SCAC Helps Students Enter Career World

By Sheila Williams

Many often wonder where their majors will really take them in the career world.

They ask, "How can we as students find out what is going on so that we can prepare ourselves to be well trained in our fields?"

Well, this is what the Student Cluster Activities Council (SCAC) is here to help you find out.

The SCAC is a new program which is forming on campus. It will be working with industries to acquaint students with various companies.

Joseph D. Williams, Sr., alumni director here at A&T, is the chairman of the SCAC planning committee and Ms. Louise Grandison is vice-chairperson.

"They asked me to develop a program to involve our students in the A&T/Industry Cluster," Williams said. "Many of our cluster representatives were very much concerned about the involvement of the students in all of the colleges and universities."

He also said that this is the first student involvement program to be developed by a university. "This is a model program which our cluster representatives plan to share with other colleges and universities who have cluster organizations. This is the only student cluster involvement program of its kind in the nation," said Williams, "and the progress that we make is something we will be proud of."

The A&T/Industry Cluster is composed of 60 nationally prominent firms which support the university in its total development. Twenty-five students have been selected for membership on the council. Faculty members are Dr. Meda Gibbs, Dr. Marion Blair, Leon Warren, Ms. Marilyn Burnette, Dr. William DeLauder, and Dr. C.W. Pinckney.

Moody Receives Fellowship

By Catherine Speller

Ms. Ivy Jean Moody is the recipient of one out of seven fellowships awarded by Bell Laboratories each year to senior college students throughout the United States.

Bell Laboratories awards cooperative research fellowships to outstanding beginning graduate students who are members of minority groups for graduate work leading to the doctoral degree in physics, chemistry, mathematics, engineering, and psychology.

Ms. Moody is a professional math major from Roanoke Rapids and plans to pursue the area of applied statistics in graduate school.

The objective of the fellowship program is to identify and develop scientific and engineering research ability among members of minority groups and to increase the representation of minority scientists and engineers in the research area of Bell Laboratories.

"I came to the placement office as a sophomore and was interviewed for a summer internship with Aerojet Nuclear Company, Idaho Falls, Idaho, and I worked for two summers with that company," said Ms. Moody.

This semester Ms. Moody has had several job interviews through the placement office. Some of her job offers were from Proctor and Gamble, Cincinnati, Ohio; John Hawkins Applied Physics Laboratory, Baltimore, Md.; and, EGG, Idaho Falls, Idaho.

"I would like to encourage all students to start looking at the placement office their sophomore year and not their junior and senior years in college," stated Ms. Moody.

"The placement office plays a vital role in helping all students find employment before and after graduation. People like Mr. Leon Warren are definitely interested in helping students interested in finding jobs," commented Ms. Moody.

Journalists To Meet In Triad

By Angela V. Niles

The Regional Conference of the Society of Professional Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi of the Piedmont Triad Area will begin Friday, April 7, at 7 pm and will extend through Sunday, April 9, at the Airport-Holiday Inn. The purpose of the conference is to bring together professionals and students from North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D.C.

CBS correspondent, Lemuel Tucker is scheduled to attend as a consultant in the conference.

These conferences are designed to foster enrichment for its members.

This year the sponsoring chapter is opening the conference to non-members who qualify for membership in the Society for Professional Journalists (SPJ/SDX).

Dave Wright, public affairs director for WFMY

Television, emphasized. "Professionals must have been actively involved with journalism or communications at the collegiate level. Students must have reached the sophomore level with an intention of entering the field of journalism."

The conference will begin with registration and check-in at 7:00 today and will close with cocktails and coffee at 9:00 a.m. Sunday.

McKoy Accepts Position To Fight Relations Battle

Henry McKoy, director of the Greensboro Human Relations Commission, will resign May 1 to accept Gov. Jim Hunt's appointment to fight the same battles for the state.

The 31 year-old McKoy, during his time in the Greensboro human relations establishment, symbolizes the gains made by Black activists who 10 years ago waged their campaigns in the streets.

He is the first one appointed to such a position who has a professional background in managing governmental human relations.

As head of the Human Relations Commission his duties will be the primary adviser in matters pertaining to discrimination and Hunt's contact with the 20-member state commission. He will also coordinate efforts of the commission staff and be the state's liaison with human

Aggies "Fail To Put Aside" Money States Dean Piggott

By Sharon Barnes

Mrs. Lucille Piggott, dean of women, seemed somewhat appalled when this reporter ventured into her office and asked her to comment on the housing problem.

She does not view housing as a problem and feels that the complication does not lie in the actual housing of students, but rather in the fact that students fail to "put aside" enough money to cover the deposit that must be made in order to secure a room for the following year. She emphasized that there "has" to be a suggested deadline for accepting this deposit; for, without a deadline, the process of residence hall assignments would linger on and on, well into the summer months.

When asked what will actually be done about those students who are unable to make a deposit at this time, Dean Piggott said, "When all spaces have been committed, waiting lists are started in each residence hall."

"These waiting lists are utilized on a first-come first-serve basis. For example, there are a number of spaces that become available when incoming freshmen and upperclassmen fail to claim their rooms on the date that they are asked to arrive. All spaces not claimed on that particular date are then assigned to those whose

64 Students To Receive Nursing Caps

The Annual Cap and Chevron Presentation Program of The North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University School of Nursing will be held on Sunday, April 16, at 2 p. m. in the Richard B. Harrison Auditorium. Approximately 61 female students will receive caps and three male students will receive chevrons.

The speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. Marian Isley, a senior nursing student from Graham, North Carolina. Other senior members of the School of Nursing will assume major roles in the awarding of the caps and chevrons.

The public is invited, names appear first on the waiting lists. For the past two years, everyone who requested housing was granted it, and students no longer face the problem of being assigned three to a room.

"One alternative to standing in long lines in order to secure a room," stated Dean Piggott, "would be to utilize a lottery system."

Under this system, all housing applications are placed in a box, and the applications are pulled out at random. The major problem with this system is that a person's first preference of residence might be completely filled before his/her name is even pulled out of the box.

The dean made it perfectly clear that she would by no means favor this system, which is used by some universities. She also added that she would rather listen to all the "nasty comments" and give students a chance to personally do something about obtaining residence for the upcoming year. Dean Piggott said that a new female residence hall is in the discussion stage, but no concrete plans have been made regarding it yet.

A&T Cadet Wins Two Year AFROTC Scholarship

Air Force ROTC has awarded 3½ and 2½ year scholarships to 376 college freshmen and sophomores through its campus scholarship awards program. Charles E. Burke, a sophomore mechanical engineering major here at A&T, received one of the scholarships. Burke was awarded the scholarship because of his outstanding sustained academic performance on his contributions to the campus Air Force ROTC Program.

Burke was awarded his scholarship based on an alternate awards program that is used to fill vacancies that occur when previous scholarship designees fail to enroll or do not maintain college or Air Force ROTC standards.

The scholarship awards announced earlier this month, provides full tuition, laboratory and incidental fees, and reimbursement for curriculum-required textbooks. In addition, scholar-

McGill Offers Scholarships

The Ralph McGill Scholarship Fund offers scholarships of up to $1,500 each to students who have completed at least two years of college, and who have demonstrated an abiding interest in the news and editorial phase of newspapering.

Jack Tarver, chairman of the Fund's Advisory Committee, said scholarships are limited primarily to those young men and women whose roots lie in the South. Tarver said the Awards Committee wants to give scholarships to those who are likely to become leaders in the newspaper field.

Successful applicants will be required to maintain a "B" average in order to keep the scholarship.

A letter of not more than 500 words telling why the applicant wants a scholarship, together with a photograph of the applicant, must accompany each application. Applicants also must have a letter of recommendation from a college authority.

Application blanks may be obtained from: The Ralph McGill Scholarship Fund, Box 4689, Atlanta, Georgia 30302.

May 1 is the deadline for aspiring young southern newspapermen and women to submit applications for this scholarship.

CBS Leads By Six In Ratings

With 13 of the week's 20 most watched television programs, CBS knocked ABC out of the first place in the networks' ratings race for the first time in 10 weeks.

CBS scored with six nights of special programming commemorating its 50th anniversary in radio and television. A. C. Nielsen Co. ranked five of the six "CBS: On The Air" specials among the top 26 programs for the week ending April 2. The Saturday night show was 44th.

CBS finished the week with a rating of 21, followed by ABC with 18.7 and NBC with 16.5. The networks say the figures mean, in an average prime time minute, 21 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to CBS.

CBS listed the week's most watched program, "M A S H," and the network's "One Day at a Time" was fourth. CBS, in addition, had "The Waltons," the Thursday night special, "Alice" and "60 Minutes" in the Top 10.

Reruns of ABC's three top shows, "Three's Company," "Laverne and Shirley" and "Happy Days" were second, third and fifth. One of the three has been first in the rating 19 weeks this season.

The three networks divided up positions at the bottom of the ratings: NBC's "Quark" was no. 61, ABC's "Hardy Boys" 62nd, CBS's "Shields and Yarnell" 63rd, ABC's "Baretta" 64th and "NBC Reports: Spying for Uncle Sam" 65th.

Here are the week's Top 10 shows: "M A S H," with a 30.3 rating representing 22.1 million home, CBS; "Three's Company," 29.9 or 21.8 millions, and "Laverne and Shirley," 29.5 or 21.5 million, both ABC; "One Day at a Time," 28.8 or 21 million, CBS; "Happy Days," 27 or 19.7 million, ABC; "The Waltons," CBS, and "CBS: On The Air," Thursday, both 25.1 or 18.3 million; "Alice," 24.9 or 18.2 million, CBS; "Soap," 24.8 or 18 million, ABC; and "60 Minutes," 24.6 or 17.9 million, CBS.

Higher Education Cost On Its Way Up In NC

The cost of a higher education is on its way up in North Carolina.

College officials point to steadily rising operation costs and say they have no choice but to pass along the increase to students in the forms of tuition rate hikes and increased room and fee costs.

The University of North Carolina system will not raise tuition at any of its 16 campuses this year, but will raise other fees by $13 at each school.

Felix L. Joyner, UNC vice-president for finance, said, "Although inflation has been felt by the UNC system, there will be no tuition rate increase this year."

At North Carolina Central University in Durham, room rates will be going up too.

George Thorne, vice chancellor for financial affairs at NCCU, said room rates will be raised from the present total of $515 to $615 for the nine-month school year. "The board of trustees has approved the hike.

But the cost crunch is being felt most at private schools.

Most college financial officials said there are plans to increase financial aid budgets, but that no definite figures have been presented to the boards of trustees for consideration.

Former Miss A&T Dies

Mrs. Angeline Tynes Roberts, "Miss A&T of 1944-45," died Monday morning in New York City after suffering from multiple sclerosis for several years.

Funeral services were today at Saint Luke's Episcopal Church at Pine and Lady Streets in Columbia, S.C.

Her parents were the late Dr. and Mrs. J.W. Tynes, her father having served as pastor of Providence Baptist Church in Greensboro for many years. Mrs. Roberts' sister is the internationally-known opera singer Margaret Tynes, a resident of Milan, Italy.

A graduate of Dudley High School and A&T State University, Mrs. Roberts received a degree from Vassar College in New York, where she belonged to Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Though she once sang in the New York City Opera and the Metropolitan Opera, her chief occupation was as a public schoolteacher in New York City.

Other survivors include her husband, Beverly N. Roberts, a high school principal in New York, and former English professor at A&T; her children, Adrienne and Ricky Roberts of New York and Toni Roberts of

Washington, D.C.; brothers, Dr. Morris H. Tynes of Chicago, Ill., Theodore R. Tynes of the Virgin Islands, Frank W. Tynes of New York City and Dr. V.H. Tynes of Greensboro.

Memorial contributions may be made to the United Negro College Fund or to the NAACP.

Moody Attributes Success To Hard Work, People

Ms. Moody attributes her success to a great deal of hard work, nice people, and the Math Department. If she had to, she said that she would do it all over again right here at A&T.

During her four years here, Ms. Moody has been active in basketball. She is the president of the Digit Circle and is a member of the Women's Council, Alpha Chi, and Student Counseling Program. She was selected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and has received an athletic scholarship for three years.

"Sad Eyes", "I Never Dreamed", and "On The Corner" are only a few of the tunes from the new talented group, "Brooklyn Dream." The group, consisting of Joe Esposito, Eddie Hokenson, and Bruce Sudano, wrote, arranged, and sang the tunes on the new album.

Donna Summers appears on "Old Fashioned Girl" which adds a certain soulful quality to the song itself. To appreciate the LP you would have to sit and get into it, though once you make the attempt, you'll find it not a difficulty.

Among other tunes appearing on the album are "Music, Harmony and Rhythm," "Don't Fight the Feeling", and "Baby You're the One."

The "Village People" are here! This newly formed group, representing four different races, have combined their talents and produced an album which deserves no less than the title "Macho Man."

When all these different personalities meet at a point of interception imagine what it would be like. Well I'll tell you it ~~would~~ be like something!

"Macho Man" is...different. When the instruments are being played to their capacity and the fullness and richness of the voices are combined, it is truly freaky. The whole album is really nice and for the most part, you would really enjoy it. So keep your ears open for this new group, the "Village People."

Absence Of Family

Though A&T celebrated its 86th Parents' Founders' Day last weekend, the celebration was held without the presence of many students or parents. More students and parents should have attended this prestigious festivity. We (students) should have insisted that our parents attend.

All of us had our reasons for attending college but Dr. Pearl Bradley, a professor from the Speech Department and mistress of ceremony for the program, summed up some of our reasoning when she told of an incident that occurred in her speech class one day.

A female student was reading her speech to the class. That student told in her speech what seemed to this writer to be her biggest goals in life. She said, "I want my parents to be proud of me. I want them to say, that's my girl."

That statement has lingered through my mind since it was said Sunday. Maybe some of us have forgotten but that is the reason governing a lot of students attendance to A&T. There is nothing to be ashamed about because it is the truth. All of us want our parents to be proud of us. Though at times it might embarrass us, we gain inner-satisfaction from having them brag on us to their friends.

One of the best ways for us to be assured that the Black institutions survive is the parents, faculty members and students work together. That is what Chancellor Lewis Dowdy expressed in his speech and he is absolutely correct.

Students have an influence over their parents that outsiders cannot quite understand. We could find ways in which to get them to attend some of our affairs at school if we tried.

Some of us want our parents or whoever is responsible for our attending college to feel that they spent their money on a worthwhile investment. Let's have them to attend these special occasions so that they will actually be able to see and feel what we are doing at A&T.

Memo Needs Revisions

By Catherine Speller

The memorandum that Col. Goode, dean of men sent to the male residents seems to have ruffled the feathers of many.

The Register has received several letters to the editor on the afore mentioned subject which all disagree strongly with the new instructions set up by Col. Goode.

After reading the memo, this writer found several items listed that seemed quite reasonable, for instance the lounge furniture issue and the situation with the beds being taken apart. Common sense would tell anyone where lounge furniture belongs, and, if a student has trouble with his bed for what ever reason he should consult, the janitors, men's council, and the dean before dismantling, the beds which aren't new and easily repairable.

Students, look at it this way. How do you think it makes A&T's administration feel, when parents come to visit and find their children sleeping on the floor for what ever the reason. The dorms we are forced to live in aren't all new and lack money for the latest facilities.

But we are provided with the basics a bed, chair, lights and a roof over our heads, after meeting those requirements A&T doesn't promise us anything.

Because we are provided with the necessities, the part about the students not hanging anything, or painting on the walls in their rooms is somewhat maybe somewhat unreasonable.

Students agree that nails and some paints are not suited for the walls but tape and thumb tacks do little harm.

The memo was sent out with the intentions of improving conditions and the atmosphere of dormitory living. But it falls short of reaching its intended goal. The restrictions of which some were reasonable should be revised to include the viewpoint of young college men of 1978 and not those of fifty years ago.

Members of the faculty and administration, think back to your college days. What were your rooms like and what were your major gripes about dormitory living?

Students Show Concern

By Sheila Williams

Lately, it seems as if more and more students on A&T's campus, have become concerned about the living conditions. Well, this writer feels that it's about time that the students have started complaining about the things that should be done.

We all know that, if situations continue to be overlooked, and if the students act unconcerned, the administrators, may feel that nothing is wrong, and everything will go on as usual.

Most students here come from relatively nice homes, and they come to school and find out that they must learn to live with cracked walls, broken furniture, and insects of various species. It shouldn't have to be that way. And, when materials are broken, they should immediately be repaired so that no further damage is done.

But the fact remains that one must take care of what he, have. For as this writer has often heard 'you may not get another one'. It seems right now that things are taking a little while to get done. And if improvement is taking place, it is being stretched out over such a prolonged period of time that we probably don't see it.

Col. Goode's memo may have its advantage. It may open up to the eyes of his, "superiors" what really needs to be done to our campus.

OPTIMIST: "Someone who tells you to cheer up when things are going his way."
Edward R. Murrow

Memo Violates Students Rights

Editor of The Register:

To the Dean of Men, William Goode: You have sent a memo, to all male residents pertaining to the conditions of their rooms. I feel this violates the rights of students who must live in these rooms the entire year.

I just can't understand why you and your superiors expect us to live worse than prisoners in these old run down, colorless rooms. I think we have the right to make ourselves feel at home while we are here, in whatever way we can, at our own expense, since we have paid for room and board.

How would you and your superiors feel about staying in a room with only four naked walls to look at day in and day out? As far as the beds on the floor and furniture in the room, I feel the

"University On The Move?"

Editor of the Register:

In reference to the article by Mr Anthony Boyd on April 4, 1978, I would like to make a few comments.

Col. William Goode sounds like a dictator to me. He says, "The petition doesn't phase me. I have permission from my superiors to do this." Even though his memo ordered "that any and all "objects be taken off the walls, I can't justify his actions. Sure nails and tacks leave cracks in the walls, but tape? No!

Col. Goode may not think so, but this 'is' A&T, and 'not' a prison. A student has the right to hang posters, nets, etc., with tape. Environment has a great effect on students' studies. Col. Goode seems to have forgotten that his job is to help the students and not to play dictator.

The ball has just begun to roll. First, you take away a student's rights to hang posters, then to stay out past 9 p.m., and so on in continual regression. Is this a "University on the Move"? If so, it is moving backwards.

Denise Brown

student has the right to sleep anyway he wants. And, if any part of a bed should get lost, then he should pay for it at the end of the year, and the lounge furniture should be kept in the lounge.

Besides, if you and your superiors were concerned about the dorm conditions, you would fix the bathrooms, the lighting, and the other things that would improve these prison conditions and make them look more homely.

Negotiations To Resume

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—Friday told the Associated Press that the negotiations would resume in Chapel Hill, "I don't know where they'll take us," he said.

The extension was demanded, Friday said, to relieve pressure from the negotiations.

In announcing the cutoff last month, Califano said he hoped the university would continue to negotiate a settlement with HEW.

But, in a strongly worded response that same day, Friday said, "It is questionable whether we can or should continue discussions.

"The allegations made by HEW indicate that the discussions in which we have engaged the last several weeks were an effort made by HEW for the record and nothing more," he said then.

Califano's action came after HEW approved the desegregation plans of five other southern states, but rejected North Carolina's. Califano said there were still "vestiges" of segregation in North Carolina's 16 campus university system and said "there is a separate and unequal school system of higher education in North Carolina."

The UNC Board of Governors has already hired the Washington law firm of Jaworski and Fulbright to represent it in any legal action with HEW.

Friday said in his statement two weeks ago that he would give a "full report" on the status of the HEW dispute at the board meeting Friday, April 14.

After you get your degree, you can take a number...

Or you can take charge

There are many bright, young, job-seeking graduates out there, today. The competition is heavy, a good mind, a degree and a neatly-typed resume won't guarantee a corporate position with any real responsibility or growth potential.

But in the Navy, your good mind and your degree can help you qualify for a career that begins with immediate authority. Meet our standards and in four months at Officer Candidate School (OCS), you could become a leader. A respected decision-maker. A giver of commands. And if you can deal with the heavy demands placed on a Navy Officer, you can go as far as performance and dedication will carry you.

Moreover, combined salary and fringe benefits make a Navy officer's pay very competitive with private industry. Besides a good income, travel, management training... and experience, we offer benefits that include opportunities for post-graduate education; comprehensive medical and dental care; housing allowances; and 30 days paid vacation, annually... from the very first year.

So check out the real job situation. Then compare it with the career opportunity Navy offers you. Contact your College Placement Office to find out when a Navy representative will be on campus, send your resume to: Navy Officer Program, Code 312 (T125), 4015 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, Va. 22203

Government Proposes New Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)- The government is proposing new rules for its Guaranteed

Student Loan program that are designed both to make more money available and to crack down on the multimillion dollar problem of defaults.

To that end, one of the new requirements would direct colleges to notify banks within 60 days of a student's graduation or withdrawal.

The rules, written by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Office of Education, also would sweeten the incentives for states to set up their own loan guarantee programs. Twenty seven states of non-profit guarantee agencies now offer the loans, with the federal government absorbing 80 percent of losses.

relations agencies in Tar Heel cities. He will monitor the state's affirmative action programs, lecture extensively and plan seminars on human relations.

In an interview following his announcement, McKoy spoke of his regret in leaving Greensboro, where he received a master's degree at A&T before his professional career. But he looked forward to the challenge of running a statewide human relations program and said one of the first problems will be grasping the unique problems facing people in rural areas as well as in urban areas like Greensboro.

A&T Splits Double-Header Loses Opener 7-5

By Dennis Bryant

In college baseball, A&T split a double-header with Norfolk State. The Aggies lost the opener 7-5. They won the night cap 10-3.

In the opener, the Spartans led 7-5 going into the bottom of the seventh inning. With two-out and Perk Jackson at third, the team relied on the bat of Butch Norman. Norman fouled out to end the game.

Larry Dye lost his second game of the season. The winning pitcher was Joseph Jackson. Eric Wilson led the Spartans with a two-run homer. Jackson and Dye each had two hits at three trips to the bat.

In the second game, the Aggies had three homeruns.

Winning pitcher, Philip Smith, struck out ten batters, to up his record to 2-0 with the four hit game.

After the fourth inning, the Aggies led 5-0 on a three-run homer by Allen Thomas. Thomas had three hits at four trips at bat. Hart hit a two-run homer in the fifth to up the score to 7-0.

Norfolk cut the lead at 8-3 with three runs in the top of the sixth. The Aggies ended the scoring with two runs on a homer by Gary Blackmon in the top of the seventh to ice the win.

The victory upped the Aggies' record to 5-6. Larry Dye led the Aggies in hits with a four-for-four day. The Aggies had 15 hits in the game.

The losing pitcher was Don Howard for the Spartans. The loss dropped his record to 1-2 and Norfolk's record dropped to 6-5.

The 1978 football unit, coached by Jim McKinley, will travel to Charlotte weekend, in the team's first Blue-Gold Intrasquad game.

Delaware State College Uses Ineligible Players

The Delaware State News has charged Delaware State College used ineligible football players during its 1975 season. The paper contends that Jerome Carter and Jerome Culbrest were the two players involved in the incident.

The investigative report stated that the two players were given phony numbers for identification purposes which would have allowed them to participate undetected.

Officials at the institution denied the charges saying that they could find no wrong doing in the alleged affair. Coach Ed Wyche took over the reigns to the DSC job from former coach Bob Jeter in 1975.

The Hornets put together an 8-3 record last season and won an invitation to the Orange Blossom Classic against eventual national champion Florida A&M.

SNEA Will Attend Charlotte Conference

By Catherine Speller

Eight members of the James B Dudley chapter of Student National Education Association (SNEA) and their advisors will attend the North Carolina Association of Educators SNEA conference in Charlotte, April 14 and 15.

The conference will be held at the Triand Hilton motel.

Over 18 SNEA chapters from colleges and universities throughout the state are expected to attend the conference.

Election of officers at the state level of SNEA for 1978-79 will be held at the conference.

Donna Burnette and Wesley Boykin will represent the future teachers from A&T on April 14. Burnette will also be a candidate for state president of SNEA.

The James B Dudley chapter will receive the gold certificate award for two consecutive years; the chapter has approximately 140 members

Estell Harper, club advisor, stated that we would like to double our membership, which will open in October. Freshman, sophomore, junior and senior education majors are asked to participate in the SNEA club.

The students attending the conference are as follows: Donna Burnette, La-Donnell Harrison, Fredda White, Shirley Gibson, Wesley Boykin, Andice Douglas, Debra Thomas, and Kieth Saunders. The advisors attending are Dr Frissell Jones and Estell Harper.

Division 1 Baffles Aggiettes

By Dennis Bryant

Three weeks have passed and already the A&T Aggiettes are finding the goings rough in the ranks of Division I. In softball the team presently stands with a record of one win and nine defeats.

One bright spot on the team is the playing of Evelyn Boykin, a junior outfielder from Clinton, who currently leads the team in batting with a .769 average.

"Coote", as she is called by her friends, has been an outstanding player for the last four years with a city-league team. She possesses one of the strongest arms of any female in the state.

Boykin started playing softball as a junior in high school. The 1974-75 team at Clinton High School ran a record of 14-0. The 5'6" junior emerged as the star of that team.

As a member of the city-league "Pirettes", Boykin excited the fans with her blazing speed and power. She was a unanimous choice for the all-city softball team.

As a freshman at A&T, Boykin sat out from softball to engage in her studies. As a sophomore, she batted around .544. At the State tournament held in Graham last season, Coote was one of the real threats to the opposing pitchers.

In a recent interview Boykin was asked, "What does the season look like for the Aggiettes?"

She replied, "We'll knock em dead." As for knocking them dead, Boykin is really showing us what she means.

The team includes two all-stars from last season, two all-round freshmen in Deborah Williams and Barbara McPhail, and a host of other talented players.

With the help of Boykin and these others, let's look for the team to go into a hot streak.

Aggies Choose Charlotte As Site Of Blue-Gold

By Craig R. Turner

Coach Jim McKinley will take his 1978 football unit to Charlotte this weekend in the team's first Blue-Gold Intrasquad game of the spring drills. West Charlotte High School will be the scene for the 11 a.m. clash Saturday morning.

McKinley is headed into his second season as the Aggie mentor after an initial start of 7-4 and 5-1 in the MEAC, good enough for second place. The former Central State coach cited the need for finding a replacement for three time All-MEAC performer Ellsworth Turner at quarterback.

"We have been pleased with the play of all of our quarterbacks; and, at this time, the staff is not overly concerned about the position. The four candidates have all operated the veer well at times however, no one has dominated play."

Perhaps the two most impressive candidates thus far have been sophomore Andre Olden (6-0, 180) and senior backup Gary Alliniece (6-2, 200). The other two prospects, Freddie Freeman and William Watson, will also see considerable action.

With ten defensive regulars back from last season, McKinley looks toward the defense to be the key factor this fall and especially the front four.

"Our linemen have good speed, strength, and their size will pose a problem for most quarterbacks we will face. We will average about 6-5 and 255 pounds across the front," he said.

The cornerstone is the MEAC's Most Valuable Defensive Player in 6-5, 245 Dwaine Board, along with 6-7, 267 Lucien Nibbs; 6-7, 260 Ulysses Thompson; and 6-3, 243 Warren Bethea.

George Small (6-3, 245), Glenn Inman (6-0, 220), Dennis Goit (6-2, 190), and Terrance Jones (6-3, 225) were all solid performers at linebacker a year ago.

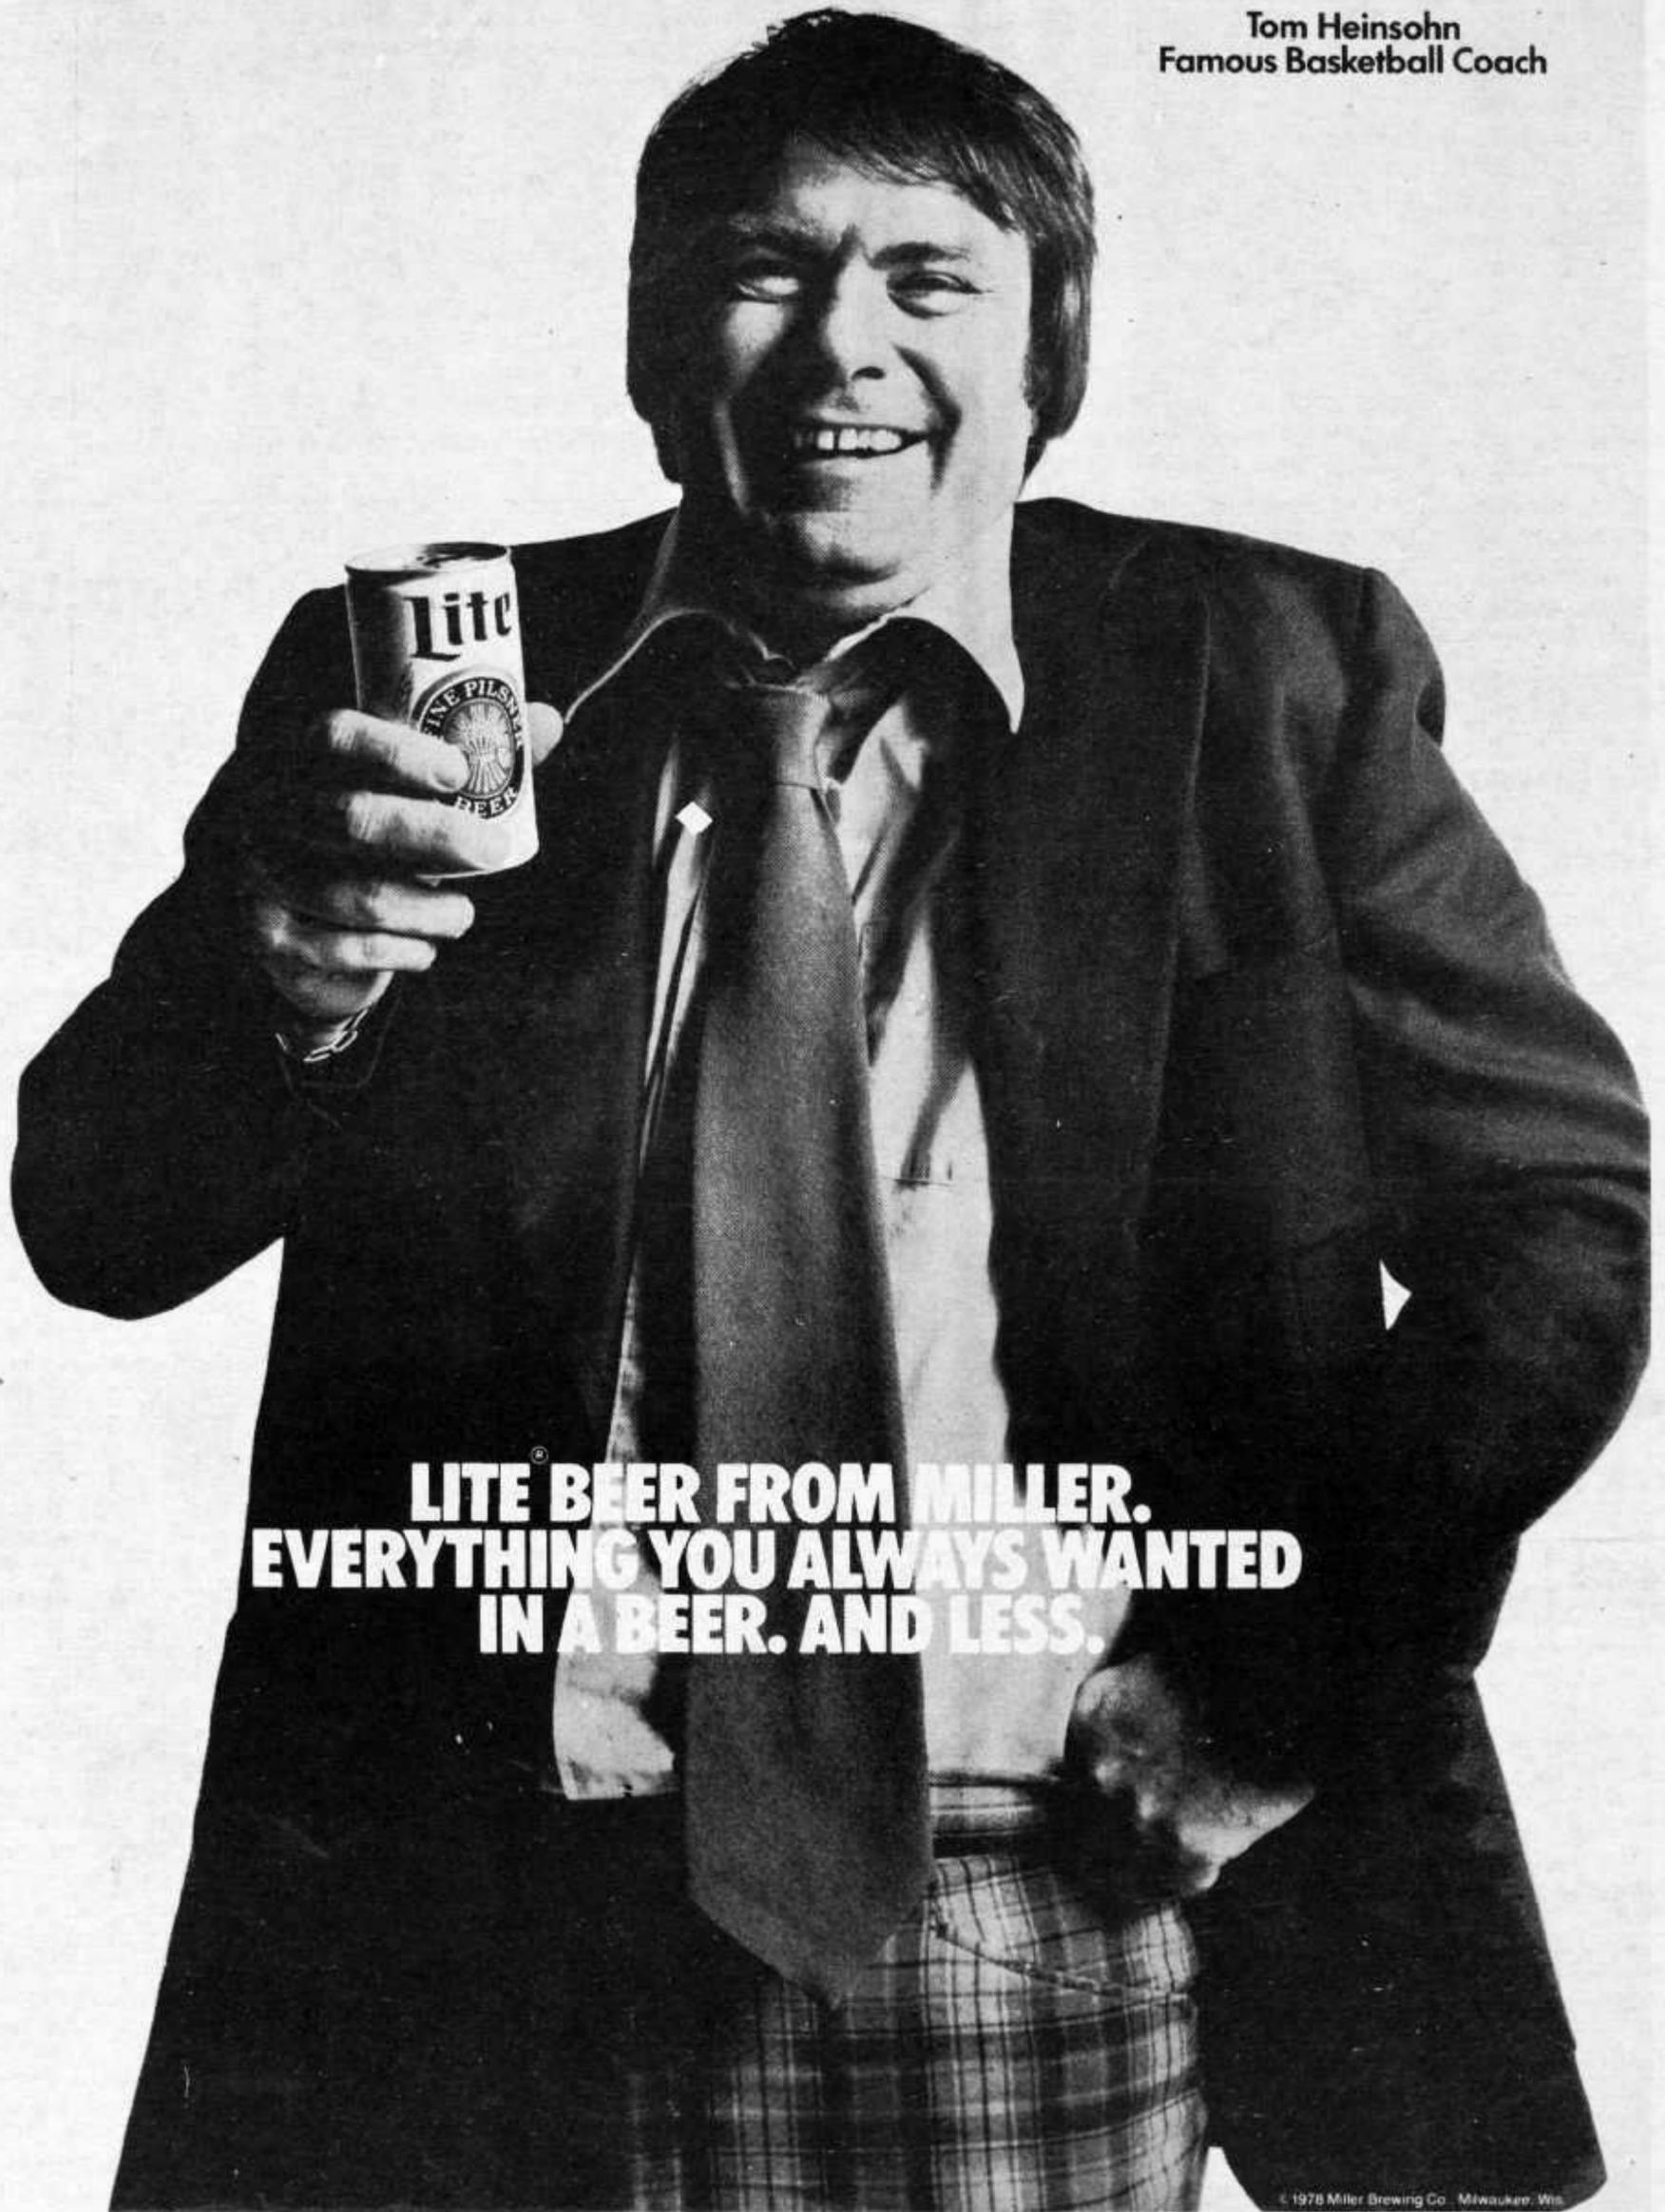

The secondary is still the same unit that picked off 28 passes last season, second nationally. Thomas Warren, Gerald Johnson, and Tony Currie were the top three interceptors in the MEAC.

The offensive backfield was a possible sore spot, but transfer Cleotus Johnson (6-1, 200) from Arkansas-Pine Bluff has been a surprise star. Mike Washington (5-9, 180) gives the runners extra speed since both Calvin Hawkins and Bill Joyner are sidelined with bad knees.

The offensive line is stronger than in past seasons although one major injury has occurred, William Harvey (6-4, 225) is out with cartilage damage. Seniors Wheeler Brown and Emmanuel Davis, along with Pat Lewis and Oscar Lowe, will be the first team.
