

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University
Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship

NCAT Student Newspapers

Digital Collections

9-25-1979

The Register, 1979-09-25

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digital.library.ncat.edu/atregister>

Recommended Citation

North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, "The Register, 1979-09-25" (1979). NCAT Student Newspapers. 815.

<https://digital.library.ncat.edu/atregister/815>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Digital Collections at Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship. It has been accepted for inclusion in NCAT Student Newspapers by an authorized administrator of Aggie Digital Collections and Scholarship. For more information, please contact iyanna@ncat.edu.

THE A&T REGISTER

"COMPLETE AWARENESS FOR COMPLETE COMMITMENT"

VOLUME XLII NUMBER 7 NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL AND TECHNICAL STATE UNIVERSITY GREENSBORO, NC SEPTEMBER 25, 1979

Dr. Joan S. Wallace To Highlight Conference

Dr. Joan S. Wallace, assistant secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, will highlight a two-day conference at A&T State University, Wednesday and Thursday (Sept. 26 and 27).

Dr. Wallace, the highest ranking Black in the agency, serves as assistant secretary of agriculture for administration. She will address the conference luncheon Wednesday at noon in the Memorial Student Union.

More than 500 persons from the area are expected to participate in the conference entitled "Outreach '79" and sponsored by USDA and A&T.

Dr. Wallace said the A&T conference is one of four being held throughout the nation in order to stress the availability of USDA's more than 300 programs. Other officials of USDA noted that the agency is especially interested in improving its efforts to attract more involvement in its programs by Blacks and other minorities.

Dr. Joan S. Wallace

Alfred Sweeney, an assistant to Dr. Wallace, said USDA has millions of dollars available as loans under the Farmers Home Administration programs and also funds available to minority contractors.

Other USDA speakers will include Neil Schaller, deputy director for extension service; Ken Latcholia, deputy administrator for program operation of the Farmers Home Administration; and James T. Johnson, North Carolina State director of the Farmers Home Administration. Other state and county officials will appear on the program.

A series of seminars will be held Wednesday beginning at 10 a.m. in Carver Hall. Topics will be "Minority Recruitment and Land-Grant Institutions," "USDA's Food Program," and "Rural Development."

A farm production workshop on Thursday will discuss farm programs, county committees and outreach efforts of USDA. A minority business workshop will be concerned with procurement opportunities, procedures, foreign markets and technical and management assistance.

Dr. Wallace is the first Black assistant secretary of USDA in 115 years. She has directed all of the agency's administrative programs since October, 1977.

A native of Chicago, she holds an undergraduate sociology degree from Bradley University, the master's degree from Columbia University, and the Ph. D. degree in social psychology from Northwestern University. She formerly served as director of the School of Social Work at Western Michigan University.

Persons interested in attending the conference are asked to contact Dr. B. W. Harris in the Adult Education Office at A&T.

Williams Cafeteria Gets 'A' Rating

By Sheila Snow

Williams Cafeteria received A ratings Thursday, September 20.

Carmen Goins, acting director, says she is taking one day at a time because she is there temporarily until a director is appointed. However, she would like to have a special function each month. The staff is considering a buffet brunch during homecoming. Plans are tentative because of fall break, and word has not yet been received from the administration as to what the dining procedure will be during that period.

Ms. Carmen Goins

Finally, one of the belts is working and the other should be functioning within the next weeks.

Mrs. Goins feels that this should eliminate a great problems-trays being left on the table.

"Now if we can just get students to carry their trays up," she said. "I understand why students leave them while the belt is broken; however, I do hope to see an improvement when both belts are working."

Not many changes have been made as far as the menu is concerned. The staff has added a new item, Marzetti (a spaghetti dish), and it is trying to add a shrimp and seafood platter.

A production manager has been added to the kitchen. Mrs. Laura Thornton, former acting director, is holding that position.

Carter Appoints W.Sykes As Deputy of Peace Corps

William G. Sykes, 42, president of the Maryland State Board of Education and former deputy secretary of the Maryland Department of Human Resources in Baltimore, was nominated today by President Carter to serve as deputy of the Peace Corps.

"To me," said Sykes, "the Peace Corps' people-to-people approach represents the best of what America has to offer the people of the developing world. "In turn," continued Sykes, "the Peace Corps is America's best link to learning about the realities of life and the aspirations of the people of developing countries."

As Peace Corps deputy director, Sykes would help administer programs involving more than 6,000 Peace Corps Volunteers serving in food production, health, education and community development projects in 60 developing nations around the world. His appointment is subject to confirmation by the U.S. Senate.

"I see myself as primarily the in-house guy," Sykes, describing his new role. "As a Black American I am also very concerned about getting more Black and Hispanic men and women into the Peace Corps. They can play a unique role in providing underdeveloped countries with skilled American manpower. They can also help the people of Third World Countries to have a better understanding of American society."

Appointed a member of the Maryland State Board of Education in 1971, Sykes was elected vice-president in 1975 and president last July. He plans to continue in this non-paid position.

From 1973 until 1975, Sykes was an assistant to the mayor of Baltimore and director of the Mayor's office of Human (See Sykes Page 2)

Student Wins Top Art Awards

By Michael Fairley

Paul Roseboro, a sophomore art major from Winston-Salem, N.C., started drawing before he entered elementary school. He sold his first portrait when he was in the ninth grade for fifty cents.

Roseboro won his first art contest while in the first grade and has received nine other Scholastic Art Awards since that time.

Roseboro recently entered an art competition sponsored by Thomasville Furniture

Paul Roseboro

Industries, where his mother works. Roseboro won three First Place Awards in the professional division, though he entered them in the amateur division.

One of his paintings, an oil and acrylic portrait, took First Place and was Roseboro's first attempt in this medium.

"I started drawing before I learned to write, and learned shading techniques in the ninth grade," Roseboro said.

Roseboro hopes to attend art school after college. (See Roseboro Page 6)

ROTC, SGA Will Sponsor Blood Drive In New Gym

By Larry Jenkins

In recognition of National Blood Week, the ROTC Departments and Student Government Association of A&T will sponsor a campus blood drive Thursday, September 27, in the New Gymnasium.

Kenneth Cole, student director for the blood drive, said, "A&T will be in competition with local universities trying to attain the highest number of donors on a percentage basis. The winning university will receive a plaque and local recognition."

"A $100 cash award will be given to the organization whose members give the most blood on a percentage basis," said Cole.

The blood drive will be held in the north balcony from 10-3:30 p.m.

Last year's organizational winner of the award was Pershing Rifles.

According to Cole, students may represent as many organizations as they are officially members of. A list of organizational members will be available in the gym.

Last year A&T donated 169 pints of blood. This year Cole is hoping for a total contribution of 250 pints.

To attain this objective approximately 5% of the student body must participate.

Faculty members are also encouraged to donate blood.

"If we can get at least 500 students to donate blood, we will be able to beat the other universities," said Cole.

Donors must be between the ages of 17-65; weigh at least 110 pounds; and have a satisfactory health history.

Diabetics can donate blood if controlled by diet and oral medication. Donors should remember to eat a full meal prior to donating blood.

Cole encourages A&T students to demonstrate some Aggie pride and donate blood.

Shucks! Mom mailed it two weeks ago. (Photo By Miller)

Voter Registration Committee

To Help Register Residents

By Andrew McCorkle

The A&T Voter Registration Committee has begun an effort to register all Guilford County residents attending A&T. Registration will start on October 3rd between the hours of 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in the student union lobby.

In a press conference held in the Student Government Association office Friday, chairman of the committee, Bobby Hopkins, said, "We are asking all Guilford County students to register and vote. It is important to the community as a whole."

Hopkins explained it would be difficult to estimate the number of students attending A&T from the city of Greensboro that are already registered. However, his organization wants to encourage "as many as possible."

"Gaining political power" is but one goal Blacks can achieve by voting, asserts Hopkins.

The committee is also enlisting aid for its recruiting campaign from "ROTC, sororities, fraternities, and other campus groups," Hopkins said.

"The people that run this university are not answerable to the students," committee member David Puryear pointed out. "However, university officials are answerable to public officials." So it makes sense to try to put the candidate that best illustrates the qualities you want in office.

Hopkins added the Black Student Voter Registration Coalition is in "a joint effort" voter registration drive for the entire city of Greensboro.

"We'd appreciate as much or as little time as any one can give," said Puryear.

"There are about 1,200 students from Greensboro attending A&T," said Hopkins. "Some live on campus but many stay off campus yet we want to register as many as possible."

Money Available to Composers

A total of $15,000 is available to young composers in the 28th annual BMI Awards to Student Composers competition sponsored by Broadcast Music, Inc., the world's largest performing rights licensing organization.

Established in 1951 in cooperation with music educators and composers, the BMI Awards project annually gives cash prizes to encourage the creation of concert music by student composers of the Western Hemisphere and to aid them in financing their musical education. Prizes ranging from $500 to $2,500 will be awarded at the discretion of the judges. To date, 245 students, ranging in age from 8 to 25, have received BMI Awards.

The 1979-80 BMI Awards competition is open to student composers who are citizens or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere and are enrolled in accredited secondary schools, colleges and conservatories, or engaged in private study with recognized and established teachers anywhere in the world. Entrants must be under 26 years of age on December 31, 1979. No limitations are established as to instrumentation, stylistic considerations, or length of works submitted. Students may enter no more than one composition which need not have been composed during the year of entry.

The permanent chairman of the BMI judging panel is William Schuman, distinguished American composer and educator.

The panel of Preliminary Judges for the 1978-79 contest was Eleanor Cory, William Hellermann, Frank Wigglesworth and Maurice Wright, with Ulysses Kay serving as Consultant. The Final Judges were T.J. Anderson, Milton Babbitt, Elliott Carter, Mario Davidovsky, Lukas Foss, Frederic Goossen, Otto Luening, Bruce MacCombie, Bernard Rands, Phillip Rhodes and Netty Simons, with William Schuman as Presiding Judge.

The sixteen winners in the 1978-79 contest, ranging in age from 13-25, were presented cash awards at a reception at the St. Regis-Sheraton, New York City, May 10, 1979.

The 1979-80 competition closes February 15, 1980. Official rules and entry blanks are available from James G. Roy, Jr., Director BMI Awards to Student Composers, Broadcast Music, Inc., 320 West 57th Street, New York, New York 10019.

CORRECTION

The article entitled "Annual Activities To Be Held In Moore Gym" incorrectly spelled the Chairman of the Board of Trustees name. Instead of reading Mr. Lacey Cable, the article should have read Mr. Lacy Caple.

RESEARCH PAPERS

10,250 on File — All Academic Subjects
Send $1.00 for your up-to-date, 306-page mail order catalog.

ACADEMIC RESEARCH
P.O. BOX 24873
LOS ANGELES, CA 90024

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

STATE _____

ZIP _____

Sykes Feels Peace Corps Approach Best For America

(Continued From Page 1)

Resources. Previously, he was the director of Baltimore's Model Cities Agency. He came to Model Cities as a health coordinator in 1968.

A resident of Baltimore for 22 years, Sykes started a career in social work in 1957 as a caseworker for the city's Department of Public Welfare, and three years later became a probation officer for the Criminal Division of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore. He was a social worker for the Baltimore City Department of Education from 1961 to 1964.

In 1964, Sykes became a project supervisor for the Baltimore Youth Services Project of the National Committee for Children and Youth, and two years later, a training director for the National Committee. He was the chief of Social Services for the Baltimore City Health Department in 1967 and 1968.

A 1956 sociology graduate of Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., Sykes received a master's degree in social work from Howard University in Washington, D.C. in 1962. He was born and raised in Halifax, Va.

Sykes served as chairman of the Maryland State Manpower Planning Council and was a member of the Area Housing Council, Baltimore Metropolitan Region.

SGA, Islamic Students

Present Cultural Jazz Concert

By Michael Fairley

Saturday's Cultural Day Jazz concert, sponsored by the SGA and the Islamic Students Association, was scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. in the Holland Bowl. But inclement weather made it necessary to house the event in Harrison Auditorium.

The Islamic Students Association is a new organization on campus. Its goal is to help create a unified atmosphere at A&T through cultural enrichment.

Two A&T students opened the concert, bringing a Caribbean flavor to the campus. Kenny Benton of Queens, N.Y., performed on the steel drums two songs by Stevie Wonder entitled, "You Are the Sunshine of my Life," and "Isn't She Lovely."

Tracy Drinker of Brooklyn N.Y., performed "The Blues" on the steel drums. Drinker is currently receiving lessons in steel drumming from Benton.

Healing Forcem, a folk music group from Winston-Salem, N.C., brought a combination of folk music and drama to the stage.

"Our music is an inner mixture of many cultures and experiences," said Yusef Shakoor.

Shakoor and his wife Gail performed "Good Time," "You had it all Time," and "On the Case".

Yusuf and Friends, an instrumental trio from Durham, N.C., featured the vocals of Eve Cornelious and "Bus" Brown. The trio performed music from the standard jazz repertoire along with original compositions.

Instrumental selections included, "Green Dolphin Street," "Some Blues," and "Caravan." "Caravan" showcased the percussion expertise of drummer Hassan Ibn Daud.

Other members of the trio included Yusuf Salim, piano, and Fred Robinson, bass.

"Robinson has just arrived from Atlanta, Georgia and he has worked with Tom Jones and the Rolling Stones," Salim said.

Cornelious, whose voice is reminiscent of Nancy Wilson, performed, "I've Gotta Be Me," "Fire and Rain" "A House is not a Home," "Them There Eyes," and "Live Your Life To The Fullest." The latter was composed by the group.

Brown, a native of Baltimore, Maryland, is a guitarist/composer who has worked with the late Billy Holiday.

Brown performed, "From the Bottom to the Top," "This Earth Is Bad for Me," and "America."

"America" is an original composition by Brown.

"America" and "Peanut Man" are to be sent to the President as a gift with a message," Brown said.

The music was received by a modest, but enthusiastic audience.

Alpha Kappa Mu Society Slates Interest Meeting

By Kathy Anderson

The Gamma Tau chapter of Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society will have an interest meeting for all prospective members on Wednesday, September 26, at 5 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge of Merrick Hall.

Membership is open to all students who have completed 64 semester hours and have an overall average of 3.3 or above. Members must possess good moral character and must be in good standing in their respective departments.

The purpose of Alpha Kappa Mu is to promote high scholarship; to encourage sincere and zealous endeavor in all fields of knowledge and service; to cultivate a high order of personal living; and to develop an appreciation for scholarly work and scholarly endeavor in others.

Alpha Kappa Mu's officers for the 1979-80 school year are President - Betty McNeill; Vice-President - Gwendolyn Arthur; Recording Secretary - Virginia Green; Corresponding Secretary - Venay Mills; Treasurer - Larry Jenkins; and Co-Treasurer - Anita Whichard. Other members are: Kathy Anderson, Valerie Curley, Juanita Highsmith, Terry Lloyd, Karen McLeod, Mary Mallory, Earl Mathis, Darrell Shelton, and Vanetta Stringfield. Faculty advisor is Dr. Danny Pogue.

Alpha Kappa Mu is planning many activities this year including fall inductions, participation in the AKM annual convention, fund raising projects and service projects.

Les Notes

By Richard B. Steele

Geoffrey Beene, Calvin Klein, Ralph Lauren, Danskin, Ellis, Gross, Hyatt, Yves Saint Laurent, Halston, and Pierre Cardin are but a few of the designers in the fashion world. Essence Magazine says to fashion conscious females "Be proud of your face, your features and your hair; let your beauty reflect the woman that you are."

Ladies, anything goes as far as hairstyles this fall, with accents on braids. The new look can be pinned up or down with no parts showing. The naturals are brushed off the face this season with the length in back and sides. Perms have the soft hues of auburn and light auburn.

Navy blues, pin-strips, and the like are brought to life with purples, pinks and plums. The African touches of culture are appearing with the mixing of textures and patterns this fall.

Shop for detail in material and suits mix, match, and maximize your wardrobe with various one piece attire sharp for work or play.

Suit up with the lesser split(s) for those chilly days and cozy nights. The versatility of tweed can be made to match and add a little sparkle to any outfit depending on your uniqueness.

Red comes alive as a blazer. Color it up with mustards and royal blues or tone it down with tweeds and purple. To complete your color combinations, break out in oxblood, a new color for suits, a purplish-maroon hue, mixed with blues and pinks for an electric-you.

Accessories? Think gold and shimmer with the moonlight or disco lights. Suit up this fall and go for fit, but comfort is the key. Make a statement about yourself by the way you daringly dress, and remember--Be Bold!

This is a first of a series on fall fashions that will appear in this column, occasionally. Next time, we'll look at men's fashion.

Minority Students To Receive Free Services

How can minority college students planning for graduate school find the right opportunities for advanced study?

One way is with the Minority Graduate Student Locator Service, developed by Educational Testing Service (ETS) and offered by the Graduate Record Examinations Board.

Through this free service, college juniors, seniors and graduates who are members of racial and ethnic minorities in the United States can make their intentions known to graduate schools seeking such applicants.

Students sign up by completing the registration form contained in the GRE/MGSLs Information Bulletin. It is the same form used to register for the Graduate Record Examinations, comprehensive aptitude and advanced tests used in the admissions process by many of the nation's graduate schools. But students do not have to take the GRE to use the Locator Service.

To take part, students describe themselves by answering questions that ask for ethnic background, undergraduate major, intended graduate major and other information about educational experience and objectives. This information is placed in the Locator Service file and made available to participating graduate schools upon request. GRE scores are not included in the Locator Service file.

Each graduate school establishes its own criteria to select students from the Locator Service file based on ethnic background, intended major field of study, degree objective and state of residence. The names of students who use the Locator Service and meet the criteria set by a particular school will automatically be sent to that school.

Students who want to make information available to graduate schools three times during the school year must have their registration forms in by September 28. A student who misses that deadline but has the form in by November 12 will be able to participate twice.

Graduate schools will contact the students in whom they are interested to inform them of application procedures.

The Locator Service is not an application to graduate school or for financial assistance and does not constitute a guarantee of admission or financial aid. It is designed only to supplement a student's own efforts to locate and seek admission to a suitable graduate program and to find resources for financial assistance.

Information students supply for the Locator Service file is treated confidentially and is released only to participating graduate schools and scholarship programs.

The Information Bulletin explains what all students must know to participate in the service.

The GRE and the MGSLs are administered by ETS under policies determined by the GRE Board, an independent board affiliated with the Association of Graduate Schools and the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States.

Our Education In Jeopardy?

Where Is The Respect?

By Florina G. Byrd

Have you ever stopped to wonder what happened to the respect young men had for young women and vice versa?

This writer has observed the different attitudes of some students at this university. It is utterly disgraceful when a female is slandered simply because she does not respond to a male as he tries to 'summons' her to him.

The blame should not be placed on the males only. There are some females who demean young men because they might have had a bad experience with a male or because it's just "one of those things" to pass the time away.

Students, if we do these childish acts just to pass time away, why don't we do something constructive like joining committees or organizations on campus?

If we perceive ourselves as being mature and intelligent adults, we should act accordingly and cater to the needs of this university to help make it a fine institution of learning and not a place of degradation.

Career Day Is For Everybody

By Larry Jenkins

Tomorrow, students will have the opportunity to meet with several representatives from different companies to discuss their future careers. All students should make plans to visit Moore Gym and talk with these representatives.

Career Day is not only for seniors, but for all students at A&T. This year many non-technical businesses will be present to talk to students in the arts and sciences areas. By offering a wide diversification of companies, each student is assured to gain more knowledge and insight about a particular company that is seeking his professional major.

Students may visit the representatives between their classes or after classes. Students, however, should not substitute their visitation to the Gym for class.

Career Day may just be the first step in ultimately working for a company that a student desires. For the serious students of A&T, stop by the Gym and check out the people. They are here looking for those Aggies who are sincere and dedicated achievers, those demonstrating true AGGIE PRIDE!!

Where will our education end, or, for that matter, begin?

Parents are blaming the teachers for their children's inability to learn. Teachers are striking because of low salaries, and students are no longer interested in entering the teaching profession.

In the first place, parents themselves are to blame for many of their children's learning problems. A child's training begins at home or, at least, it should begin there. Regardless of how much a teacher tries to teach, if the child is undisciplined, he will not learn. Discipline is a major issue in learning.

Low salaries, like undisciplined children, are turning people away from the teaching profession. The teacher gets one of the lowest paid salaries in the United States.

For years teachers have worked on dedication, but dedication does not pay bills. No one seems to realize this or to take this thought into consideration.

Ironically, the same people who pass bills regarding teachers' salaries would not have been where they are if they had not had dedicated teachers.

Without teachers providing an education, there would be no business men, no architects or engineers, no lawyers or doctors, no college professors or scientists.

Finally, there must be a concern about the future of the teaching profession. College students, for the most part, are not interested in public school teaching. At least one department on campus, for the first time in many semesters, will not have interns in the area of teaching this semester.

Personnel departments in several school systems not only are looking for substitutes but are rehiring retired teachers.

Unless something is done to attract students to teacher education, the future of the teaching profession is in jeopardy.

THE A&T REGISTER

Published twice weekly during the school year by students of North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University.

To receive THE REGISTER, please send $8.50 for one year or $16 for two years to THE A&T REGISTER, Box E-25 Greensboro, North Carolina 27411 to cover mailing and handling costs.

Sheila A. Williams..... Editor-in-Chief
 Jacqueline Pender..... Managing Editor
 Larry Jenkins..... News Editor
 Florina Byrd..... Assoc. News Editor
 Wilbert T. Ingram..... Business/Ad Manager
 Raymond Moody..... Sports Editor
 Ronald Woody..... Chief Photographer
 Debborah Truesdell..... Head Typist
 Tim Graham..... Production Manager
 Richard B. Steele..... Entertainment Editor
 Leslie Whitfield..... Art Editor
 Joycelyn Holley..... Circulation Manager
 Joe Chavis..... Distribution Manager
 Loreno M. Marrow..... Advisor

Reporters: Trudy Johnson, Tony Moore, Michele McDowell, Sheila Snow, Prince Reed, Michael Fairley, David Puryear, Andrew McCorkle, Charlene Middleton.

Typists: Sharon Colson, Gina Massey, Tina Massey, Tracy Galmon.

Photographers: Gene Johnson, Larry Pauline(Gator), Milton Miller, Jackie Everett.

Circulation: Phyllis Fennell, Dicyke Palmer, Alice Wall, Demetrick Staton, Nellie Lyons, Gwyne Morrissey, Barbara Walton, Francis Smallwood.

REPRESENTED FOR NATIONAL ADVERTISING BY COMMUNICATION ADVERTISING SERVICES FOR STUDENTS
 (CASS)

6330 NORTH PULASKI ROAD CHICAGO, ILLINOIS 60646

Public Housing Projects Opening Date In November

By David Puryear

It will be another two months before anybody moves into Greensboro's three new $4.6 million scattered-site public housing projects, according to William Gordon, director of the Greensboro Housing Authority.

The 157 low-income housing units in southwest and north Greensboro were originally scheduled to be completed in February.

However, the opening has been delayed several times because the contractor, Romeo Guest Associates of Greensboro, has failed to meet his deadlines, Gordon said.

The contractor's last predicted opening date was for September, but that has been changed to October 22 for the 107 townhouse units on Bernau St., according to Gordon.

It will be at least two weeks later before the 11 single family units on Baylor St. and the 39 apartments on Berryman St. in north Greensboro will be finished. In addition, GHA conducts an inspection expected to last two weeks at each set of units. "When we're dealing with that many housing units, I can assure you we will want some things corrected before we let anybody live there," Gordon said.

Construction on the developments began two years ago this month.

The contractor can be fined $1.50 per unit for each day he is working on the developments past the deadline stated in the contract.

That amounts to $235 a day for all three sites. The contract deadline was originally in February, but an extension to May 21 was granted. The contractor has applied for five additional contract extensions but they are pending completion of the developments.

The contractor can request extensions due to delays caused by bad weather. Such requests will be judged by GHA by comparing weather activity during the construction period with weather during the five years immediately preceding the construction, said Raymond Smith, GHA scattered-site project manager.

Ed Miller, Guest's project manager for the scattered-site contract, said Monday that Guest would be finished with the Bernau Street units by October 22. He said the Baylor Street and Berryman Street units should be completed November 1 and November 15, respectively.

Miller maintains that problems with subcontractors have caused the hold-ups.

"One of our contractors defaulted, and we had to pick that up," Miller said. "We've had plenty of other problems out there but there's no point in pointing the finger at anybody. We expect to finish by then (October 22)."

Miller said the only work remaining at the Bernau Street site is drywalling and painting.

He said some of those units are already completed and locked up, ready for GHA inspection.

Miller added that the landscaping of the sites is only 60 percent finished, but he expects GHA to give Guest some additional time in completing that work. While he said grass has been planted at all sites, other planting could only be done at certain times of the year.

Gordon said a method for selecting the occupants of the scattered-site projects has yet to be approved by the Housing Commission and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. GHA has a waiting list of 4000 applicants for public housing, according to Barbara Overstreet of the authority's occupancy division.

GHA will try to produce a 50-50 racial balance between minorities and whites in the scattered-site housing population—a mandate of the HUD grant which funded the project.

Don't Forget Your Refunds!

Grants For Study Abroad To Be Granted In Program

The 1980-81 competition for grants for graduate study abroad offered under the Fulbright Program and by foreign governments, universities and private donors will close on November 1, 1979. Only a few more weeks remain in which qualified graduate students may apply for one of the approximately 505 awards which are available to 50 countries.

Most of the grants offered provide round-trip transportation, tuition and maintenance for one academic year; a few provide international travel only or a stipend intended as a partial grant-in-aid.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of

Akbar To Present Lecture

Dr. Na'im Akbar, a clinical psychologist and former director of the office of human development for the World Community of Al-Islam in the West, will present a free public lecture at A&T State University, Thursday, September 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Akbar, whose works have centered on the development of the Black personality, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the Memorial Student Union. The talk is being sponsored by the Culture Committee of the Student Government Association.

A weekly columnist for the Bilalian News, the largest (See Akbar Page 7)

application, and must generally hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, should be proficient in the language of the host country. Except for certain specific awards, candidates may not hold the Ph.D. at the time of application. Candidates for 1980-81 are ineligible for a grant to a country if they have been doing graduate work or conducting research in that country for six months or more during the academic year 1979-80.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree; candidates in medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Information and application material may be obtained from the Division of Study Abroad Programs, Institute of International Education, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, New York 10017 or from any of the Institute's Regional Offices in Atlanta, Chicago, Denver, Houston, San Francisco, and Washington, D.C. The deadline for submission of completed applications to IIE is November 1. Requests for application material received after October 15 will not be honored.

Chic by h.i.s. majors in togetherness in straight-leg jeans of Cone all-cotton Indigo denim for natural comfort. In waist sizes 26-36, short, regular and long inseam. At your favorite campus store. Cone makes fabrics people live in.

Cone

CONE MILLS 140 BROADWAY NEW YORK, N.Y. 10018

Campus Parking Spaces Affect Students, Faculty

By Joan V. Russell

A&T State University students and faculty members are having problems trying to find parking spaces between classes.

Officer Joseph Daughtry, acting director of security, said spaces on campus are fairly adequate, but the students are not using them. He said parking space in Old East gym is always vacant. This space is available to the students, but they all try to park where their classes are held.

"The biggest problem is that the students try to drive from class to class," said Daughtry. "A large number of students have cars on campus. Most of the students drive to class everyday."

Faculty members have certain sections to park in, such as Section A. The students have their own sections as well, which are Sections B and C. Students get into trouble by parking in the wrong section, he said. "It is best to park in the section assigned to you."

Daughtry said that the reason the parking permits are not included in the tuition fee is that the students do not have to register their vehicles if they do not want to. Students can register only one car. He said some students park their vehicles in alleys and on side streets so their cars will not be towed away.

Many cars are towed away because they are not registered; are parked in a tow away zone; are parked in the wrong section, or block an entrance.

Tickets are written when vehicles are parked on the grass, unregistered or double parked.

After 5:30 p.m., a student may park in just about any area he desires except for loading and emergency zones. Daughtry added that "people won't read before parking."

Marvin Graeber, chairman of Parking and Traffic Committee, said that there are more than 2000 spaces on the campus: but, in the critical areas of the main campus, there are fewer than 600 spaces. The Committee studies and reviews the university regulations governing Traffic parking and the Registration of Motor Vehicles and makes recommendations to the Chancellor.

These recommendations are designed to assure a more efficient and a safer utilization of the available parking space on the campus and provide for a more orderly administration of vehicular traffic on campus.

The Committee also listens to appeals from students, faculty, and other university employees involving the suspension or revocation of parking permits or the imposition of fines for traffic violation infractions; and renders decisions that are final in such matters. The person, making an appeal, can bring in some evidence. Graeber said, "There are a number of spaces that are not being used. The students need to get in the habit of parking where the spaces are regardless of how far their classes are. It is for their own safety," said Graeber, adding that there are some long-range plans for more parking spaces.

What Do You Want From College?

Adventure?
Add It To Your Schedule.

Try rappelling... descending a precipice by a rope and the seat of your pants. The fastest way down. Except for free fall.

Rappelling is one part of a challenging academic and extracurricular program offered by Army ROTC.

Army ROTC teaches professionally oriented students to lead people and to direct equipment to achieve specific objectives as an Active or Reserve Officer.

If you're looking for the challenge of leadership, in college and afterwards, look into Army ROTC.

ARMY ROTC LEARN WHAT IT TAKES TO LEAD

For More Information Contact:
CPT McMILLIAN
(919) 379-7588
Enrollment Officer

Roseboro Proud Winner

(Continued From Page 1)

"Pencil is my favorite medium," Roseboro added. "Most artists start with pencil before branching into other areas, but I've taken pencil to another level and have developed my own style," he said.

Before he started school, Roseboro used to pass the time by drawing on the inside covers of books. "I had to make art my companion because my sister and brother were in school and I had no one to play with," Roseboro said.

The oil medium is new to Roseboro, but he is buying instructional material to help him perfect his craft.

When asked about his future goals Roseboro commented, "I would like to design album jackets or magazine covers, but I hope to develop a market for my art."

Roseboro has received lessons from a local professional. Aside from this, he is mainly self-taught.

An exhibition of works by Roseboro can be seen at the Light House Restaurant in Winston-Salem, N.C.

All campus queens are asked to meet in the Student Union, Room 100, Thursday, September 27, at 7 p.m. All campus queens are urged to attend this meeting.

The NAACP will meet Thursday, September 27, at 7 p.m. in Graham Hall, Room 104. All new members are welcomed.

Runoff elections for Miss Sophomore and vice-president of the junior class will be held Thursday, September 27, from 9-6 p.m. Voting will only be held in the basement of Williams Cafeteria.

Applications for membership in the Student Cluster Activities Council must be turned into the Placement Center by Thursday, September 27. Interviews will be held Sunday, September 30. All applicants will be notified of the time of their interview.

The Cultural Committee is sponsoring the year's first speaker. He is Dr. Niam Adbar, a well-known enthusiastic speaker and writer. All are invited to hear him Thursday, September 27, in the Student Union Ballroom.

The A&T Register will be taking pictures of all campus queens starting October 1. Times will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9-12, and Tuesday and Thursday from 2-6. This is a tentative schedule and, if other arrangements are needed, come by the Register's office for an appointment.

All seniors who expect to graduate at the end of the fall semester December 18, 1979 are required to file an application for graduation with the office of registration and records, 206 Dudley Building. The deadline for submitting applications is Friday, October 19. Necessary forms are available in the Registrar's office. Your copy of your class schedule will be helpful to you in completing the application form.

Persons interested in submitting poetry for the Homecoming edition of the A&T Register are asked to do so no later than October 5, at the Register House.

The Dormitory Renovation & Improvement Committee will have its opening meeting at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, September 27, in Room 217 of the Student Union. All members are requested to be present.

Akbar, Author, Columnist For Black-Owned Paper

(Continued From Page 5)

Black-owned paper, Akbar is the author of "Community of Self," and "Natural Psychology and Human Transformation," and "Guidelines for African Humanism."

His other works include "Mental Disorder Among African-Americans," "Black Psychology" and "Models for African-American Education."

Akbar currently teaches psychology at Norfolk State College. He formerly taught at the University of Michigan, Southern University and Morehouse College. Akbar also served as a special assistant to Imam W.D. Muhammad of the World Community of Islam in the West.

He holds the B.A. degree, M. A. degree and the Ph. D. degree in clinical psychology from the University of Michigan.

"Ain't no stopping me now!" (Photo by Gene)

Chess Outstanding Linebacker

By Forise Epps

The heart of any team's defense is the linebackers.

N. C. A&T had one outstanding linebacker in Frankie Chesson. Chesson, known as "elegant Chess" to his teammates and friends, is a big plus in the Aggie lineup.

Chesson started the second game of the season last year and has been there ever since. Frankie was among the top three in tackles and he said, "I plan to be right there on top this year."

Chesson is 5-11 and weighs 182 pounds with excellent speed for a linebacker.

As a linebacker in high school, Frankie was named All-City, All-Metro and was his team's MVP his senior year. A native of Chesapeake, Virginia, Frankie played at Great Bridge High School. He was recruited by several schools in Virginia including VMI, Norfolk State and Virginia State.

"I came to A&T because of its academics, but I was influenced most by former Aggie quarterback Cornell Gordon, who told me some nice things about the school," Chesson stated. "I was homesick when I first got here but since then I have enjoyed my stay here."

Chesson is a junior early childhood education major. When asked about his plans for the future he said, "After I graduate, I want to teach a couple of years and then go for my masters. Then I would like to become a principal of some school."

The season is young and A&T has already suffered one loss to S.C. State. When asked what the team needs to do to get back on the track, he said, "We need a little more balance between the offense and the defense. This would strengthen our ball club tremendously. I know we can go on and win the rest of our games. I hope the students won't get down on us after the loss to S.C. State. We will be back in full force this weekend and the weeks to come."

Bethune-Cookman Defeats N.C. A&T 15-7 In Florida

For the third consecutive year, the Bethune-Cookman Wild Cats, under first year coach Dr. Bobby Frazier, defeated N.C. A&T 15-7 in Jacksonville, Florida.

The Aggies came into the game looking for a certain amount of revenge against the Wild Cats, after losing the two previous years by close margins.

A&T was handicapped by the loss of two junior linebackers in Dennis Coit and Frankie Chesson. Both players missed the game due to death in the family. Another loss for the game was sophomore fullback Charlie Sutton because of leg injury suffered in A&T's 23-3 loss to the South Carolina State Bulldogs.

For the Aggies and Coach Jim McKinley, it was another frustrating night, especially offensively. The Aggie backs could manage only 126 yards rushing in a whopping 51 carries. The Aggies looked very strong in the opening stages of the contest as they marched downfield on the running of Cleotis Johnson and Roland Meyers.

After Johnson's six-yard touchdown run, A&T had a 7-0 lead. But it was a short-lived lead.

Bethune-Cookman, led by running back Ricky Claitt, roared downfield against the hard hitting Aggie defense. But the big play was yet to come. From A&T's 39 yard line, QB Nathaniel Harris rolled out and found wide receiver Stacey Charles open for a touchdown.

The rest of the half was basically defensive football with neither team showing much domination.

The second half saw only one more touchdown scored and that was by tailback Ricky Claitt. After driving downfield on yardage gained mostly by Claitt and Aggie penalties, Claitt streaked around end scoring on a 20-yard touchdown gallop. After Bethune-Cookman's two-point conversion, the Aggies trailed and eventually lost 15-7.

Statistically, A&T was outplayed by the Wild Cats. Bethune-Cookman gained 269 total yards to A&T's 173. Passing yardage was comparably close, but Bethune led that category also 59-47. The only statistic A&T managed to lead was penalties, which totaled 107 yards compared to 51 by Bethune-Cookman.

Next Saturday the Aggies will host J.C. Smith, coached by former Aggie coach Wylie Harris.

