Voices Inc. Present Musical, 'Harlem Heyday'

By Andrew McCorkle

Voices Incorporated, a professional troupe of actors, musicians and dancers, presented "Harlem Heyday", Monday night in Harrison Auditorium. "Hey Day" was a tribute to the scores of Black composers and performers who went virtually unrecognized during their lives in the 20's and 30's.

The entire cast opened the first act with their own refreshing and exciting rendition of "Hello People", a song that did just what it set out to do—to make the audience feel comfortable and to capture their attention.

Songs by composers as world renowned as J.P. Johns, Burt Williams, Duke Ellington and Hubey Blake were performed by the troupe. Great performers like Florence Mill, Josephine Baker and Bessie Smith were also heralded throughout the two-act show.

Such well known classics like Burt Williams' "Nobody", "Butterbeans and Susie", "I Ain't Got Nobody" and Miller and Lyles' "Honeysuckle Rose" mesmerized the half capacity house.

In the second act, the crowd might have dwindled but the caliber of performance didn't.

The piano man, Jay Montreal, revealed his appetite for song with his solo rendition of "Around the Piano". If it is possible to give a stand out award to any one member of this troupe, it would undoubtedly go to Timothy Strong who played the character of Rufus, an aged old man who sang and danced with the supposed youngsters reminiscing of the 20's and 30's.

His dancing was memorable but his singing was nothing short of outstanding. Strong's mellow baritone voice helped to enchant the ladies present the entire night. An unforgettable "Early One Morning Blues" was sung by Leontyne Watts who portrayed Bessie Smith.

The finale ended in the traditional, all characters on stage arm in arm, kicking their heels up singing that final song. Innovative or exciting no, but indeed acceptable.

John Palmore, company manager, said, "It's exciting to bring such a wealth of material to college students making people more aware of the contributions of Blacks to the arts." Palmore said he'd prefer to spread the word "in the form of entertainment instead of a textbook."

Working Women Confer At A&T

North Carolina working women employed in clerical, sales, service and factory jobs will have the opportunity to speak for themselves and "tell it like it is" at a conference in Greensboro on Saturday, February 3.

"Make Work Work for Women" is the theme of the one-day program, sponsored by the North Carolina Department of Labor and the North Carolina Council on the Status of Women. The meeting will be held on the campus of N.C. A&T State University, with the morning session in Merrick Hall and the afternoon session in the Student Union.

N.C. Labor Commissioner John C. Brooks states the four main goals of the conference are "to identify common employment problems; to develop communications 'networks' for working women by occupation and location; to inform conference participants about employment options, training opportunities and resources; and to channel working women's concerns to policymakers in business and government."

The conference is planned for the approximately 800,000 North Carolina women workers in occupations such as machine operators, retail clerks, secretaries, and waitresses, which constitute about 80 percent of the women employed in the state. As large as this group is, and as important, it has been often overlooked by policymakers. Thus, many of these working women receive low wages, and their work often offers little or no opportunity for advancement.

This conference is the first program specifically organized for the state's working women

Lyons Urges Competency Instead Of Higher NTE

North Carolina would end up with better teachers if the state tested for competence instead of raising the minimum scores of the National Teachers Examination, according to the chancellor of Fayetteville State University.

Charles Lyons, chancellor of the predominately Black university, said in a recent interview he supports the principle of competency testing for teachers. But he does not believe that proposals to raise the NTE scores will guarantee that teachers are better qualified.

The NTE is given to student teachers before they are certified. It tests the area of general teaching knowledge and specific subjects as well. Students must pass the NTE to receive teaching certificates.

Proposals before the state Board of Education and the University of North Carolina Board of Governors would

McGill Scholarships Available

The Ralph McGill Scholarship Fund offers scholarships for the 1979-80 school year of up to $1,500 each to students with southern backgrounds who have completed at least two years of college, Jack Tarver, chairman of the Scholarship Fund, said today.

Tarver said May 1st is the deadline for applications. He said a number of scholarships are awarded each year to students who have demonstrated a long-time interest in the news and editorial phase of newspapering.

Scholarships, he said, are limited to those young men and women whose roots lie in the south. Applicants must also convince the Awards Committee that they firmly intend to pursue a career in daily or weekly newspapering. Tarver said the Awards Committee wants to give scholarships to those who are likely to become leaders in the newspaper field.

Successful applicants will be required to maintain a "B" average in order to keep the scholarship.

A letter of not more than 500 words telling why the applicant wants a scholarship, together with a photograph of the applicant, must accompany each application. Applicants also must have a letter of recommendation from a college authority.

Application blanks may be obtained from: The Ralph McGill Scholarship Fund; Box 4689; Atlanta, Georgia 30302.

High School Students Answer Sex Survey

Raleigh - Hundreds of students at Daniels Junior High School were recently asked questions about sex, and the parents of some apparently thought the questions were so personal that they wouldn't allow their children to respond.

The questions were part of a study being conducted by the Carolina Population Center at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

"We asked them about their own sexual attitudes and their own background," said Dr. J. Richard Udry.

"The questions are certainly personal - I don't know how you can ask any more personal questions," he said.

The study, commissioned by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, is designed to find out what motivates teenagers to become involved in sex at increasingly earlier ages, Udry said.

"We think that you might learn more about adolescent pregnancy if you learn more about adolescent sexuality," Udry said.

About 80 percent of Daniels' 750 students participated. Before any questions were asked, letters were sent to parents explaining the survey. If both the students and their parents agreed to participate, they were given consent forms to sign.

Parents were allowed to look at the questions but were not allowed to see the answers their children gave.

The students were asked questions about whether they had sexual intercourse, whether they had used contraception, whether they had ever been pregnant and how "sexually attractive" they thought they were, among other questions.

Daniels principal, Michael J. Jordan, said more than 50 parents expressed objections. They thought the questions were too personal, he said.

"It's been a sticky situation for us," he said. "I've had some parents call just to check on the situation and they thought it was a good thing. But the vast majority have been negative."

Udry said, however, that the surveyors had few refusals from parents and students. He added that the center has applied for another grant to extend the study to schools in other areas and other states.

Status Of Love In USA

By Joe Wing (AP)

This being the season of St. Valentine, let us consider the status of love in America. The status of romantic love, since its invention in the 12th century by French troubadours, has rarely changed more than in the decade past. Originally, the idea was for a knight to sigh after the favors of a high-born lady. Now, hopeless sighing is out of fashion. A young man is likely to move right in with his girlfriend.

Recently, the Population Reference Bureau estimated that nearly a million unwedded couples are living together, an 83 percent increase since 1970. It's not only the youngsters who are doing it, but also oldsters who fear marriage will slash their Social Security benefits.

Unmarried bliss is not unalloyed, however. Psychologists observe that unmarriages have many of the same problems of money, personality conflicts, division of labor and sexual conflicts as do marriages. And their breakups are often as traumatic as divorces.

By no means are all singles enamored of one-night stands or two-name households. A New York man who announced in singles bars that he was looking for a wife received 5,000 letters from women.

There have been commentaries by the yard in how pervasive sex is in America's culture. Advertisements and novels, as well as movie, TV and theater themes, bear this out. Obvious also is the spread of prostitution, massage parlors, sex shops, racy entertainers, girlie magazines and peep shows. Police are hampered in efforts to control this, they say, by court rulings.

With such goings on, one might be expected that the nation's birth rate would shoot up. Instead, there was a decline from 18.4 births per thousand to 14.7 in 1976. This edged up to 15.2, however, part way through 1978. Even that small rise was puzzling to those who noted that, in a decade the number of working women had risen from 29 million to 35 million, legalized abortion had spread, zero population growth had been touted and birth control techniques and materials had proliferated.

A rise in the marriage rate to 10.1 per thousand population was reported in 1977 after a drop from 10.6 in 1970 to 9.9

in 1976. That was still double the divorce rate, even though the latter had risen spectacularly.

Still, when all statistics are said and done, and sociological developments ticked off, the spirit of Valentine lives on.

One story is that this third-century saint, on the night before he was beheaded, wrote an affectionate note to the jailer's daughter, whom he had cured of blindness, and signed it "Your Valentine."

In America, Valentines have been exchanged since early in the country's history. And Valentine's Day continues to be a red-letter day for greeting-card shops, candy stores, flower shops and lovers.

Lovelady Dies After 15 Years Of Harassment

Denver, Colo.-Billy Nolan Lovelady, harassed for the past 15 years because he looked like Lee Harvey Oswald, has died of an apparent heart attack at age 42.

Lovelady moved from Texas to Colorado, where he died Sunday, to avoid hounding by John F. Kennedy assassination buffs.

"He was under a lot of stress," said family lawyer Kenneth Brooten Thursday. "He paid for it dearly."

Lovelady was photographed standing in the doorway of the Texas Schoolbook Depository at the moment the presidential motcade was fired upon Nov. 22, 1963.

His resemblance to Oswald, whom the Warren Commission named as the assassin, stirred immediate speculation that Oswald was not on the sixth floor of the depository and could not have fired the fatal bullets.

Assassination investigators pursued Lovelady, and he took his family to Denver and got into the trucking business.

His death prompted no

Where Do You Stand?

In the last few weeks there has been a lot of talk about the upcoming liquor-by-the-drink referendum both pro and con.

The residents in Guilford county will vote on the referendum on February 9.

By registering to vote, (if you did), whether you are for or against the upcoming referendum shows that you are concerned about the things happening in your community and state as well as exercising one of your civil rights...the right to vote.

Many businessmen believe that mixed drinks will increase their restaurant and nightclub business.

Others speak of the new jobs and revenue that the city as well as the state will collect from the taxes placed on the sale of alcohol.

Others believe that, even if money is brought into the state, for every dollar gained by the state, another $3 will be spent to combat the crime and hazardous driving brought on by excessive drinking.

Both sides of the bill are worthy of debate; and, before casting a vote, one should consider the long-range effects that the passing or failure of the referendum will have on the community.

Cut Down On Smoking

By Jacqueline Pender

Are you a cigarette smoker? If so, in a recent article from the Greensboro Record this writer finds that cigarette smoking is even more risky than was suspected in 1964.

It has been said, for a long time, that cigarette smoking causes cancer. Statistics now show that smoking is tied to cancer of the larynx, mouth, esophagus, bladder, kidneys and pancreas.

Just think, when you are 35 or older and considered as a two pack-a-day smoker, you will have a life expectancy of eight to nine years less than a nonsmoker of the same age.

Young ladies, if you smoke as much as your boyfriend does, did you know the two of you have the same mortality rate.

If you can't terminate your cigarette smoking, try a pipe or cigar. Pipe and cigar smokers run less chance of getting lung cancer than cigarette smokers.

Smoking only satisfies your physiological and psychological needs. This writer is quite sure you can find something or someone to take the place of smoking.

For better health and a longer life, cut down on smoking. Remember what your cigarette packs read: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous To Your Health.

Just A Pastime

By Richard B. Steele

Gemini, Virgo, Taurus, Capricorn, Leo, Scorpio, Libra Sagittarius, Pisces, Aries, Aquarius and Cancer are the twelve signs that rule, guide and direct our lives. According to the time period an individual was born, among many other factors, our lives are supposedly predestined.

It is no great mystery that some people get along better than others—compatibility, as Webster defines it is existing together in harmony.

Though it is true that the traits of one sign as it relates to another are one of mutual attraction, it would be wrong to presume that every person with those traits are of that sign.

The signs are divided into four categories: earth, fire, water and air.

Theoretically, if earth and water signs are combined, the relationship may tend to become a little muddy. Water and air signs can cause rain in your life and the burning fire sign can be smothered.

Actually, signs and the like are a pastime with a general meaning. Like anything in life, words can be suited for the occasion.

People make each other, a trust is developed, an understanding occurs. In essence, the two become each other through sharing experiences and caring for one another. Their sign is love.

No two personalities are the same; thus, no one trait can describe an entire group of individuals, but generalities do lend themselves to a certain group.

Researchers Study Protein As Cure To Cancer

Atlanta - Researchers should "pretty well know" in about six months if a certain natural protein can cause remission of some cancers, according to an official of the American Cancer Society.

The protein, called leukocyte interferon, is being tested at 10 U.S. research centers with $2 million in grants from the cancer society.

Leukocyte interferon is a natural protein that can be manufactured by almost any cell under a virus attack.

Frank Rauscher, the society's senior vice-president for cancer research, said Thursday that researchers should know in about six months whether the substance has any effect on cancer growth, but he warned against "overoptimism".

It is "much too early to tell" whether interferon will turn out to be a "wonder drug" in the fight against cancer, he said. Rauscher and other society officials spoke last Thursday to about 800 volunteers who are meeting here to plan the society's annual Cancer Crusade, an educational and fund-raising drive.

Rauscher said he was concerned that most of the cancer patients who volunteered to participate in the tests would be turned away.

"Unfortunately, there's absolutely no way that this can be arranged, either by the society or by the participating institutions," he said. "The number of patients who will be studied is small. Their selection by the institutions will follow objective research protocols which exclude bias of any kind."

LaSalle D. Leffall, Jr., cancer society president, told the volunteers that he believes anti-smoking sentiment will increase dramatically because of a recent report by the U.S. surgeon general on the dangers of smoking.

In the 15 years since the first surgeon general's report on the dangers of smoking, 30 million Americans have quit smoking, said Leffall, who heads the Department of Surgery at the Howard University College of Medicine. "There are signs that cigarettes are going out of style," he said.

My sentiments exactly!!

A&T's Schedule

Includes No 'Breather Games'

A&T almost found out the hard way that Delaware State College and the University of Maryland Eastern Shore are no longer "breather games" on their current basketball schedule.

It took a short jump shot with :13 seconds remaining by Joe Brawner for the Aggies to defeat Delaware State 61-59 and it took the Aggies a double overtime to defeat UMES by an 80-78 score.

Both those contests were on the road but second year Aggie head coach Gene Littles expects two tough contests when the teams invade the HRPE Building on the A&T campus this Friday and Saturday nights.

"Delaware State and UMES are greatly improved over a year ago and all of the so-called powers in the conference are going to have to watch out because on a given night they can play with anybody in the league," Littles said, referring to Delaware's wins over powerful Howard and Morgan State. Both wins came in the losers' gyms.

"Delaware State isn't that big but they run their offense well and they have some good shooters who get the ball on their spots. UMES is a similar type team and it has a big scoring threat in Ken Simmons who can break a close game open.

"We were lucky to win those two games away from home and I hope our players come ready to play this weekend," Littles said.

A strategy that some teams in the conference have chosen to favor when playing the tall Aggies is going with a three guard offense, with the idea of using speed to off-set the A&T height.

Logical Explanation To

'Blue Mondays' Says Dr. Loganbill

Iowa City - Ever wished you could get rid of Mondays?

You're not alone if you'd give a lot to be able to leapfrog over the day that straps you into a routine harness again, says Carol Loganbill of the University of Iowa Counseling Service.

"Blue Monday is nothing to joke about to some people," Dr. Loganbill says. "Actually, there's a very logical explanation for the dampening effect Monday can have - we chafe at being locked into routine again after being our own boss for the weekend.

Work during the week has a lot more structure than weekends do. Saturday and Sunday may be turned upside down as we sleep late, change our eating patterns and stay up partying or just watching a late movie.

Getting back into the groove on Monday is bound to be a shock to some people, Dr. Loganbill explains. She offers these suggestions for easing into the week:

-Fatigue is apt to be a major damper of Monday morning spirits. If you're bushed every Monday, better cool down your weekends. You shouldn't expect to make a thousand-mile auto trip, for example, on a weekend, and be able to function adequately on the job Monday.

-Try a change of pace during the weekends. It is more likely to bring you to Monday morning relaxed and ready to go.

-Study what works best for you. If you've plowed through a lot of work by Friday, probably a low-key, lazy weekend without any set timetable or deadlines will offer the best safety measure.

-Figure out your attention span for various tasks in completing your work. Then shift to a new subject before it's time to become bored. Find the parts of the day you work best. If you're a morning person, for example, schedule your most challenging tasks before noon. Any steps you can take to make the most of your own peak periods will brighten not only blue Monday, but every other day in the week.

Finally, count your blessings if it is a little tough to get back into the groove on Monday morning. There are "workaholics" for whom weekends drag so badly that they can't wait for them to end, Dr. Loganbill points out. They're in this state because they've never learned how to use leisure. So be thankful you've learned to live it up a little, she adds.

Soviet Schools Prohibit Co-ed Activities In Dorms

Moscow - Komsomolskaya Pravda assailed regulations prohibiting male and female residents at student dormitories from sleeping together even if they are married.

The paper said the ban was ordered by the director of a state farm technical school in Ryazan. He posted a sign in the women's dormitory warning: "A kiss is a carrier of infection."

Husbands and wives can visit once a week during the day for one hour, the report continued, and similar rules have been imposed in other Soviet schools. It quoted a deputy dean at Rostov University as saying, "visits of married students with each other should be viewed as immoral behavior"

Rhodesia's Race Laws Repealed After Decades

Salisbury, Rhodesia - Race laws which have segregated land holdings, schools, hospitals, and housing in Rhodesia for nearly nine decades were repealed today by the still white-dominated legislature.

Six bills, including one to disassemble the Land Tenure Act, which divided the country into a patchwork of Black and white areas of roughly equal size, were given final readings in the senate.

The legislation is expected to be signed into law by the figurehead president by the end of next week.

All previously white-reserved land schools and hospitals are now open to everyone-providing they can pay real estate prices and fees well beyond the reach of the average Black.

The law retains the 42 million acres of Black reservations, known as tribal trust lands and compromising nearly half the country, for exclusive occupation on a communally owned basis by Blacks.

Pittsburgh Leads 35-31 Over Dallas Cowboys

Miami -The first big play that was costly to Dallas came only moments before Septien's 27-yard field goal, the only points scored in the third period, and shaved Pittsburgh's lead to 21-17.

Jackie Smith had spent 15 years in a St. Louis uniform, waiting in vain for a trip to an NFL championship game, and he finally made it with Dallas following a brief retirement. And there he was, all alone in the end zone, poised to make a game-tying catch.

Staubach was shielded from Pittsburgh's thundering line, linebackers and defensive backs. They said they were expecting a run on the third-and-three situation. The quarterback flipped the ball almost -but not quite - perfectly.

And Smith dropped it. The next play in the series of Cowboy back-breakers came with the score still 21-17 about four minutes into the final period. Swann, who caught seven passes for 124 yards, sprinted down the right side, almost stride for stride with cornerback Benny Barnes. There was contact and they went down in a tangle of legs and arms.

"There was a blitz and no pickup on it by our guys. And I knew it, so I just put the Hail Mary on it," Bradshaw said, alluding to the now-famous Hail Mary pass by Staubach that went for a touchdown in a play-off game against Minnesota.

This one didn't go for a TD - but it went a long way toward one. "I saw it and I figured, it's our ball down there." It was. Field judge Fred Swearingen flagged Barnes for pass interference - 23 yards and a first down at the Dallas 23.

A few plays later, Franco Harris roared through the line for 22 yards and the touchdown that made it 28-17.

Nineteen seconds after Harris' TD, came Swann. Randy White of the Cowboys, who shared last year's Super Bowl MVP award, was one of this year's goats when he fumbled a kickoff after the Harris score.

On the final play of the quarter, Staubach tied it with a swing pass to Tony Hill, who took the ball on the Steelers 26 and 'raced' the rest of the 39 yards down the left side for the score.

Henderson, who had two of Dallas' four sacks of Bradshaw, clutched the Steeler's quarterback and fellow linebacker Mike Hegman swiped the ball and sprinted 37 yards for a TD that gave Dallas a 14-7 lead less than three minutes into the second period. Less than two minutes later, Bradshaw and Stallworth struck again.

Bradshaw faded back from the 25 and dumped off a pass to Stallworth at the 35, Cornerback Aaron Kyle, burned by Stallworth once, was charred again. He dived at the receiver's feet, missed, then could only watch as the play went for 75 yards and a tying touchdown.

Woody Hayes Speaks To Press On Gator Bowl Incident

Columbus, Ohio-It was anything but what Columbus Chamber of Commerce officials had originally envisioned-a quiet little meeting with a football coach.

Woody Hayes, a legend fired after his 28th season as coach at Ohio State University was speaking for the first time publicly since his infamous Gator Bowl punching incident.

Almost 1,200 had jammed into a downtown hotel's ballroom. The national media were there-from New York, Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, all of the national radio and television networks.

Cameras whirred Friday as Hayes strode to the podium to launch 35 minutes of off-the-cuff remarks, apologizing to his staff and the Columbus media for breaking his post-Gator Bowl silence with an Atlanta writer.

At first, Hayes was not going to back down for hitting Clemson noseguard Charlie Bauman at the Gator Bowl-a temper tantrum that cost Hayes his job.

"The incident down in Jacksonville was a matter of an instant," recalled Hayes. "It was my attitude not to apologize and I don't apologize for anything..."

Hayes did apologize to his staff, saying, "I feel very, very sorry for it for the wonderful people it has affected-my coaches, five of whom are without jobs through no problems of their own

And later, Hayes said, "When I made up my mind to apologize, it was through the offices of men like Arch Griffin and Daryl Sanders former players of his. There has been a steady stream of my former players in the last weeks to his house."

Hayes, a loyalist all of his stormy life, refuses to criticize the university for his swift dismissal. His firing by Hugh Hindman, Ohio State's athletic director, came just hours after the Gator Bowl.

His voice quivered with emotion when he again asked: "My attitude toward the (See Hayes Page 7)

With a solid defeat over the Bulldogs of South Carolina State, the A&T Aggie basketball team took a solid hold to first place. The Aggies trailed by as much as nine points early in the second half before pulling away.

The Bears of Morgan State saw its record in the conference drop when the surprise team, Delaware State, defeated Morgan in Baltimore. The Hornets won two big games last week, including one over Howard.

In other MEAC action, NCCU lost two games to South Carolina State 75-70 in over time and East Tennessee State 85-68. Howard dropped its fourth consecutive game at the hands of Illinois State 88-62.

The MEAC standings now are A&T on top with a 4-0 MEAC mark, 8-5 overall, followed by Morgan 2-1, 10-4. Then in order it is Delaware 2-2, 9-6, NCCU 2-3, 3-11, Howard 1-2, 9-7, SCSU 1-3, 3-9 and Maryland Eastern Shore in the cellar at 0-2, 2-9.

A&T will get ready for UNC-Charlotte whom they will face tonight in Charlotte. The 49'ers are 4-8 after a 58-47 loss to Appalachian State Saturday. The game will be played in the Charlotte coliseum on Independence Blvd. The Aggies will hope to come home with the victory.

A victory over UNC-Charlotte will look great when it comes to post season play. But the losses to the other schools will hurt the probability of a bid to the NIT. It seems that there are so many teams that have improved. In the Big 10, there are five teams with a shot at post seasons play. Two will go to the NCAA tournament; that leaves three. In the ACC, there are only two maybe three teams that will go to the NCAA tournament, but there are seven teams in the conference that have improved. So it could be hard to compete with them.

The leading scorer in the league is Gracia Hopkins of Morgan. Then we have Kenneth Simmons, Maryland, Charles Shealy, Delaware State and James Sparrow, A&T at two, three and four, respectively.

For two A&T players, it will be homecoming tonight. Mike Hester will get the chance to play against some of his former teammates. Hester transferred from UNC-Charlotte. Steve Cassell will be playing in his hometown. He played his prep ball at East Mecklenburg High School.

A&T will get back to more friendly faces Friday and Saturday night when it faces Delaware State and Maryland-Eastern Shore. Delaware is coming off two stunning upsets over Howard and Morgan and is looking the best they have ever looked.

A victory over these two will give A&T a definitely solid hold on first place for a long time. A&T will host the Bison and Bears next weekend. The two teams meet each other tonight at Morgan.

There were a lot of happy Pittsburgh fans Sunday as the Steelers won 35-31 over the Dallas Cowboys. Terry Bradshaw completed 17 of 30 passes for a Super Bowl record of 318 yards. It was Bradshaw's first 300 yard game and what better time to do it.

Aggies Overcome Deficit

To Win 72-61 Over Bulldogs

By Dennis Bryant

James "The Bird" Sparrow led a second-half surge that enabled A&T to overcome a seven-point halftime deficit to win a 72-61 MEAC basketball game against South Carolina State Saturday night.

The game, played before a crowd of over 5,000, saw the Aggies trail most of the first half and the first seven minutes of the second. But timely steals by Sparrow and aggressive defense were the key in the second half.

The victory gave A&T a 2½ game lead over second place Morgan State in what is turning out to be a tight race. The second, third, fourth, and fifth place teams are separated by only one game.

The Bulldogs controlled the tempo of the first half and, with the first five minutes of the second-half gone by, it appeared that the Aggies would go home with its first conference defeat.

With the Bulldogs holding a nine-point lead at that stage of the game, A&T reeled off 12 straight points to take the lead. That lead they never relinquished en route to the victory.

Tonight A&T will face the tough 49'ers of UNC-Charlotte. The 49'ers defeated A&T three years ago 86-68 at the Charlotte Coliseum but there were two prominent factors in that game.

The two key factors were Cedric Maxwell and Lew Massey, both of whom have gone, by the way of graduation. Maxwell and Massey led the 49'ers before a crowd of over 7,000. That team was coached by Lee Rose, now at Purdue University, and he went on to finish runner-up in the NIT, losing to Kentucky.

The 49'ers are 6-9 overall and are a member of the two-year old Sun Belt conference. They are led by Chad Kinch who leads the team in scoring. The team, like A&T, has one main problem, and that is it can't win on the road. UNC-Charlotte has had to stage comebacks in most of its victories.

Other key players are Kevin

King, Phil Scott, Roland VanDerbergh, George DeVone and Matt Houpt. Kinch, King and Devone are the only starters from last year's team.

The Aggies, under coach Gene Littles, will feature center L.J. Pipkin, guards Joe Brawner and Sparrow, and forwards Marvin Brown, Mike Hester, and Harold Royster. Coach Littles should have a tough time trying to decide whom he will start at the forward positions.

university? I gave the university about everything I've had. I'm only bitter about losing that game we should have won. I'll never take it out on this university. It means too much to me."

Hayes raised his voice to its famous level only once, urging the media to support Earle Bruce, the Buckeyes' new coach.

"This organization needs all the help it can get," Hayes told the newsmen. "Now I tell you not to take pot shots. Later you will. But get on the bandwagon now."

Then Hayes looked at the school's 20th head coach. "How good is Earle Bruce? He's a great coach. He's honorable, smart, tenacious and will work. He'll get the job done. He's not perfect.

"My guess is that he'll improve on the record for the 28 previous years. But one thing he can't do: He won't last as long as the previous incumbent."

Aggies First Place In MEAC; Four-One

As a result Littles has made additional use of the skills of 6-6 All-America guard James "The Bird" Sparrow.

Sparrow has been playing a lot more minutes for us in the last few games because of the three-guard attack teams have been using," said Littles, whose Aggies are currently alone in first place in the MEAC with a 4-0 mark.

"To counter the three guards I move Sparrow to the frontcourt and bring in another guard. Playing Sparrow at the forward helps us in terms of speed and he's almost impossible to stop when we post him down low against a smaller guard.

"I think he may have been pressing earlier in the session, but he seems to be more relaxed now and has been doing a super job for us at both ends of the floor."
