goal-getter of the team dribbled two Camerot defenders to register A&T's long expected equalizer. The applause that greeted this goal had hardly died down when Sunday connected David, Ex Togolese National Team Star, who wasted no time in delivering a bullet shot into the net for Aggie goal number two.

Camerot resorted to storm the Aggie goal area with up balls; but, alas, super headers like Badom, Turay and David saved A&T. The third goal of the match game through a pass from Rex to David in the 85th minute of the game, but the referee did not see it as a goal.

Camerot is a great side with enviable sportsmanship. They played Continental (European) Soccer, but the Aggies were stronger both in skill and experience.

Now comes Miller time.
